No Vacation For Vandalism

One of the most distasteful acts for residents and property owners is vandalism - and it took no vacation the past week.

It is also very expensive. Only satisfaction seems to be for those who commit such acts.

A resume is:

March 13 — Bonnie Hagar, 714 Seneca, told officers that she was in St. Peter's Church parking lot when two, possibly three, young males ran across and damaged the hood of her car. She was waiting for her children to leave a dance there. The boys ran away and disappeared in the dark.

March 14 — Ray Bandlow, 608 Spring St., reported his car was sprayed with paint while parked in the driveway.

March 15 — Mrs. L.H. Titley, 206 Adrian St., was a victim of a driver who drove over her lawn, knocked down a small magnolia tree, and destroyed several sections of a white, wood fence.

Talking It Out

With Roger L. Proctor

Proctor Funeral Home, Inc.

The role of the Clergy at Time of Death

In attemping to console the bereaved, the clergyman can sometimes find himself in seemingly a conflict with the facts of death, as observed by the bereaved.

Statements by a father to his five-year-old child such as "Now, mummy's gone to Heaven" are too complex and yet too simple for the child to accept -- especially when the child has seen the tears and expressions of grief of family and friends.

The minister can be of great assistance in defining the DIFFERENCES between physical (body of the deceased) and the soul (spirit of the deceased). It can be far healthier emotionally to allow the minister (priest or rabbi) to help the family of the deceased as they work openly through their grief than to permit their sadness to be repressed or concealed. The clergymen have been trained to assist in times of stress. Their experiences -- drawn from real 'life-and-death situations -- can be invaluable. The many sources of comfort and aid to which they have access may be most beneficial. They are anxious, moreover, to serve their congregations in these hours of grief-counselling.

This is one of a series of brief articles I hope will be helpful. We welcome your questions -- in private or publicly.

Tecumseh Rematched With City of Fenton

Tecumseh has been rematched with the city of Fenton for Mayor Exchange during Michigan Week, May 15-23

At the March 1, meeting Council was unhappy with its match to Sterling Heights, a suburban community of 60,000 in Macomb County, north of Detroit.

Fenton is located in Genesee County, about 15 miles south of Flint.

The communication from Fenton describes the city of 8,224 as a "small, bedroom type community," which still retains "some traces of the flavor of life 40 years ago." The community has experienced slow, steady growth in recent years with controlled entry of industry. It was founded in 1834.

$8 Fee May Be Dropped

Non-residents of the Tecumseh School District may not have to pay an additional $8 non-resident fee if the county comes through with a proposed subsidy.

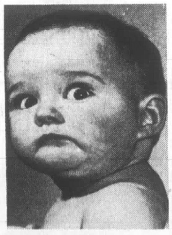
At the present time the County Recreation Board is considering a plan to subsidize up to $5 for each regularly scheduled game for adult softball leagues in the county. A total of $3,750 would be spent on the program.

The final adoption of the rules is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. at the March 30 meeting of the Lenawee County Parks and Recreation Commission at the Lenawee County Courthouse. James Palmer, Tecumseh councilman is a member of that board.

County's interest stems from complaints by Tecumseh and Adrian officials about the cost of adult recreation and use by non-residents.

The Tecumseh Recreation Board decided to accept the $5 per game in lieu of charging a $8 non-resident fee for players outside the school district.

In case the county does not adopt this plan, the $8 individual fee will be required of anyone not living in the school district. The school district owned athletic field is used in the men's softball program.



"Not enough insurance?"

In auto deaths that maim and kill, jury awards often go to $100,000 and over for loss of a father's support and companionship. Less than $100,000 auto liability coverage is unrealistic today.

MOCKINGBIRDS ARE THE GREATEST

Mockingbirds must be seen, heard, watched, and practically lived with to be fully appreciated. This is our second winter with them and I feel we have only just scratched the surface. Each day they show us new things.

For a while I was worried, the courtship displays and the nightime singing just didn't seem to be happening. Everyone agreed that the mockers were far behind schedule. I wonder if it weren't because of the weather. Florida was much colder than it should have been, the nights were particularly chilly.

And I ask you, how could even the most talented mockingbird sing his heart out when his bill was chattering with the cold? Fortunately that train of thought needs no pursuing — the weather is perfectly beautiful now and for several weeks the birds have been busy with their nightime serenading.

Last year the mockers built their nest and raised a family in the palm clump right by the bridge. This year I do not know where they will settle.

The palm clump has been trimmed and the bottom fronds cut away so we are wondering whether the birds will find it as attractive now as it was before the manicuring job.

Also, our neighbor four or five coaches away claims that she is talking to a pair of mocking birds and trying to get them to build in one of her bushes.

She just may do it — DeeDee is quite a forceful woman and if she whistles the right tune I can fully believe that a mockingbird answers her.

However, we shall not give up without a fight. Our weapon is a daily ration of raisins. Dad put a small brick in the bird-bath and we place the raisins on this. It keeps them well above the water while affording the birds an easy and convenient perch.

An added attraction is the closeness of a little sip of fresh water. Who knows whether the food or the whistle will win — I strongly suspect the birds will nest where they choose. I just hope it is close enough so that both of us can enjoy them.

There is still an empty lot between our coach and Dunbar's and fortunately the mockingbirds find it an ideal 'displaying area.' For a few weeks we wondered what was happening, could there be trouble in the bird world?

Several times each day one lone mocker would go through his whole repertoire but we could not spot for whom he was showing off. His long tail would fan wide open flashing its large white patches, his wings would be held straight out which also showed their large white patches and, when all spread out this way, the bird would slowly and rhythmically rock from side to side.

After doing this three or four times on the ground he would fly to the top of a short post and repeat the dance. What a great deal of work if there were no pretty lady to watch. Or could he be practicing, perfecting his technique? We wondered.

We still don't know but it is really of no importance now because there are definitely two mockers around. The other day I heard a loud raspy hiss and knew immediately who it was. A mocking bird.

He was close by and obviously unhappy about something. I shall never forget that noise because it began what was quite an adventure for me last year. I heard the hissing and looked out to see the mocker sitting on the edge of the birdbath. He was very agitated and excited, his wings and tail were spread, he was rocking back and forth, and his mouth was opened.

I had hardly started wondering what was happening when a big black snake crawled out from under the boxwood bush by the porch. As the bird hissed and I watched in horrified fascination, the snake slithered over the edge of the planter, across the bottom step of the porch, into the planter on the other side, beneath that boxwood bush, down the outside of that planter, into the grass and finally, over the lake bank.

I could hardly believe it. I had never been so close to a snake before and, quite frankly, I need never be so close again.

It was an interesting experience but never had I been so thankful for the sturdy protection of the porch screens. But, you see why I shall always recognize that hiss!

This time, thank goodness, the angry mocker was not seeing a snake, he was merely telling off another mockingbird. The message did not get through though and suddenly I was watching two mockingbirds on the small brick feeding table. One left in a hurry. Shades of Papa Cardinal before he decides to be nice to his lady love. And, what a difference a day makes — the mockingbirds are eating together now and all is peaceful.

Booster Meet To Plan Activities

Tecumseh Bands Thrive in '76

Tecumseh Schools Band Boosters will meet March 18 at 7:30 p.m. in the multi-purpose room of the Tecumseh Junior High School to finalize fund raising activities and discuss trips for the 100 volunteers of the marching band.

Band Boosters ask the support interest and attendance of all parents of Tecumseh band students at the meeting.

This year Mr. and Mrs. Don Burack, 2673 Cadillac, are the co-chairmen of the Band Boosters which support 450 band students ranging from the elementary grades through junior and senior high school.

Chuck Staples is vice-president; Wilma Silberhorn is secretary and Doris Nichols is treasurer of the Band Boosters.

Jimmie Rice, director of the Junior Varsity, Varsity and Volunteer Marching Bands, reports this year that more students are entering band at the fifth grade and staying in the program than in past years.

He cited as chief reasons student enthusiasm over increased band activities and increased community interest, as evidenced by the band room addition to the high school and the new summer band uniforms.

Elementary school students are primed for band in the fifth grade with practice on tone instruments. Brass and percussion are taught by Gerald Bach and woodwinds by Robert Schoof. This year 115 students are participating.

Each of the six grades of the six Tecumseh elementary schools has its own band. This year 125 students are in the bands directed by Bach.

In seventh grade, the band is divided into two groups for practice but the 90 students perform as one band.

The eighth grade band numbers 70. It was the first Tecumseh Schools band to achieve a first division rating at a band festival recently. Both junior high bands are an elective directed by Schoof.

The junior high school stage band is a volunteer band that meets after school.

The high school instrumental program includes 125 students in junior and varsity bands directed by Rice and a stage band, directed by Bach. The volunteer marching band has 100 members, 16 flag corpsmen and a drum major and twirlers, and is directed by Rice.

ST. PATRICK'S DAY postcard, circa 1920, from the collection of Roberta Anderson of Ypsilanti, grandaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Keller of Clinton. The Irish postcards are the third display in a series of nostalgic holiday postcards displayed at The Herald office, 110 E. Logan St., in honor of the Bicentennial.

Wearin' of the Green

(Editor's Note: In honor of the contribution of the Irish to American heritage and the Bicentennial year, the Herald suspends its policy not to print short stories and poetry to recognize a contribution from Amy Davis, fourth grader at Sutton School.)

"Larry the Leprachaun visited 4B at Sutton last week. He had a problem as he had lost his cap and couldn't find it. The students then wrote a story telling about how he lost it and if he found it. Amy Davis' story was forwarded by Principal Tom Sura.

"Oh deary me! Tis' lost, my hat!" Larry exclaimed. He was sitting on his cobbler bench when he first noticed this.

Up went his hand upon his head but all he found was a bare head! "Where did I put it," went on Larry. "Tis' not on my head, nor on my bench! Was truly my best red hat! It went so grandly with my yellow shirt, red belt, black breeches and green tailcoat. Tis' a shame, tis' a shame."

Larry got up from the bench and walked over to the shamrock patch and sat down. He dug under some shamrocks and managed to pull out some bread and wine.

"Ah! he said, "Bread and wine; maybe this will help me!"

"But must have been one of those strong blows with my hammer that blew away me cap. Tis' old I am, but not weak," Larry thought.

A sip of wine and a bit of bread was all Larry took. He put them away. With that he rose up and pondered on the loss of his cap.

He strolled through the pasture and on through the woods. Suddenly, a wonderful sight caught his eye! A four-leaf-clover!

Larry raced over to it and struggled to free it into the arms of him. At last it was free! Larry sat on the ground holding it in his lap.

"I wish that I had my red cap here in place of this clover," he wished.

When he opened his eyes, in place of the clover was a beautiful red cap! "Tis' at last I have my cap!" said Larry and from then on he never did lose it.

Human Services Examined

by Kathy Brown

A unique Human Services concept for Lenawee County will be the topic of a public hearing to obtain comments from the general public and county agencies on March 24 at 1:30 p.m. at the Circuit Courtroom, Lenawee County Courthouse, Adrian.

The Human Services concept would give the county more local control of planning and administering programs for the mentally ill, mentally retarded and other socially disadvantaged and physically handicapped people and their families in Lenawee County.

The state however would still play a major role in operation.

The human services concept is an umbrella approach to coordinate existing county services for more cooperation, less fragmentation and better programming.

Lenawee County is one of four Michigan counties presently developing a program of local control with cooperation from the Michigan Departments of social services, mental health and public health, and the only one organized with a broad political base.

"We don't see any changes in the present staffs but better utilization of services," told County Commissioner Nancy Nichols, D-District 5, Commissioners' liaison representative to the Mental Health Board.

The idea of human services concept for Lenawee County was spearheaded in November 1975 by County Commissioners Nichols, Stacy Zilke, R-District 4 and James Hadden R-District 13, members of the mental health board. They met for discussions on new state policies which encourage and require more local responsibility.

A coordinating council, representing county agencies and offices which deal with aspects of mental and physical health was organized and has met regularly since December 1975.

The council developed the idea of the Human Services concept for Lenawee County to locally control and coordinate services administered by interested and cooperating directors.

Three basic areas of need the coordinating council has outlined for action possible are: establishing a "central referral agency" so people will know whom to call about a specific problem; "improving organizational effectiveness," so existing agencies can coordinate help for the entire family as well as the physically or socially disadvantaged person; establishing a program for prevention and education.

"This program is still dveloping. The emphasis is on services, better programing and less fragmentation. We're having this public hearing so the public and these (county) agencies can ask their questions," said Nichols.

State directors of the Department of Mental Health, the Department of Public Health and Department of Social Services are expected to join the information panel on March 24.

BRITTON SCHOOL BICENTENNIAL QUILTERS — Members of Ann Creger's third grade class have become enthusiastic "quilting bees." Members of the class, both boys and girls, designed and embroidered or appliqued either by machine, or hand, a 40-square red, white and blue patch quilt commemorating events and persons of American history. The students also composed verses and designed artwork for birthday greeting cards for America which they are sending to President Gerald Ford. (Photo by Frank Weir)

'Busy as Bees' Quilting

The class of poets and artists have produced its own version of Bicentennial birthday greeting cards which it will send to President Gerald R. Ford.

The class has also become enthusiastic quilters. Both boys and girls embroidered 40 blocks, each with a historical event, to form a patchwork quilt of red, white and blue.

It proudly displays its work in the accompanying picture.

BITS OF LOCAL HISTORY

By Thelma Younglove

BRITTON — As we draw nearer to our nation's 200th birthday, considerable interest is being shown in our heritage and in the history of the first residents in the area.

The chief occupations of the first settlers were farming and lumbering. The region was heavily forested with excellent timber needed by the settlers for shelter, fuel, and fences.

Because of the abundance of fine timber saw mills were erected, then a planing mill, lath mill, hoop mill, and a stave mill. These enterprises flourished until the supply of timber had been exhausted.

Farmers discovered that peppermint grew well on the prairie and a peppermint distillery was built near the corner of M-50 and Downing Hwy. Peppermint was distilled for several years and then discontinued. Reason unknown.

At one time an apple drying factory was operated in Britton. About the same time a cider mill was busy each fall. The owner of the cider mill not only made cider, but also apple jelly.

Since no pectin was used, the jelly was more like a thick syrup. It was used on pancakes and as a cough syrup.

Many of the older farmers will recall when a grist mill in Britton was grinding feed (grists) for farmers' livestock. When more modern ways were introduced, that went out of business.

For years and years two blacksmith shops, the Bachman shop across from the Congregational Christian Church, and the other on the east side of S. Main St. just north of the railroad were both busy making repairs, replacements, building new items, and shoeing horses.

The blacksmiths were both skilled workmen and their services were much in demand.

The Britton Tile and Brick Co. located on the east side of Hoagland Rd., just north of the Wabash Railroad tracks operated day and night for many years until it was destroyed by fire and not rebuilt.

In 1897, the Gripton Brothers, George and Charles, started a sorghum mill east of Britton. Each fall, during the peak of the season the mill was operated night and day. Later the mill was sold and moved into Britton, where it was operated until it was destroyed by fire.

For many years a tinsmith at Gripton's Hardware was kept busy making new items for customers and repairing old ones. He was an excellent craftsman and turned out many fine articles.

A considerable quantity of milk was produced in the Britton area. For years it was hauled to Britton and shipped to Detroit by train.

Later a milk station was built where the fire engine house is now located. Farmers delivered milk there, ready to be trucked to Detroit. The milk station was closed when truckers began picking up milk at the farm.

For a number of years many cucumbers were grown in the area and taken to the pickle station near the depot where they were sorted, weighed, and stored in vats before being shipped to pickle processing plants.

At one time many, many acres of sugar beets were produced. At harvest time the beets were hauled to Britton and either loaded onto freight cars or dumped into huge piles to await shipment to sugar beet factories.

Tons and tons of tomatoes were grown in the locality. Farmers delivered the ripe tomatoes to the weigh station in Britton where they were weighed and then delivered to canning factories.

Many may be surprised at the variety of other businesses that have been active in Britton. They included millinery shops, a furniture store, drug stores, The Golden Rule Bakery, an ice cream parlor, two barber shops at the same time, a newspaper printing establishment, Auntie Martin's little novelty store, a meat market, two grocery stores at the same time, a general store, hardware, an implement store, Cheever's Poulty, Egg and Cream Business, a coal and lumber yard, three garages, and at least three gas stations.

In addition two doctors ministered to the needs of the people in the community, and a veterinarian kept busy caring for livestock.

It's hard to believe so many changes would take place in a few decades. What can we expect in the future?

Letters To The Editor

Dear Sirs:

We, the people of Tecumseh, Michigan, do not often find it in our hearts to say nice things about our police department.

This is one resident that has nothing but praise for our police department.

My mother fell in her bedroom around midnight on Monday and I was contacted.

I knew my husband and I could not help her alone, so I called the police department and they were at mother's home before my husband and I arrived.

With the two officers' help we were able to help mom with her problem.

Thanks again "Boys in Blue." We will always be grateful to you for your willing help.

Sincerely,

To the Editor

As girls in school years ago, we girls didn't have the chance to be Scouts. I want to say the feelings I have had as a part of Girl Scouting in Tecumseh. In five years I have had several jobs. I have enjoyed all of them with each being different.

It all started when our first daughter was in the second grade and wanted to be a Scout. As usual there weren't enough leaders. So started my adult career as a Girl Scout.

Each year brings new girls, ideas, and challenges. Being a leader is not always easy. Neither is being a parent. Some meetings go very well and others don't. Just being involved is getting to be a bigger thrill to me each season.

Seeing the girls grow and what young ladies they are becoming is satisfying. With my own family growing and needing more time, I now find writing news of the Tecumseh Girl Scout troops still keeps me involved and busy.

There are many ways to be in with a troop. Being the leader is just one. And you don't have to be a mother to volunteer. Any person who has time or experiences they want to share with wonderful girls can become members. Now is a really good time to get your feet wet without being committed to take a troop.

Let leaders and troops adopt you for a couple of months. Then in the fall you will take more part of all the girls do. In Tecumseh there are three husband and wife teams. Decide for yourselves and join us soon.

Letter to the Editor:
Dear Kathy:

The article and picture in The Tecumseh Herald certainly assisted the Tecumseh Jaycee Auxiliary in promoting their free blood pressure clinic. Margie Ball has informed me that she was surprised to see such a fantastic turn out for the clinic. Of course, as District Chairman of the project, she had to care for all the problems and a chairman is always the one so sure a project could "fizzle" out.

Thank you Kathy for your help. In this area Jaycee Auxiliary's are always overwhelmed by the hospitality which the staff at The Tecumseh Herald extends to us.

Keep up the good work!
Sincerely,
Joy E. Hawkins

To the Editor:

The students of Tecumseh High lack representation. The Herald needs to involve students more where appropriate.

As School Board Representative for the Tecumseh High Assembly, I believe that my presentations to the school board are as important as the topics already scheduled on the agenda, since the board IS FOR the student.

When Dr. Harold Ocamb, board president, tells me that my inquiry is "none of my business," and it's not even mentioned in the board meeting report in the Herald, the students and their opinions have been totally left out.

People of our community want and need to know about the students at board meetings and about some of the mistreatment we sometimes acquire from the board members.

The school board is an important part of Tecumseh and complete reports of meetings are essential.

Some folks may say that students aren't involved. No, it's just that we often lack the necessary representation.

Respectfully,
Marty Perkins

President

It is with careful consideration and deep regret that I find myself in a position where I can no longer function as an effective member on the Board. Therefore, I am submitting to you my resignation which is effective immediately.

There are several reasons for me taking this action. However, I do not feel it necessary to delve into them due to first hand observances at the Board meetings.

Be well aware that I am NOT singling out any one person or persons. The cause for this action rests with the attitude and ideology of the total organization which I have not been able to assimilate into my own personality which undoubtedly stems from my past professional training.

Please be advised that the finances have been up-dated as of the above date. Also, another UWM Budget Conference delegate should be chosen.

With all due respect, I have grown and learned a great deal through my experiences as a Boad member. Quite possibly at a future time I may more effectively serve my Community through your necessary organization.

Most sincerely,
Barbara B. Blanden

Dear Sirs:

Mrs. Olga Smith gave me a copy of your 2-18-76 supplement for the 35th Anniversary of Herrick Memorial Hospital Auziliary. I enjoyed it very much, especially the faces of many I used to know and work with when I was a Nurses's Aide.

I happen to be the "unknown" in the 3rd class (second person in third row).

At the time the picture was made my name was Miss Norma Jean Bethel. However, while still working as an aide, I married Neil F. Jones who was born and raised in Tecumseh. Neil is the son of Charles F. Jones who was a barber in Tecumseh for many years.

Both of our sons were born at Herrick Memorial Hospital, so we are most interested in the hospital's growth.

We have been Plymouth residents for the past 21 years, but often return to Tecumseh. Just thought you might want to know who the "unknown was.

Very truly Your,
Norma J. Jones
Plymouth, Mi.

To the Editor:

"As you know the Herrick Memorial Hospital Auxiliary celebrated its 35th anniversary this past month and this was noted by the magnificient supplement printed with the Feb. 18 edition of The Tecumseh Herald.

We are most appreciative of our many friends in the community who have supported all of our efforts for the hospital, but at this time we would like to thank publically those who made the supplement possible.

For the beginning, and that is where it all started, Lucille Hart (past auxiliary president) thought that many changes in the hospital had taken place in 10 years when the last supplement was printed and since this is our Bicentennial Year she said, "Let's get the hospital history up to date."

So — a most warm sincere heartfelt thank you go to the Herrick Hospital Board of Trustees, Tecumseh City Council, Tecumseh Herald Staff, Hospital Administration and Nursing Staff, Faraday Inc., Tecumseh Products Co., Meyers Industries Inc., Peerless Gear, Clinton, Jiffy Plastics Manufacturing Co., Comfort Brick and Tile Co., Tecumseh Corrugated Box Co., Tecumseh Area Employees Credit Union, and the Hospital Auxiliary Supplement Staff.

Thank you, your support to the auxiliary and community have touched the hearts of many.

Most Sincerely,
The Herrick Memorial Hospital
Auxiliary Board
Sally Crause, President

Tasty Trip to Salad Bowl

By Maxine Calhoun

Apparently farmers are especially interested in seeing farm operations in other states.

When the Calhouns boarded the bus for the Farm Tour from Belle Glade, Fla., only others going along were farm couples from widely scattered states.

We agreed visitors to Florida are missing a most informative tour if they pass up this trip, and the cost of $5 is well worth it.

Florida's 'salad bowl' vegetable growing area was formed of the organic black muck soil, when Lake Okeechobee was partially drained and a flood control district formed.

Canals provide gravity-flow irrigation making cultivation possible.

There are 500,000 acres being cultivated in sugar cane, cattle, sod and vegetables.

Late in February the dry foliage in the sugar fields was being burned off and harvesting begun.

Awesome indeed is the site of a 40-acre field of cane, set to the torch, and roaring into sky-high flames. Fifteen minutes later, only the green sugar cane is standing, and the many rabbits and field rodents have scurried to safety, while we watched from the nearby roadside. Next day, the harvester machines, or Jamaican field workers moved in to cut the cane.

World's largest sugar mill at Belle Glade, produces 2,000 tons of raw sugar daily, from the 20,000 ton harvest.

Our bus drives down the company owned lanes and right out into the powdery, bouncy, black muck field of celery, stretching for miles in all directions.

Driver of the bus hops out and proceeds to use a huge machete-like blade to hack green bunches of fresh celery and he fills a grocery sack for each of us. Then he passed out the peanut butter to lather on the succulant green stalks for a munchy treat.

Later, it was on to the radish fields where eight farmers raise six crops a year on 30,900 acres. We watched as the many-rowed harvester gleaned the fields, then dumped the radishes at the end of the field to be discarded, since the present price did not warrant cost of shipping to market. Again bags were filled for us.

Cost of production is considerable in these fields where some salad vegetables require as many as 25 applications of pesticides and fertilizers.

Crop dusting planes landed just behind us on the road we traveled and were seen flying over all the fields.

Government imported Jamaicans are mainly employed in the cane fields, and other field workers are well paid for their work on a per-load basis.

So well paid, in fact, our driver explained, that the person who rides atop the celery harvester can earn $100 a day just unfolding the packing cartons. So far, the farm unions haven't been able to interest these workers.

Palm Beach County in southern Florida is the largest agricultural producing county in the world. It's worth a look.

Church History Spans 140 Years

CLINTON — Originally known as St. Patrick's in its early years, St. John's Episcopal Church is one of the oldest, if not the oldest Episcopal Church structure west of the Alleghenies.

Sunday there will be an observance of the 140th anniversary of its founding.

The original building, a portion of which still exists in the current building, was started sometime between 1833 and 1934. The first Divine Service was held on Dec. 13, 1835. It was officially organized March 20, 1836.

The Rev. William N. Lyster was almost totally responsible for the building of the church, and actually paid for the original structure from his personal funds. Lyster was born in Ireland, educated in Dublin and Edinburg Universities, and came to this country in 1929. He became rector of St. Peter's in Tecumseh in 1833 and also served many communities beside Clinton.

The parish hall was added to the church proper in 1952, and designated Lyster Hall, doing much to restore St. John's as an active member of Clinton's community of churches.

Plans Are Made For Wagon Train

CLINTON — First Bicentennial planning session, March 8, was addressed by Harry Dodd, coordinator for the Wagon Train for Lenawee County.

Attending were representatives of the Clinton Jaycees and Auxiliary and the Spanish Club 1978.

Dodd told planners that an estimated 50 wagons would be coming through Clinton May 24, including the Michigan unit and 12 or 14 of the National Wagon Train units.

Dodd said the community would be advised about how many people are expected, about a week before the visit.

Charlie Peart, Bicentennial chairman, explained that food may be needed for some of the national wagon outriders and state police escorts, some 100 persons.

However, no food may be prepared in private homes. They must be fed from a licensed facility.

Since numerous spectators are expected in the area to view the train, food and entertainment is needed for them.

Peart invited Clintonians to set up concession and craft booths in the village May 24 for the many out-of-town visitors expected to come to the area to see the wagon train.

Clinton High School marching band will escort the train from the village limits into town.

A site is sought for the caravan to pause while they are in the village.

Next Bicentennial planning is March 23 at 7 p.m. at the Community Center.

Everyone is asked to bring ideas for activities for May 24 and for other events to take place through July 4.

Services May Be Cut

Services of the Lenawee Council on Aging may be cut here because the 1976-77 grants to the LCOA are being reduced. Tecumseh Council learned this in a letter from Ray Maxe, treasurer of the Lenawee Council on Aging on Monday night.

Council has asked city manager Cal Zorn to get in touch with Maxe before the city prepares its 1976-77 budget. Council's idea was to see what the city could do to save the services now used by Tecumseh senior citizens.

Maxe's letter also included a list of some 60 Tecumsehites who have used the LCOA various services at least one time in the last few months.

Maxe's letter said that because of a reduced grant for the 1976-77 year, he had been told this reduction should be effected in part by cutting services where local units of government do not support the program of the Lenawee Council on Aging.

Letter further stated beginning July 1976 this could mean stopping all service to Tecumseh. Maxe said he wanted Tecumseh Council to know this "not to gain support" but to advise Tecumseh Council in its planning for senior citizens.

Tecumseh does not contribute to the LCOA budget, but because federal funds are involved in LCOA's budget, Tecumseh senior residents have been eligible to use services such as special bus transportation, and the wide range of recreation and advisory services at the LCOA Piotter Center in Adrian.

Last summer, Council decided not to join LCOA because Tecumseh senior citizens repeatedly opposed adding the LCOA programs at several consecutive Council meetings.

Purchases Authorized By Council

Tecumseh City Council authorized $2,265 for the purchase of equipment for the fire department and wastewater plant Monday night.

Low bids of Oakland Fire Equipment Co. for fire department equipment totaled $1,790. Purchase includes 550 feet of 1½ inch fire hose at $1.19 per foot and 400 feet of 2½ inch hose at $1.69 per foot, and one air mask for $460.

Low bid of $475 by Fisher Scientific for a ph meter for the wastewater plant was accepted.

In other action, Council approved Tecumseh's associate membership in the National League of Cities for $180 annually.

Council updated the vesting requirement of the city's pension program from 25 years to 10 years for full-time, permanent, city employees with continuous service.

Council authorized the title insurance for a complete right of way survey and description for the Russell Road extension. Frazier and Associates will be contracted at a cost not to exceed $800.

by Linda Phillips 423-5213

Eat your carrots, and you'll have 20-20 vision; babies are either found in cabbage patches or the stork brings them; wash your ears well or potatoes will grow in them; spinach when ingested will enable you to perform great feats of strength.

At least one of these admonitions probably has a familiar ring to it for you.

They're "maternal myths"—the little white lies your mother may have lovingly imbeded in your "silly putty" mind to make you do what she wanted you to do without (a) resorting to bodily harm, or (b) without your realizing it was good for you.

A maternal myth can also be a surrogate explanation for an answer to a question you were "too young to understand."

Actually, it's unfair to slap "maternal" in front of myths—unfair to fathers, who on occasion, like to get in on the act.

Mine told me, at a tender and extremely impressionable age, that if I swallowed a watermelon seed, it would grow in my stomach and sprout through my head. . .

Some kids have presence enough to see these myths for what they were—and ate their spinach with "a grain of salt," so to speak.

Unfortunately, other children accepted these myths as the whole truth and nothing but the truth, so help them Captain Kangaroo.

Even more unfortunate is the child, who upon entering the adult world, is unable to completely dispel these little legends.

Case in point: this writer.

Can you imagine the panic I felt when the decision was made to begin our family?

First of all, gardens were forbidden at our apartment complex, and secondly the stork had just been placed on the endangered species list.

I valiantly eat carrots boiled, baked and broasted—bi-weekly—with the hope that someday my optometrist will declare (with a raptured look on his face that only witnessing a miracle could produce) that I no longer have to wear the "coke bottle bottoms" suspended by stylish wire frames.

And one of my favorite fantasies is being able to lift a baby grand piano after eating a spinach soufle.

My husband hasn't been terribly supportive. For instance, he refuses to check my inner ear with the aid of a flash light for the germination of any plant life.

And he has no sympathy whatsoever for me when the family is finished with their watermelon, and two hours later I'm still picking seeds out of mine.

Resignations Accepted by School Board

Tecumseh school board accepted the resignations of John Basinger, high school physical education and study hall teacher, and Mrs. Carrie, elementary special education teacher Monday night.

Board members also approved of the Adrian firm of Gross and Ludwig to perform the district's annual audit.

Cagers Prevail Over Marshall, Face No. 1 Flint Beecher Next

Tecumseh used a persistent defense and balanced scoring to whip Marshall last Friday winning the Regional No. 9 basketball championship held at Charlotte. It was the first regional title for the Indians since 1964.

Final tally was 63-51 and the Indians now face top-ranked Flint Beecher this Thursday night at Central Michigan University in quarterfinal action. Tecumseh's record now stands at 20-5 while Beecher is undefeated with a 25-0 record.

Marshall jumped out to a 4-0 lead in the early going but Tecumseh tied it at 5-5 on baskets by Jeff Schafer and Bruce Hughes. The Redskins again rallied to take a 12-10 lead at the end of the first frame.

Brad Sisson converted two charity shots at the start of the second stanza to tie it up. Marshall continued to stay within two points with three minutes left. Two buckets by Jeff Hans and one apiece by Ken Biscupski and Bruce Hughes gave the Indians a 23-18 advantage at the half.

Marshall pulled within one point early in the third quarter but the Indians failed to relinquish their lead scoring a flurry of points the rest of the quarter finishing with a 40-31 score at the end of the third frame.

The final stanza was, again, all Tecumseh with the Indians grabbing 23 markers to 21 for Marshall.

Five Tecumseh players finished in double figures. Bruce Hughes was on top with 14 points followed by Hans and Schafer with 13, Biscupski with 12 and Sisson with 10.

Tecumseh dumped 22 of 55 from the field for 40 percent while the Redskins succeeded on 22 of 58 for 37.9 percent. The Indians coverted 19 of 38 from the line for 50 percent and Marshall hit seven of 12 for 58.3 percent.

Tecumseh held the edge in rebounding with 42 to 37 for Marshall. Biscupski and Hughes led in rebounds with 11 followed by Hans with 10.

The Indians suffered just 15 turnovers to 16 for Marshall.

The team takes on Beecher at 7:30 Thursday night in quarterfinal action. Tickets can be purchased at Tecumseh High School previous to Thursday night. Coach Ron Spagnoli confides that Beecher is big and fast possessing good jumping ability.

Rush Party Held

Iota Epsilon Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi recently held a rush party in the lounge of the Presbyterian Church in Tecumseh.

The new rushees were introduced to the purpose and activities of the sorority by vice-president, Mrs. Ken Naugle.

Several mixer games were played, then the guests and members got acquainted during a dessert tasting and coffee period.

THEY'RE NO. 1—Sixty junior high school students of the Eighth Grade Band of Tecumseh Junior High School received the highest possible rating, a first division rating, March 6 at the Junior High Band Orchestra Festival, Jackson's Hunt Junior High School. This means they are one of the best junior high school bands in the area. They brought the honor home to Tecumseh after weeks of hard practice directed by Junior High School Band director Robert Schoof. Bands participating were judged by four judges who awarded ratings from I to IV, I being highest. Each band performed three prepared pieces and two sightreading pieces, music unknown to the students. The eighth grade band will appear with the seventh grade and junior high school stage bands at the annual Spring Junior High Band Concert April 30. Public will be invited. (Photo by Frank Weir)

Board of Commissioners Reject Takeover

by Kathy Brown

Lenawee County Board of Commissioners rejected in a 12-3 vote March 10 the request of developers of Lake Arrowhead Estates in Raisin Township for the county to operate and maintain a water system there.

The motion was nearly thrown out for being out of order.

The incident demonstrated another argument over rules and procedure common at commissioners' meetings.

During the report of the Drains and Lake Committee Commissioner Larry Gould, R-District 8, read a motion which advised the County Board of Commissioners to reject the developers proposal because there were no customers at the present time. The motion did not include the subject of the action, namely Lake Arrowhead Estates. He then proceeded to explain the issue.

Commissioner James Hadden, R-District 13 questioned the order of business and told chairman Wayne Traub, R-District 1, that the motion was "completely out of order", because it wasn't complete.

After the chairman agreed, Hadden said, yielding to Gould, "but go ahead anyway."

Commissioners then learned that Lake Arrowhead Estates is a 140-home development located on Sutton and Occidental Roads in Raisin Township.

First Federal Savings and Loan Association of Lenawee, principal developer, will install the water system but wants the county to take over. It made the same proposal to Raisin Township which refused.

No houses have been built. A complete water system must be installed first.

County Drain Commissioner Donald Mitchell suggested the county wait until the homes were built and residents move in.

Ray Jackson, D-District 3, a drains and lakes committee member, opposed the take over because the development is private and he was concerned the county would set a precident to take over water systems for other new developments in the county.

"We're gonna automatically become a public works department," said Jackson.

Some commissioners said the county already is.

Questions surfaced about the county's maintenance of the water system of Manor Farms in the Adrian area. Manor Farms was developed during World War II and operated by the developer until the development was filled. A community association similar to a coop failed to successfully operate.

The county then took over operation and assesses the homeowners for a county drain. However the system delivers water, it does not drain it. Still residents need water.

Commissioner Melvin Rodesiler-R, District 11 said "until it becomes a health and welfare problem, the county should not take over."

Opposing the motion that the county reject the developers request were commissioners: Richard Lackie, R-District 14; Clyde Wright, D-District 12 and Stacy Zilke, R-District 4.

The state is now expected to take over jurisdiction.

Commissioner Pilar Leon-D-District 15 said afterward, he was unaware of the proposal and that these should be brought out before meetings.

According to commissioners' meeting procedure, all formal resolutions must be submitted to commissioners in writing previous to the meeting to allow studytime.

Gould replied the "misunderstanding (is) in the committee system. Hopefully, we can iron it out between ourselves."

Later he expressed disappointment that other committees' work is accepted at meetings without lengthly explaination and asked why not the Drains and Lakes Committee. He agreed, though, the motion could have been better stated.

The scene from the Hill. It's up to him to inform the rest of us, and in these complicated times, that isn't easy. But his job is communication, to get the facts, to give them to us straight.

He represents a Freedom . . . one of those precious gifts guaranteed to us under our Constitution. The Church represents another Freedom.

These Freedoms, and the word itself, have special meaning just now when we're celebrating our Bicentennial. Let's not lose sight of them.

It's a birthday present we owe ourselves.

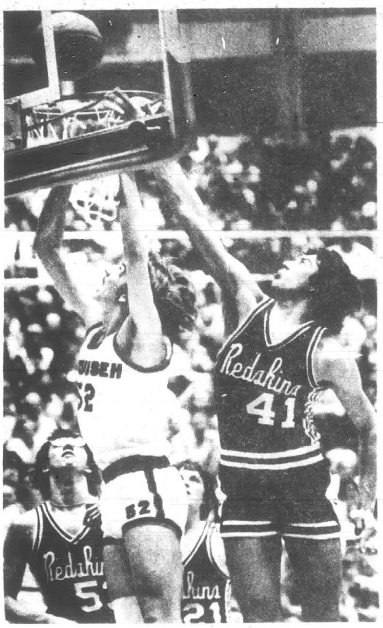
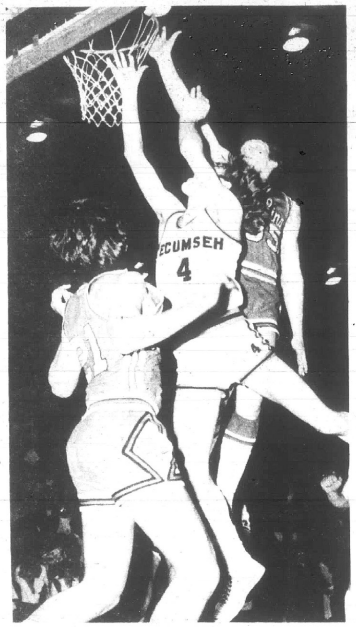
Indians Win Regional, Beat Marshall, 63-51

COACH RON SPAGNOLI accepts Tecumseh's first Regional trophy since 1964 last Friday. The Indians now enter quarterfinal action this Thursday at Central Michigan.



TOP SCORER, Bruce Hughes defends against a Redskin field goal attempt in the early going. Hughes made six baskets and two foul shots to lead the pack with 14 points.



A PAIR OF Marshall players and Tecumseh's Brad Sisson fight for possession of the ball. Tecumseh gave up the first quarter 12-10 to Marshall but pulled into the lead to stay in the second.

KEN BISCUPSKI attempts to cut past a Redskin on his way to the basket. Biscupski finished in the fourth spot in scoring with 12 points. Five Indians scored in double figures.

A PROUD Tecumseh volleyball squad accepts the regional trophy Saturday afternoon. The Indians defeated three teams that day to earn the trophy and a berth in the state tourney to be held this Saturday. Jane Faulkner, No. 15, won serving honors in the final game scoring 17 serving points.

VOL. 125 OUR 126th YEAR—NO. 28 THURSDAY, MARCH 25, 1976 TWELVE PAGES—20¢

Almost . . . but not quite

Tecumseh Indians were expected to be blown off the court against top ranked Flint Beecher last Thursday night at Mt. Pleasant, but it wasn't to be.

Down by 10 points at half time and 17 points later in the third period, the Indians rallied to pull within three points, 50-47, before finally bowing to Beecher, 72-63. Missed free throws prevented Tecumseh from what could have been a tremendous upset.

The victory enabled Beecher to advance to the semi-finals Saturday and another triumph. The Flint team will be a slight favorite to win the state Class B title against River Rouge Saturday at Crisler Arena at Ann Arbor.

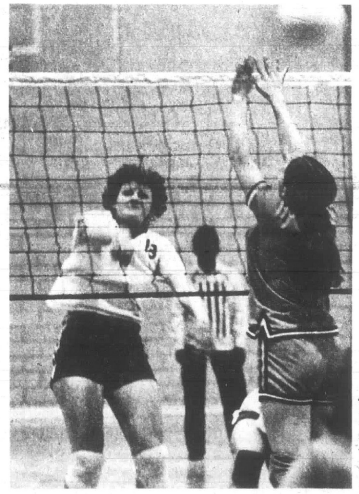
Although Coach Ron Spagnoli will lose four of five starters, enough returnees from the junior and sophomore classes should give Tecumseh a pretty fair team for the 1976-77 season.

Coach Sue Allen's undefeated volleyball team walked through its first match Saturday at Kalamazoo, defeating Flint-Hamady, 15-8 and 11-9, but then ran into Parchment - eventual state champion.

The tall Parchment team blitzed Tecumseh, winning the first, 15-0, and the second game, 15-8, after the local girls had pulled to within two points at 10-8 in the second game.

Eight players from the Tecumseh team which lost in the state semi-finals will graduate this June.

UPSET-MINDED—Tecumseh's cage squad yearned for an upset over Flint Beecher last Thursday in quarterfinal action but fell short 72-63. Here, Jeff Hans offers up the ball while Bruce Hughes prepares for a possible rebound. Hans finished with 11 points while Hughes was tops for Tecumseh with 21. (Photo by Frank Weir)



TECUMSEH NEMESIS — Parchment Panther Lorraine Lynn, No. 13, played a big part in destroying Indian hopes for a state volleyball championship Saturday. A tall girl, Lynn was a master of the spike. Here she smacks the ball just over Tecumseh star Sue Brown. Parchment beat Tecumseh in semi-final action. (Photo by Frank Weir)

Historical Meeting Open for Public

Tecumseh residents are invited to a public information meeting Sunday, March 28 at 7:30 p.m. at the Community Center to ask questions about the historic district survey and ordinance being prepared by the Tecumseh Historic District Study Committee.

At this time the Tecumseh Historic District Study Committee will meet to set dates for presentation of its survey and ordinance to City Council.

Since only 45 forms have been received from homeowners, the date for returning the questionnaires to city hall will be extended and set Sunday night.

Mrs. Carlton Cook, chairman of the study committee said residents who are answering the forms are doing a good job. The committee wants to give residents a chance to be involved and answer the questionnaires themselves. Otherwise volunteers will have to complete the surveys by estimating the information.

Most important on the survey are a date for the construction of the home, and the names of the last buyer and seller of the home.

Since the questionnaire is also a housing survey, all homeowners should respond and return the forms, because the preservation of surrounding "newer" homes effects the character of the historic district as well.

A two projector slide review of Tecumseh's houses, yesterday and today, will preceed the discussion Sunday.

Rides Bike Into Auto

Six traffic accidents investigated the past week included a car-bicycle mishap that slightly injured the bike rider.

Kevin Ruettinger, 9, of 116 N. Maumee, was headed east on his bike on E. Logan when he collided with Margaret A. Leighton, 56, of 306 W. Pottawatamie, at the intersection of Logan and N. Oneida.

Mrs. Leighton also was headed east and was attempting to make a turn into Oneida when the youngster was unable to stop his bike in time to avoid a collision.

The young bicyclist sought his own treatment.

Other accidents were:

March 18 — John R. Laslo, 20, Britton, backed into a car owned by Trudy L. Spence, 10365 Pentecost Hwy., in the Tecumseh Country Club parking lot.

March 19 — Kathleen M. Frey, 22, Jackson, was charged with failure to yield after a mishap with Edward J. Dranginis, 54, of 701 Outer Dr., at the S. Union and W. Pot-

New TCC Pro Was on Tour

Former tour player, Stan Brion, will open the Tecumseh Country Club season here as golf pro. The 33-year-old professional has been working at the local pro shop for the past several weeks and hopes to have it open by April 1, although the official opening of the course will not be until later in April.

A native of Adrian, Brion qualified for the pro tour at the first PGA school ever held back in 1967. After finding a sponsor in 1969 at the Green Valley Country Club, Philadelphia, he was on the tour until 1971. He played in such tournaments as the Hartford Open, Whitemarish at Philadelphia, Milwaukee Open and others.

He tied for 18th in the PGA in 1974, missing an invitational spot in the Masters by just four strokes. He also recorded a second place finish in the National Club-Pro tourney at Pinehurst.

Although he has no desire to return to the pro circuit, he will play in the Michigan Open and hopes to qualify for the PGA.

Brion is the second club professional at the local country club to have played among the best. Mike Hill was pr. here two years before qualifying at the Florida PGA school. Since leaving Tecumseh, Hill has won a couple big tournaments and just recently finished in a tie for third place in a Florida tournament.

Brion's family, wife Barbara and two sons, Stan and Chris, are currently residing at West Palm Beach, Fla. He is hoping to rent a house here soon and bring his family north.

No Candidates Yet for Board

Although petitions for the School Board have been available for several weeks, not one has been taken out for the June election, Gene Cooley, assistant superintendent, reports.

Dr. Harold Ocamb, board president, has indicated that he will not seek re-election. He's been on the board for eight years and succeeded the late William Brown as president last year when Brown suffered a fatal heart attack.

Other incumbents, James Records and Hugh DesErmia, have not yet reached a decision, although Records is leaning towards running again.

DesErmia was appointed by the Board last year to finish out Brown's term, which has three years yet to go.

Two terms of four years and one of three years will be on the June ballot, and candidates must decide whether to run for one of the four-year terms or for the three-year term.

A minimum of 20 signatures of registered voters in the school district are required. Deadline for filing, Monday, May 17, is still some six weeks away.

A petition circulator also must be a qualified and registered voter of the district.

Hosting Esch at Breakfast

A "meet Marvin Esch" breakfast will be held Friday morning at Adrian's Holiday Inn for business and professional people in the county.

Esch, presently serving in the legislature at Lansing and a Republican candidate for the U.S. Senate, formerly represented the county at Lansing but was switched in the recent redistricting.

The fund raising breakfast is being sponsored by the Esch in '76 Committee.

Esch hopes to be the Republican candidate next November when Michigan voters will fill the Congressional post being vacated by Senator Phillip Hart.

Vote 12-5 for Union

Licensed practical nurses and practical nurses, employed by Herrick Memorial Hospital, have voted to join the Michigan Licensed Practical Nurses Association.

The vote was 12-5 in a recent election supervised and certified by the Employment Relations Commission of the Michigan Department of Labor.

Mrs. Robinson Is Selected Lady of Year

Joan Robinson, 105 N. Oneida was named First Lady of the Year, March 23, at the Presbyterian Church in Adrian.

Mrs. Robinson is the second Tecumseh woman in two years to bring the First Lady of the Year title to her home. Lynn Cook, 140 Brown St. was the First Lady of the Year 1974.

Wife of John Robinson, Joan Robinson is the mother of three children, Jera, 22, Jana, 20, and Jody 15.

Mrs. Robinson is active in many organizations but her full and true love are her foster children.

She and her husband have taken in 24 children over seven years. Five of these were retarded or handicapped. They have stayed with the Robinsons for two months to three years depending on adoption.

She was described in her nomination as a fighter for the rights of these children so they may have the best life possible.

It is also said she "cries a lot when they leave her home for adoption."

Joan is a charter member of the Foster Parents Association. She has chaired Action for Foster Children committees to make county residents aware of the needs of foster children.

She attends meetings of and Plan Alert on April 1

Tecumseh Fire Department Chief, Wallace MacGeorge reminds area residents that Tecumseh will join other Lenawee County Fire Departments and the Sheriff's Department in a county wide test tornado, Thursday, April 1 at 5:55 p.m.

A tornado warning is a two minute steady blast on the fire sirens when a tornado has been sighted in an area southwest of Tecumseh and may be headed into the area.

All fire departments will receive the signal via fire radio from the sheriff's department. Sheriff's department will also conduct a test of the TV weather alert system at the same time.

8 Protest Assessments

Only eight city property owners protested their assessments at the annual meeting of the Board of Review, Monday and Tuesday, at city hall.

Robert Hamden, city assessor, says several phone inquires also were received from residents.

Board consists of James Freckleton, T.J. Wagner and Ted Ehinger.

Behind Page One

The American Revolution Bicentennial Administration (ARBA) reports that early sales for the National Bicentennial Medal have made it possible to provide additional matching grant money to local Bicentennial activities well ahead of expectations. Gross sales of the National Medal reached $4.8 million in January, assuring that sufficient net revenues will be available to fund the latest increment of $40,000 in matching grants to each of the 50 states, the District of Columbia, Puerto Rico, the Virgin Islands, Guam and American Samoa. The medal will be available until the end of July.

Recipes by America's First Ladies, including Martha Washington and Betty Ford are in a new Bicentennial booklet introduced in a special War on Cancer project now being sponsored jointly by the American Cancer Society and the American Legion. The "First Ladies' Recipe Booklet" will be mailed on request to anyone in the United States who sends a donation of $2.00 or more to any unit of the American Cancer Society or to any Post of the American Legion in Maryland or other cooperating states.

PERFECT DAY FOR FLYING—Tuesday offered perfect flying weather allowing the Tecumseh firm of Paul and Joel Schafer custom sprayers to take several passes over crops owned by Fred Feight. Talking It Out

With Lester D. Proctor

Pre-planning:

Are your finances in order?

Financial planning is part of your future security program. You may have thought it out well in advance — planning for retirement income, college trusts for children and grandchildren, and many other important events to come.

But if you were to die tomorrow, would your financial matters be in order?

Is your insurance coverage up-to-date? Payments on schedule, beneficiary or beneficiaries designated according to your wishes? Are your insurance policies, Social Security and Veteran's Administration papers all together and in a safe and accessible place. And does your wife (or husband) know where they are?

Do you have your will updated?

Do you keep a list of names, addresses and phone numbers of your broker, agents, savings account numbers, etc. in a safe and accessible place? Does your wife know where that list is? Who besides your wife? And do they have the necessary access to it?

There are many other pertinent financial and personal details that become extremely important to your family should you die. You really should make a personal check list of your own. Give a copy to your wife and/or other members of the family.

(This is one of a series of short articles I hope will be helpful. We welcome your questions — in private or publicly.)

by Marda Gene Duncan

THE SMALL THINGS

This is the theme I have repeated over and over again but it is still true, still so very, very true. It is big, exciting things such as seeing a brand new bird or spending hours intently watching an unusual performance which give a bird-watching hobby unforgetable highs; however, it is the small ordinary events which happen each day that sustain the long haul between highs. For example —

The mockingbirds are daily visitors now and almost anytime of the day we are apt to see or hear one. Or two. Yesterday while one was busily gobbling down raisins I again was struck by what a sharp, slick bird he was.

His gray feathers were soft and smooth, his black bill slightly decurved as is his cousin's, the brown thrasher, and his front not nearly as light as the color plate in the Audubon Bird Guide shows.

Neither his wings nor tail were fanned or open so, except for the two wing bars, none of the white wing or tail markings were visible. But, as he gulped the last raisin and stood on the feeding-brick looking around, his head was high and his long tail was cocked up to such an extent that his wing-tips showed below it. A more alert and dapper gentleman would be hard to find.

Another regular we never cease to enjoy watching is the anhinga. Again that should be plural because there are often two and occasionally three or four. In flight this large, 28-inch bird is easily divided into thirds —one-third of his length being head and neck, another third tail and the middle third body.

This long neck stretched straight out and the tail opened wide plus his habit of gliding after every four to six wing-beats make him easy to recognize in the air.

This bird is easy to spot on land too. Instead of walking he sort of waddles and his comparatively short legs do not lift his body high enough to let his tail miss the ground. It drags.

And yes, this is the fish-eating bird who must dry his feathers before flying. The other day we noticed that there must be a 'connecting link' between the anhinga's wings and tail. Although much of the drying-out is done with the wings held in the spread-eagle manner, the bird sometimes helps the process by flapping his wings.

And when his wings flap, his tail wags. The feathers spread and the tail swishes back and forth. The tempo is even syncronized — the faster the wings beat the faster the tail wags.

Although he is far from a regular, the kingfisher is always most welcome. In Michigan he seems such a remainder of quiet, out-of-the-way, solitary stretches of creeks and rivers that I am still having trouble adjusting to one sitting on the top of a palm tree or perching on the roof of a coach.

Both seem such unlikely spots and certainly our small lake shore is far from uncivilized. Unpeopled sounds better, Marda. A big thrill the other morning was opening my eyes and getting them focused, then glancing at the mirror just in time to see something drop.

Something dark — no, the wings were dark but the front was light and the head large. What I had seen was a kingfisher! And just think, he must have been using our roof as a lookout spot. A successful lookout spot too for he was obviously on hiw way to catch a fish.

The bird-chorus we are being entertained by these days is nothing short of fantastic. There are whistles, trills, arbles, cheeps, peeps, etc. Mom, Dad and I do not even begin to try naming these singers.

Once in a while a cardinal whistle stands out but, unless the red bird is sitting in plain sight, it could just as easily be a mockingbird.

Their imitations are unbelievable. And also unbelievable is the harsh, rasping croak that the egret makes. Poor Georgie-Boy may be beautiful but he is certainly not musical.

And, although his voice is grating, it is not loud. In fact, he sounds almost hoarse and here is a nightmare of a thought, imagine what a sore throat G-B could have.

Back to an early morning thrill. Mom experienced almost the ultimate today. They were out of my mirror sight but, just as Mom walked out on the porch to check the world, she saw two great blue herons across the lake.

One was stalking breakfast at the water's edge and the other was standing half-way up the bank. As Mom watched, these majestic birds looked at each other and then took to the air. I saw their shadows as they flew by. An experience like that sets the tone for the whole day. A small thing but nothing except good could possibly follow such a beginning.

Jewels & gems

By Dick Eggleston

Since man can remember, the art of the silversmith has been both important and a respected craft. In colonial days, silver was a rare and much-prized possession, usually owned only by the well-to-do. When we look at the carefully kept inventories of household goods from some of the estates of the early householders, we discover that silver was such a rare commodity that many had no silver whatsoever. In fact in many estates, the householders had only a small item, a single silver spoon, which represented the only "plate". Much of the silver of that time came from Spain.

Discover for yourself the wide selection of stainless steel tableware and other pieces on display at EGGLESTON'S JEWELRY, 107 E. Chicago Blvd., 423-2715. We carry a wide line of stainless flatware by Oneida, International and Gorham and stainless pieces by Gorham including tea and coffee service, trays, bowls, chafing and fondue dishes.

Rings should be carefully cared for -- there is nothing like an occasional professional cleaning to keep them in topnotch condition.

Macon Dialog

by Linda Phillips 423-5213

After several months of inactivity imposed by Old Man Winter, members of Macon Historical Society are at it again -- undertaking the extensive restoration of Mills School.

Repair of the school's chimney - originally slated for March 13 -- was postponed due to inclement weather.

Workers who showed up that frigid day were determined not to let the morning become a total loss.

Inside the school, they took refuge from the low temperature and high winds, using the opportunity to tear deteriorated plaster from the walls.

This past Saturday found Mother Nature in a better mood, and Harold Lutz, local mason contracted by the group, repaired the chimney with the help of Bob, Larry and Lynn Bush, Otto Miller, and Bill and Aaron Phillips.

Lutz has generously offered the donation of enough slate to equip Mills School with blackboards.

Workers were even able to repair part of the 116-year-old building's crumbling foundation last weekend.

With the Bicentennial celebration only slightly over three months away, "all systems are go" in the push to refurbish one of Macon's oldest structures.

Whats Up At THS

by VICKI MCDONALD

As of the end of this week there are only nine weeks left in the school year. And, these weeks will be filled with activities.

This Friday, March 26, the Junior class will sponsor a dance in the THS gym. Music will be provided by "The Purple Gang."

In case you missed it, the Junior class put on its production of "Spoon River Anthology" March 18, 19 and 20 in the Community Center's "Glass Room." From all accounts, it has proved to be a success.

Sponge Week will be held the week of April 5-9 this year. So far only the preliminary plans have been made.

These include a slave auction April 7, Slave Day April 8, and 50's Day April 9 with a 50's dance to be held that night.

The way it looks right now, no mini-courses will be held at THS this year. The only way mini-courses can be held is by having them only one day but, it was decided by the students that just one day wouldn't be worth having.

Spring Break will be the week after Sponge Week, April 10-19.

Baby Born In England

Jennifer Ann Halberstadt, 7 lbs., 5 oz. was born to Staff Sgt. and Mrs. Gene Halberstadt just after 4 p.m. March 22 in Oxford, England where Gene is stationed.

New Basic Water Safety

A new basic water safety course has been designed by the Red Cross for non-swimmers and novices of all ages who engage in recreational water activities, says Charlotte Strack, Lenawee County Red Cross water safety instructor trainer.

The Lenawee County Chapter of the Red Cross has been training new instructors and retraining authorized instructors for the past year to teach the new course.

The course will be offered soon to families and individuals regardless of swimming ability.

Mrs. Strack further said that along with the new program, the Lenawee Chapter Red Cross continues to offer instructions to children and adults in all levels of swimming and water safety through qualified instructors.

Winners Honored

At the March meeting of Abi-Evans Chapter DAR Tecumseh, Michigan the Misses Sandy Marion of Clinton and Beth Bigelow of Britton, winners of the Good Citizenship Award and their mothers, were honored in the home of Mrs. Charles Mensing. Betsy Miller of Tecumseh and her mother did not attend.

Mrs. Mensing, chairman of the Good Citizen Award Committee greeted the girls and presented each with a special DAR pin in recognition of their outstanding qualities.

DAR awards will be given to both girls and boys next year.

The business meeting was conducted by the Regent, Mrs. Frank Vanderlinden. A bake sale is planned for April 2.

Mrs. Mervyn Boltz, guest speaker, gave the program on Colonial American history. Mrs. Boltz appropriately displayed 13 pewter figurines from the Franklin Mint, made by Lionel Forest, well known collector and expert worker in pewter.

Each represented an expression of olden days in the 13 Original Colonies. Mrs. Boltz described what each figurine represented.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Mensing, hostess, and Mrs. Earl Lindsley, co-hostess. Mrs. Vanderlinden presided at the tea table. A social hour followed.

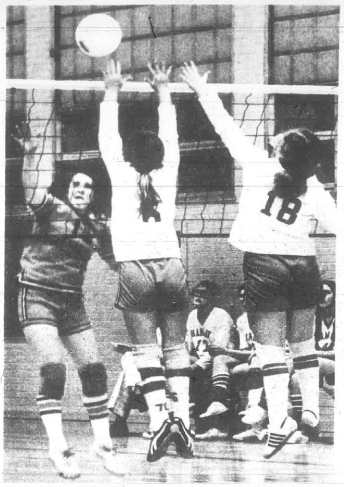
Indians Give Their Best, But Can't Score Upset



SUCCESS IN THE EARLY GOING—The Indians volleyball squad won their first game Saturday beating Flint-Hamady in the quarterfinals. Here Jane Faulkner puts the ball over two Hawk players. (Photo by Frank Weir)

Tecumseh's Indians gave it their best shot last Thursday at Central Michigan University but couldn't pull off what would have been a major upset over top-rated Flint Beecher in Class B basketball quarterfinal action.

As it was, Beecher won the battle 72-63.

Beecher was first on the scoreboard given one shot at the basket due to a technical foul on Tecumseh. Indian Lyndon Hughes touched the rim of the basket while warming up before the game.

Bruce Hughes earned Tecumseh's first two points. The lead wavered between the two squads throughout the first frame. After a basket by Jeff Hans at the end of the quarter, Tecumseh was down by just two, 15-13.

The second frame was again close until Tecumseh foul problems allowed Beecher to pull ahead. The Buccaneers held a 29-22 lead at the half.

The Indians were cold in the first part of the third quarter and Beecher lengthened their lead to 39-22 with 6:05 left to play.

With three minutes left in the quarter, Bruce Hughes and Ken Biscupski both converted two foul shots apiece allowing the Indians to pull within ten. A basket and two foul shots for Hughes and two buckets by Jeff Hans at the end of the third frame plus a bucket at the start of the fourth by Hughes pulled the Indians to within three points of Beecher 50-47.

The Buccaneers stretched their lead in the early going of the fourth stanza but the Indians stayed within upset range. With a minute and a half left, a bucket by Biscupski pulled Tecumseh within seven points 68-61 but the clock ran out on the Indians.

All five Tecumseh starters finished in double figures with Bruce Hughes leading the way with 21 points.

The Indians were 23 of 48 for 47.9 percent while Beecher was 29 of 63 for 46 percent from the field. Tecumseh also had a higher percentage from the foul line finishing with 17 of 25 for 68 percent. The Buccaneers were 14 of 21 for 66.7 percent.

Flint held a rebounding edge of 41 to 33 for the Indians. Turnovers were about even with Tecumseh turning over the ball 21 times to 22 for Flint.

Tecumseh finished with a 20-6 record and were second in the Huron League.

Coach Ron Spagnoli said of the contest, "A slow start at the beginning of the third quarter and turnovers in the second hurt us. And we missed a couple of lay-ups towards the end. But overall, we played a great ball game. I was tremendously proud of our kids. They could have given up when we were behind but they came back and made an exciting game of it."

Tecumseh is losing five seniors to graduation including, Bruce Hughes, Ken Biscupski, Jeff Schafer, Brad Sisson and Linvel Lisenbee.

Score By Quarters

For The Record

Indian cagers finished in the second spot in the Huron League with an 11-3 league record not in third place as was mistakenly reported on the front page of last week's Herald.

Parchment Spoils Hopes For Indian State Crown

by FRANK WEIR

Tecumseh's hopes for a first-ever state title in volleyball were shattered by a superb Parchment squad Saturday at Western Michigan University's Gary Center.

All three eliminating games were played Saturday in the state's first post-season championship volleyball tournament. Parchment — located near Kalamazoo — went on to win the state crown.

The Indians defeated Flint-Hamady in the quarterfinals 15-8, 11-9 allowing them to advance to the semi-finals.

And the Panthers provided to be their undoing.

Tecumseh entered the match with a 19-0 season record posting 33 straight victories. But Parchment immediately launched an aggressive and stunning attack led by the perfectly-controlled spiking of senior Lorraine Lynn.

The Indians soon found themselves trailing in the first game, something they weren't used to. Caught off balance, and suffering from a height disadvantage, Tecumseh just couldn't mount a counter-attack and lost the first game 15-0.

Tecumseh's girls regrouped for the second game. Although they never took the lead, they came within two, 10-8, at one point in the game and Carrie Hyatt had five consecutive serving points. But Lynn continued to devastate the Indians smashing the spike or just tipping the ball over the net.

Tecumseh went on to lose that second game 15-6.

Against Flint-Hamady, Jane Faulkner and Sue Brown tied for serving honors with seven apiece. Carrie Hyatt had five, Tori Iffland four, Connie Younglove two, and Sue Gould had one.

In the Parchment contest, Hyatt had five, Younglove two, and Debbie Steadly one.

Coach Sue Allen said of the Parchment match, "We didn't play as well as we should have. We were surprised by their attack. Parchment had the momentum and we just couldn't stop them no matter what we did. They had a superb team but our girls never gave up.

"Lorraine Lynn is one of the finest spikers I've ever seen. She could spike from anywhere. She's a super player and No. 10 (Parchment's Mary Dolfin) served nine serving points in a row. We knew we would have problems because we didn't have the height. My girls held their composure. We were pleased with the season."

The Indians are losing eight of their players to graduation including Sue Brown, Jane Faulkner, Connie Younglove, Betsy Miller, Amy Montague, Carrie Hyatt, Sharon Phelps and Sue Gould.

All will be missed. Basketball and volleyball stars, Sue Brown and Jane Faulkner, have played varsity volleyball for three years and the varsity's combined record for those seasons is 41-3.

Umps, Coaches Needed

Tecumseh Parks and Recreation needs volunteer baseball coaches for the Youth Baseball Program in the Minor Leagues (age 9-10).

Any person aged 18 and above who are interested are asked to contact the Recreation Department at the Community Center or Call 423-5802.

Tecumseh Parks and Recreation Department is now accepting applications for baseball umpires for the Youth Baseball program.

Any person 15 and above interested in umpiring should file an application at the Recreation Department offices in the Community Center.

Halchishak Letters

Steve Halchishak, an Adrian College student from Clinton High School, was one of only three freshmen receiving a varsity letter for wrestling during the winter sports banquet held recently at the campus.

Halchishak, a 142-pound Adrian grappler majoring in physical education, graduated in 1975 from Clinton where he participated in football and wrestling and conducted an intramural sports program. For his last year of scholastic wrestling, Steve received the school's trophy for most takedowns and the 20 wins metal for his 24-4 record. In 1974 and 1975, he was championship runner-up in the LCAA.

Finish Season

Tecumseh's club hockey team closed out its season with a loss to the no. one team in B division, Hanover-Horton, a week ago and a win over Jackson Western Sunday.

The squad lost to Hanover-Horton 5-4 a week ago in the first playoff game. Goals for Tecumseh were made by Dave Perry, Tom Shelton, Joel Wood and Ron Oman.

The tables were turned last Sunday when Tecumseh brought down Jackson Western in a consolation contest 7-5. The squad scored three goals in the first period and two in both the second and third periods.

Scoring for Tecumseh were Joel Wood, two goals and one assist; Tom Shelton two goals and two assists; Dave Perry one goal and one assist; Randy Mueller and Ron Oman one goal each; and Tom Everett, one assist.

The Tecumseh squad finished with a 6-11-1 season record and will hold its awards banquet on April 8 at 6:30 p.m. at Christ The King Redeemer Church in Adrian.

Kiwanians Set Goal of $1,000

Tecumseh Kiwanis Club has a goal of raising $1,000 this week when the local service club holds its annual used merchandise sale.

For the past several weeks, members have been soliciting and collecting saleable items - TVs, appliances, household items and other similar merchandise - from donors. Free pickups are made by calling 423-3413 or 423-4255, and donations will still be accepted until the sale ends at Saturday noon.

Sale will be held at the Fabricare building, next to A&P, from 9 a.m. to 7:30 on Thursday and Friday, and from 9 a.m. to noon Saturday.

Proceeds will be used by the Kiwanians for community service projects.

Douglas Bird Jr., is sale chairman; Mark King and William Norris are in charge of merchandising; Dr. Robert Murray, storage; Ned Swift, merchandise collections; Russell Scott, sale treasurer; Donald Partridge, site clean-up, and Ed Walters, publicity.

Petitions Out for June Race

Three petitions, including one by an incumbent, have been taken out the past week for the School Board, election in June.

James Records, incumbent, is circulating a petition along with Marten Vegter, local accountant, and Dr. Paul Fackler, local chiropractor who practices in Detroit.

None of the petitions have yet been filed.

Two four-year terms and one three-year term will be on the school ballot.

Dr. Harold Ocamb, board president, and Hugh DesErmia, both incumbents, have not officially indicated whether they will seek another term or not.

Petitions may be obtained at the Board of Education Office on W. Chicago Blvd. Each petition must have at least 20 signatures of registered voters and must be filed not later than May 17.

Rotarian's Plan Fete April 6th

Annual Rotary Pancake supper will be April 6 from 5-7:30 p.m. at Patterson School.

Supper features all you can eat served by Rotarians.

All proceeds will be used for community service projects, mainly for youth. In previous years the proceeds from the Rotary supper helped with the restoration of the Community Center water wheel.

Tickets are available from any Rotarian or at the door.

Entertainment will be provided by the Raisin River Rats.

1976 DELEGATES — Four Tecumseh High School girls have been selected by the American Legion Auxiliary for this year's Girls' State. Delegates are, top row, Mary E. Manley and Marcy Prettyman; bottom, Lynne Wikle and Pam Tooman. Laurie Hite is an alternate.

New Law for Turns in Effect

Right turns, and in two cases left turns, at red traffic lights went into effect here Wednesday, Merlin Mowery, Tecumseh police chief, reports.

The state law has created some confusion with some areas allowing such turns on Wednesday and others today, April 1. The law went into effect 90 days from Dec. 31, 1975, and since 1976 is a leap year, the law went into effect Wednesday throughout most of the state.

Right turns — after a full and complete stop — will be allowed at the Chicago Blvd.-Maumee St. intersection, Chicago Blvd.-Union St. intersection and at the traffic light on N. Evans at Herrick Park Dr. and Brown St.

Eastbound traffic will be allowed right turns on W. Chicago at Evans, and westbound traffic on E. Chicago at Ottawa.

Left turns may be made only for eastbound traffic on E. Chicago Blvd. at Ottawa, and for westbound traffic on E. Chicago at Evans.

Mowery warns motorists that they must make a full and complete stop before turning, otherwise they will be ticketed.

Lighting Tree

One of Tecumseh's first Bicentennial ceremonies will be Monday, April 5 at 7:15 p.m. when Mayor Harold Easton will light the Tecumseh Liberty Tree on the lawn of city hall.

Public is invited to share the ceremony which represents a joint Bicentennial project of Tecumseh's three garden clubs: The Little Garden Club, Tecumseh Garden Club, Town and Country Garden Club, and the city of Tecumseh and its Bicentennial Committee.

The first Liberty Tree was one of a group of elms planted in Boston, in 1646. Under its branches markets were held, early patriots gathered for secret meetings and a newly appointed British Stamp Act officer was hanged in effigy from its bough by the Sons of Liberty. Thereafter the tree was identified as the "Tree of Liberty."

Boys who climbed the Liberty Tree with lanterns will be symbolized by lighting the Tecumseh Liberty Tree with strings of white lights.

Tradition says further that a flagstaff was erected through the branches as a signal for the assembly of the Sons of Liberty. When the tree was ruthlessly cut down, only a pole stood in its place.

Following tradition, the Tecumseh Liberty Tree will remain lit until July 4 when a simple service will be held to initiate the newly lighted flag pole at city hall.

City Clean-up Starts Monday

Tecumseh's annual spring clean-up will begin next Monday when city employees will start picking up refuse, Cal Zorn, city manager, announces:

Items too big for bags, clippings in containers, limbs, branches and other refuse will be picked up if placed along the curbs.

The free pickups will coincide, as much as possible, on days when residents have their trash and garbage collections. Exceptions will occur when there is an usually large amount of refuse, and city trucks and employees are not able to complete collections on a particular day.

Car Knocks Down Post at Station

A rural Clinton man, Richard T. Bradmon, 47, of 6800 Pennington Rd., escaped serious injury Monday evening when his car crashed into a metal light pole at the Gulf service station on Occidental Rd. at Russell.

Northbound on Occidental, Bradmon missed the curve there and was air bound when his car rammed the pole, nearly four feet above the ground. Impact tore the pole's concrete base out of the ground.

Local police and fire department were summoned to the accident, handled by the county sheriff's department. Bradmon reportedly traveled some 261 feet before striking the pole and stopped about 20 feet from the station's pumps.

His auto was in direct line with the pumps, and they undoubtedly would have been wiped out.

Bradmon, who suffered only minor injuries and was taken to Herrick Hospital, was cited for careless driving.

Club Holding Sale Saturday

A major fund raising project for the Indian Fan Club will be Saturday when the club holds its annual candy sale.

Over $1,000 profit is realized each year.

Since the Indian Fan Club was organized in 1966, thousands of dollars have been raised for improvements in the high school athletic programs. Major contributions include instant replay TV, $1,000; 12-station exercise machine, $1,291; football blocking sled, $1,090; real runner and pre-game uniforms, $1,120; wrestling mat, $1,000, and this year, a baseball pitching machine, $822.

Other expenditures were for baseball diamond renewal of $1,000, and monies for banquets, camps, films and related items for athletics.

Opening Bids

State Highway Department will open bids April 21 for construction work scheduled this summer for Chicago Blvd.

Most of the work will involve widening the street west of Sunset Dr. to the city corporation limits, and a new surface.

New and bigger intersections also are planned at Union and Maumee Sts.

Work is scheduled for completion 80 days after the letting of bids.

Policemen's Ball on April 10th

Tickets are available from any officer on the Tecumseh police force for the 15th annual Policeman's Ball, scheduled for April 10 at the Tecumseh Products Union Hall.

The dance is held annually by local police to raise funds for service and community projects.

Party Shop Grand Opening on April 2-3

Del and Ruth King will hold a grand opening of their new Party Shop Friday and Saturday.

This week also marks the 15th anniversary in business for the owners.

Construction work in January and February practically doubled the size of The Party Shop.

Since then new fixtures have been installed. A complete delicatessan department was added and other food lines expanded.

GIVE $1,015 — Rotary and Kiwanis clubs raised over $1,000 in January and have allocated funds for THS bleacher replacement fund. Gene Cooley, assistant superintendent at the left, holds a metal covering that will soon cover the wood seats. Dr. Jerry Wolfe, middle, and Bill Feight hold replica of the $1,015 check.

Start Bleacher Replacement Fund

Tecumseh Kiwanians and Rotarians did more than horse around at the January Donkey Basketball game. The two men's service clubs raised $1,015 and have established the Tecumseh High School Athletic Field Bleacher Replacement Fund at the United Savings Bank of Tecumseh.

Public is welcome to make contributions.

Approximately $6,000 is needed to replace athletic field seating.

Eighteen rows of wooden bleachers, 167 foot each will be replaced and new bleachers will have aluminum seat covers to protect the wood. School maintenance staff will supply the labor.

The high school athletic field was developed about 35 years ago through efforts of civic leaders. Equiping and furnishing has been done by several local service clubs over the years. In recent years, community use of the school athletic field has increased.

Eugene Cooley, assistant school superintendent and Rotarian said the order will hopefully be placed within the next month.

National Library Week is April 4-10. Tecumseh Public Library welcomes the public to drop in and see what's new besides books. The theme of the week is "Information Power—Come to the Library and See What's New Besides Books." Libraries have much more to offer in materials and services than most people realize. Many libraries have so broadened the range of their services that they now also function as community cultural centers.

Tecumseh Historic District Study Committee announced that Clara Waldron and James Beardsley were the first to complete forms for the housing survey. All forms must be completed and returned to city hall by April 10. Those homes in the state approved historic district, from Pearl to Sunset Sts. and from one block of South Union to the cemetery on North Union will be covered in the city's historic district and be covered by the protective ordinance. However the HDSC will continue the survey of other homes to be incorporated later.

Anyone who has a favorite tree in Tecumseh School District should report it to either Mrs. Neil Pearson, 423-2822, or Mrs. Maurice McIntosh, 423-7855, as they may decide it qualifies for the Tecumseh's garden clubs distinction as a Bicentennial tree. All rare, unusual and beautiful trees in the school district may compete for the honor of being designated a Bicentennial tree with a red, white or blue ribbon.

A free walk through tour of the Rita Blake home, 309 W. Chicago Blvd. will be given Saturday, April 5 from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. so the public may see the home before the area designer work their magic to restore it for the "Promenade the Past: A Designers Renovation of an Historic Home," May 8-24. Any group of 20 or more unable to tour the finished home from 1-5 p.m. weekdays; 10-7 p.m. Saturdays and 1-7 p.m. Sundays, may contact Mrs. Carlton Cook, 423-2393.

Any homeowner who did not receive a questionnaire about his or her home from the Tecumseh Historic District Study Committee and would like one to record the history of the home may pick one up at city hall. All forms must be submitted to city hall. If an owner does not know the date of construction, an accurate date may be found if the names of the last purchaser and buyer are known and traced through the County Register of Deeds. Local tax assessment rolls which describe when buildings on property are erected may then be examined for an accurate date of construction.

So the blind may see again and lives may be saved--

CORNEA AND OTHER TRANSPLANTS

Medical science has perfected the techniques of transplanting organs, providing sight to many blind people and prolonging life to others thanks to the magnanimous donations of vital organs for transplanting. Needless to say, there is an urgent need for organ donors.

Such humanitarian donations are the very essence of charity and love. While living donors, related to the patient, may be selected for kidney transplants, some organs which are not present in pairs must come from non-living donors. These organs, when removed immediately after death, function just as well as those from unrelated living donors.

You may have wondered if you could offer your own body and/or organs upon your death, yet you wished a full funeral service. Let me point out that in most cases the normal funeral customs and procedures may be observed. I am a certified eye-enucleator and would be glad to discuss this or any donation in confidence with you should you be interested.

One must give permission before organ donation arrangements can be completed. In the case of a relative who has died, the family, knowing of the relative's expressed opinions on the subject, may give permission.

If you should decide to be a donor, you will be in good company. Over 10,000 corneal transplants have been made in the world. There are some 120 medical centers in United States engaged in major transplantation programs with many thousands of patients awaiting such charitable contributions.

Through My Window

by Marda Gene Duncan

A NEW BIRD AT DINNER-TIME

Fortunately dinner would wait. When the tea-kettle began whistling Mom started for the kitchen but stopped dead-still at one of the porch windows. Reaching for the binoculars on the nearby table she called to Dad and asked him to turn off the burners on the stove. After doing this he came out to see what was happening.

After letting him take a quick look over Mom's shoulder I asked for the bird book and then for the head of my bed to be rolled up. In the meantime Mom was telling us what she was seeing. Thus started our adventure with a new bird.

"It has a bright red forehead and bill," Mom said, "and the tip of it's bill seems yellow. The head is quite dark, maybe on the gray side but it's back is slightly brownish."

How about the size I wondered and what shape is the bill? Also I asked if she could see the feet and legs.

"The legs are yellowish, there is a thin line of whitish markings down the side of the body and some white under the tail," was her reply.

"How big is the bird and what is it doing?" I asked. Mom's answers were drawing a mental picture and I was just sure I had seen something like what she was describing in the bird books but my goodness, could we possibly have a gallinule?

The excitement grew as the bird came to the edge of the lake right by the porch and Mom's view was superfect. She continued her — well, no, it was not a blow by blow description, it was more a feather by feather detailing.

"Oh, his front is lighter gray than the slaty head, legs definitely yellow and the red on his bill and forehead is very bright."

"How big is he?" I asked. "How about the shape of his bill and can you see his tail?"

"I am not sure what to compare it with — perhaps it is about the size of a quail. Smaller than a chicken. The bill is bigger than a chicken's but it is more chicken-like than duck-like."

About now the bird popped over the lake bank and headed towards Dunbars. When it reached the base of their small palm tree I had a perfect look. It was exactly as Mom described.

However, I had a better look at its short and pointed cocked-up tail which was white underneath. After a couple of minutes the newcomer disappeared over Bill's lake bank. We needed only one look at the pictures in the bird book for confirmation. Our bird was indeed a gallinule!

Too many of the books call him a common gallinule. Again the use of the word common is bothersome. Other titles are the Florida gallinule, American gallinule, red-billed mud-hen, water hen or water chicken. A similar bird in England is called the moorhen. Anything seems more acceptable than using the word 'common.'

Although this was our first experience with the Florida gallinule we had seen the purple gallinule a number of years ago. It was in Cypress Gardens and I can still remember how surprised we were to see such a brilliantly colored bird walking across the lily pads.

The end of his bill was yellow, then there was red running up to a white spot on his forehead. His head, neck and breast were purple and his back a greenish olive. It was only a quick look but oh, what a lasting impression.

As for the Florida gallinule we only hope he will be around again. And quite possibly he will be. These birds apparently like fresh-water lakes and marshes. They are expert swimmers who look rather duck-like in the water. On land they more closely resemble a chicken.

Food-wise they select from both the land and water tables. Grasses, seeds, waterbugs, snails, etc. Most interesting birds — we indeed hope for some return visits. Always we will be more than willing to postpone dinner to watch a gallinule; in fact, we will always be happy to take time out for any new bird at dinner-time.

Macon Dialog

by Linda Phillips 423-5213

There isn't much you can say in favor of having the index finger on your left hand bitten by a gerbil at 7:30 a.m. — except that it does tend to wake you up.

Davy (namesake of Davy Jones, member of a now-defunct rock group) didn't bite me because he was hungry. Gerbils, according to the pet manuals, are not carnivorous animals. They are mice-like critters that groove on crunchy things like seeds and nuts and little green pellets.

So the pursuit of a culinary treat wasn't Davy's motivation in taking a chunk out of my finger; he did it out of spite.

You see, Davy was a "planned" addition to the family (daughter's fifth birthday present). But I never was that keen on having another mouth (especially a mouth of the rodent class) to feed — because I knew I would have to feed that mouth.

Though I tried to be pleasant, Davy sensed my affection for him was feigned, and he took an instant dislike to me.

At first he would just stare at me from within his aquarium-like tank on the shelf in the den with a "I-know-you - like-the-goldfish-better" look in his beady brown eyes.

So consumed was I with guilt (well, the fish were here first . . .), that I covered his tank with a bath towel. Retaliating, Davy took to running 40 m.p.h. in his exercise wheel - action which produced such clatter that the TV had to be turned up seven decibles to be audible.

Not content with vexing me during the network prime time every night, Davy began working out in his wheel at various wee hours of the morning.

The first time he woke me by jogging full-tilt in his wheel at 3 a.m., I ran from the bedroom with a baseball bat raised over my head, sure we were being invaded.

Davy laughed so hard that he fell down, tipping over his bowl of sunflower seeds and dislodging his water dispenser.

Determined to get even, I laid down my weapon — and the law. I told him he could tidy up the mess he had made of his quarters himself.

That was a mistake.

The next morning as I stood in the kitchen fixing coffee, something small and furry ran from behind the stove to the center of the room and sat there.

"Boy, are the mice getting brazen," I muttered. Davy's sinister chuckle gave him away before I could put on my glasses.

After an hour and a half of "Na, na — you can't catch me" from Davy and, "I'll catch you — you rat!" from me, I was ready to throw in the towel. But I decided to give good old Yankee ingenuity a chance. I tempted Davy with a beautiful Diamond walnut, cracked so carefully that it emerged from the shell wholely intact.

The temptation proved too much for Davy, and I grabbed him as he made a greedy play for the nutmeat. That's when I suffered the casualty. Davy was put in his still-messy compartment, content with having the last word.

When my peroxided finger and I went to the doctor that day and related the anguish that Davy had incurred since he came to live with us, the doctor suggested the Humane Society.

"Do you really think they'd take me?" I asked.

Next meeting of Macon Historical Society will be held Saturday, April 3, at the Eldredges' home, 8 p.m. The program will be on the restoration of antique cars.

Goodwill Open House Sunday

A special open house was Sunday from 1-5 p.m. for area residents to view the remodeled Goodwill-LARC plant facility at 600 E. Beecher St. in Adrian.

The Rehabilitation facility was open for tour Monday through Friday 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. with refreshments served by the lady's auxiliary.

Remodeling began last June. With the merger in early 1975 more room had to be made for the evaluation, training work adjustment and work activity.

West end building, formerly the Goodwill Store was gutted and remodeled to house the ceramics shop and activity center. New rest rooms and a shower were installed and a small kitchen added.

In the center of the building, new offices were built for the Rehabilitation staff, across the hall is a large evaluation room. A reception room and nurses station were remodeled.

The dining area was painted, new drapes hung and small tables and bright chairs make it more like a family living than the former institution-like tables. An anonymous donor gave a Wurlelzer organ for chapel services.

At the far east end are classrooms and new restrooms. Restrooms were put in the plant area with a large wash-up room. Wiring in the plant was brought up to code and new fire exit doors were put in all areas to improve the facility for the handicapped.

Tecumsehite Receives Award

Jeffrey B. Van Almen, program director in the Division of Management Education, University of Michigan Graduate School of Business Administration, has been named to receive a program development award from the National University Extension Association (NUEA).

The Tecumsehite was cited by NUEA's business, industry and labor division for his development of a program titled "Introduction to Organization Development," conducted for the first time in March 1975.

The award will be presented April 12 at the NUEA national meeting in St. Louis, Mo.

Albert W. Schrader, director of the U-M Division of Management Education, described the new program as one of the division's most successful.

The program enables practitioners to identify organizational objectives, apply new information and skills, and make use of research data and existing organizational resources in the establishment of new programs.

"Organization Development" thus far has attracted participants from 26 states, four Canadian provinces, and Japan.

Van Almen and his wife, Kathy, reside at 502 Stacy. They have two children, Sean 8 and Arla Marie, 19 months. The family has lived in Tecumseh three years. Van Almen is a member of Tecumseh's Planning Commission.

John H. Hamilton of Worthington, Ohio, former Tecumseh resident, was presented with the "Marketer of the Year" award for the Ohio District of Gulf Oil Co., U.S.A. at the regional meeting at Sawmill Creek in Huron, Ohio recently.

He and his wife, nee Winona Waldron, will join other top marketers and dealers from across the country on a 10-day trip to Hawaii, March 31 as part of the Presidents' Honor Council.

The trip includes six nights at the Hilton Hawaiian Village in Honolulu and three nights on Hawaii at the Kona Hilton with day flights to Kauai and Maui.

Hamiltons anticipate an afternoon with Mr. and Mrs. George Surratt on Kauai.

Vision, Hearing Test For Pre-schoolers

Vision and hearing screening is available this year to pre-school children aged three and one-half to kindergarten age. The program is sponsored by the Lenawee County Health Department and the Michigan Department of Public Health.

Michigan law requires children have vision screening before kindergarten.

Vision and hearing screening will help uncover eye and ear disorders which after correction, will result in the children entering school better equipped for learning tasks.

Application forms will be distributed through the schools and pre-school round-ups. These forms are available from the local health department, Court House Annex, Adrian.

For further information, call the Lenawee County Health Department at 263-8831.

Riders Are Welcomed

If you're a horse enthusiast itching to ride with the Bicentennial Wagon Train, you should know the series of tests all horses are required to take to ride with the train.

These tests are necessary to protect the investment in livestock of the wagon train.

Whether you ride your animal for one day or for the rest of the trip to Valley Forge, Pa., your animal must have proof of the following: the Venezuelan Equestrian Encephalitis test, the Western Equestrian Encephalitis test, the negative cognizance test and a health certificate from a local veterinarian.

There is no charge to ride with the train May 24 as it approaches Tecumseh. However, if you ride with the train elsewhere in Michigan, you must pay a $2 registration and insurance fee to the Michigan Horse Council, sponsors of the train in Michigan.

For more information readers may contact Harold Easton or Robert Glenn, local coordinators of the Bicentennial Wagon Train's visit in Tecumseh.

What's Up At THS

The students at THS are getting a little fidgety. The reason is because there is just a week and three days until Easter vacation. Vacation begins April 10 and school resumes on April 19. Easter vacation is a welcomed change. It's the time of year when nothing in school seems to go just the way you want it to.

The spring sports have started. The first track meet will be held Friday, April 9 in Chelsea. The track team has a lot of potential this year and is expected to do exceptionally well.

The girls varsity has started practicing for the upcoming softball season. The boys have also started practicing for baseball.

A BOOST FOR SCOUTS—A "kick-off" breakfast for a fund raising project to benefit the local Boy Scouts was held recently at the Fisher Body Plant. Jim Bick was program chairman, William Squires, executive director of Goodwill-LARC and Glenda Shirley presented the history and highlights of the operation. The Adrian facility presently serves 142 mentally, emotionally and physically handicapped persons. An estimated 450 aren't being served now.

The Adrian operation provides a rehabilitation work program for handicapped in Lenawee, Monroe and Hillsdale Counties and part of Washtenaw County.

Tecumseh, Clinton and Adrian United Funds contribute a total of $13,000 to the $500,000 operation budget. County assists through the Board of Mental Health.

The group operates on an international basis today and ceramic work of these handicapped are retailed nationally along with other refinished goods.

At the April Kiwanis meeting, Chuck Williams, quality control director of the Budd Co. will speak at the United Methodist Church.

Kissell Farm Is Designated

BRITTON — A farm owned by Mr. and Mrs. Kennard Kissell of 278 West Chicago Boulevard, Britton, has been designated as a Centennial Farm by the Division of Michigan History.

The farm, located in Ridgeway Township, Lenawee County, has been in the possession of the family since 1872. It was originally purchased April 5, 1872 by Daniel and Alvana Wiggins, relatives of present owners.

Secretary of State Richard H. Austin, whose Department administers the Centennial Farm program, said the program was inaugurated in 1948. Since then, more than 3,000 Michigan farms have been certified as Centennial Farms.

Certificates are provided by the Division of Michigan History. Large metal markers are provided by the Detroit Edison and Consumers Power Companies.

Explains Austin, "A Centennial Farm is one which has been in the continuous possession of the same family for 100 years or more."

For this purpose, the Michigan History Division considers a farm to be either 10 or more acres having estimated farm product sales of more than $50 yearly, or less than 10 acres having estimated sales of at least $250 yearly. A centennial farm comprises only the land and not the farm buildings, which may be remodeled or even new.

Applications for Centennial Farm recognition are obtainable from: Centennial Farm Program, Division of Michigan History, Michigan Department of State, Lansing, Michigan 48918.

Chief Gives Procedure

April, May and June are the peak months for tornado activity, although this March has been an unusually active month.

An average tornado lasts about 10 minutes on the ground and leaves a path of destruction about one-eighth mile wide and 25 miles long. Forward speed is 30 mph. Wind speed can exceed 300 mph. It usually moves southwest to northeast.

In event of a tornado warning, which means a tornado has been sighted, Tecumseh fire department siren will blast a continuous high pitch sound.

Tecumseh Fire Chief Wallace MacGeorge reminds residents:

+Take cover in a basement or in the center of the first floor of a building or in a compact space as a closet or bathroom on the first floor, away from windows. Theories now support the idea of seeking shelter in the northeast corner, away from the direction of the tornado.

+Try to hide under heavy furniture to protect yourself from flying debris. Stay tuned on a transistor radio for additional details for all clear when the storm is over.

+In a mobile home, car or open area, move immediately to a designated shelter area, reinforced concrete building or lay on stomach in a ditch or ravine with hands over head for protection.

+Do not call fire or police departments unless you have an emergency. Keep lines open for actual emergencies.

+East and north windows should be opened in a house threatened by a tornado as one of the most effective measures for preventing injury and property damage.

Few ceilings and walls can withstand the pressure created in the closed home by a tornado. For example, if a tornado causes an eight percent decrease in pressure, (conservative estimate), outside pressure would suddenly drop 13.8 pounds per square inch, psi. If all doors and windows were closed, the force on each square inch of wall and ceiling would be 1.2 lbs. or 170 lbs. per square ft.

If the ceiling is 20x40, the force exerted on the roof would amount to 68 tons! Opening east and north windows, away from the tornado's path, can reduce pressure.

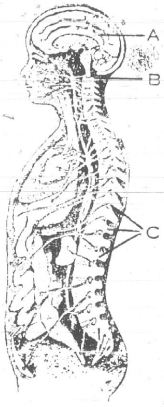
CHIROPRACTIC

YOUR SPINE – NERVES AND HEALTH

Nerve Energy

In order to function properly and be in good health, all organs and muscles of the body must receive a full nerve flow or nerve energy from the brain, (A).



The Spine

The nerve flow or nerve energy travels down the spinal cord entering the spine. (B). The spinal column is hollow to permit the spinal cord to enter from the brain and continue through its center to the base of the spine.

Nerve Distribution

In between each segment (vertebra) of the spine are small openings (C), to permit nerves which branch off the spinal cord to emerge and be distributed to all organs and muscles of the body.

Subluxation

Since the vertebrae of the spine are movable, it is therefore possible for one to slip out of place. This is a subluxation. It will narrow the opening between the vertebrae thus interfering with the nerve and nerve flow. Any interference with the nerve flow or nerve energy from the brain to organs or muscles will result in ill health.

Examination & The Adjustment

Should the examination reveal a subluxation, the Chiropractor will adjust the misaligned vertebra in order to correct the subluxation, thus restoring normal nerve flow and with it normal function and good health.

Camp Fire Banquet Honors Dads and America

Over 200 dads, girls and guests attended the annual Father and Daughter Banquet of the Tuckabatchee Council of the Camp Fire Girls at St. Elizabeth Center, March 13.

Happy Birthday America, 1776-1976 was the theme. Each group made its own place mats, nutcups, napkin rings and name tags in the Bicentennial spirit. Cakes were decorated as drums, Betsy Ross, flags, and Uncle Sam's hat.

The Spirit of '76 was portrayed by Shawn Partridge, flutist, Daisy Slick and Becky Connin, drummers who played "Yankee Doodle."

Presenting the flags were Carol Hayden, American flag; Jolie Paxton, Camp Fire flag; Kim McCann, Blue Bird flag; Kathy Browne, Michigan flag and '76 flag, Amy Neitling.

All the girls sang "Welcome Here, Father Dear."

Carl Rupert gave the invocation.

Suzy Rupert gave the toast to fathers and her father gave the toast to daughters.

Mrs. Paul Hover's Blue Birds of Ridgeway School gave the blessing.

Special guests were introduced by Mrs. Carl Rupert: Mr. and Mrs. Walter Evans, Mrs. Evans is executive director of Camp Fire; Mr. and Mrs. Graham Flemming, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Sura, Mrs. Flemming and Mr. Sura are principals of Ridgeway and Sutton and Tipton schools, respectively; Mr. and Mrs. Les Proctor, Charles Koob, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Hall, grandparents who have been adopted by Mrs. Sharon Mohr's Blue Birds of Ridgeway School; members of the Camp Fire Board, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Wright and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Hemmill.

Mrs. Henry Thompson gave several certificates of appreciation for the many services people have given Camp Fire in the area.

She also gave the "Go to Church Awards" to: Blue Birds Lori Ables, Tonya Mohr, Kelly Feldkamp; Adventure, Rosemarie Thompson, Shawn Partridge, Lisa Evans, Daisy Slick, Kathie LeVeck and Becky Connin and Horizon Club Catherine Harch and Sherry Hover.

Also honored were the top candy salesmen who are now members of the Century Club for selling over $100-worth of candy for Camp Fire. They were: Susan Hursey, Sharon Creger, Theresa Jenning, Rosemarie Thompson, Daisy Slick and Nancy Birdwell.

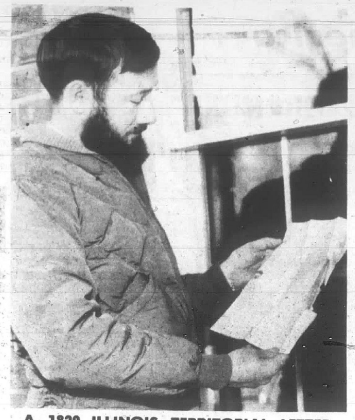
Letters Correspond



A 1829 ILLINOIS TERRITORIAL LETTER written to one of Larrie Eaton's Michigan ancestors, James Eaton, happened to "correspond" with a letter the Herald reported on in the Feb. 26 story, "Old Letters Are Interesting." Anyone who discovers or owns old letters written by early Tecumsehites is invited to copy them at Tecumseh Public Library for the Clara Waldron Room historical files.

Larrie Eaton, 5695 E. Monroe Rd. came up with a letter written in 1829 by an Illinois ancestor which "corresponds" with the copy of a letter owned by Paul Cunningham, about which the Tecumseh Herald ran a story in Feb. 26, 1976 issue.

The original letter Larrie Eaton has was written by C.M. Eaton to Lawrenceville, Ill.; May 3, 1829, to his parents, James and Mary Eaton in.

The copy of the letter which Cunningham owns was written by James Clement and Mary Eaton to their son, C.M. Eaton in June 13, 1830, perhaps in response to the one Larrie Eaton owns.

Larrie Eaton is the sixth generation of Eatons in Michigan counting James Eaton, who is his great-great-great grandfather.

The Eatons settled in the Tecumseh area in 1830's. Larrie Eaton is now applying for a Michigan Centennial Family certificate since his ancestors settled in Michigan before 1876. Tecumseh Public Library has the forms.

A native of Massachusetts, James Eaton and his family settled on Shull Road in Section 1 of Raisin Township, where the home of Russell Schultz, 6561 Shull Road, now stands.

Larrie Eaton lives in a Centennial Farm (1837) which was originally the homestead of Daniel Waring, who settled in Raisin Township in 1831 from Orange County, N.Y. Brothers and sisters of the Eaton and Waring families married.

Horace Eaton, grandson of letter writer James Eaton, married Sarah Ann Waring, daughter of Daniel Waring and Mary Ann Harrison of Yorkshire, England. So the Waring homestead became the Eaton home.

Larrie Eaton's father, the late Arthur Joseph Eaton married Myldred B. (Everett) Eaton, who also lives in the centennial home.

The letter from Illinois 1829 is a good example of a territorial letter. One of the most interesting aspects is the description of farm life.

Apparently turnips were not grown in Illinois. C.M. Eaton asked his father to send one of the boys down to Illinois with a stock of turnips. C.M. Eaton offered to send to school whomever comes to Illinois until he can return in the spring to the Michigan territory.

New Experiences For Camp Fire Girls

by Kathy Brown

The world of Camp Fire Girls has brought new learning experiences this year for the group of 25 girl students at Lenawee Institute, Sutton at Occidental Roads.

Although a Girl Scout troop was organized there previously, this year was the first year the girls have become acquainted with the Blue Bird and Camp Fire Girl program.

Girls aged 10 and older participate in crafts, sing-a-longs, treats and outdoor activities for an hour each Thursday afternoon at the Institute. Barb Connin is their leader. Lois Bennet is principal at the Institute.

Students in the program are the trainable, mentally impaired students. Some are slow in speech, but Mrs. Connin told all are bright, active youngsters who look forward to "company coming" to the Institute.

"This is a way to expose them to outside activities. For several, this is a first time experience in group activities," said Mrs. Bennett. "It is a group learning process. We're grateful to Camp Fire. The teachers appreciate the interest."

Mrs. Connin in turn thrives on the girls' enthusiasm. She described the special relationship: "Those girls do more for me in 15 or 20 minutes than I could do for them in a lifetime. There is something about the way they smile at you when they know you are interested. They give you something special. A smile is worth a million words."

The Lenawee Institute girls are ardent wildlife enthusiasts and keep their leader on her toes with bird and wildflower identification. They enjoy hikes and walks around Swan Lake, behind the Institute.

Camping trips are not feasible at the present since the girls attend the Institute live all around the county and transporation is a problem.

Mrs. Connin, who is a leader of a Camp Fire Blue Bird group at Sutton School plans to have the two groups get together over lunch some sunny afternoon.

Involvement and cooperation of the leader, parents, teachers and students are the keys to the success of the program. The group will continue next year as long as interest by all remains high.

Solos Are Presented

The March meeting of the Tecumseh Music Makers, affiliated with the Michigan Federation of Music Clubs, was held at the Missionary Baptist Church.

Piano solos were presented by Lynn Boyd, "March," by Kabelevsky and "Night Clouds," by Olson. Karen Garvin, "Village Square," by Bastien and "Firewords," by Howard. Chyrl Peck, "Everglades," by Dungan and "Solfigietto," by C.P.E. Bach. Jo Lynn Tilton, "Lonely," by Kachaturian and "Clouds" by Glover.

A vocal solo was given by Carol Henning, "America," by Carey. Bob Meyer's organ solos were "Somewhere My Love," by Jarre, "Theme from Love Song," by Lai, "I Can Dream, Can't I," by Fain, "Satin Doll," by Mercer, Ellington and Strayhorn, and "Cabaret," by Kanden.

Guitar solos were "My Wild Irish Rose," by Alcott and "Scarborough Fair," by Ganse by Lisa Munger and "Where Do I Begin," by Lai by Mike Munger.

Andy Nielson played a trombone solo, "Indian Love Call," by Friml, and Marty Perkins played a coronet solo, "Allegretto, No. 23," by Ficini.

Mrs. Carol McLeod briefly reviewed American composer, Aaron Copeland with the playing of a tape recording of a portion of his "Billy the Kid Ballet Suite."

Refreshments were served by Chyrl Peck and Ann Novesky.

Share-The-Fun 4-H Program

Share-The-Fun 4-H program is an opportunity for actors, singers, musicians, and dancers to perform as an individual or in a group act.

Any youth in the Lenawee 4-H Program may enter.

All performers must register their act at the 4-H office by April 7. The rehearsal will be April 22. The final Share-The-Fun Event is open to the public May 8 at Alexander School in Adrian.

Extension Members Learn Sewing

"Choosing and Sewing for the Way You Are" was the lesson Mrs. Raymond Bird gave at the meeting of the Northeast Tecumseh Extension at the home of Mrs. Ellsworth Robison.

Five members answered the roll call with "Alterations I must make."

Mrs. Charles Cox conducted the business meeting.

The Special Olympics and Cancer fund will be given a donation.

The county spring luncheon is April 21 at the Tipton Community Church.

The hostess served refreshments.

CHICAGO BLVD., 1862 was the subject of a pastel by Tim Rinehart, 1450 Taylor Rd., for the month of January Bicentennial calendar of events at Tecumseh Public Library. Brush and Pallet Club sponsors the '76 project for the community to post its events.

We represent several firms, but we work for only one boss—you. That way we can always place you with a company which we think is best for each line of insurance you need. Naturally, we prefer companies like Auto-Owners who look at a loss and take care of it right away, without haggling or delays. That's one of the reasons we're part of the Altogether Family. Here was the symbol of torture and death . . . during the Roman Empire . . . until that Friday when they crucified a Galilean carpenter.

Then it became the symbol of God's love . . . because the Son of God had died for the sins of mankind.

Except for that one fact there is no more reason to revere the Cross than there is to revere the guillotine, the electric chair, the gas chamber.

And there is no law, no police power, no military force that requires millions of families to remember the Cross and worship the One crucified.

The deepest meaning of this Lenten Season is that Christian believers voluntarily respond to the Sacrifice of Jesus Christ. This Act of Love that changed the destiny of humanity . . . it's in your hands now . . .

Seek Marker For Inn Site

CLINTON — Lawrence Bailey, president of the Clinton Historical Society, explained at the Clinton Bicentennial planning meeting what is involved in purchasing a permanent marker to be erected in the west yard of the Clinton Village Office designating the former site of Clinton Inn.

Bailey informed the group that even though it could get the Village Council's permission to buy and erect a marker, he would advise applying to the Michigan Historical Commission requesting the Commission to designate and register this as a Michigan Historical Site.

Cost of markers range from $300 to $400 depending on size and lettering. Bailey recommended the purchase of a single post marker that would cost $325. This money is being raised through donations made by civic organizations. At the present time more than half of the cost of a single marker has been donated.

If the application to make the original location of the Clinton Inn a historical site meets with the approval of the state, all of the details would be finalized in time to dedicate the marker during the Fall Festival.

Suggestion boxes have been placed in the stores to give everyone in the community a chance to express their ideas concerning the Wagon Train and other bicentennial activities.

Next Bicentennial planning meeting is April 6 in the upstairs of the Smith-Kimball Community Center, 7 p.m. Groups are urged to send a representative to the meeting.

Clinton Day At Clinton Inn May 1

CLINTON — Clinton Inn was moved from the village of Clinton in 1927 to Greenfield Village and restored to its earlier splendor, with a few additions.

The inn had stood since 1832 at the site of the present village offices and was in great disrepair when it was dismantled board by board and removed to its present site in Dearborn.

May 1 has been designated as Clinton Day at Greenfield Village and the Historical Society of Clinton has arranged for a display of pictures, articles and stories which have never been on public display before, and other historical items from private collections in Clinton, to be shown at the Clinton Inn.

History will come to life for today's youngsters as they see photographs of starting the fire in the kitchen range with corncobs from the local feed mill; the town pump behind the Inn; the cattle driven down the main street of town to the railroad, and much more.

Reduced price admission tickets: Rotary sponsored, free Greenfield Village Train Ride tickets for 100 children; and name tags donated by Clinton Jaycee Auxiliary may be obtained from Clinton downtown stores or bank. In case of inclement weather, tickets will be good Sunday, May 2, only.

The Clinton Day dinner featuring top round of beef, au jus, in the Clinton Inn at a cost of $8.50 per person is limited to 140 persons, and will be served at 6:30 p.m. May 1. Reservations must be confirmed by a $5 deposit, and may be made with Shirley Fraley 456-7185 or Sally Scheer, 456-7765.

After the dinner, a slide presentation, "Tidbits about Some of Our Older Clinton Homes," will be the springboard for further table conversation.

Cancer Drive Starts April 1

CLINTON — Chairman Glenola McNeil has named the local volunteers who will assist with the American Cancer Drive in Clinton April 1-20.

Workers are: Mrs. Gary Couture, Mrs. Linda Smith, Mrs. Wayne Hulett, Mrs. David Pray, Mrs. Wilbur Reiser, Mrs. Robert Winder, Mrs. Art Gamboe, Mrs. David Arnold, Mrs. Charles Patterson, Mrs. Roy Porter, Mrs. George Bowman, Mrs. Juanita Gass, Mrs. June Silvers, Mrs. Connie Pratt, Mrs. Max Steffens, Mrs. Elvin Witherell, Mrs. Roscoe Slack, Mrs. William Zimmerman, Mrs. John Hoelzer, Mrs. Jim McMurray, Mrs. Hugh Pike, Mrs. James Heimerdinger, and Mrs. Joyce Cook.

Highest Received

CLINTON — Darcy Ford, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Ford, was the only student from Clinton participating in the State Solo and Ensemble Festival in Saline Saturday.

She received the highest award a "I" rating in Proficiency III, playing a trumpet solo, sight reading solo and scales.

Officers Are Elected At UCC

CLINTON — Members of the Women's Fellowship of the United Church of Christ elected Mrs. Wesley Maki as president at a meeting Thursday evening.

Other new officers elected are: vice-president, Mrs. Hugh Pike; secretary, Mrs. Charles Patterson; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Gladys Bihlmeyer; treasurer, Mrs. Frank Prichard.

Committee chairman are: spiritual life, Mrs. Roy Wagner; material aid, Mrs. Clayton Stroile; and social concerns, Mrs. David Heimerdinger and Mrs. Forrest Haskell.

A chairman of the Christian Education committee and a member of the nominating committee will be named at the May meeting.

Mrs. Wagner presented the devotions on the theme, "Decision," suggesting that one should cast aside our March-like unpredictability and make decisions to turn our lives around.

"Food Needs of the World Community," was the subject of a slide presentation narrated by Mrs. Heimerdinger, as a prelude to the One Great Hour of Sharing, and the UCC Women's Fellowship year-long emphasis on aiding the world's hungry.

A public card party will be sponsored by the Fellowship on Saturday, April 24 with the Priscilla Class in charge. Another card party was set for May 15 with the Mary Martha Class in charge.

Departing a bit from custom, the members voted to hold the annual Mother-Daughter Banquet on May 7, instead of the day before Mother's Day.

Priscilla Class will plan the meal; Serendipities, the program; and Mary-Marthas will set up and decorate tables. Men's Fellowship will be asked to serve the dinner.

Some members plan to attend a breakfast at Tipton Community Church, April 1.

Priscilla Class will host a continental breakfast Saturday, April 10 from 9 a.m. at Water Wheel Center.

And Arbor District Women's Fellowship spring meeting will be April 20 at W. Adrian United Church of Christ. Mrs. Henry Larzelere, a member of the World Missionary Board, Lansing, will be the speaker.

Members voted $10 to One Great Hour of Sharing.

A collection of items will be taken to West Adrian Church, May 14 or 15. Needed for Church World Service are blankets, sewing kits, health kits, bandages, and bar soap. Items may be left at the church in the coming weeks.

Hot fudge sundaes and brownies were served by Mrs. John Davis.

Retiring officers will serve the May 27 luncheon meeting when new officers will be installed.

Jim Lincoln, publisher of The Tecumseh Herald was honored by his staff at a surprise birthday party Monday for his birthday anniversary.

A tribute to his love for golf, entitled "Dedication" was presented. The sketch depicts a golfer bending in the wind at the 18th hole in the path of a twister. A special cake with candles was served. Although there was no girl in the cake this time, one of the staff members almost made a nose dive into the frosting.

Bill Whiting, reporter for the Miami Herald and former Tecumseh Herald staff member was in town visiting with parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Whiting for a few days last week. He can't be spending all his days down there cooped up in a news bureau. He's wearing Florida sunshine — a nice tan.

Donald Dickerson, manager of the H&R Block office in Tecumseh, received the district Growth Award at a recent awards presentation in Bowling Green, Ohio.

Mrs. Thomas Pence has sold her house at 129 E. Church St. to Mr. and Mrs. Joseph O'Donnell and will move to Water Wheel Estates in May. The Pence house is known as the second oldest house in Clinton, and the oldest brick house still standing.

Mr. and Mrs. O'Donnell and family, who formerly operated Jo-El's Barn on W. Michigan Ave. east of Clinton, have sold that property to James and Madelyn Conklin of Pontiac. The Conklins plan to open a party store there. They have previously operated two other party stores in Michigan.

Bike-A-Thon For Park In Clinton

CLINTON — Anyone who ever wanted to have a picnic in Clinton, but didn't know where to go will now have a chance to support a park for the village through the Bike For Your Park project, sponsored by the Clinton Jaycee Auxiliary.

Bike-A-Thon is scheduled for May 29, starting at the new football field at Clinton High School.

This is not a race, but a fund raising event. Adults may enter by sending their name, address and phone number to Clinton Jaycee Auxiliary Box 182, Clinton, Michigan 49236, before April 21. They will receive pledge sheets and additional information.

Students will be informed at a school assembly.

Refreshments will be served to all bikers, prizes for different bikers will be given, and there will be rest spots and check points along the way. This will be a safe 15-mile bike ride.

Ask neighbors, friends and co-workers to support you financially and have fun helping Clinton gain a park.

Call Sharon McGill for further information 456-7507.

To the Editor:

The Indians brought considerable favorable comment on Tecumseh throughout the season.

The fact that they made such a good showing reflects well on the coach and players.

Both in the press and on TV and radio, THS won honor for the school and community.

To the Editor:

I would like to say a few words about the banks in this town.

My husband and I received our income tax checks. He signed them and I went down to get them cashed.

Both banks told me that because he was not with me and because I had no account with them they could not cash them. What difference is it to them as long as the bank gets their money.

Now I would like someone to tell me when or how to get them cashed.

You see my husband works six (6) days a week, 15 hours a day. So how are we supposed to get to the bank within banking hours?

Thank you
Mrs. David L. Purkey

To the Editor:

Why did the city of Tecumseh put salt on the streets Wednesday 3-17-76 when they didn't need it?

School was out for a couple days this winter because we (the city of Tecumseh) did not have any salt to put on the streets. The tax payers pay for the salt that you put on the streets, and you people that run the city should know when to put salt on the streets.

We could have saved it until we really needed it, instead of putting it on the streets when it wasn't Necessary!!

Tecumseh Jr. High Student,
Sandy Adams

Pin Given for Leadership

CLINTON — A past president's pin was given to Margaret Bless for her leadership in the Lenawee County Reading Council during the past two years, at a meeting last Thursday at Francoeur Theatre, Siena Heights College.

Dr. Jerry Mallet, Associate Professor at Findlay College spoke to Lenawee County teachers, illustrating many ideas for the teaching of Language Arts and how these ideas can be adapted from Kindergarten through eighth grade.

New officers elected include: president, David Burkholder, Adrian Public Schools; president-elect, Cheryl Robbins, Addison Community Schools; second vice-president, Tecumseh Public Schools; corresponding secretary, Ronald Rose, Blissfield Community Schools; recording secretary, Susan Guy, Deerfield Public Schools; treasurer, Cindy Corner, Hudson Area Schools.

Singers Are Introduced

The April meeting of the Wit and Wisdom Club will be April 5 at 8 p.m. at the home of vice-president, Mr. and Mrs. Les Dallas.

At the March meeting, Elizabeth Wilson introduced the "Sacred Heart Singers." This group of 17 singers, 10 men and seven women sing just as they did 200 years ago when vowel singing was begun. Her guest, Mrs. Glover, formerly of Parsville, W. Va. showed her new but ancient instrument and dulcimer.

Mrs. Glover was born and raised in the area where this instrument was made and is now placed in the historical museum. She related stories of the maker in his restoring of this ancient instrument and of his families recordings.

Tories Young But Hope To Repeat League Title

Britton-Macon's baseball squad opens its season next Monday at Whiteford wishing to repeat their league championship of last year.

The Tories finished with an 8-2 league record at the end of the season and were 14-5 overall. Their league title was the first for Britton since 1937.

Things could be tough, at least in the early-going since Britton lost five key players to graduation and are fielding a comparatively young, untested team. Players not returning this year include Mike Saxton, Mike Servoss, Dan Exelby, Jeff Brown and Alan Reau. All did a fine job for Britton last year.

Twenty-five players turned out for the team this season, greater than in the past. Returning senior lettermen include all-league honor winner Craig Wagenschutz. Other seniors are Dave Wielfaert, Paul Wielfaert, Don Gorton and Jim Cradit.

Cradit suffered torn ankle ligaments in practice and won't be playing for at least two weeks into the season.

Junior lettermen returning are, Tim Kurowicki, and Rudy Montalvo. Sophomores: Jeff Bearinger, Phil Loesch, and all-league Randy Smith.

Others out for the team include Dennis Kimerer, Greg Sears, Terry Daykin, Terry Benedict, Don Benham, Richie Bruce, Alan Hintz, Dave Holleran, Mike Lidster, Tony Moss, Scott Niblack, Dan Sparrow, Ken Stofler, Rick Toliver, and Greg Willis.

Coach Jim Sweigart is counting on the pitching of Randy Smith. Another team strong point according to Sweigart: "Attitude is a strong point. We don't waste time in practice. The're pretty young but with their attitude, they can do nothing but improve all year." We're in the same position as last year. The young players are untested."

Cradit was the team's second pitcher but with the injury, five players are in the race for that spot, until Cradit is on the mend.

Sweigart figures Summerfield, Madison and St. Thomas to be tough Tri-County league foes this year. "All the teams are pretty even and there could be a sleeper somewhere. I look for Deerfield to surprise some people."

After the Monday Whiteford game, the Tories return home to take on Summerfield next Wednesday.

Tryouts Scheduled

Clinton Little League tryouts will begin next Monday, April 5 at 4:30 p.m. for all 11 and 12 year olds.

On Wednesday, April 7, tryouts will be at 4:30 p.m. for all 10 year olds at the League Diamonds and should finish around 7:30.

Please make transportation arrangements in case of bad weather. Postponement dates will be announced at the school and over the two local radio stations.

Redskin Tracksters Open Without Top Point Scorers

Clinton's varsity track squad is facing its season opener next Tuesday against Sand Creek with a young team.

The Redskins lost their top ten point-scorers to graduation at the end of last season posting a final 8-2 record.

Fourth-year coach Ozzie Hashley is candid when he says, "We have a lot of holes to fill right now." Of the 35 trackmen out for the team, 25 are freshmen and sophomores.

Clinton has seven returning lettermen and figures to be strong in the distance events and hurdles. Leading the lettermen is senior Mike Atkins who is a fine hurdler and long jumper. Junior lettermen returning include Phil Martiny, long jump and shot put; Phil Erickson, pole vault; Doug Feldkamp, hurdles; and David Tallman, middle distance. Sophomore lettermen are a pair of fine distance runners, Jerry Cline and Wally Pike.

People who are being counted on heavily are junior Steve Hinz, shot put and discuss; sophomores Chris Wojtowicz, distance; Mike Risner, middle distance; Tracy Pratt, distance; Terry Keith, hurdles and pole vault; Bill Gerrard and Jeff Vorhees, shot put and discus, and a group of talented freshmen including Andy Hoag, Casey Thilo, and Buddy Barnes, sprints; Rudy Weirich, Mike Karapas, middle distance and Mark Prichard, distance.

Those people hoping to add depth to the Redskin runners are senior Dave Steinmetz, distance; junior Pat Werner, middle distance; sophomores Mark Haskell, shot put and discus; Wally Heimerdinger, shot put and discuss; Dave Gibbard, distance and shot put; Erick Pratt, hurdles; Jamie Murphy, shot put and Brian Porterfield, middle distance.

Freshmen Terry Carlton, distance; Lance Traves, hurdles; Jeff Pask, sprints; Devin Schindler, distance; Jeff Simison, middle distance; Chris Streeter, shot put and discus.

Coach Hashley goes on to say that with only two seniors on the squad the future looks bright. Clinton will be starting junior high track for the first time this spring with over 50 participants signed up.

"All this plus the possibility of getting a track this summer makes us very excited about the future. But we're not crossing off this year. With some hard work, we will win some track meets."

Hashley will be assisted by Gary MacArthur and Jr. High track coach Tom Mueller.

Clinton Baseballers Begin Next Tuesday

Clinton's baseball squad opens its season with a contest at Dundee next Tuesday. Thirty-three players are out for both varsity and JV squads.

The Redskins finished with a 5-9 record last season before district play. They were beaten in their first attempt at district competition by Ida.

Returning lettermen and probable starting line-up is Tom Richter pitcher, Ken Roberts centerfield, Randy Porterfield second base, Jeff Gibson left field, Barry Clark right field or catcher, Randy King possible starter at third base, Dave Mowery short stop and pitcher.

The Skins lost several players to graduation. The squad will miss the services of Warren and Wendell Corwin. Warren was a pitcher and second base man winning all-county honors last season. Ken Harrison was named all-league at third base last year. Others who have graduated include, Jeff Snyder, Daryl King, Brad Bowman, Tom Claus, Kim Greenfield, Tim Marcum and Mark Russ.

Wes Maki is coaching the team and associate coach is Don Eaton. "We definitely need some pitching help and we have some holes to fill in the infield. It's hard to say about hitting this early," said Maki.

"We're not an overpowering team. We'll have to hold a runner if we get a lead. We don't have the ability to punch in runs. We have a lot of desire and hustle. People are willing to work, some have been looking forward to this season since last year."

Maki figures that last year's LCAA champ, Grass Lake, will again be strong. "They have a good chance to repeat it. All our games will be tough. We'll try to win what we can."

Manwaring's Jets, No. 2

Former Tecumseh resident Emily Manwaring recently coached her Jackson Community College women's basketball team to the National Junior College Finals in Kansas City, Kansas. The Jets finished runner-up in the nation at the National Junior College Athletic Association Basketball Championship.

The Jets team advanced to Kansas by virtue of winning the Michigan Community College State Championship and the Region XII (Michigan, Ohio, and Indiana) Championship. Nineteen region champions comprised the national tournament, which is in its second year of competition.

To earn the finals berth, the Jets defeated Williston, North Dakota 70-54; Jamestown, New York 82-61; and Mason City, Iowa (last year's runner-ups) 65-53.

Seminole, Oklahoma proved too tall and too strong for the Jets. The Belles landed three players on the 10 player all-tournament team, the MVP of the tournament, and 2 All-Americans. Jackson never led in the game, fell behind by as much as nineteen, but rallied to within seven before bowing 83-74.

In addition to the team awards, Manwaring was named Region XII Coach of the Year in basketball as she was earlier in the year in volleyball.

LENAWEE COUNCIL ON AGING

Senior Services Could Expand

Lenawee Council on Aging could expand services for Tecumseh senior citizens as early as July this year. Tecumseh City Council decided Monday night that Tecumseh should be included in LCOA's new budget request for federal funds.

If the federal government does not approve funds to include Tecumseh, Mayor Harold Easton said "We can always back out."

Council reached this decision because it learned at a past council meeting that LCOA services, now used by Tecumseh senior citizens, would be dropped because LCOA's budget could not continue to service local governments which do not contribute to the program's budget.

Cost estimate for Tecumseh's participation in LCOA is $2,500 for fiscal year 1976-77, based on 100 persons using the program. The community center would be the site of operation.

For this money, Tecumseh would receive a five-day hot meals program, including meals for senior citizens who are homebound; and LCOA would offer recreational activity and special services on those days which the Tecumseh Recreation department does not.

LCOA would not be involved with the Tecumseh Recreation Program, which would continue as usual.

Other services include transportation on demand; health service including: checking blood pressure, urine analysis, glaucoma; information and referral and outreach including: tax preparation, budgeting, home visitation, etc; education including: instruction in various activities and other social activity and recreation.

Some Tecumseh residents have been confused about how the meals are financed. Some have argued that LCOA offers "free meals that aren't free," because contributions for the food are accepted.

Ray Maxe, treasurer of the LCOA explained that contributions are accepted from senior citizens, who are willing or able to pay, but there is no pressure to contribute. A kitty is displayed at sites where the meal is served. Average donation per meal runs about 50 cents, which is about 25 percent of the total meal program budget, Maxe told.

WOULD REQUIRE 2-MILL INCREASE

Record High Budget Proposed for City

A preliminary budget of $2,089,133 was presented formally to Council Monday night by city manager Cal Zorn for the 1976-77 fiscal year. It was a record high budget for the city.

Along with the record figures - some $500,000 over a year ago - the budget will call for an increase of two mills, hiking city millage from 11 mills to 13. If the preliminary budget is approved on May 10, it will mark the first time in five years that city officials have increased local millage.

In 1971 the millage amounted to 14.5 mills. It has dropped or remained the same during the past five-year period.

One of the principal reasons for an increase in local taxes involves the city utilities.

Zorn says an increase in millage or utility rates are necessary. He proposes an increase in millage—and not utility rates—and explains why.

If utility rates alone are increased, everyone, including senior citizens, will pay. An increase in millage, he points out, will save senior citizens tax money plus providing the city with additional revenue sharing funds.

He says the millage increase or an increase in local taxes is a deductible item for state and federal tax payers. Senior citizens, he explained, in most cases would also receive a complete refund from the state. This would depend, however, on the annual income for the senior citizens.

Also, an increase in millage would warrant additional state and federal funds, which are based on local tax support. Tecumseh has collected a minimum of city taxes for many years, a minimum considerably below that allowed by law without the vote of the people.

While the $2 million plus budget appears high, it includes some $300,000 in Federal highway funds for the planned Russell Rd. project. Over two-thirds of the monies needed to finance the proposed budget will come from federal and state collected taxes, local utilities and federal grants. Local taxes pay less than one-third.

Local taxes, based on 13 mills, will collect just under $600,000. Nearly $1.5 million will come from state and federal sources and local utilities.

Breakdown of the city manager's proposed budget is:

General Fund (general, police, fire)-$541,751 with 6.23 mills collecting $286,641 in local taxes.

Cemetery - $44,903 via .59 mills collecting $27,203.

Parks and Recreation - $145,256 by 2.5 mills collecting $114,946 locally.

Federal Revenue Sharing - $70,470, no local millage or taxes.

Major Streets - $798,538 with 2.07 mills providing $95,066 locally.

Local Streets - $66,010, no local millage or taxes.

Highway Operation and Maintenance - $30,140, no local tax dollars.

Bonds - $32,100 with .44 mills providing $20,140.

Auto Parking - $12,595, no local taxes.

Public Utilities - $270,120 with 1.17 mills raising $53,570 (last year no millage or tax dollars were collected for city utilities).

Equipment Fund - $62,250, again no millage or local tax dollars.

Special Assessment - $15,000, no millage or local taxes.

Council and the city manager undoubtedly will spend several evenings reviewing the budget before the May 10 deadline for approval. Part of the budget was presented to officials last week.

Curb and Gutter Is Rescheduled

After a public hearing with only two objections, Tecumseh City Council could not reach a decision Monday night on whether to install curb and gutter on S. Pearl St., Hiawatha St. and Muscody St.

Pearl St. residents petitioned for curb and gutter and drive approaches. But Ruth Packard, 511 S. Evans objected to Council that she and other senior citizens in the proposed special assessment area, could not afford heavy assessments on a retirement income.

Councilman Len DeMoss offered an amendment to do the street work only on S. Pearl. It was defeated by a tie vote.

Those opposing the amendment were Councilmen James Palmer, Ray Puffer and Dr. Carlton Cook. Supporting the amendment were Councilmen DeMoss, Mayor Harold Easton and Aden Mead. Councilwoman Mary Bowers away on

Senior Services

In the LCOA budget, these donations for food are subtracted from the total cost of the meal program budget. The remainder of the cost is paid 90 percent by federal funds and 10 percent by local funds. In most cases, the use of a meal site satifies the local contribution.

For all other LCOA programs free will donations from the community are considered part of the local contribution. All other programs besides the meal program are to be financed 50-50 by local and federal government.

Decision Rescheduled

business, was excused from Monday's meeting.

Other councilmen felt construction cost at a later date would be a greater burden.

Council then defeated by tie vote a motion to assess the entire district. Opposing assessment of the total district were Councilmen DeMoss, Mayor Easton and Mead.

Action will be rescheduled for the next meeting. Council asked Mrs. Packard to advise other residents with an opinion to make them known to Council either by letter, call or appearing in person at the next meeting.

At a second public hearing residents asked questions about installation of curb and gutter and drive approaches on Russell Road. Council approved the special assessments.

Considering Sale Permits

Tecumseh City Council is considering an ordinance for garage and lawn sales in the city because of abuse in the past by some persons.

The ordinance may include a fee for a permit, fees would increase with frequency or length of sale. Advertising off the premises may also be forbidden.

Council seem agreed Monday night that unless the resident is an abuser, this new ordinance would not deny him or her the opportunity to have this type of sale.

City attorney is expected to prepare the ordinance to be enacted yet this spring.

Council submitted the names of Richard Eggleston and Paul Dangler. Decision was postponed for the next meeting.

Richard Eggleston, former chairman of the Planning Commission resigned earlier in 1975, but is interested in serving again on the commission said Mayor Harold Easton.

Dangler served on the downtown redevelopment committee for the planning commission.

A board meeting will be held April 8 at 7 p.m. at the offices of Drs. Murray, Wolf and Curtis. A business meeting will be April 13 at 7 a.m. at the United Methodist Church.

Low Bids Accepted

Tecumseh City Council accepted all the low bids in the purchase of equipment Monday night.

Les Dallas, Inc. got the bid for two, 4-door sedans for police cars at a cost of $8,497 each for Dodge Monaco of $8,897 each for the comparable Dodge Royal Monaco.

Tecumseh Equipment bid lowest at $10,252 for a dump truck to be used as a salt spreader with blade.

Beglinger-Reid Chevrolet-Buick was awarded contract for the sale of a half ton pickup at $3,751 and Tecumseh Fence Co. received the contract for back stop soft-ball diamond for $1,175.

Before the low bids were accepted, Council argued again about whether to select a lower bid over a preferred product.

Talking It Out

LESTER D. PROCTOR

Decision-making under stress

It is difficult to realize the magnitude of emotional and physical stress that persons confronted with the loss of a loved one must bear.

After such a loss, people grieve. They feel pain. They have been shocked out of their usual pattern of living. In mourning, they are faced with the need to assume responsibility for duties that may be foreign to them. Religious arrangements. Legal inquiries and actions. Financial responsibilities. Social duties to be assigned, accepted and performed. All these responsibilities fall on the bereaved with actions which must be taken quickly, decisively.

An important example of the many matters to be attended to promptly is the funeral. Bearing in mind that the psychological value of the funeral has no relationship to its cost, the cost of a funeral is but one aspect of the many decisions to be made under stressful conditions. Caught up in the bewilderment of grief, the bereaved may be emotionally unable to arrange for social pressure. At the same time, in their desire to show their love, they may proceed with arrangements costlier than would have been wished for by the deceased.

If the deceased, however, had made his wishes known in advance, decisions would have been wiser. This is one of the main reasons why pre-planning is a sensible procedure.

At the family table, with the discussion of these matters before everyone, each individual's wishes can be acknowledge and pursued before there is an actual need.

Letters To The Editor

To the Editor:

Recently I purchased, in an antique shop in New York State near the Massachusetts border, an old autograph album that belonged to a woman who taught at Cottage Seminary in Tecumseh. The book is inscribed to her from her students "December 25, 1861." She used the book to list the students in her classes from 1867 through 1873. The latest date in the book is 1877.

She updated her record by keeping track of marriages, deaths and where her students settled after graduation. She was Miss M.E. Lawrence and she must have been an unusual teacher to show such involvement with her students.

I wonder if Cottage Seminary still exists or if you have any information on Miss Lawrence. I find it curious that the album, which is in remarkable condition, with its exquisite handwriting traveled so far. I am looking forward to hearing from you.

Sincerely,
Marilyn Ashfield

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

While wintering in Arizona we looked forward to the Tecumseh Herald, scanning of our friends.

It saddened us when degrogatory remarks were made in the letters to the Editor regarding our city government officials.

Let's all stand behind our city officials who so willingly give of their time & talents doing their best to provide equitable city government.

Look around you and evaluate the problems of other cities of this size and just thank God you live in Tecumseh. We are proud to come home to, can be a part of it again.

Elmer and Eleanor Buehrer

To the Editor:

I agree with Mrs. David Purkey, concerning the check cashing policy at the Tecumseh banks. The same thing happened to me two years ago.

I'm sure this is only one reason I and many, many others in Tecumseh do our banking in Clinton.

Mrs. Jacalyn Findley

CHS Play April 8-10

CLINTON — "Little Mary Sunshine" by Rick Besoyan will be presented by Clinton High School on April 8, 9 and 10.

Having been a successful off-Broadway stage show it has become a favorite with high schools and community theatre groups.

This is a musical spoof of old time favorites. Instead of the "Indian Love Call" you'll hear the "Colorado Love Call" and in place of "Naughty Marietta," Darcy Schneider will play Naughty Nancy.

Many songs are deliberately corny, yet light and humourous. The plot has a little bit of everything: Colorado Rangers, a stawart captain, a lovely Mary, a chorus of giggling school girls, a villainous Indian, a stumbling Billy Jester and a teasing flirt.

It pokes fun at overly earnest heros and heroines, dastardly villians, and ever coquettish young girls of past operettas and musicals.

Carol Clark as Mary Sunshine, and Wally Heimerdinger as Captain Jim are representatives of an era when "good meant good" and "bad meant bad." Bob Voorhees as Chief Brown Bear helps us see that "justice always triumphs over all."

A rocky mountain set and colorful costumes will add to the enjoyment. This jolly, witty show can be seen on Thursday, Friday or Saturday this week.

Valuation Decreases

CLINTON — Harry Comstock, Clinton Township Supervisor, reports that the township's tax roll for 1976 will be spread on the recently completed assessment of: real property $17,208,100 and personal property $5,789,000 for a total valuation of $22,997,000.

The total valuation is a decrease of $3,124,894 from the 1975 total, largely due to State statute which made inventories of personal property no longer taxable.

The 1975 real property was valued at $15,963,494 and personal property at $10,158,400 for a total of $26,121,894.

Reduction in personal property valuation caused by the state action amounted to $4,369,400.

Comstock indicated that there probably would not be a factor added by the county equalization director this year, since assessments have been raised to comply with state directives.

MOM'S TREE

I have not said much about Mom's tree and now I know why. Subconsciously I was apparently waiting for something supremely exciting to happen. Actually just the everyday events that take place in it are more than noteworthy. We say Mom's tree but truly, it belongs to the great blue herons.

As far as trees go it is not too spectacular; in fact, it is a mere skelton of a tree. Even though stark and weather-beaten it towers above all the surrounding trees and, even though the wind has long since pruned away all but a few of the main branches, I doubt that any tree in the area receives such close daily scrutiny.

You see, this bare tree houses five large nests. Great blue herons' nests. And what could be nicer than the fact that this tree is easily watched from our front bedroom window, the steps by the back door, the driveway and the patio.

Many times each and every day Mom takes the binoculars and checks to see what is happening. Few are the times when she finds nothing to report.

Unfortunately we did not make calendar notations and so I can not of a certainty say when this year's great blue heron nestings began. However, on today's noontime check Mom was sure that one nest contained two babies and there was at least one in another.

It was some months ago that we first noticed activity in the tree. Last year there were five, possibly six or even seven, nests in this very same tree and, in addition to the great blues, there were anhingas rearing their young there.

No idea what happened this season, they apparently decided to build nests elsewhere. Or perhaps the great blues suddenly decided to be exclusive. Perhaps they never heard of open-housing laws.

Anyway, procedure has been much as it should be. The five nests, which we so nicely see from here, were worked over and carefully refurbished. Oh, yes, these magnificent birds use the same nest year after year. They do what reconstruction is necessary and I have read that often their large, rather bulky nests will be over three feet in diameter. Not surprising because big birds need big nests.

One afternoon we saw a great blue who was in the midst of re-doing his home sweet home. It was a lucky "happenstance" that we were all on the porch and just chanced to look out as this bird flew by. They are marvelous to see anytime, their broad wings have a span of approximately 70 inches and their white crowned heads are pulled back until they rest on their shoulders while their skinny stilt-like legs trail behind.

In his large bill he carried two long cattail stalks. They were crossed and he had a good grip. Quite a sight.

As Mom faithfully keeps up her observations she has many things to report. Seldom is there action in all the nests at once but usually one or two are busy. Often she sees several birds huddling on their nests while others will be standing on the tree limbs. Never are these birds far from their nests.

When 'the changing of the guard' takes place there is much formal greeting, they bow to each other and sometimes stand side by side on the edge of the nest peering down at either the eggs or the newly-hatched young.

Other times she tells of how gentle and careful these tall birds can be as they bend their long necks down and use their bills to re-arrange things in the nests. A great sight the other morning was her tree full of birds — it truly was. She counted nine great blue herons. Wonder where the tenth one was?

Now for the adventure which prompted this article about Mom's tree. I am on the porch today and just a short while ago noticed a large flock of big white birds.

Mom grabbed the binoculars and disappeared. She has just returned with a breathless account of who they were and what they did. My birds were wood ibis!

No question at all, Mom could clearly see the black tips on their white wings, their long legs, and their overly large and decurved black bills. She saw all this when they lit in her tree.

Fancifully speaking, it was almost as though the great blues had asked these wood ibis to come by and see or meet the kids. There were quite a few of the herons in the tree and four or five little heads poking up from various nests.

All the rest of the bare branches were full of the ibis. On one branch she counted six of them standing shoulder to shoulder. A sociable visit. The herons were holding 'open-house' in Mom's tree.

Plans Shaping Up

Tecumseh's program for the Bicentennial Wagon Train is shaping up, reported local coordinator Robert Glenn.

Harry Dodd, county coordinator of the train said the wagons should arrive in Tecumseh no later than 5 p.m. May 24. The train will be directed from Tecumseh-Clinton Rd., west to Brown St. then South on Union to Chicago Blvd., then north on Ottawa to the athletic field which will be the Tecumseh encampment.

Scrolls, reaffirming belief in the constitution, may be signed by anyone in the area. They will be available at a central location, presented to the wagon master and carried to Valley Forge, Pa. for display.

The American Legion will serve a dinner to the riders of the national wagon train. Other area people who ride with the train for the day or residents who visit the train are welcome for supper for a nominal charge. Kiwanis Show Wagon from Kalamazoo will present a program. Sponsored by the Tecumseh Music Club, the Vaudeville Wagon will present a two-hour program following an appearance in the downtown area, which will begin not later than 8 p.m.

Committee in charge is Mrs. Gladys Prill, chairman, Mrs. Arlene Thoss, Mrs. Marilyn Phelps and Mrs. Marge Tonneberger.

Guests present were Mrs. Frances Gaulin and Mrs. Helen Warrell.

Evalyn Halberstadt was the winner of a decorative pillow.

Mrs. Marilyn Phelps and committee served refreshments. Mrs. Louise Lott and Mrs. Thoss presided at the tea table.

refreshment wagon will also be available.

At approximately dusk, the wagon train will present 40 minutes of entertainment on its own stage. Tecumseh will reciprocate with a performance by the Indian dance team from Camp Kanastake and a local group of children who will sing and dance. Tecumseh Stage Band will entertain until 9:30 p.m.

The encampment of 30 wagons and 200 riders will break on May 25 and ride on to Britton as it continues its journey to Valley Forge, Pa. for July 4.

Tecumseh originally had plans to work with Clinton in organizing entertainment for May 24. However Clinton's aggressive bid for the wagon train to be rerouted through the village and "hemming and hawing" about the entertainment schedule has apparently turned off the local coordinator. "I don't care what Clinton does," said Glenn.

The annual Spring Luncheon is April 12 at 1 p.m. at St. Peter's Episcopal Church. The Lenawee County Federation of Women's Clubs annual meeting is April 7 at the Grace Methodist Church in Britton. Registration begins at 9 a.m. and call to order is at 9:30 a.m.

Membership Drive Begins

The annual Boy Scout "kick-off" breakfast for the Lenape District Sustaining Membership Enrollment (SME) was held recently at the Fisher Body Plant in Tecumseh. Richard Goodrich, 1976 SME program chairman, challenged the gathering with the announced goal of $8,300, the Lenape District's (Lenawee County) portion of the $76,000, Wolverine Council goal.

The SME involves both those active in Scout movement and friends of Scouting in seeking additional memberships. Primary funding, for the benefit of the local Scouting Programs, results from the United Fund which comprises 58 percent. The SME program has a goal of 25 percent with the remaining 17 percent resulting from activities and events and other special programs.

Comprising the SME Program Committee are Mr. Goodrich, chairman, Philip J. Chrzan, 1975 Chairman, Gordon Chilcote, Jerry Becker, Ed Walters, and, Dale O'Hara, District Scout Executive. Over 50 primary SME volunteers are assisting the committee in the capacity of Area Neighborhood Chairmen and Captains, with additional local support being given them by added enrollers in each city area.

Special guests in attendance for the Lenape SME "kick-off" were Mr. James A. Holland, Scout Executive, Wolverine Council, Robert Whitacre, Lenape District Chairman, and William J. Polk, Plant Manager, Fisher Body Tecumseh Plant.

During the program Mr. Holland, on behalf of the Wolverine Council, presented a special plaque to the Fisher Body Tecumseh Plant in recognition of its service to the Council and District in the SME Program activity through the provision of personnel, time and facilities in the coordination of the 1975 and 1976 SME programs.

Assisting in the program of the host city and plant were Jack Scheirer, Craig Coudron, John E. Deming and Butch Glover, Scouts of Troop No. 272, Tecumseh, sponsored by the Methodist Mens Fellowship of the Tecumseh United Methodist Church.

Unhappy Over Delegate

by TOM STANDLEY

A bridge proposed by the City of Tecumseh was one of the two projects that will be investigated by the Drains and Lake Levels Committee of the Lenawee Board of Commissioners. The county board decided to investigate the projects at its meeting last Wednesday night.

The bridge will go over the Raisin River on Russell Road while the other project involves building a dam outlet, and dredging the bottom land on Bradley Lake in northern Franklin Township.

The projects came before the board because a state law which requires persons working on developments affecting waterways and other bodies of water to notify the Michigan Department of Natural Resources.

The DNR is then required to notify local governmental units of the proposed project and hold a public hearing if any government unit or person lodges a complaint within 20 days.

A Ypsilanti man, Robert E. Vreeland, is involved in the Bradley Lake Project.

The board also managed to get caught up in another political dogfight during the evening.

A move to increase the number of delegates to attend the National Association of Counties convention was involved, and when the dust cleared, no change was made from earlier plans to send one representative.

Ray Jackson, D.-Tipton, originally made the motion to change the number of delegates to make the trip from one to three.

Larry Gould, R-Seneca Township, objected and said either two or four should be sent because of lodging costs.

After both a vote to send two and three delegates ended in a 7-7 deadlock, the original proposal stood.

Jackson complained the vote was an attempt to eliminate the board's Democrats from attending the convention.

At the March 10 meeting of the board, Stacy Zilke, R-Deerfield was designated to make the trip to Washington, with Richard Lackie, R-Adrian, named as alternate in case Zilke was not able to make the trip.

Lackie was not at the March 24 meeting because of another committment.

In other action the County Commissioners: passed a resolution to honor Helen Ahleman, a clerk at the county jail, who is retiring April 3 after 27 years of service and decided to close county offices at noon on Good Friday, April 16.

13 Lettermen On Girls Track Squad

Tecumseh's girls track squad begins competition this Friday when it travels to Blissfield having lost only one girl from last year's team.

Forty girls are out for the squad including 13 letterwinners from last year. Among the seniors are Sue Brown, 440 relay, 100 yard Dash, 220 and long jump. Brown will miss the Blissfield meet because of a slight knee injury.

Other seniors are Jan Stevens, 220, long jump, 440 relay, 880 relay; and Carolyn Duhan, 440 and 880 relay, hurdles.

Junior letter winners are, Patti Brosamer, long jump, 100 yard dash, 440 and 880 relay; Cindy Wright, 440 sprint, high jump, and mile relay; Vickie McDonald, 440 sprint, mile relay, long jump.

Sophomores: Robin Isom, mile run, high jump; Nena Murphy, mile run, long jump; Mary Dana, hurdles, sprints; Janel Mumme two mile; Janet Webb, shot put, discus; Debbie Steadley, sprints, hurdles; and Jamie Browne, mile relay, distances.

Coach Mary Wood will be counting on the performances of several team stand-outs including Sue Brown in the long jump and sprints. Her best effort last year in the long jump was 17'6". Carolyn Duhan was third in the state in hurdles last year. Nena Murphy is strong in the mile run as is the 440 relay team which was first in th Huron League and 10th in the state last year. The relay team consists of Jan Stevens, Sue Brown, Carol Duhan and Patti Brosamer replacing Becky Stormes.

Wood is also looking to freshman Terry Scheff who Wood says is "outstanding" in the 880, mile, and two mile. Scheff is pulling close to an Airport girl who was first in the state in the two mile last year.

Wood says of the entire team. "The distance people are looking extremely well. We are a little low in the field events but that will work out. Sprinters look strong."

Tecumseh tied with Airport for first place in the Huron League last year with a 6-1 record. Overall they finished with a 6-2 mark losing only to Airport and Adrian. The team was first in the Addison Invitational, sixth in the Grass Lake Invitational, third in the regionals and tied for eighth in the state.

Airport should again be tough league foes with 35 letter winners returning according to Wood St. Mary's should also be strong. First home meet will be April 19 hosting Hillsdale.

Mapped Lakes Available From MUCC

Maps of many Michigan inland lakes no longer are available from the Department of Natural Resources, but can be ordered from the Michigan United Conservation Clubs, P.O. Box 2235, Lansing 48911, at 75 cents each. The equipment necessary for manufacturing the maps is no longer being used by the DNR.

Although scale and detail vary, the maps generally show lake outline, depth contour, weed beds, and shoreline features such as inlets, outlets and channels.

An MUCC publication entitled "Michigan Mapped Lakes" lists the lakes for which maps are available, and contains map order blanks. This 80-page booklet, priced at $1, also includes handy reference sections on Michigan campgrounds, boat launching sites and canoe trails, plus a host of other useful outdoor information.

THS Trackmen Are Hopeful

Tecumseh trackmen have high hopes to repeat as Huron League champs. They open their season this Friday when they travel to Chelsea.

The Indians finished with a 7-0 league record last year posting a 10-1 overall mark. Besides winning the Huron League, they also were the champions of the Tecumseh Relays and were regional champs.

Eleven lettermen are returning including Dave Bilkie, Kim Cantrell, Mike Eaton, Tim Eggleston, Jim Harris, Lyndon Hughes, Linvel Lisenbee, Mike Reed, Tim Scheff, Aubrey Schroeder and Tom Schwartz.

The team lost four outstanding trackmen to graduation including Jim Karle, Mike Duhan, Shawn Dalton and Bob Cook. All will be missed especially Dalton in the pole vault. His absence leaves a group of newcomers in that event.

By event, the 1976 Tecumseh trackmen shape up this way:

Long jump — Lyndon Hughes, Linvel Lisenbee, Dave Bilkie and Jim McKinney are all potential 20-foot jumpers. Freshman Tom Wright may be an asset as well.

High jump — Scott Church, Bruce Hughes and McKinney head the list. Church went 5'11"last year and Hughes has already cleared 5'10" in practice although his knee is still on the mend after a basketball injury.

Pole vault — All newcomers here. Freshmen Jon Betzoldt, Mark DeJonghe, John Faulkner and Glenn Shough are working hard.

Shot put — Tom Schwartz - second in Regional last year - and Mike Martin are both potential 50 footers. Sophomore Greg Lewis has been over 40' in practice.

Discus — This is a new event. Schwartz, Martin and Scott Hill have been somewhat impressive. However, many boys are working on the event.

Sprints — John Egbert, Jeff Robideau, Dennis Cook, Mike Reed, Aubrey Schroeder, Tim Eggleston, Lyndon Hughes, Tim Furgason, Tony Valdez, Tom Wright and others give the team both quality and depth.

Hurdles — Mike Eaton, seventh at the Huron Relays, heads a strong list. Scott Church, Jim McKinney, Jim Anderson and Freshman Gregg Borton all look good.

Coach Bill Croft is quite enthusiastic about his team. "We're strong. Its probably the best group since I've been here. We have good team balance and outstanding depth in just about all events. The pole vault is our only weak area. We'll be more flexible."

Croft figures Airport and new Boston Huron to be Tecumseh's toughest foes.

The team travels to Adrian on Thursday of next week.

Tories Lose Opener

Britton-Macon opened its baseball season with a loss to Whiteford Monday 11-10.

The Tories were ahead in the contest 10-8 after six innings. Whiteford was up to bat with two outs and no runners on base. A Whiteford batter singled and Britton made an error allowing Whiteford to stay in the game and grab three unearned runs to take the victory.

Britton scored 12 hits with Don Gorton and Phil Loesch with three hits each and Randy Smith with two hits and one double. Rudy Montalvo knocked in three runs on a bases-loaded double. Dave Wielfaert also hit a double. Craig Wagenschutz, Paul Wielfaert and Jeff Barringer each had a hit.

Randy Smith took the loss on the mound for the Tories striking out five, walking seven and giving up 11 hits.

Whiteford had six errors and Britton, three.

Britton hosts Summerfield Wednesday and travels to Morenci Thursday.

THS Baseballers Open Season

Tecumseh's baseball squad opens its season this Saturday with a doubleheader at Blissfield, the first of three doubleheaders in the next week.

The squad travels to Adrian next Tuesday and a week from this Saturday they host Evergreen for two games.

The Indians lost four players from last year including Darrell Bozeman, who won all-league honors last season, and Mike Corley. John Getz and Paul Lemanski also graduated.

Returning lettermen are Ken Biscupski, Brad Sisson, Bill Warner, Dave Spillman, Doug Bunch, Mike Creswell and Bill Smith. All are seniors.

Filling out the roster are senior, Ken Davis, juniors, Randy Arnett, Tim Myers, Eric Travis, George Lynch, Dan Tilton and Dave Bohannon.

Tecumseh tied with Monroe Catholic Central for third place last season in the Huron league finishing with a 9-6 league record and a 13-9 overall mark.

Robert Ondrovick is coaching the team with Rick Montcalm the junior varsity coach and John LaSotta the freshman mentor.

Ondrovick says of the squad, "We have the experience back, especially up the middle defensively with Doug Bunch at short stop and Bill Warner on second base. We also have experience at catcher with Bill Smith which is very important. That helps timing double plays. We have three experienced pitchers, all seniors, in Ken Biscupski, Dave Spillman and Ken Davis although I haven't decided who will start first."

Ondrovick also states that four players are hitting exceptionally well at the present, mainly, Spillman, Smith, Bunch and Creswell. But he quickly adds, "If the bottom part of the batting order doesn't come through it puts a burden on the rest. Those having trouble now will definitely have to come around."

Ondrovick continues to say that the team is very enthusiastic about the season with a regular season schedule expanded to 23 games, three more than last year. He adds that the squad will have to overcome miscues in the field saying that they hurt the Indians last year in crucial situations.

Most of the teams in the Huron league have their pitchers returning and Tecumseh is looking for a close race for the title.

There are two new rule changes in effect this season. The first states that any player throwing his helmet or bat in a flagrant manner will be ejected from the game.

Also, the rules will allow for a designated hitter to be used for any player on the team for the duration of a game.

Mike Creswell will probably be Tecumseh's designated hitter.

New Series on Religion

"300 Years of Religious Freedom" is a new feature series beginning in this week's Tecumseh Herald. Local ministers of the 15 denominations of Tecumseh churches were asked to contribute a historical resume of each denomination's origin in the United States and especially in Tecumseh. A photograph of the current minister and church will accompany each history.

This Bicentennial feature series is offered by the Tecumseh Herald in commemoration of the nation's 200th birthday anniversary and 200 years of religious freedom in our country.

Furthermore, July 4 is a Sunday, a day to celebrate religious heritage. The Tecumseh Bicentennial Committee, led by chairman the Rev. David Fox, is coordinating a full day of family activity which will focus around religious services, ice cream socials at various churches and a special program with George Romney as guest speaker.

HEAD BAND DRIVE — Jimmie Rice, THS band director; Wilma Silberhorn, president of the Tecumseh Band Boosters; and Robert Schoof, JHS band director, will head a fund raising drive next week with band members selling subscriptions to The Herald.

Auxiliary Saluting Seniors

Tecumseh Jaycee Auxiliary is sponsoring a contest to select the Bicentennial Man and Woman of the Year a salute to Tecumseh's senior citizens.

Anyone age 55 years or older may be nominated to the honor by a second party. Entries must include personal data such as name, address, age, number in family, previous occupation and all community activities.

On a spearate sheet, a short descriptive summary should be given to explain why the nominee should be man or woman of the year. DO NOT USE THE PERSON'S NAME so judges can be objective.

Deadline for entries is May 1, 1976.

A panel of five leading citizens will judge the entries for outstanding community service.

Entry forms and more information is available by contacting Della Beevers, 423-4549 or Margie Ball 423-4724.

The week of May 10-15 will be designated as Senior Citizens Week. A special tea will honor the Bicentennial Man and Woman of 1976 and they will receive gifts.

The contest is non-profit.

Health Study Grant OK'd

University of Michigan School of Public Health has received a grant from the National Heart and Lung Institute to study how people react to information about their own health.

The study which will involve many Tecumseh residents will include the extent to which people follow their doctor's advice and an explanation of why different people follow various kinds of medical advice to different degrees.

The University, prior to 1970, conducted a health study here involving Tecumseh folks for many years. Its department was first located at Herrick Memorial Hospital and later in its own building on N. Evans St., across from River Acres.

Feed Meters Front, Back

New parking meters in the downtown section have caused some confusion, according to Cal Zorn, city manager.

The city has erected a double-yoke on each post for the meters, eliminating many of the posts.

Depending on where the car is parked, a motorist will find his meter either at the front or at the rear of his car.

Raise '75

Junior High School students raised $75 at a benefit dance for Wayne Nix last Friday at St. Peter's Episcopal Church.

Nix had kidney transplant last August but the kidney did not function.

Man Skips Area After Forgery

Two counts of forgery and uttering and publishing have been charged against Clyde LeRoy Burleson, Tecumseh, who has since disappeared after being arrested and released on bond.

Burleson reportedly forged a check at United Savings Bank on April 6 in the amount of $160, and again for $162 at First Federal Savings and Loan on April 9.

Imprinted personal checks, belonging to Willard Hertler, 11430 Billmyer Rd., were used in the forgery. Hertler told the officers that he had notified a Saline bank that some of his checks had been stolen.

Both checks had been made out to LeRoy Burleson with Hertler's forged signature.

Most Closing

Most businesses in Tecumseh will be closed from 12 noon to 3:00 Friday afternoon to allow employees to attend the Union Good Friday Services at St. Peter's Episcopal Church.

Boosters Raising Funds

Approximately 100 members of the senior and junior high bands will start selling subscriptions to The Herald next Wednesday with funds raised from the drive designated for the benefit of the school bands.

Mrs. A.J. Silberhorn, head of the Band Boosters, is chairman of the drive, assisted by Jimmie Rice and Robert Schoof, band directors.

A concentrated effort, one to begin Wednesday and to end not later than Saturday, April 24, will include canvassing of Tecumseh and nearby subdivisions by the students. Band members will also solicit new subscriptions at Kroger and A&P.

For each new subscription - one that has not been in effect since Jan. 1 - the Band Boosters will receive $2.50, and for each one year renewal, 75c.

TCC Apartment Site Plan Approved

Site plans for 50 apartments along the 17th fairway at the Tecumseh Country Club was approved by the Planning Commission Tuesday night.

The apartment complex totals seven buildings in the wooded area being developed by William E. Powell, local real estate broker and builder.

Although some grading and other related work has been done at the site, he can now proceed with construction of the apartments, drives, sewers, water lines and a sewage lift station.

City has completed plans for a sewer and lift station on Burt St., but awaits state approval for scheduling the work.

Request Is Denied

A request from Dr. Carlos Knisley to permit an E. Chicago Blvd. lot, next to the Sunoco Service Station, to be used for a used car lot was denied by Planning Commission Tuesday evening.

Since the area is zoned central business, a used car lot would be non-conforming.

Others in the immediate area - Sunoco, Jim's Hy-Flash Station and T.J. Wagner's Auto Sales also are non-conforming but were in business at the time of the zoning and have continued in business.

The Knisley lot has not been used for a car lot since Fisher Pontiac conducted business there several years ago.

3 Pedestrians Hit by Cars

Three pedestrians suffered minor injuries in separate accidents investigated the past week by Tecumseh police. None of the drivers was charged.

Last Thursday, James F. Miller, 714 Ternes, was walking in the A&P lot when he was struck by Cindy Lou Wilson, 5618 Holloway Rd. She reported the accident at the station and told officers that she did not see him in time to stop.

Miller suffered bruises to a leg and arm.

On Friday, Eric N. Baldwin, 18, of 207 S. Union St., was eastbound on E. Shawnee and skidded into Ottis Cantrell, 5422 Centennial Rd., and a vehicle operated by his Sister, Kim O. Cantrell, 16.

The Cantrell car was stopped several feet from the curb and Ottis Cantrell was in the street talking to the occupants of the car. He was treated at Herrick Hospital.

Tuesday, Delfino Pizzana, 17, of 5651 Pocklington, struck Connie Cole, 13, of 1202 W. Pottawatamie, as she was walking in the street. She was taken to Herrick Hospital for treatment.

A resume of other traffic accidents is:

April 8 — Gordon Bussing, truck driver from Adrian, was parked behind Ken-Ray Drugs when a car registered to Chrome Rents, Manchester, struck the rear of the truck. Damage to the car was minor and none to the truck.

April 9 — Marion E. Barrett, 70, Britton, was cited for leaving the scene of an accident after he attempted to park in the city's southeast lot and struck a vehicle owned by Chuck Locker, 1008 Willow St.

April 8 — Ravmond A. Nichols, 37, of 216 N. Oneida, backed into Mary C. Uterback, 65, Addison on E. Shawnee.

April 9 — Celeste S. Fox, 22, of 720 Waskins Dr., was charged with improper starting from a parked position after she pulled from a curb on W. Chicago Blvd. and into the path of a vehicle driven by Meda E. Lenhart, 73, of Napoleon.

April 9 — Michele E. Jahner, 17, of 5200 E. Monroe Rd., ran into the rear of a truck owned by Haeussler Construction Co., on W. Chicago at Union St.

April 13 — Gayle A. Hoehn, 6510 Gove St., told officers she struck a car while backing in the city's southwest parking lot.

NEW WALK — Construction started this week for a new and wider sidewalk on N. Evans St., along United Savings Bank, Harry's Cafe and Trickey's. While the construction poses a problem for pedestrians, and occasionally traffic, it should be completed by the end of the week, city manager Cal Zorn reports. (Photo by Cortland Hunt)

City Police Report Quiet Week Here

Police report a quiet week for vandalism, violations and other incidents.

Tim Day, 12, 809 Adrian St., was bitten by a neighbor's dog after he strayed too close while playing. The dog was chained.

Tom Fry, 612 Murray Dr., reported the bottom part of a storm door was kicked in at his home.

Robert Sterling Jr., 5000 Burt St., reported a car damaged by rocks. According to the police report, the car was damaged after Richard Yerebeck, 19, Britton had gone to 316 S. Ottawa to pick up some clothes he had left in an appartment.

Owner of the apartment, Georgia Lissenbee, told him his clothes were not there and refused him admission. Yerebeck and Fred Armstrong reportedly were $150 behind in rent and owed $15 for a broken bed.

Mrs. Lisenbee said, after she was sworn at, that she threw rocks at the car.

200 Years of Religious Freedom

First in a series

The First Baptist Church of Tecumseh had its beginnings in April 1839 when a group of Baptists voted to build a "Meeting House." Prior to this time, meetings were held in homes and rented halls. The challenge to build was met with discouragements and lack of funds, however the members were dedicated, and the challenge drove them to greater dedication.

The first membership included 28 persons. Worship included a Morning Service with Sunday School following, then later an afternoon service. During this time lunches were carried to enjoy between services. The Rev. A.M. Prentice was the first minister. He remained only six months.

Thirty-four Ministers have served this Church in its 137 years. The Rev. B.O. Bashore was pastor of the church for 30 years. The Rev. Kenneth Boyd became pastor in February of 1973 and is now the pastor of the Church.

Between 1858 and 1862 the Church experienced many discouragements and some talk of disbanding was heard during this time. However in 1862 new life was brought to the faltering Church by the Rev. J.L. McCloud, and soon a subscription of $2,700 was raised to purchase the site and begin the building of the church located at the corner of N. Union St. and W. Chicago Blvd.

This remained the church home until Sept. 1972 when a new church located at 5280 Milwaukee Rd. was dedicated in the memory of Hazel M. Herrick. The building of the church was made possible through the generosity of Ray Herrick.

Some of the outstanding works of the church over the years were the Christmas Pagents that were presented each Christmas time under the direction of the late Mrs. R.S. Moore. These were presented each Christmas for some 50 years.

The church also carried a radio ministry from 1947 to 1973 under the direction of the Rev. B.O. Bashore. Special music and the sermons were broadcasted over station W.A.B.J. each Sunday morning.

Today the sermons are now taped and taken to various shut-in members of the Church family.

A DILEMMA

It seemed almost too good to be true — and perhaps it was. Last week's article, it will hopefully be remembered, ended with the exciting openhouse which the great blue herons held in Mom's tree. We told of how the tree, which holds at least five great blue herons' nests, was unexpectedly visited by a large flock of wood ibis. A great thrill.

A day or two later Mom and I, still enthusiastic, were talking about these great white birds. Her description of how the birds looked as they sat side-by-each on the bare limbs of the tree matched one of the bird-book's very sketchy field identification marks of the wood ibis.

Large white birds with long black legs, long black decurved bills, and black wing markings. And yet, the more we talked, the little pin-prick of doubt seemed to grow.

These are rather rare birds in Florida now — their ranks were tragically depleted by the unscrupulous plumage-hunters and then, just as they were beginning to build up the population, Florida's land boom began gobbling up the land these birds need for feeding and nesting areas. Was it possible that we truly had seen a flock of wood ibis?

Well, before there was a chance to explore the question further, I was driven to the bird-books to seek out an answer about the pelican's voice. Bird-books are like dictionaries, encyclopedias, and peanuts.

The old cliche is true, it is impossible to stop with just one. After pelicans I found myself reading about wood ibis and then about white ibis. This is where our dilemma really became serious.

I had first seen the large flock of white birds as they were flying and Mom had watched them land in the nesting tree. But, exactly how large were they?

Through the binoculars she had picked up the other field marks. But now the nagging questions appeared — exactly what were the black markings on their wings, were the oversize bills very decurved or just slightly, exactly what color were the bills and legs, and how about the color on their heads and upper necks?

These are important questions and upon their answers rest the identity of the birds who were being introduced to the very, very young great blue heron chicks.

A more detailed description of the wood ibis and the white ibis breaks them down like this — the former are about 40-inches tall, the black markings on the wings run the full length of the back edge, the large bills are black, rather heavy and curved near the tip-end, the skinny legs are black, and the birds' forehead and top are naked of feathers and black.

The white ibis are about 28-inches long, have black markings only on the tips of their wings, have rather slender strongly decurved red bills, dark red faces and legs.

Yes, there are great differences between the birds but yes, it would be extremely easy for even a bird-watcher as experienced as Mom to get them mixed up. Under the same viewing conditions that is.

In the first place neither of us are completely familiar with either of these birds although we have seen them both.

Secondly, no matter how good the binoculars, colors can be deceiving at such a distance and they do vary so greatly according to the light.

The biggest problem, however, was that there was nothing of a known size for Mom to compare or gauge the white birds against. Size is relative. The wing markings, although different and easily seen when the wings are extended, look the same when the birds are sitting with their wings folded.

Common sense says that maybe our birds were white ibis. They have come back from the edge of extinction and are re-established in encouragingly large and successful colonies in the Tampa Bay area whereas the larger birds are more apt to be found a bit farther south in Corkscrew and The Everglades.

However, the wood ibis originally flourished in this area. Finally, the "Audubon Water Bird Guide" says of the white ibis that there flocks are a wonderous sight as they "wheel high in the air in perfect unison . . They seem alternately to shine out as a cloud of shimmering silver and suddenly to disapppear completely as they bank the other way."

This is exactly what the flock of birds that I saw did. But the wood ibis are rare and stir the imagination — it would be so nice if they were the birds Mom and I saw.

Actually a return visit and a much longer one is the only way I can think of to solve our dilemma.

Investment Tips At Tecumseh Library

Are you a potential stock market investor who is put off by the market's complexities or an investor who would like to become better informed about the market?

If so, plan to attend "A Walk Down Wall Street," presented by Ray Walton at Tecumseh Public Library on April 21 at 7:30 p.m.

A former Tecumseh chief of police, Walton is a long time investor who believes the average investor can do a great deal to educate himself for sound investment decisions.

Walton began investing in 1947, and now spends approximately two hours a day studying business and financial news services.

In "A Walk Down Wall Street," Walton will present investment education from the investor's point of view by describing some of the ways he continues to educate himself.

Rather than give investment advice, he will feature books, magazines and other materials in Tecumseh Public Library which can help the investor keep informed.

A list of these materials will be available during the program.

Catholic Women May Now Join

For 140 years, Catholic lay women have been "silent partners" assisting the Catholic laymen in the Society of St. Vincent DePaul.

Although women were acknowledged by the Society as better suited for some areas of charitable ministry, they were never entered as members.

Now however, Catholic women may join in full partnership working side by side with Catholic men in acts of charity performed by the Society around the world.

St. Elizabeth Catholic Church in Tecumseh has been informed it is the first conference in the Jackson area to take advantage of the Society's new membership policy established in 1973.

The Tecumseh conference will be mixed membership of both men and women. Conferences may also be of men or women members only.

Result of this new policy has more than doubled the size of St. Elizabeth conference to 18 members. The local conference was founded in Tecumseh about 1955.

The Society of St. Vincent DePaul is an international Catholic society of lay persons with conferences around the world. The society was founded in Paris, France in 1833 by Frederick Ozanam and his companions under the patronage of St. Vincent DePaul. The society was inspired by the saint's work and is dedicated to justice and charity on a person to person level.

The work of the society in local churches seldom receives publicity because of the confidential nature of its ministry.

Msgr. Vincent Howard, pastor of St. Elizabeth's Church is a member of the society. Acting president in Tecumseh's conference is Eugene Froelich for Ken Connair, now in Florida.

St. Vincent DePaul Society meets in St. Elizabeth Church every Monday evening at 7:30 p.m. New members are welcome.

Welcome Plans For Wagon Train

CLINTON — Harry Dodd, coordinator for the Bicentennial Wagon Train, gave a slide presentation showing the beginning of the train which will wend its way eastward across America to converge on Valley Forge, Pa., July 4, for a meeting of the Clinton Bicentennial Committee, Tuesday.

Charlie Peart chaired the meeting attended by 15 persons.

Dodd told the committee that the Wagon Train is adding units as it moves along, and it is now expected that there will be 50 or more wagons and between 300 and 500 saddle horses, and even some buggies and temporary outriders by the time the Train reaches Clinton, May 24.

The Train will be met at the Clinton village limits by the two school bands, Clinton Fire Trucks and a welcoming committee of President Clayton Strolle and councilmen, when it arrives about noon. Joe O'Donnell promises to have Clinton's bell on hand for the occasion.

Stay in Clinton will be about one and one-half hours, with departure scheduled for 2:30 p.m. on its way to Tecumseh.

Mrs. Court Nighswander, Mrs. Joseph Rockwell and Joy Hawkins were named to a refreshment committee to work with Mrs. Herbert Blumhardt of the school cafeteria department, to arrange a noon lunch at the Middle School Cafeteria.

Plans are to serve lunch to approximately 100 official members of the Wagon Train at no cost. Remainder of the identified members of the train will be served a non-profit, low cost lunch at the school.

Clinton area residents are asked to volunteer help for work of preparation and clean-up and for monetary donations to make the hospitality possible. To volunteer call any member of the refreshment committee or Charlie Peart at the Pizza Pit.

Entertainment is being arranged to be performed on the Middle School stage while the visitors are eating there.

Clinton's Bicentennial Chorus, directed by Peg Geiger; and the Middle School Choir, directed by Henry Shade will perform.

Other entertainment will feature the "Swanton Sunshine Fun Band", a 30-member senior citizens' group from the Delta and Swanton, Ohio area. The 70-96 year-oldsters put on a costumed, kitchen band show.

To publicize the Wagon Train visit, the Bicentennial Committee has sponsored a poster contest in the Middle School, and the Clinton High School art class will also make posters. There will be a banner placed on Michigan Ave.

Proclamation scrolls will be available for the signatures of village residents, to be carried along to Valley Forge.

Local eating establishments have been notified that there may be many additional visitors to the village on May 24.

Because of the limited time the train will be in Clinton, booth displays are being discouraged.

Anyone interested in any activity related to the train's visit is urged to call Charlie Peart for information prior to making any plans.

The Wagon Train will be stationed on the school grounds behind the Elementary School and along Franklin Street.

School will not be dismissed for the day. However, the children will be given an opportunity to see the train while it is at the school.

Memories Brought Back By 1900 - 1930 Easter Cards

By KATHY BROWN

Rabbits and eggs, robins and lambs, lilies and violets are symbols of Easter. And today, as in the 1900's, so are Easter cards. You may see a collection of nostalgic Easter cards from 1900-1930 at the Tecumseh Herald, 110 E. Logan St., weekdays during regular business hours. The display of holiday cards is a Herald Bicentennial project.

Easter is the celebration of spring, but is also the Christian celebration of Christ's victory over death and the redemption of mankind.

Easter is a moveable religious holiday whose date varies according to the movements of the moon. This year, Easter is April 18. Easter has been designated as the Sunday following the first full moon that comes after the vernal equinox, which this year was March 20. The church fathers established the rule at the Council of Nicaea, 325 A.D. One reason for the rule might be to have afforded bright moonlight for Easter pilgrimages.

Some of the symbols of Easter are equally curious. The rabbit in Egyptian mythology was a symbol of the moon, which determines the holiday. The timid, defenseless animal also represents man's dependence on Christ to be saved. Hare hunts were held in England. Traditionally the parson would give 100 eggs to the one who caught the first hare. In Germany, Switzerland and Belgium, children make nests for the rabbits to fill with eggs.

Even at Christ's time, the Hebrews exchanged a Paschal egg at the Passover. Many ancient peoples exchanged eggs at spring festivals. Eggs are a symbol of fertility, and a symbol of new life, an appropriate sign of the Resurrection and new birth of man in the risen Christ. English children are presented gifts of chocolate eggs wrapped in fancy paper and messages were written on eggs in later years, some revealed facts to complete family records.

Before commercial dyes, people used flowers or roots and herbs dipped in boiling water. In many European countries, eggs are blessed for Easter. In the United States, the first lady hosts an egg rolling contest on the White House lawn for hundreds of children. Custom originated in Germany and Norway.

A lamb with a red cross is a symbol of Christ. During the Hebrew feast of Passover, lambs were sacrificed in commemoration of the deliverance of Israel from Egypt. The Israelites were principally shepherds and so many religious symbols include the lamb, for a Christian example, Christ the Good Shepherd.

Lilies are considered the favorite flower of Christ because of the parable of the lilies of the field. The white lily is associated with purity of Christ and redemption. Easter poetry of 1910 tells us that the violet was considered the first flower of spring. It also signifies faithfulness and is appropriately reproduced on many of the Easter cards in the collection.

Robin's red breast is also an Easter legend which says that a robin removed a thorn from Christ's bloody forehead and from that day forward was "red-breasted" as a symbol of the bird's compassion.

The Lenawee County Bicentennial Committee has officially designated the plan as a Bicentennial Horizon Project.

Tax deductible contributions are accepted.

Organizations wishing to see a slide presentation on the woods should contact the ECOL office, 265-5161, ext. 434.

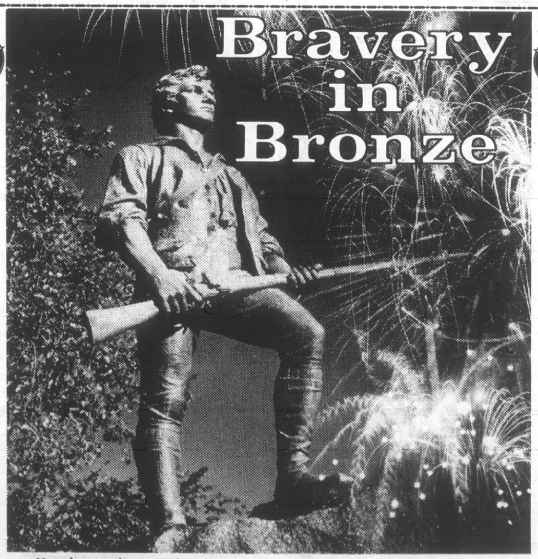
Bravery in Bronze



Here he stands . . . "The Minute Man" of Lexington, Massachusetts.

A photographer with imagination chose the background of fireworks.

But that April night when Paul Revere alerted the Minute Men, there were fireworks of a different kind. The bravery that night was not in bronze!

It is no accident that this historical encounter occurred in the same colony which the pilgrim fathers founded in their quest for religious liberty. The very kernel of American freedom sprung from the right to believe in God and to worship Him — each in his own way. The heritage of the Minute Men was a courage born in conscience that defied any invasion of liberty — religious or political!

Two centuries ago patriots established with their blood a nation of conscience, of faith. Celebrate that with your heart and soul . . . it cannot be preserved in bronze.

Tory Baseballers Lose Three

The Britton-Macon Tories are having problems getting their baseball season on a winning track. They dropped three contests in the past week to Summerfield, 12-10, Morenci, 11-1, and Deerfield 8-7.

The squad took on Deerfield Tuesday and led in the game 7-5 after five innings. Deerfield punched in three runs in the sixth and Britton couldn't come across in the top of the seventh.

The Tories had six hits including a home run from Randy Smith and a single.

Britton was overwhelmed by Morenci last Thursday scoring just two hits to tie for Morenci. Don Gorton and Craig Wagenschutz each had a single for Britton. Randy Ford was the winning pitcher striking out eight Tories in five innings.

The Tories found themselves trailing 7-3 at the end of the first inning in their contest with Summerfield last Wednesday. They ended up losing the game 12-10 committing 11 errors.

Don Gorton hit three home runs, Dave Wielfaert also hit a home run and a double, Paul Wielfaert had a double.

THS Baseballers Split Pair With Adrian Tuesday

Tecumseh's baseball squad opened their season with two double headers losing two to Blissfield and splitting a pair with Adrian.

The Indians took on the Maples Tuesday dropping the first game 2-1 after starting pitcher Ken Davis was injured in a freak accident in the fifth inning.

An Adrian player bunted a ball that went foul down the third base line and three Indians gave chase fearing the ball would come back into bounds. Catcher Bill Smith, third baseman Mark Hunter and Davis all collided. The left-handed pitcher wound up with a bruised right shoulder.

Dave Spillman replaced Davis and had some difficulties finding the groove. Both Adrian runs were walks given up by Spillman. Spillman got it together in the second game, however, and was credited for that win as well as the first game loss.

Tecumseh had six hits and no errors in the first game. Doug Bunch and Spillman each had two hits. Adrian had three hits and one error.

The Indians won their second game 8-6 in nine innings featuring a grand slam home run in the third inning by Doug Bunch which got the Indians back into the game. Tecumseh was trailing 4-0 before the slam. They got another run in the third to pull into the lead 5-4. Adrian tied it up in the fifth inning.

Underclassman Randy Arnett hit a two run base hit in the top of the ninth to pull Tecumseh into the lead. Final run came on a walk.

Jeff Ives began the second game with Spillman replacing him in the fifth inning. Spillman struck out seven and walked one.

Tecumseh had 10 hits to Adrian's 11 in the second game. The Indians suffered six errors and Adrian, one.

Scoring hits for Tecumseh were, Randy Arnett, Mark Hunter and Eric Travis, two singles each. Dave Spillman double, Doug Bunch, grand slam, Brad Sisson and Dan Tilton a single each.

The Indians began their season with a doubleheader last Saturday at Blissfield. The Royals beat Tecumseh with scores of 3-0, 1-0 in a pitcher's duel.

The Indians host Evergreen for another double header this Saturday starting at 1 p.m.

Redskins Are 2-2

Clinton trackmen completed a busy opening schedule with a win over Deerfield Tuesday. They beat Jonesville 74½-57½ but lost to Homer 75-57 in a triangular meeting Monday. And on Tuesday of last week, they began their season with a loss to Sand Creek.

Those winning for Clinton included: Steve Hinz, shot put, 35'4"; Bill Gerard, discus, 112'1½"; Jerry Cline, 880 run, 2:09.5; Wally Pike, mile run, 5:05.5; Casey Thilo, 100 dash, :11.2; Phil Martiny, 440, :55.5; Mike Adkins, low hurdles :23.2; Thilo, 220, :25.5; Martiny, Pike Cline, Feldkamp, mile relay, 3:55.7.

In the top spot for Clinton against Jonesville was Bill Gerard, discus, 115' 1½"; Phil Martiny, long jump, 18'6¼"; Jerry Cline, 880 run, 2:09.8; Mike Adkins, high and low hurdles, :16.6 and :22.7 respectively; Wally Pike, mile run, 5:00.9; Mark Prichard, two mile, 11:07.7; Feldkamp, Pike, Cline, and Martiny, mile relay, 3:49.3; Thilo, Adkins, Hoag, Hinz; 440 relay :49.3.

Tories Lose

Britton-Macon's track squad opened its season with a loss to Whiteford last Friday 79-53.

The Tories had five first place finishes and one tie for the top spot. Britton won the mile and 440 relay events. Dave Wielfaert won the low hurdles and tied for first in the high hurdles.

In first place for Britton was, low hurdles, Dave Wielfaert :21.7; Two mile, Jack Geigler 11:38; Mile relay in 4:04; 440 relay :47.7; Discus, Don Gorton 101'½"; High Hurdles, Dave Wielfaert and Jeff Stark :16.3.

The Tories travel to Whitmore Lake this Thursday.

Skins Drop 2

Clinton's baseball squad dropped its first two contests last week losing to Dundee on Tuesday 10-1 and Madison 7-3 on Friday.

The Redskins had just two errors.

Clinton out-hit the Madison Trojans on Friday but costly miscues made the difference. Madison scored three runs in the second inning, adding two in the fourth and one each in the fifth and sixth frames.

In that second inning, a Madison hit bounced off the glove of Clinton's first basemen allowing two runs in. Another Madison hit made it three runs.

Clinton had six hits. Randy Porterfield was three for four including two doubles and one RBI.

The Redskins travel to Hudson Monday.

HAROLD GIBSON

Rites Today for Macon's Harold Gibson

Harold M. Gibson, 56, popular owner of Macon Golf Club, suffered a heart attack during the noon hour on Monday and died while at work on the course.

He had been working on a pump at the pond on the first golf hole. Some golfers discovered him in the pond just after teeing off, and they summoned help. Rescue wagon at the Tecumseh Fire Department was summoned just before 1 p.m.

He was taken by deputy sheriffs to Herrick Hospital where he was pronounced dead.

Services will be held this Thursday afternoon at 2 p.m. at the Purse Funeral Home with the Rev. Walter Damberg, officiating. Burial will be in Ridgeway Cemetery.

"Gibby," a lifelong resident of Macon Township, started the Macon Golf Club in 1959, and the nine-hole course became extremely popular with local and area golfers. He later expanded and improved clubhouse facilities.

A Britton High School graduate, he served with the Army Air Force in World War II. He was a member of the Masonic Lodge. No. 69, F&AM, in Tecumseh and the Tecumseh RAM, No. 42, and was also a member of the Elks Club at Adrian.

He was born on Nov. 2, 1919, son of William and Effie Gibson in Macon Township. On Nov. 22, 1958, he married Marilyn Babcock in Macon. Both his wife and parents survive.

Other survivors are three sons, William of Tecumseh, John at home, and James Randall, Tecumseh; two daughters, Gail Annalee, at home; a sister, Mrs. Clarence (Rosemary) Schroeder, Macon Township; and three grandchildren.

Another sister preceded him in death.

A Masonic memorial service was scheduled Wednesday night at the funeral home.

City To Have Bike Routes?

Tecumseh's Planning Commission is conducting a survey on bike routes in this week's Tecumseh Herald. Families using bicycles are asked to complete the questionnaire to help the commission determine bicycle traffic flow and usage.

City would also like to know if you favor funding the bike route through city taxes.

Forms should be sent or brought to city hall by April 30. A box has been placed in city clerk's office. Questions may be directed to Jay Tressler at 423-3168 or Harry Stanifer at 423-4321.

In 1974 Tecumseh residents responded to a capital improvements survey which reflected bicycle paths as a highly desirable priority.

However cost estimates for bike paths are $8 per lineal foot for surfaced paths, excluding cost of land clearing.

A bike route can be designated by posting signs along streets considered safe for bicyclists. Average cost is $15.70 per sign, plus installation.

Planning commission wants to know if residents would consider bike routes as an alternative.

3 Slain, Tecumseh Father Wounded in Shooting Spree

A 20-year-old woman and two young girls were slain late Monday night in a shooting spree that also including the wounding of a Tecumseh man, the father of the girls.

Killed were Brenda Raper of 6792 Demlow Rd., Palmyra Township, site of the murders, and two sisters, Lisa and Tammy Kobel, ages 8 and 5.

Howard S. Kobel, 27, who lives at 511 W. Brown St. in Tecumseh was wounded. He was visiting at the Raper residence at the time of the shooting.

The two Kobel girls were first reported from Tecumseh, but they were visiting here at the time with their father, who is separated from his wife, a resident of Roscommon.

Accused and in the county jail is Larry Raper, 22, estranged husband of Mrs. Raper. He was arrested about a half an hour after the shooting at his trailer in Sunset Mobile Home Court, Black Hwy.

Kobel, although wounded, reported the shootings. He is in fair condition at Bixby Hospital with a head wound.

Mrs. Raper was killed in the kitchen and the two girls in a bedroom. Three other youngsters in the house were not harmed.

Funeral services for the two girls will be held here Friday afternoon at 1:30 at the Proctor Funeral Home. The Rev. Blair O. Bashore will officiate, and burial will be in Lenawee Hills Memorial Garden.

Lisa Mae Kobel was born in Petosky on Jan. 2, 1968, the daughter of Howard and Brenda (Clark) Kobel. Her sister, Tammy Sue, was born in Tecumseh on Oct. 17, 1970.

Tammy attended kindergarten at Roscommon, and Lisa was a second grade student at Gerish Higgins Elementary School there. She was also a member of Brownie Troop 654 in Roscommon.

Survivors, besides the parents, are a brother, Jeffrey Allen, at home; maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Clark of Tecumseh; paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Ford, Tecumseh; and great-grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin LaBean of Standish, Mich.

A sister, Shannon, preceded them in death.

Four Petitions Filed, Others Circulating

Asst. Supt. Eugene Cooley told School Board members Monday night that four nominating petitions have been returned for two board seats to be filled at the June election.

Running for a four-year term are incumbent James Records, Dean Jones, and Paul Packler. Martin Vegter has submitted a petition for the three-year term now held by Dr. Harold Ocamb. Ocamb has not filed for re-election nor has incumbent Hugh DesErmia.

For other petitions are still being completed. Those completing petitions are Carl Schmidt, James VanBuren, Maynard Harris and Gerald Johnstone.

May 17 is the filing deadline.

Drive Starts

Band Boosters started their subscription drive for The Herald Wednesday with proceeds designated for band purposes.

KENT DOWNING JOINS HERALD STAFF

Joins Staff

Kent Downing, a parttime and summer employee at the Tecumseh Herald for the past seven years, has joined the newspaper's editorial staff on a full time basis.

He first joined the paper when he was a Tecumseh High School sophomore, working mainly in the photography department. In past summers, his work was expanded to writing and reporting.

Besides handling general news, police and fire reports, he will have several advertising accounts. He is an excellent photographer and has had hundreds of his pictures printed in the local paper.

Kent, a 1972 THS graduate, received a Bachelor of Arts Degree Saturday from Alma College. His major is in English.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Merlyn Downing, 413 Seminole Dr.

FATAL CRASH — A Detroit man, Calvin Andrews, 40, died in this wreckage early last Thursday morning when his car left N. Evans St. and crashed into a huge stone, marking the site of the Musgrove Evans house, first house built in Tecumseh. Police theorize that Andrews was traveling in excess of 100 mph at impact, which moved the stone over a foot. The stone has been estimated at seven tons. Impact also reduced the length of the car to just over eight feet, about half its normal length. The accident was discovered just before 6 a.m., but it's believed that Andrews was killed shortly after leaving Clinton about five hours earlier. (Photo by Cortland Hunt)

New Member of Commission

Jack Brooks of 807 Outer Drive was elected by Council by a one vote margin over Paul Dangler, to fill the expired term of Planning Commissioner Paul C. Roekle on Monday night.

Brooks is a 16-year resident of Tecumseh and volunteered for a Planning Commission seat over a year ago when city council publicized the need for various commission volunteers in the Tecumseh Herald.

Richard Eggleston, former planning commission chairman withdrew his interest in the position.

Mrs. Carlton Cook, Tim Tietsema and Jay Tressler were re-appointed to serve three year terms on Tecumseh's Planning Commission.

Tipton Fire Run

Tecumseh Fire Department responded to a house fire call at the residence of Raymond Schneck, Carson Hwy., Thursday at 6:30 p.m.

Damage to the Tipton home was confined to the back wall and kitchen area. Fire reportedly started on the outside of the home, but the cause of it is yet undetermined.

Market Losses Are Over $880

Successive breaking and enterings on Monday and Tuesday nights have resulted in a loss of over $880 at Tecumseh Country Market, corner of Occidental and Russell Rds.

In both cases, entry was gained by smashing the front glass door.

George Heeman, owner, told police that an inventory showed a loss of $165 in liquor Monday night and $202 in beer, cigarettes, jewelry and coins. Door replacement is about $250.

Early Tuesday morning officers on patrol discovered the front door again smashed - two bricks had been thrown through it. Liquor and beer again were taken with total loss estimated at $275.68.

One other burglary investigated the past week occurred at Hayden Mill. Ted Sisson told police Monday morning that entry to the office building there was gained by throwing a rock through a rear window.

Thirty-seven pairs of gloves were taken at a loss of about $37.

Other investigations the past week were:

April 18 — Richard F. Broecker and Donald F. Root were arrested for having an open can of beer in their car.

April 19 — William Luce, 116 E. Kilbuck, reported a CB radio taken from his pickup, parked in the driveway. Loss was $149.

April 19 — James E. Baldwin, 36, was arrested while walking in the street on S. Maumee and charged with being drunk and disorderly.

April 19 — Lavaun Mann, Britton, had a CB radio, tape deck, speakers and tapes taken from his car while parked in Tecumseh Products parking lot. Estimated loss was $264.

April 20 — Charles Midder, 203 W. Russell, was bitten by a dog while in his yard at his residence.

High School Band Concert Friday Night

Annual Spring Band Concert for the Junior Varsity and Varsity Bands will be April 23 at 8 p.m. at Tecumseh Senior High School. Jimmie Rice will direct.

Program is called "Reflections on America" and will present Bicentennial music which projects the feeling of America as well as patriotism.

Junior Varsity will perform a medley entitled "Blue and Gray" based on the Civil War; and also "On the Trail" from "The Grand Cayon Suite" by Grefe.

"Stars and Stripes Forever" and "America the Beautiful" will be performed by the Varsity Band. Other special numbers are also planned.

A free will offering will be accepted. Tecumseh T-shirts will be sold by the Band Boosters.

The Junior High School Spring Band Concert will be April 30 at 8 p.m. at Tecumseh Senior High School. Bob Schoof will direct.

Tecumseh band members have received three donations recently to help pay for band uniforms. Donations are: $500 from the David Day Fund, $500 from the Lucius Lilley Fund and $200 from Tecumseh Township for road trash clean up, which will be held by the band members this coming week.

OK Assessment

Council members and residents previously objecting to curb, gutter and drive approach installation on Hiawatha and Muscody Streets became of one mind — or almost — at Monday night's Council meeting.

Residents present and Council members, except for Len DeMoss, approved the special assessment district. The newest councilman did not want to "force" an assessment on people living on a fixed income "who can't afford and don't want the curb and gutter." Many of the residents are senior citizens.

April 5 a public hearing was held to hear grievances from South Pearl, Hiawatha and Muscody Streets property owners. Only Mrs. Ruth Packard, 511 S. Evans objected in person; her assessment was $882 for curb and gutter alone. Mrs. Packard told council senior citizens could not afford the assessment. Council could not agree at that hearing and postponed action until Monday's meeting.

This time residents of Muscody and Hiawatha Streets filed petitions with Council and filled the council rooms. On Muscody St. 48 percent objected and 45 percent approved of the assessment. On Hiawatha St. 73 percent objected and 23 percent had no comment.

Monday some residents admitted that they voiced "no" on the petitions because they were undecided. They had since decided to pay the assessments "now" rather than pay for them later at a higher price.

Although residents were mailed a copy of the special assessment district with costs and an explanation of payment, and same was printed as a legal notice in the Herald on March 18 and March 25, many did not understand: 1) the assessment could be paid over a period of three years with no interest if paid on time with taxes. 2) A 2 percent cash discount is given if the assessment is paid 30 days after billing.

Average assessment for curb and gutter was $200 at a cost of $4 per lineal foot. Cost for drive approaches was $1.80 per square foot and assessment depended on one or two drive approaches and the size.

Residents were also concerned that taxes would go up if curb and gutter were installed. Some senior citizens did not understand the property tax exemption available to them. Building inspector Bob Hamden made arrangements with a few to help them acquire exemption yet for this year.

Two council members, Aden Mead and Mary Bowers investigated the district and noted that street improvements would make the area more beautiful and compliment many of the well kept homes in that area. Mead formerly opposed the special assessment.

After almost an hour of discussion, Council approved the special assessment district for curb, gutter and drive approaches for South Pearl, Muscody and Hiawatha Streets.

Ron Spagnoli, head THS basketball coach for the past six years, resigned Monday night at the School Board meeting. He cited personal reasons. Spagnoli's team advanced to the state quarter-finals last month, only the third time in history of local schools that the boys reached state tournament status.

Graduation Requirements May Change

School board members heard a proposal Monday night for a change in high school graduation requirements from THS principal Clarence Lacny.

Lacny suggested that art, band, chorus and physical education receive ½ credit hour per semester, same as academic subjects, presently, these four activity courses receive ¼ credit hour.

In addition, Lacny suggests raising the required number of credit hours for graduation from 18 to 19 credits and making the four classes elective. They are now labeled activity courses, and students must take them one year out of four.

Also, the four courses would be figured into a student's grade point average under the new plan. Presently, only academic grades are used for grade point computation.

In making the suggestions, Lacny stated that he feels these four classes should be "on par with other classes."

Board member Todd Herrick stated that he "couldn't care" if his son got an A in physical education, but would want him to do well in academic areas. Herrick was also concerned that a student might miss out on being salutatorian or valedictorian "because they couldn't pass volleyball or blow a horn better."

The question also arose that a student might be able to graduate early, given increased credit for those four classes. Lacny replied that students are required to attend seven semesters before graduation. Board member William Macbeth felt that such a rule may not be legal and asked that its legality be checked.

The motion to institute the changes was tabled for further study.

Garage Sales To Require City License

In an effort to prevent some people from abusing garage sales in the city limits and actually operating a business from them, Tecumseh City Council had the first reading of a garage sale ordinance.

Modeled on ones from Fenton and Dearborn, the Tecumseh ordinance requires residents to pay $1 for a license for the first garage sale. License is good for five days. After the first sale, license for the second sale is $15 and for the third and each sale thereafter, license costs $25.

"We are not trying to punish people who have garage sales, but the ordinance is intended to stop those who are making a business from these," said city manager Cal Zorn.

Some exceptions to the ordinance include bona fide auctions, court sales or legitimate organizations such as charities. Two more readings and two publications are necessary before the ordinance becomes law.

Lower Water for Clean-up, Dam Inspection

Cal Zorn city manager, said water table at Standish Dam would be lowered from about April 20 to April 30 to allow residents an opportunity to clean up brush, etc. behind their property.

Outer Drive resident, Mrs. Elaine Shough, who led residents to council last summer with complaints about algae in the Standish Pond, has requested the lowering to allow a firm, hired by her to try to clean up the area.

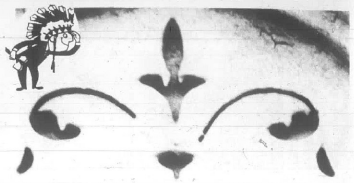
Inspection of the Standish Dam, appoved by Council early this year will be done during the week of April 26 by the Ann Arbor engineering firm of Ayers, Lewis, Norris and May, Inc.

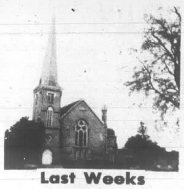
Behind Page One

The Lenawee County Museum is preparing a special early agriculture museum to be open sometime during this Bicentennial Year. The county drain commissioner is assembling old drain tiles and tools into an exhibit for the museum. Anyone having such items to offer for this exhibit is invited to contact the county museum or the county drain office.

One more time, Tecumseh's name has been spelled a novel way. Mitchell Strans, a fifth grader, whose penmanship is pretty legible, wrote a letter of inquiry for information pertaining to Alaska. He promptly received a reply from an official of the Department of State in Alaska addressed to Fraemsek, 49286.

For the lady who became a bit concerned after seeing three cars turn left on red at the E. Chicago Blvd. and Ottawa St. intersection, rules . . . the new law says it's alright to turn from a two-way street, left onto a one-way street on a red light, if you stop and wait for traffic to clear. Rule was verified by local police and State Police departments. One must wonder, though, about what would happen if, at the same time, a westbound motorist decided to turn right on red?





Last Weeks Location

LOOK UP TECUMSEH - Richard Covell of 1948 Dinius Rd. was the first to identify the hinges on the First United Presbyterian Church. Every week we seem to get more correct calls, even though they may be too late, and we are very pleased with our reader response. Remember to call only after 1 p.m. on Friday to identify this weeks picture.

Lift Station Bids Sought

City Council decided Monday to let bids for the Burt Street lift station and sanitary sewer. Cost of project is an estimated $47,000.

The city would pay approximately $6,800 for its frontage and developer William Powell would pay $20,000 with balance to be collected on special assessment.

Big Band Sound

If the sound of the Big Band era is your favorite kind of music, you shouldn't miss the special dance May 1 with music by the Tecumseh Public Schools Stage Band.

Gerald Bach, director and the students are preparing a promising program to begin at 8 p.m. at the Tecumseh Senior High School gym.

The Tecumseh Stage Band is rapidly gaining a reputation as one of the best stage bands in the area.

Admission for the dance will help pay back the Band-Boosters who financed the orange blazer with black piping which the stage band wears at all concerts.

Bike Survey

In 1974, Tecumseh residents responded to a capital improvements survey which, in part, reflected bicycle paths as a highly desirable community improvement item.

Cost estimates reflect $8 per lineal foot for surfaced paths, excluding cost of land clearing, and other factors.

As an alternative, the Planning Commission has considered designated bicycle routes along selected city streets. A tentative plan includes posting signs along streets considered able to safely accommodate bicycles.

Average cost per sign is $15.70 plus installation.

Families using bicycles are asked to complete the following questionnaire to help the Commission determine bicycle traffic flow and usage:

1. Number of bicycles used for pleasure_____.
2. Number of bicycles used to and from work____. If used to and from work, what are working hours?_____.
3. To and from what points in town (use nearest intersection) are bicycles normally used?____
   How many times per week?_____.
4. Do you think bicycle routes are necessary, and if so, are they an acceptable substitute for paths? If not, why not? _____.
5. Would you favor funding through taxation?_____.

Prepare additional forms if necessary. Please send or bring completed forms to city hall by April 30. A box has been placed in city clerk's office.

Questions may be directed to Jay Tressler at 423-3168 or Harry Stanifer at 423-4321.

New Shop Opens

Phillip Karner and John Damelio just opened a new floral shop, the August Company, after remodeling the home at the corner of W. Chicago and Occidental for the last six months.

Karner is originally from Dundee and has worked in San Francisco, where he made arrangements for the finest restaurants. Demelio is from New York City, but met Karner in San Francisco, where the two became friends. Both have horticulture experience.

The two were originally looking for a shop in New England, but after passing the home on W. Chicago, they decided to settle in Tecumseh. The home caught their eye while driving to the Wamplers Lake area to visit Karner's mother, Beth Smith, originally of Tecumeh. They decided then that they wanted to utilize an old building, instead of building a new one. Consequently they have remodeled the home themselves.

The shop carries fresh, dried, and silk flowers, green plants and has bath and wedding boutiques, as well as a gift shop.

Shop is located at 502 W. Chicago.

Hear Complaints From Residents

Council heard complaints Monday night from retired residents at 903 Shady Lane who claimed Honda bike and mini-trail bike riders are invading their yard to get to and from the south border of Tecumseh Park.

"If people were on my property, I'd fence my property," said Mayor Harold Easton. He disagreed with other council members who agreed the city should fence that side of the park.

Cost estimate for 1,876 feet of four foot chain link fence is $4,700 the city manager, Cal Zorn reported to Council.

At least two Council members, Mary Bowers and James Palmer agreed the city should fence. Councilmen Ray Puffer and Aden Mead wanted to take a closer look at the situation.

Council postponed action until the next regular meeting.

3 Car Accident Two Are Injured

A three-car accident on Russell Rd. at Occidental sent two to the hospital Tuesday afternoon. Treated and released there were Andrea Kurutz, 20 of Clinton, and Ruth Krouse of Adrian.

Charles W. Kurutz, 21, of Clinton was reportedly stopped on Russell when he pulled across the road to go into Tecumseh Country Market and was stuck by a car operated by Shirley A. Moore, 40, Adrian. The impact then forced the Kurutz vehicle into a parked car, owned by Charles F. Gurtzweiller, 802 Occidental.

Kurutz was cited for failure to yield the right of way, and Moore was cited for no insurance.

On April 14, Judy K. Simison, 17, of Clinton was traveling west on Brown when a dog ran in front of her car. She swerved and hit a car parked, sitting in front of the owner's home, John F. Roe, of 408 Brown.

On Saturday, Ina M. Basham, 62, of Clinton, was cited for failure to yield at an unmarked intersection when she struck a vehicle operated by Lawrence L. Ost, 34, of Adrian, at the corner of N. Maiden Lane and Bidwell.

Monday, Marceile Y. Miller, 17, 407 E. Pottawatamie, was cited for failing to have her vehicle under control. She reportedly reached over to care for her young child when she took her eyes off the road and jumped the curb on the opposite side of the road. She then struck a fence at 1103 W. Pottawatamie.

Mrs. Tappen was the widow of Richard Tappen.

She had resided with the Albert Faust family for more than 15 years.

Surviving are a sister, Mable Rishel of Richmond, Va., and eight nieces and nephews.

The Rev. Henry O. Yoder officiated. Burial was in Deerfield Cemetery, Deerfield.

HUGH BROOKS

A memorial service was held Monday in Brooklyn for Hugh Brooks, 69, of Addison. He died Friday, April 16 at Bixby Hospital.

Among the survivors is a son, William of Britton, and a daughter, Mrs. Charles (Margaret) Studnicka of Tecumseh.

Minutes Requested

At Tecumseh's regular meeting of the Board of Education Monday night, members heard a request from high school student council representative Marty Perkins for his own copy of board minutes from the meetings.

Asst. Supt. Eugene Cooley told Perkins that anyone was free to come to the board offices and read through minutes after they are approved.

Board members were concerned about setting a "precedent" in given Perkins his own copy fearing that anyone could then demand a copy. William Macbeth told Perkins that the board attorney would be asked about the situation.

Perkins stated that he wanted the minutes for his personal record.

93% Taxes Collected

Asst. Sup. Cooley told School Board Monday evening that 93 percent of tax collections have been made and $164,000 in tax funds are delinquent.

Cooley also said that $86,000 remain deliquent from last year, leaving a total of $250,000 in deliquent taxes.

He said "this adds to the financial dilemma, including the loss of around $100,000 in state revenue. This does not paint a positive financial picture."

Book Questioned By Area Citizens

School Board heard from several concerned citizens Monday night in regards to a book used in high school English class which they considered "pornographic."

Allan Rupert spoke for the group and complained about the Kurt Vonnegut novel, "Slaughterhouse Five." Rupert presented a petition signed by "a couple hundred" people calling for the removal of the book.

Asst. Supt. Gene Cooley and English Department head John LaSotta explained that the book had already been removed. LaSotta went on to explain that the department did not review all books used this term because of time limitations and department changes.

Normally, all books are screened by a department committee before used in classes.

Pam Holtz, the instructor who taught the course in which the novel was used said, "I taught the book for two reasons, style of writing and satire. This was an advanced class. Satire is difficult to teach."

She also said that no one had approached her about use of the book.

LaSotta stated that he made the original decision to use the book and said its use was "an error."

Clarence Lacny, principal at the high school said "The book wasn't used to expose kids to obscenity."

He also said that parents who object to other books should fill out a form so they may be reviewed by the building principal and with those concerned in the department. He said "The first obligation is to discuss it with the teacher."

Cooley stated after the meeting that filling out a form to re-consider a book doesn't automatically remove a book from the program.

ROGER PROCTOR

"Where there's a will..."

If you own a car, a house or a savings account, you should have a will.

Your estate, large or small, will have to be administered by someone. Without a will, the state, through the courts, will appoint an administrator. Your estate is distributed, by the law of the state, at his discretion and direction. This could possibly be against your own personal wishes and might or might not be in the best interests of your wife and family.

With a will, however, you appoint your own administrator and may designate the waiving of bond he may be obligated by law to post. You direct the distribution of your estate.

With a will, you save your estate considerable time and money. You are assured that your estate will not be handled by strangers, but by people you know and trust.

How do you make a will? First, see your lawyer. He has the forms, knows the requirements of the state, and probably enough of your personal affairs to be of great help in preparing for future management control of the estate.

You may change your will, as you wish and whenever circumstances require it. You may also include provision for funeral arrangements as part of the will, if you so desire. We can provide consulting, without obligation, on this aspect of your will, but only this particular aspect.

This is one of a series of brief articles we hope will be helpful to you. You may ask questions privately or publicly through this newspaper column.

200 Years of Religious Freedom

Historians credit John Calvin and his Presbyterian system with the virtual founding of the American republic. From 1562 to the Revolution, Presbyterians were prominent in promoting colonial America.

Because of their leadership and influence, some historians call the American Revolution the Presbyterian Revolution. Twelve of them signed the Declaration of Independence!

By the early 1800's, Presbyterians were aggressive in missionary activity at home and abroad. Home missionary zeal brought Presbyterianism to Tecumseh in 1825.

From Jefferson County, New York, came General Brown and 15 families to settle Tecumseh in 1824. Mrs. Brown was a Presbyterian. Her pastor in New York had been the Rev. Noah M. Wells.

When the Browns came to Tecumseh he was pastor of the First Presbyterian Church in Detroit. He rode horseback over Indian trails to visit the Browns in the Fall of 1825.

On Sunday, he was asked to conduct the first public worship service ever held in Tecumseh. Brown's Tavern was used for a church. Every member of the community attended except two — a sick person and his watcher.

During the next year the Board of Home Missions sent Circuit Rider the Rev. Frontis from Monroe. Presbyterianism was planted in Tecumseh and began to give leadership, influence, and labors of love and necessity to build the town.

The growing town wanted regular religious nurture and asked the Board of Home Missions for a missionary. The Rev. Alanson Darwin of Shelby, New York, was sent to make a survey. His efforts caused a popular request for his appointment as organizing pastor. The Board so appointed him, and he began on September 1, 1827. He actually organized the church then, but territorial government red tape delayed "the incorporation of the body politic by the name of The First Presbyterian Church of Tecumseh" to April 6, 1828.

The Rev. Alanson Darwin died in the malaria plague of 1831. The final resting place of his body is in Section J-10 of Brookside Cemetery. In 1975, the Church placed a marker on his hitherto unmarked grave.

Presbyterian growth has caused three major building programs. The first two were located on Maumee St. just north of, and on the side of, the present city hall. Judge Stillman Blanchard donated the original site. The original Session House still exists as a private residence on the south side of W. Cummins at Adrian St. The present buildings were dedicated on March 31, 1869, and March 21, 1971. A renovation program is just getting under way.

Throughout the life of Tecumseh the Presbyterians have always been involved in its structures and programs for growth politically, economically, culturally, and commercially.

Teenage Volunteer Program Renewed

by KATHY BROWN

The Herrick Memorial Hospital Auxiliary sponsored "Candy Striper" program for teenage volunteers has had a rebirth this year. The group, now known as the "Teenage Hospital Volunteers," is open to boys as well as girls.

This year the program organized in February with Mrs. Kay Walper as chairman from the auxiliary. Nineteen teens, including two boys and 17 girls volunteer at least four hours per week. They assist patients in such tasks as making beds, serving trays, feeding patients, and writing letters.

Each student is assigned to a nurses' aide and works along side her. Students were also given three days of two hour orientation classes to learn manual and psychological skills to assist hospital patients.

Beulah Morris, R.N. is cooperating with Mrs. Walper to give the students opportunities to become familiar with hospital procedure. Mrs. Walper noted students with maturity to see what has to be done are those who usually stick with the program.

Many students volunteer to find out more about health careers. Many medical schools now require prospective students to have had hospital experience.

Traditionally, the teenage program has numbered about 19 students with a record membership of 35 participating in 1971. Reason the group disbanded may have been the building program at the hospital or the competition from the Vo-Tech student job coop program.

"I think it is unusual for them to want to sign-up for this program because they aren't paid, yet they must be on time, stick to the dress code and are expected to see a need and do errands patients can't do for themselves yet have to be done. They are a nice bunch of teenagers and I think they should be recognized for their community service," remarked Mrs. Walper.

Name Candy Striper originated from the red and white pinstripe uniforms worn by volunteers. Teens must buy their own uniforms: pinafores for the girls, jackets for the boys. Special name tags also identify the volunteers.

Franklin Supervisor Platt Highlights Township Meeting

TIPTON — Richard W. Platt, supervisor of Franklin Township highlighted business at the annual township meeting.

The planning commission is revising the zoning ordinance defeated in March 1975 to better suit the needs of the township. Kent Mesarar is chairman, Ken VanDoren is vice-chairman and Charles Manley is secretary. Other Township Planning Commission members are: David Williams, Dan VanValkenburg, Norman Ries, Robert Sage, Gerald Jewell and Wallace Wilkins. Commission meets at least once a month, first Mondays at 8 p.m. in the township hall.

A state land use bill presently in the House of Representatives calls for the state to prepare a land use plan for any township without one. Platt believes the present 15-year-old township zoning ordinance should be updated.

The newly created township parks and recreation committee is studying the need for recreational facilities for all ages. A survey of all facilities is being made. The township may apply for grants of 50 percent of the cost of any approved project under the Land and Water Conservation Fund Act of 1965.

Committee members are Mary Lou Munger, Barbara Johnston, Ruth Ann Nortley, John Wisner, Gerald Jewell and Fred Karpo, acting chairman. Fred Shoemaker, professional planner from Region II Planning Commission, works with the committee.

Thelma Swarts is chairman of the Bicentennial Committee with Irene Wisner as vice-chairman. The Rev. Max Bailey is secretary-treasurer and Carol Tuckerman is correspondent. The history of the township will be compiled in a book for sale. July 10, 1976 is the all day celebration. A family picnic with games, displays, old cars, machinery, engines and other historical displays will highlight the day.

The Township Board decided to join with nine other townships for a sanitary sewer and wastewater treatment plant study. Study is made under Sec. 201 of the Environmental Protection Act of 1972. The federal government pays for 80 percent for the study and construction costs.

Total cost of the study engineering firm is William and Works of Grand Rapids. Franklin's share is uncertain due to the area of township involved. If only Evans and Sand Lakes are included approximate cost will be $1,500.

Other townships involved are Liberty, Hanover, Columbia and Norvell in Jackson County, Rollin, Cambridge, and Woodstock in Lenawee County and Somerset Township in Hillsdale County.

Franklin Township Board and County Road Commission discussed work programs for the year. Unusual heavy snow and less monies from state gas tax, due to less consumption, seems to have the county in a financial crisis. Effects all undoubtedly concern maintenance of local roads, reported Franklin Township supervisor Richard Platt.

Construction in Franklin Township for this year will include: replacing a narrow bridge just south of M-50 on Carson Hwy. with a 50 ft. x 90 inch pipe, cost of $5,800, half paid by the County. Construction of Carson Hwy. from M-50 to Munger Rd., cost of $12,900; Whelan Rd. from Tipton Hwy. to Beebe Rd., cost $13,800. Teachout Rd. from Beebe to Pentecost, cost of $28,250 of which Adrian and Franklin Townships and the county will each pay one third.

The township board agreed to have stone put on Breyman Rd.; cost $2,600. Two other projects call for asphalt: Evans Trail south of U.S. 12 and Musgrove Trail off of Evans Trail. These roads will be done on an assessment basis with the township paying a portion.

Accident Correction

The Herald incorrectly reported last week an accident involving Michele Jahner, 17, of 5200 E. Monroe Rd. and a truck owned by Haeussler Construction Co.

The traffic accident occurred April 9 on W. Chicago at Union St. when the truck ran into the rear of a car operated by Miss Jahner — not Miss Jahner running into the rear of the truck as reported.

Driver of the truck left the scene and was still unknown to police earlier this week.

JUST BEFORE DARK

The days just keep getting longer and longer, don't they? Oh, I realize this happens every year but, never-the-less, it is still one of the many exciting aspects of spring. Of course, here in Florida no matter how long or short the day when it ends, it ends. There is no lovely long lingering twilight. And, to a Michigander, that seems strange.

I suppose it would be an exaggeration to say that it is light one minute and dark the next — an exaggeration but not much of a one. Just lately we have noticed that this slight pause between day and night has been very busy.

A week or so ago we were having dinner on the porch as usual. The sun was setting in a clear sky — pretty but nothing spectacular. The edge of the island was dark but there was still enough brightness in the sky so that the water of the lake was lighted.

Suddenly we noticed a little squatty bird sneaking along the edge of the island. It was just the silhouette that we saw and actually the reflection was easier to see than the bird himself. Fortunately the strawberries we were having for dessert waited patiently while we bird-watched.

Slowly, cautiously, carefully the bird stalked — he was right at the edge, sometimes his feet were in the water but other steps were on the shore. Twice we saw his longish neck and bill dart out and grab something from the water.

He was crouched down so the reach was not great and probably he was 'dining' on tiny minnows, water-bugs or insects, perhaps even tadpoles. Finally he waded into a swarm of 'mess or something.' He stood in one spot and made at least half-a-dozen jabs at the surface of the water. Little Green was having a good dinner!

Oh yes, we knew right away that the bird we were watching was a green heron. His size and actions told us. We could see no color or markings but the identification was easy, and sure. This is the smallest of the herons and has the shortest neck and legs.

We were amused that even his actions looked grumpy. I hope these birds do not have the bad dispositions and horrible tempers that I have always attributed to them but, as of this dictating, I have seen or heard nothing to change my mind.

Whatever it was that Little Green was catching at that one particular spot was finally either all eaten or decided to move away. Anyway, the bird made one last lunge and almost lost his balance. He had apparently been aiming at something which was almost out of reach.

As he lunged forward he actually had to quickly raise a wing to keep from falling in the lake. How embarrassing!

As he righted himself and resumed stalking along the island's edge he almost acted embarrassed. In a moment he stopped again — as he stared down into the water 'willing' something tasty to swim or wiggle by it was not a bit hard to picture a scowling, foreheaded-wrinkled and eyebrows-drawn-together, from on his face. If one could say a bird was glowering he certainly was.

Other late visitors are fast becoming regulars. Great blue herons. Practically every day, just as it is getting almost too dark to see, one or two of these huge birds come gliding down to the lake.

At first we could hardly believe our eyes but now we find ourselves waiting for the last-of-the-day appearance. Always a majestic bird, they are even more so when all one can see is the black silhouette as they come silently to the lake.

Oh, how broad those wings are. Usually, if they land at the edge of the island, we can just barely see them but, if they go to the far side of the lake, they completely disappear.

These are never noisy birds — at best their voices are hoarse, guttural type squawks — and during the day their quietness is taken for granted; somehow though to have such big birds come during the last weak moments of daylight and utter not a sound is a trifle eerie.

Now we wonder if the great blues are apt to grab a snack before going to bed or is this something special? Could it be that we have simply not noticed this last visit of the day or could it be something peculiar to the time of year?

Perhaps now that Mom's tree is full of baby great blue herons the adults must extend their working hours. Certainly with all those insatiable appetites it is not hard to believe that the parents are pitting in extra hours and trying to keep the kids happy.

Rug Hooking Is Displayed at Meeting

CLINTON — The Art of Rug Hooking was described for members of the Clinton Woman's Club by Mrs. Robert VanderMolen of Manchester, at a meeting April 14.

She exhibited several designs of hooked articles, including a large oriental style rug she had made.

Mrs. James Chellman presided in the absence of the president, Mrs. Richard Broniman.

Members are asked to make reservations with Mrs. Alfred Cowhy for the May 12 spring luncheon at Bauer Manor, phone 456-4645.

Luncheon speaker will be Dorn Diehl, state executive director of the Agriculture and Conservation Service.

Refreshment table was decorated with an Easter egg tree, flanked by ceramic chickens and rabbits on an orchid luncheon cloth.

Mrs. Thomas Pence presided at the coffee service. Committee included Mrs. E. John Hoelzer, Mrs. Paul Hoyt and Mrs. Dan Reilly.

Final meeting of the season will be a June 9 picnic at 1 p.m. at the Community Center.

Quess Who's Coming for Dinner

Wagon train riders have their own supplies but it has been suggested that communities host the train with a complimentary meal. Because the wagon train continues to grow as it travels eastward, picking up contingents from each state, it is impossible at this point to estimate how many a community should expect to feed. However Judy Dryer of the Michigan Train said only members of the National Train and official Michigan train, with special identification, will be fed by the communities. Local planners suggest that state and local law enforcement officials receive complimentary meals. Numbers to feed should be known a week or two before the train arrives.

Ticket sales will benefit Clinton's four local churches and the Clinton Chamber of Commerce.

Charlie Peart, new vice-president, presided in the absence of the new president, Kathy Thomas.

Peart volunteered to make the contact with the Gladwin Mayor for the Mayor Exchange Day activities. Clinton's president Clayton Strolle plans to visit Gladwin, May 17.

Clinton Area Jaycee President Warren Starks and Charles Steffens, and three other JC members were present to enlist support from the Chamber for the Jaycee's effort to use the Community Center premises at no cost for their meetings.

Chamber members suggested that the Jaycees should repeat their request to the Center Board.

Bicentennial Committee Chairman Peart reported on the plans for the Wagon Train visit, and explained that there would be scrolls available at the local businesses for area residents to sign for delivery to Valley Forge July 4.

Society Plans Future Events

CLINTON — Mrs. Geordie Poland, co-chairman for the St. Dominic's Altar Society Christmas Bazaar outlined plans for that event at a salad dinner meeting recently. Bazaar is set for Dec. 3, 4.

The bazaar will be held as additional project and the Society will also participate in the Clinton Fall Festival with an apple three booth.

Mrs. Poland has foam filler for bazaar items that members are making.

Mrs. Carlos Knisely reports that the apple cookbook is now at the printer and will be available for the Fall Festival.

A pre-Easter bake sale was arranged for April 17.

Mrs. Mark Bauer purchased an Easter basket made by Mrs. E.J. Kehoe.

Hand crocheted rabbits and chickens were also sold at the meeting.

Next meeting will be May 10 at the Community Center.

Budget Set

CLINTON — Clinton Township Library Board adopted a budget of $27,516 for the 1976-77 fiscal year, at a meeting April 13.

Budget is about the same as last year, with minor adjustments, and includes a six percent increase plus three percent cost of living raise for employees.

Budget was submitted to Township Supervisor Harry Comstock for approval.

This project has been approved by the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) under the direction of the Federal Water Pollution Control Act.

The state grant plus the Federal grant represents 80 percent of the estimated project cost.

Bi-centennial Journey

Common Things Gone
by Thelma Younglove

BRITTON — If our grandparents could take a ride around the area they'd find many, many things missing that were so common in their day.

Where are the (zig-zag) rail fences that were used on practically every farm and lot?

What fine shelter rail fences provided for wild life. Rail fences were excellent places for song birds to build their nests and raise their young. Rabbits found protection not to be had in open farm land.

In early spring beautiful wild flowers blossomed in the corners of the fences. A little later there were quantities of asparagus to be gathered for the table.

Then in season plump, juicy, black raspberries could be picked. If there had been sufficient rain there would be enough berries for pies, jelly and canning.

How easy it was to climb over those fences. Rails were spaced just right to get ones toes in between.

Other familiar things missing include the rural schools and the rural churches and church sheds. The Ridgeway M.E. Church, Britton M.P. Church and Britton Christian (now called Britton Congregational Christian Church) all had long church sheds open on one side.

Sheds at the Britton Christian Church were at the south end of the church property and extended the full width of the lot. Church goers tied their horses in the sheds to protect them from the weather.

Towns, villages, and some private homes provided hitching posts. Some homes had fancy posts and loading blocks (a cement block or slab of stone used when getting in or out of a buggy).

Many localities had large watering tanks where travelers could water their horses.

Practically every home had a wood shed. Some attached to the rear of the house. If not attached located near the back door. Most wood sheds were about the size of a one-car garage. The building served as a storage space for stove wood and kindling.

Many farms had windmills. Some were located out in the pasture, but most were near the farm buildings. A few windmills had a building around the base of the derrick. It was known as a mill house or pump house. Most windmills were used for pumping water. A few were equipped to grind feed too.

Windmills were of use only when the wind blew. Later farmers connected a gasoline engine onto the pump jack to be certain to have a supply of water at all times.

Almost every home had either an outdoor cellar or an attached cellar. The attached cellar, sometimes called a cool room or Michigan cellar was a well insulated, unheated room built as a unit of the house but usually on a lower level than the main part of the house.

The outdoor cellar was a small building located near the kitchen door. It was well insulated usually with saw dust, to keep the building cool in summer and prevent freezing in cold weather.

Both types of cellars were used to provide storage for canned foods, fruits, and vegetables.

Some senior citizens may recall the bridges with plank flooring. Oh, what a clatter the planks made when a vehicle passed over them.

If our grandparents enumerated the things that have practically disappeared during the last 50 years they would list — zig-zag fences, picket fences, one-room rural schools, rural churches in the Britton area (DeSpelder, East Free Methodist, Prarie Free Methodist) church sheds, hitching posts, watering troughs, windmills, farm lanes, pump houses, wood sheds, privies, bridges with plank flooring, and the big stately maples that once lined the streets and highways.

Looking ahead to the future, what changes can we expect to take place in the next 50 years?

To the Editor:

In behalf of the Kiwanis Club of Tecumseh, I want to especially extend our sincere "thanks" to you and the staff of The Tecumseh Herald for the excellent cooperation and coverage given us regarding the promotion of our 8th Annual Used Merchandise Sale held April 1, 2, 3, 1976.

We are sure that this media publicity-promotion greatly aided and lended to our sale success with the resultant exceeding of our goal ($1,000) in net proceeds by some $200.00.

Your assistance and "service" to our Club is very much appreciated and as a result of such and the level of proceeds of our local Club can better serve the community needs through its projects of service to both adults and youth.

Sincerely,
Dr. Jerry Wolf

LETTER TO THE EDITOR:

It is always a pleasure to hear from people that defend city government. But it is also hard to accept a blast against constructive complaints. This is one reason Tecumseh is a good city to live and work.

Let us not forget that criticism against city government and federal government is the one thing we are now celebrating in 1976. Two hundred years ago the great USA was founded by people that didn't agree the way things were going.

So more power to both—criticize and defend, but never forget Watergate. It could happen here.

To the Editor:

You Told Us
by Kathy Brown

Scrubbing off 100 years of dirt isn't easy. I learned this after checking the city tax assessment rolls in the basement of city hall Friday afternoon. My mission was to determine the approximate building date of the Rita Blake home, 309 W. Chicago Blvd., which will be the Designer's Open House, May 8-24.

The mission was a success. Turns out the home was built between 1872 and 1875 by a grocer-hardware dealer, Jerome B. Weller. His shop was located, until about 1880, at the corner of North Evans and W. Chicago Blvd., present location of the United Savings Bank. Where Weller came from and where he moved after he sold his home to Jenkins, circa 1880, is still a mystery.

To anyone with further information about J.B. Weller, I offer this reward: Tell me where to find the book, papers, letters, etc. and I'll dig through the dust, to save you the cleaning bill.

Macon Dialog
by Linda Phillips 423-5213

I need a fix—not the kind you "shoot" or "pop", though.

What I need is a rickety table with 16 alternating coats of paint and varnish, a straw hat adorned with plastic fruit, and-or a miniature replica of the Statue of Liberty that holds toothpicks in the torch.

Yup, it's that time again. It was a long, bargainless winter, but the season is finally here: garage sales have begun!

I, like many other Americans, was not born addicted to this phenomenon of the '70s. I wasn't even aware that I had a problem until it was too late.

It all starts innocently enough. Your mother-in-law takes you to your first garage sale. You discover what a kick scrounging through someone's accumulative junk can be.

Then you accompany a well-meaning friend to a basement sale. There you dicker with the owner on the price of a sled with one runner. She comes down 50c, and you're riding high!

Next, you venture out on your own and attend 14 porch and yard sales in rapid succession. Looking for bigger thrills, you turn to church-sponsored rummage sales.

Then, too, will come the day you're driving 70 mph on the expressway, see signs and arrows pointing to a garage sale on the service drive above you, and without hesitation, take the next exit.

Before you know it, you've purchased a set of storm windows, a 200-gallon hot water heater and a fruit tree sprayer. (So what if you live in an apartment, you rationalize. They may come in handy some day, and besides—they were such bargains!!)

One day you wake up and you know you're really hooked. You've been needing larger and larger doses of junk to satisfy your cravings, and there can be only one source—the multiple-family sale.

Frantically you search the classified pages for multi-sales. You're in luck! There's one 42-, a 27-, and 29-family sales in a single weekend!

You gas up your car, hitch on your trailer, pack your sandwiches, count your quarters, and off you go!

The binge surpasses your wildest expectations—the highlight being that you were able to convince the ladies working at the 27-family sale that you had your hand on the rubber raft patch kit (only 75c!) before the man who swore he did!

Unfortunately, there is usually someone who will rain on your parade by trying to bring you back to reality.

Two days later when you return from the multis, all your husband can say is, "What are we going to do with a six-player croquet set that only has three balls?"

By now it's evident that you've overdosed. "Share," you reply with a glassy look in your eyes.

Garden Club Meets

Julie McCaughey, Lenawee County home economist, was guest speaker for the Town and Country Garden Club April meeting at the home of Mrs. Barbara Schrader with Mrs. Irene Piskoti as co-hostess.

Mrs. McCaughey presented slides on the proper materials to use in canning and preserving fruits and vegetables.

Members of the Town and Country Garden Club, Little Garden Club of Tecumseh and the Tecumseh Garden Club will distribute tree seedlings at the elementary schools on Arbor Day, April 30. A seedling will be planted at each school in a ceremony commemorating Arbor Day.

Louise Trainor prepared the monthly table arrangement, "Spring Is in the Air."

Next meeting of the Town and Country Garden Club will be May 5 at the home of Mrs. Neil Pearson with Barbara Croft and Barbara Feldman as co-hostesses.

Kindergarten Enrollment Is Scheduled

Parents of children who will be five years old on or before Dec. 1, 1976, residing in the Tecumseh Public School District, are urged to enroll their children for Kindergarten during the week of May 10-14.

An evening meeting and program will be at the Patterson Elementary School May 12, at 7:30 p.m. All parents are invited to enroll their Kindergarten children at this meeting.

A special invitation is extended to those parents who have not had a Kindergarten pupil attend the Tecumseh Public Schools.

The meeting is for parents, and baby-sitting will be provided for pre-school children in one of the first grade rooms at the Patterson School.

For the convenience of those parents who do not wish to enroll their children at the night meeting, the following elementary school offices will be open during the week of May 10-14 from 8:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. to receive Kindergarten registrations: Herrick Park, Ridgeway, Sutton, Patterson, Tipton, Tecumseh Acres.

When registering a child in school for the first time, it is necessary to present a birth certificate.

The Michigan Department of Public Health, Office of Vital and Health Statistics said that at this time lag between receipt of application and mailing of the document from their office is about six weeks. This delay has been caused by increased requests and low staff levels. Parents are encouraged, if applying by mail, to be sure to give all necessary information.

The infomation to supply is: child's name, date and place of birth; the father's and mother's name; including the mother's maiden name. It is also important to enclose the $2 initial fee plus $.50 for each additional copy.

Most of these documents may be obtained from the county registrar or in the larger cities, from the city registrar where the child was born.

Proper forms for immunization will be issued to the parents at the time of enrollment. These forms are to be filled out and signed by your doctor and returned by you to the Kindergarten teacher the first day of school in the fall.

BIG BAND SOUNDS OF Glen Miller, Tommy Dorsey and other old time favorites will fill Tecumseh High School gym Saturday night at 8 p.m. when the Tecumseh Public Schools Stage Band will serenade its dance audience. Admission will help repay the band boosters who financed the blazer uniforms. The Tecumseh Stage Band is directed by Gerald Bach and is rapidly gaining popularity and notariety as one of the best in the area. Saturday's nostalgic dance will kickoff a tour for the band. Left to right are back row: Brad Sharp, Ed Philo, Scott Ives, Jesse Higgins; middle: Lisa Baker, Gregg Jaqua, Jeff Southwell, Linda Staples, Brien Bird, Marty Gagneur; front: Dale Bird, Mark Deming, Bill Silberhorn, Tim Ries, Tina Feezel, Gerald Bach, director.

17-Year-Old Caught in Act at Market B&E

A 17-year-old Tecumseh youth was caught and arrested early last Friday morning after a breaking and entering at Tecumseh Country Market, corner of Russell and Occidental Rds.

It marked the third B&E there in less than a week.

In the county jail and under $5,000 bond is Ino D. Banda, 804 Shady Lane. A 14-year-old juvenile, believed involved in the burglary, also has been apprehended.

Banda was seized shortly after throwing rocks through the front glass door of the business about 12:45 Friday morning. William Gatt, 5337 Green Hwy. and a friend of the store's owner, George Heeman, was inside, armed with a shot gun.

According to the police report, Gatt called the local police department when the rocks smashed the door. He had just completed the call when Banda and another party entered the building.

Gatt covered Banda at the cash register but the other party skipped out despite Gatt's orders to halt. Officers arrived at the scene and took Banda into custody.

In the previous two B&Es Monday and Tuesday of last week, Heeman's losses totaled over $800, mostly in liquor, beer and destruction.

A search at Banda's residence netted officers 148 empty beer cans and little else. It's not known whether the empty cans were originally beer taken at the Country Market earlier in the week.

Pupils Plant Trees Friday

On Arbor Day, Friday, April 30, all fourth grade school children in the Tecumseh School District will receive a sugar maple seedling to plant, courtesy of the three Tecumseh garden clubs.

Tree planting will be demonstrated by garden club members at several of the schools.

This Bicentennial year the Tecumseh garden clubs are taking a census of trees planted April 30. Residents who plant trees that day should notify one of the clubs: The Little Garden Club, Town and Country Garden Club or Tecumseh Garden Club. Residents will be given a red, white and blue ribbon to mark their own "Liberty Tree."

A hundred years ago elms were planted for the Centennial to commemorate the symbol of American Independence, the famed Boston "Liberty Tree." But many of these have been taken by disease.

Other garden club projects in town related to this Bicentennial Arbor Day are: designating trees in the Tecumseh School District of unusual beauty and old age by a red, white and blue ribbon (Contact Mrs. Neil Pearson or Mrs. M. McIntosh to nominate a tree); permanent labeling of these trees with botanical and common names; placing of cannisters in downtown businesses for donations for downtown beautification with trees; and lighting of the Tecumseh "Liberty Tree" at city hall on April 5.

HS Cafeteria Closes May 7

Final hot lunch day at Tecumseh High School will be Friday, May 7, according to Gene Cooley, assistant superintendent.

Construction of a $1.5 million addition at the school will make it necessary to close the cafeteria until next fall. Cooley says officials are confident that construction will be far enough along next September to re-open the cafeteria.

Approximately 800 to 900 students eat lunch at the cafeteria. After May 7, they will have to bring their lunch, go home or eat at a Tecumseh restaurant.

Petition Out

Richard Heglin, 1103 N. River Acres Court, has joined a growing list of potential candidates who will be seeking three seats on the Tecumseh school board in June.

If he files his petition along with other petitions being circulated, nine candidates will be on the ballot.

Band Concert Friday Night

The Tecumseh Junior High Bands will present its annual Spring Concert April 30 at 8 p.m. in the high school gymnasium.

Featured will be the seven grade and the eighth grade bands, directed by Robert Schoof. Also featured will be the newly formed Junior High Stage Band, directed by Gerald Bach.

The Seventh Grade Band will present a program entirely by American composers, ranging from such popular tunes as "We've Only Just Begun" and "25 or 6 to 4" to "Kentucky-1800."

The Junior High Stage Band, a newly formed volunteer group which meets one day a week after school, will make its concert debut playing several jazz numbers.

The Eighth Grade Band, which recently became the first band in Tecumseh history to receive a I rating at a band festival, will feature two of the numbers performed at the festival. Program will also include "Bad, Bad Leroy Brown," the theme from the television show, "M.A.S.H.," and "Sentry Boys," a concert march.

Sitter, 16, and Neighbor Save Three Youngsters in Burt St. House Fire

A 16-year-old baby sitter and neighbor avoided what could have been a tragedy late Saturday night in a $15,000 fire at the Wayne Sisty residence at 111 Burt St.

According to Tecumseh firemen, Mary Shiels, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Shiels, 515 E. Pottawatamie St., was babysitting for the Sistys when fire broke out in the kitchen.

She was in the living room at the time, watching TV with Peter Fyvie, age 2, and Allison Sisty, 3. Kristina Sisty, 5, was asleep upstairs.

Upon discovering the fire, she pushed the two youngsters with her out the rear door and then went upstairs to get Kristina. By the time she attempted to return to the first floor, fire in the kitchen blocked the stairs.

She then kicked out an upstairs window and called for help. Harry Snyder, 115 Burt, heard her, brought over a ladder and carried the young Sisty girl to safety. Miss Shiels followed them down the ladder, and all were outside when firemen arrived.

Fire chief Wallace MacGeorge believes the fire started in a vent fan over the range. The kitchen was practically gutted and two rooms upstairs were extensively damaged.

State Awards Bid for Boulevard Work

Cunningham-Gooding Company has been awarded construction work that will widen W. Chicago Blvd. from Sunset to the west city limits.

A pre-construction meeting is scheduled with the State Highway Department in Jackson on Friday. Final plans, including when the work will start and completion date, will be made.

Otherwork on Chicago Blvd. will include a larger intersection at Maumee St. and widening S. Union St. at Chicago.

Letter Drive for Clinton Post Starts

CLINTON — Clinton and Blissfield State Police posts may be closed and a single post in Adrian be established, according to Major Lloyd Brevard, commanding officer of the uniform division of the Michigan State Police.

Such a move has been under consideration for the past three years, but will only be made if it can be proven that police protection in Lenawee County will not suffer.

Due to the possible Adrian post, a replacement will not be named for Lt. Donald Phillippi, Commander of the Clinton post, who is retiring May 14.

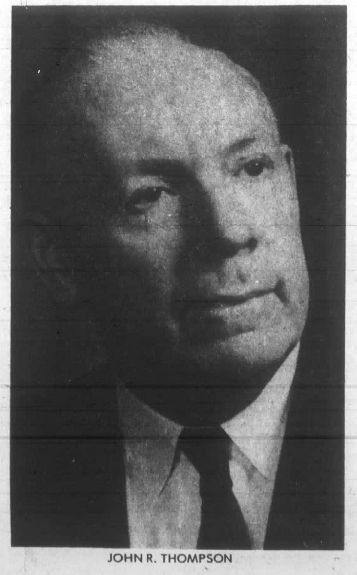
Lt. James McGaffigan, commander of the Blissfield post will be controlling officer for both posts until a decision is reached.

Clinton citizens have already begun a letter writing campaign to legislatures and other authorities in an effort to emphasize the need to maintain a post in Clinton.

Long described as one of the most heavily traveled routes in the state, patrolling of US-12 has long been a major part of the duties of the Clinton post officers.

SERVICES HELD SUNDAY FOR BANKER

John Thompson Era Spanned 30 Years at United Savings



JOHN R. THOMPSON

Tecumseh and friends paid their respects for the last time Sunday afternoon when funeral services were held at the Purse Funeral Home for John R. Thompson, 86, who was "Mr. Banker" here for 30 years.

He died early last Thursday evening in Bixby Hospital. Although fairly active in recent years, he had been in failing health for sometime and had been a patient at the Adrian hospital for over three weeks.

The Rev. Edmond Watkins officiated at the service, and burial was in Mr. Thompson's hometown of Ray, Indiana.

Many know the history of the Thompson era at United Savings Bank of Tecumseh. He was here in the 1930s and depression years, the war years of the '40s, and era after. As head of the largest bank in Lenawee County, he was sought after for both financial aid and advice.

He started here with a bank of resources of less than $600,000. When he retired, it had grown to nearly $20 million.

Events leading to the Thompson era started in Septemper 1931 when the Tecumseh State Savings Bank and the Lilley State Bank reopened as the United Savings Bank of Tecumseh. It lasted less than three weeks, closing on Oct. 19.

The bank was reorganized and opened for business on Jan. 20, 1933, and less than two months later, Mr. Thompson was retained a its cashier. He already was a veteran banker, having experience at Fremont, Reed City and Coldwater.

USB was under a moratorium-trust fund agreement with its depositors at the time, a moratorium that was lifted in 1938. Directors then were Dr. E.E. Hendershot, president; George Smith, vice president; Karl M. Schneider, secretary; and Guy Belding, funeral director who later became the bank's second president, and John R. Nyland and Will Swick. All have since passed away.

Control and guidance of the bank actually were in the hand of Mr. Thompson.

He held the position of cashier for 16 years before the title of vice president was added, Jan. 11, 1949. On Jan. 21, 1958, he was elected president. He held this post for four years before being elected chairman of the board on April 11, 1962. His banking career, spanning 55 years, ended with his retirement as board chairman on Jan. 15, 1963.

Shortly after his retirement, he started the Thompson Loan Company, a business he operated for a few years before selling it to its present owner, Local Finance.

During the Thompson era at USB, the old hotel was acquired as was the E.J. Lowery building. The bank plant was expanded and facilities modernized.

Mr. Thompson, member of the Presbyterian Church, was a former member of the Rotary Club, the first president of the Community Fund Board and the first president of its successor, the Tecumseh Community Fund Foundation, Inc. From the beginning, he was a booster of the Foundation which since has provided the community with several fine facilities for its residents.

He was born on Dec. 19, 1889 at Ray, son of Alexander and Alice Thompson. He would have been 87 in December.

On Sept. 5, 1917, he married the former Ruth Van Aman in Garrett, Ind.

Survivors, besides his wife, are a son, Dr. John R. Thompson, Charleston, Ill.; daughter, Ruth Anne, at home; sister, Mrs. Irene Sampson, Spokane, Wash.; six grandchildren and six great-grandchildren.

A sister and brother preceded him death.

Should your wife have a will, too?

Generally, if your wife owns property, solely or jointly, or if she is heir to an estate, she should have a will of her own. This applies in quite a few other instances, as well.

It can happen that both husband and wife may be victims of a fatal accident. The husband may have designated his wife as the major beneficiary of his estate in his will. Without the wife's having a will of her own, distribution of her share of the estate will not have been provided for. Her share may be subject to laws of the state, thus tieing it up for long periods and at a time when funds may be needed. Even then, when the affairs are concluded, distribution of the wife's share may not be handled according to her wishes. Such an unfortunate situation can cause much heartbreak, costly delays and consumption of time on the parts of the heirs.

If the wife is a business partner, active or silent, in a family business, it is to the firm's advantage to have its business-continuance safeguarded by the owners' each having a will.

After the man has made his own will, with the assistance of lawyers, he should discuss the possibilities of a separate will for the wife. It certainly will help to protect your own estate from being improperly dissolved after your death(s).

After all, be sure to consult your attorneys in these matters of wills. We have seen so many bad situations arise, simply because there were no wills made or because they were improperly executed by amateurs. So be sure to put your futures in the hands of a professional legal counsel for this.

Two Dog Bites Reported

Although it was a relatively quiet week for Tecumseh police, officers did respond to two dog-bitting incidents.

Last Thursday, 4-year-old Tonya Link, daughter of William Link, 5300 Raisin, was bitten in the mouth while playing with a small dog at 310 W. Logan.

On Monday, Scott Day, 14, son of John R. Day, 809 Adrian, was bitten by a dog owned by Gerald Eaton while playing at the Eaton residence.

Both dogs had their shots, but owners were advised to confine their dogs the required ten days

On April 22, Floyd Beatty, 701 Russell Rd. reported that the windshield and antenna on his van were broken.

Police observed Arthur W. Carney, 410 W. Logan, at 2 a.m. Saturday in the 100 block of E. Chicago. He was arrested for being drunk in a public place.

Sue Henning, Britton, reported Monday the larceny of the wheel covers on her car. Incident occurred over the weekend.

Danny Johns, of Adrian, reported the theft of the outside mirror on his Chevy Monday. His car was parked on the 109 E. Logan St. parking lot.

Garage Sale License 'Bologna' Is Attacked, Stage Band Thanked

To the editor:

I can not believe that the people of Tecumseh are going to let the City Council get away with this garage sale license bologna.

I'm sure that Cal Zorn or any of the City Council never had to buy their family's used clothes from garage sales, but however there are people in Tecumseh called middle and lower class, in a much lower income bracket than the council members.

We who have children who outgrow their clothes a couple of times a year cannot afford to go out and buy new clothes twice a year.

What harm can people do to the community by having garage sales and selling used but good clothes to people who need them for a fraction of the price they cost when new? There is no tax charged at rummage sales so therefore in my opinion there should be no license required.

If there are people who are using garage sales as a business, then they should be fined or made to purchase a permit if their sale runs over a month.

To me, this is just another way for the council to get their fingers in the pot. It's a rip off for the people of Tecumseh.

If garage sales are hurting the downtown business, maybe their prices are too high to begin with.

The Council should take a ride around Tecumseh and see the empty houses for sale all over town. Why are all of these people moving out of town?

What comes next from our fair city? Will we have to get a permit if we flush our toilets too many times a month?

Of course this is just my opinion.

What do you other people think? All I can say to the council is don't knock it until you try it. Take a day and go out "junking." You might even find you enjoy it. It's a nice cheap entertainment and a good way to spend a day.

To the Editor:

We would like to thank the Tecumseh Stage Band and its director, Gerald Bach, for its performance last Thursday evening at the Britton-Macon High School gymnasium.

This was a Band Booster sponsored activity and these young people donated their time and talent to help us raise money for new band uniforms.

It is unfortunate that most of our community missed this fine display of talent, either because of other scheduled activities or lack of knowledge of the event, as our attendance was very poor.

I would say half of the people there were Tecumseh supporters and families.

As president of the Band Boosters, I would like to apologize to the Tecumseh Stage Band for our poor attendance, and commend these 18 musicians on a fine performance.

Very truly yours,
Ardath Frayer, President

Designers Open House?

By KATHY BROWN

Tecumseh's designer house at the home of Rita Blake, 309 W. Chicago Blvd. has received a lot of publicity recently, however, some residents are still ask "what is a designers' open house?"

"Promenade the Past: A Designers' Renovation of an Historic Home" is the event to run May 8-24 at the Blake home.

Three Tecumseh civic groups are sponsoring the event: The Tecumseh Area Historical Society, the Little Garden Club and the Rotary.

The groups emphasize that the City of Tecumseh is not sponsoring the open house or contributing monetarily. The city's only involvement so far has been to dump shredded wood for mulching the landscaping. Ordinarily the city would have disposed of the shreddings.

One purpose of the open house is to raise money for community development projects. Each club will use its share for a community development project of its choice.

After the open house, the home will remain a private home.

The homeowner does not receive any profit. In this case, Mrs. Blake profits only by having her house freshly wallpapered and painted, but not in color$ or designs of her choice.

All other fixtures or furnishings used in the designers' open house are the designers' property and are installed temporarily for the period of the open house. Even the landscaping will be removed by the contributing designer.

Although Mrs. Blake is not paying these decorators, she pays the price of inconvenience since the private homeowner must completely move out her furnishings. In this case, even the kitchen sink was moved!

In most cases, the homeowner must take a temporary residence for the two or three months that the house is being prepared for and by the decorators. However, for security, Mrs. Blake will continue to reside in a section of the home.

Additional safety precaustions include fire and smoke dectors and liability insurance must be purchased by the sponsors of the open house.

One of the reasons Mrs. Blake offered her home for the designers' open house is because she is interested in selling her home which is much larger than her needs.

Sponsors of the open house are responsible to the homeowner to make sure the decorators do not alter the structure of the home.

Sponsors are responsible to the decorators to provide all publicity including printing of tickets, flyers and a commemorative booklet; contacting newspapers, radio and television; cleaning the home, scraping paint or plastering, etc., to make it ready for the decorators.

The sponsors are also responsible to decorate any portion of the house not contracted by the designers.

Volunteers recruited from the clubs will host the public tours during the hours 1-5 p.m. weekdays, 10-7 p.m. Saturdays and 1-7 p.m. Sundays.

The designers in turn are under a legal contract and must leave the house as found, except for wallpaper and paint.

Besides the donations for community development projects, the other reasons for the project include: a desire to further the goals of the Tecumseh Historic District Study Committee to keep downtown homes occupied and the neighborhood thriving.

A BUSY FRIDAY

When Oliver and Muriel suggested that they show us Clearwater and St. Petersburg we jumped at the chance. This would give us an opportunity to see places which by ourselves we would never tackle -- too much traffic for the Duncans.

But city congestion and traffic bother the Rogers not a whit and they have done so much driving down here that they have a long list of favorite places to show off. It turned out to be a grand tour of the south Pinellas peninsula.

With Oliver driving the station-wagon we headed out of Sun Valley and turned south on Hwy. 19. For a few miles we drove along a familiar route. Then a sharp right turn onto Coachman Road and we were in new country.

After driving through a few citrus groves we were suddenly into Clearwater. Straight through the busy downtown area we went to and Marda's head was almost on a swivel, trying to see everything on both sides of the street is not easy.

However, my real trouble began as we entered Memorial Causeway and headed for Clearwater Beach. What fun trying to keep track of water, boats, birds, cars, people, pretty homes, lovely landscaped yards, and interesting looking restaurants.

Of particular interest was my Aunt's favorite spot on Clearwater Beach -- nice white sand, a few clumps of palm trees, colorful sailboats, lots of people and, although it was only noontime, already there were many many cases of ouchy sunburn.

How sad that people insist upon ruining short vacations by refusing to respect this Florida sunshine.

I cannot begin to remember the bridges we crossed nor the islands we were on but it was a great drive. Beautiful views of the Gulf and oh my, so many marinas and all full of boats. All sizes imaginable. Money, money, money!

Not all was lush resort area though and between stretches of fabulous highrise condominiums there were remnants of what years ago passed as 'the places to go'. Rather sad to see.

According to the tour books there are five long and narrow islands which 'guard' the mainland and are collectively known as the Holiday Isles. They truly are.

Knowing the Duncans it will not be surprising when I say that Fort DeSota Park at the southern tip of the penninsula attracted our attention. A Howard Johnson was the source of sandwiches and across the two causeways we went to the Park. Stopping at the boat-launching site we ate, watched boats, pelicans, and gulls. Not a bad combination.

Fort DeSota, by the way, was started in 1898 but, the Spanish-American War ended before it was finished, so it has the distinction of never having fired it's guns at an enemy.

How quickly the clock runs. It was soon time to continue our tour. St. Petersburg, North on No. 19 to the very center of town, Central Avenue. Oliver drove us past the Bayfront Auditorium, a most attractive building which seats 2200 people for such events as a Lawrence Welk concert or a Bob Hope show. Then we drove out to The Pier.

A fabulous spot, it extends 2400 feet into Tampa Bay, the road runs clear to the end and then circles a square building which houses gift shops, restaurants and observation decks. Had time permitted we would have wheel-chaired a bit and then taken the elevator up to the observation decks. Something to do next year.

Heading back towards No. 19 which would eventually bring us home to Sun Valley, we again drove through some of downtown St. Petersburg. What a kick big cities are for small town folks. Not far from The Pier is Mirror Lake, quite a complete recreation center.

Never had we seen so many shuffle-board courts and, believe it or not, this also is the site of The National Shuffleboard Hall of Fame.

Just as the day went too quickly so too am I running out of room. And we saw and enjoyed so much more -- interesting old brick streets in St. Pete., jacaranda trees full of beautiful blue flowers, the old pink and white resort on the beach which has been restored and is once again catering to tourists, Eckerd College, the novel Webb City Drug Store, etc. A fine day and a busy Friday.

Chain Letters with a New Theme

Fraudulent chain letters have been around for many years, but odds are better now that you may receive one, this time with a Bicentennial theme, said Postmaster Jack Metcalf.

A recent scheme involves mailing a few dollars for 100 years to the person whose name is first on the list.

Chain letters requesting money or other items of value are non-mailable under the Federal Mail Fraud Statute. They are considered to be fraudulent because of the likelihood that they will again be broken and most participants will get nothing from their involvement.

Chain letters for recipes, post cards, etc. which do not constitute a "thing of value" under applicable law are considered mailable.

Post cards involving "good luck," chain prayers that contain a threat of bad luck to those who break the chain, etc. are prohibited because it is against the law to place threatening matter on the outside of the mail.

Postmaster Metcalf cautioned the public to be especially alert for numerous current chain letters which contain a claim that they have been approved by some legal authority for mailing. Promptly turn them into postal authorities.

200 Years of Religious Freedom

CHURCH OF CHRIST
312 W. Chicago Blvd.
Tecumseh, Mich.

Members of the Church of Christ do not conceive of themselves as a new church started near the beginning of the 19th century. Rather, the whole movement is designed to reproduce in contemporary times the church originally established on Pentecost, 30 A.D. The strength of the appeal lies in the restoration of Christ's original church.

In 1793 James O'Kelly of the Methodist Episcopal Church withdrew from the Baltimore conference. He called upon others to join him in taking the Bible as the only creed.

His influence was largely felt in Virginia and North Carolina where history records that some 7,000 communicants followed his leadership toward a return to primitive New Testament Christianity.

In 1802 a similar movement among the Baptists in New England was led by Abner Jones and Elias Smith. They were concerned about "denominational names and creeds" and decided to wear only the name Christian, taking the Bible as their only guide.

In 1804 in the state of Kentucky, Barton Stone and several other Presbyterian preachers took similar action declaring that they would take the Bible as the "only sure guide to heaven."

Thomas Campbell, and his son, Alexander, took similar steps in the year 1809. Although these four movement were completely independent in their beginnings eventually they became one strong restoration movement because of their common purpose and plea.

The local church of Christ met for the first time in Tecumseh on Dec. 7, 1952 in the basement of the home of L.S. Rucker. The church met there for four months with about four families in attendance.

In May of 1953, the former Knights of Columbus hall was rented and attendance increased to about eight families. In July 1954, the building, formerly the St. Elizabeth Catholic church, was purchased by the members. The church grew until it was needful for a larger building. Then in August of 1972, the church purchased the building that belonged to the Baptist in August of 1972, the church purchased the building that belonged to the Baptist church. The church has grown to an average attendance of 110 on Sunday morning.

During this time of growth the church has had Edward Pistole, Herald Driscoll, Merle Mackey, and Larry G. Reynolds as full-time preachers.

Reader Writes

To the Editor:

Because of recent comments published in local newspapers, the Smith-Kimball Community Center Board wishes to point out one of its rules and regulations of long standing — no alcoholic beverages are to be served in the Center building.

Representatives of the Clinton Junior Chamber of Commerce attended parts of two meetings of the Center Board requesting the use of the building with permission to serve alcoholic beverages.

At its meeting of April 1, the Board voted continuance of its rules and regulations not to allow alcoholic beverages to be served in the Center building.

On April 2, a letter to this effect was sent to the then president of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, Warren Stark, putting this decision in writing.

No organization has ever been denied the use of the Center building so long as it abides by the rules and regulations adopted by the Center Board.

The Smith-Kimball Community Center board meetings are usually held the last Thursday of the month preceding the Monday meetings of the Clinton Village Council.

The next meeting of the Center Board is on April 29 at 7:30 p.m. in the Center building.

Yours very truly,

Tecumseh's baseball squad shut out Hillsdale last Wednesday 5-0. The Tecumseh Tournament, scheduled for Saturday, was cancelled due to weather.

The Indians picked up three runs in the first inning against Hillsdale adding another run each in the fourth and fifth innings.

Hillsdale came up with just three hits to nine for Tecumseh. Each team suffered one error.

Macon Dialog

by Linda Phillips 423-5213

The Phillips menagerie is growing by leaps and bounds (I should say by baa-a-a-as, peep-peeps and arf-arfs).

Our mini-zoo now includes two dogs, five puppies, four rabbits, two cats, 12 hens, 25 chicks, two lambs, two goldfish, one gerbil and a salamander.

The other day my mother called while I was administering the 4 p.m. feeding to a day-old lamb which is temporarily quartered in our basement.

"Oh, Linda," she sighed. "I thought you were finished with the baby bottle routine."

"Sorry, mom," I answered. It seems you've become a grandmother again."

I didn't have the nerve to tell her about the salamander, remembering her hysteria ("You may call it a gerbil — I call it a rat!") when Davy joined the family.

The biggest obstacle facing the Macon Historical Society in preparing for the pie social to be held at the old Eldredge Mill will be the lack of man-and woman-power.

Many people are needed to staff the June 27 nostalgic trip to insure its success.

Come on Macon! Get involved in your community's Bicentennial endeavors. It's fun!

Becoming a member of the Historical Society is not a prerequisite for volunteering to help with the pie social, although new members are always welcome.

If you're interested in doing anything in connection with this special occasion, contact chairwoman Julie Rhora, committee persons Pat and Sharon Connors, or this writer.

Members and guests of Macon Historical Society will assemble May 1 at Mills School for a workbee. Come as soon as possible after 7 p.m.

The business meeting will then be held in the Bush home.

"Here We Are, America!" the 1976 edition of the Tecumseh High School Modern Dance Club annual show will be Saturday, May 8 at 7:30 p.m.

This year's event will feature the senior high dance group, the junior high group and a guest appearance of several high school gymnasts.

Modern dance encompasses many styles of dance, music interpretations and ideas, expressed through movement. Variety is assured.

A highlight of this year's program will be a sports spoof — complete with uniform jerseys, footballs, basketballs, bandages and crutches. Other dances will be performed to the music of John Denver, Ben Vereen, Chicago and the Who.

Jo Ann Cooley is advisor. She has a master's degree in dance education from the University of Michigan. Sets were designed and constructed by Ron Frenzen, industrial arts teacher of Tecumseh High School. Lighting is by Judy Wilson of Tecumseh, an English teacher in Deerfield.

The Modern Dance Club invites the public to attend. Tickets are available at the door.

This group will also perform at the May 4 Rotary Club meeting and will tour elementary schools in the near future.

Robinson's Directory for the City of Tecumseh is a useful tool to many area business people. Here at the Herald, it is used almost every day. However the history of the city of Tecumseh in that directory needs to be updated. Henry Ford has not owned the Community Center since the depression. By the way, does anyone know who wrote that history or where it came from?

Some snooping in the library brought the answer. It is taken from Tecumseh's 125th anniversary booklet. Clara Waldron and Edith Ingersoll were the authors of "An Early History of Tecumseh, Michigan."

Now in our nation's Bicentennial it seems an appropriate project for some civic minded group or individual to update this history. Any volunteers?

Lids Are a Mystery, Pant Suit Is Big Enough to Cover All Her Cans

BY KATHY BROWN

Remember the stories in the Detroit media about the thousands of damaged mail packages at the Detroit post office?

Well, Mrs. Robert Brady of 2826 Russell Road is a local victim of damaged mail. Her package arrived recently from a relative in Colorado. Mrs. Brady was expecting a shipment of the hard to find canning jar lids and rings. Instead, she received a plaid, large woman's pantsuit, size 20½. The garment was obviously used.

"I'd like to know how the lady got out of the post office with my canning lids and without her clothes?" Mrs. Brady laughed in disbelief.

Question is did someone literally trade the shirt off her back for the lids? or was the pantsuit actually en route to the New Process Company fashions of Warren, Pa., as the clothing label suggests?

Postmaster Jack Metcalf said he returned the package to the Detroit postmaster and Metcalf is sure Mrs. Brady will get her canning lids.

He said the package sent to Mrs. Brady from her niece in Pueblo West Colo. was wrapped wrong and shouldn't have been accepted by the department.

Boxes should be heavy enough to support the weight of the contents. Fiber tape should be used to bind the package instead of string which if loosened in shipment, can get chewed up in the automated equipment now used in the postoffices.

Postmaster Metcalf also advised that the address of addressee, a list of contents and a return address be inside the package. Mail can then be more easily identified if unwrapped in handling.

Mrs. Brady was further alarmed by the queer package when she opened the newspaper and read about the missing ashes of someone who had been cremated.

"Oh my God, what would I have done if I had found those ashes! I'd have thought it was rose dust," said Mrs. Brady.

Oh well...better a used pantsuit than ashes.

Guests are welcome to attend the meetings of the oldest club in Tecumseh.

Complaints Reported, but Only One Questions 'Garage' Ordinance

Tecumseh City Council members said at Monday's Council meeting that they have been "all but tarred and feathered" by complainants upset by Council's action on a garage sale license ordinance for Tecumseh.

Council braced to defend its action Monday, but only one resident showed up to ask questions about the ordinance!

Council started the ordinance procedures, at the April 19 meeting with the first reading of the ordinance, because several residents around town complained last year about nuisance garage sales that lasted all summer long.

These "garage merchants" were reportedly charging sales tax and even selling new merchandise.

Residents who voiced opposition to Council this past week apparently view the ordinance as another infringement by government on the rights of the individual.

Second reading of the ordinance was May 3. Council will have the third reading at the May 19 meeting beginning at 7:30 p.m. in Council chambers of City Hall.

Tecumseh's ordinance was modeled on ones from Fenton and Dearborn. However Tecumseh Council decided to require a cheaper license for a longer period of time.

Tecumseh's ordinance would require residents to pay $1 for a license for the first garage sale. License is good for five days, long enough for the average family. License for the second sale is $15 and for the third sale and each sale thereafter, license is $25.

These fees were meant to prevent abuse by people who organize garage sales and actually try to operate a business from them.

The ordinance does not restrict bona fide auctions, court sales, or sales by legitimate charitable institutions.

FUTILE SEARCH — Clubhouse of Raisin Valley Golf Club was broken into late Saturday night - or early Sunday morning - in what became an apparent and futile search for money. Willis and Frances Porter report little loss in the breaking and entering except for the vandalism inside the building. Sport clothes were strewn about, a cigarette machine and candy machine were ripped apart and other items tossed about in the spree. Even a chandelier in the dining room was extensively damaged. Golf clubs and balls, clothes, cigarettes which were spilled out on the floor, and other items were not taken. Mr. Porter discovered the break-in Sunday morning. Entry was gained by breaking out a window. (Photo by Mike Sunderland)

3 Holding Open Houses

Industrial education, art and home economics departments at Tecumseh High School will hold their 15th annual open house this Thursday and Friday.

It will be held in the gym from 7:00 to 9:00 this Thursday evening and all day on Friday, 7:30 a.m. to 9 p.m.

Members of the home economics classes, instructed by Mrs. Leva Brown and Mrs. Jeanne Callihan, will display their study units in clothing construction and home furnishings.

Mrs. Ann Fox, art teacher, will display a variety of student projects including ceramics, weaving, sculpture, paintings and drawings. There will also be demonstrations of student skills in painting, use of potters wheel, weaving loom, and other crafts.

Industiral education department will have student projects from each of the classes in wood, metal, power and energy, and drafting.

For more pictures, see page two.

Open to Public Saturday

"Promenade the Past," a designers' open house and historic tour will be open to the public May 8 and continue to May 24 at 309 W. Chicago Blvd., home of Rita Blake, Tecumseh Junior High School art teacher.

The century old home was built between 1872-1875 by Tecumseh grocer and hardware dealer, Jerome B. Weller. The Weller home is the city's only example of French Second Empire styling with mansard roof and dormer windows.

Top area designers and volunteers from the community have been working these past few months to decorate and refurbish the home in a style reminicent of its earlier years.

Tecumseh designers participating are Merkel Furniture and Carpets, The Junque Shoppe, Kitchen and Fabric Centre, DuRo Wood Products Co., MasterKraft, The Good Earth-Tecumseh Greenhouses, The August Co.

Volunteer help has come from students of Paul Burns' agriculture and environment classes and Future Farmers Association at Tecumseh High School and Lenawee Vo-Tech students. Lenawee Institute students were hired by the Rotary to assist with yard clean-up.

The event is a Bicentennial fesitval project co-sponsored by the Tecumseh Area Historical Society, The Little Garden Club and Rotary.

They have undertaken the project to promote the thriving downtown historic district, recently designated on Michigan's State Register of Historic Sites, and also to promote the restoration of historic homes.

Advance tickets may be purchased at a saving from the First Federal Savings and Loan and the United Savings Bank branches in Tecumseh, also from the historical society. After Friday, tickets will be available during hours of the tour at the First United Presbyterian Church.

The home will be open 1-5 weekdays, 10-7 on Saturdays and 1-7 on Sundays.

Tours of the home will begin at the Presbyterian Church where visitors may view historic displays. Slides of different styles of homes in the district will be shown continuously, an 1825 survey map will be displayed as well as ink drawings of the historic homes by Anne Fox's high school art classes. Refreshments will be served at the church and the Tecumseh Band Boosters will have a lunch wagon nearby on Pearl St.

May 8 and 9 quilts will be displayed at the church.

May 9 and 16 a special Promenade Trio, formed by Elizabeth Wilson, violinist, Bob Miller, cellist, and Char Randolph, flutist, will play chamber music, fulfilling the dream of the late Mrs. Allen Seager a former resident, who once mentioned the home would be ideal for such entertainment.

May 16 and 17 The Little Garden Club will show arrangements from different historic periods at the designers' house. Mrs. Neil Pearson will open her garden to visitors at 501 W. Pottawatamie St.

Visitors may make walking tours of the historic district by following the tour provided in the souvenir booklet.

May 22-23 the Irish Hills Wagon Train Festival will be held at Cambridge Junction and the Bicentennial Wagon

Park Vandals A Headache

Two more windows have been proken at Tecumseh Park recreation building and Tecumseh City Council members are scratching their heads for a solution to end vandalism at the city park commonly called "the Pit."

Councilman James Palmer suggested the city manager look into the availability of CETA funds to hire a night watchman or have a watchman in residence.

Some council members believed it was apparent that the southern end of the park should be fenced in to prevent open entry. And Monday, decided to get bids for a chain link fence.

"It makes sense to me we would cut down on vandalism, (with a fence) along with solving these other problems. We sit here every other meeting and see broken windows." said Councilwoman Mary Bowers.

At the April 19 council meeting, retired residents at 903 Shady Lane complained that minibikers and bicyclists were driving across their backyard and into the Pit because the city park was not fenced on the south.

Council was not anxious at that meeting to purchase a fence since cost estimate was close to $5,000.

However, Monday night councilmen said they had taken a closer look at the problem in that neighborhood.

Councilman Aden Mead said the area was "honeycombed with paths." Councilman Palmer said that was an understatement.

Little Effect Is Seen Here in Post Move

Tecumseh City Council didn't give Clinton too much support in its fight to keep the Clinton State Police Post.

Most council members did not seem convinced the move of the 17 man force from Clinton to a central office in Adrian would affect Tecumseh's police protection.

They understood Clinton's concern since the village only has a one man force. Tecumseh, however, has its own 12 man force.

Councilmen Len DeMoss and Ray Puffer opposed the central office. But Puffer changed his mind when he learned the central office would free four men for patrol.

Tecumseh Police Chief Merlin Mowery suggested that these additional four officers would eventually be re... for duty elsewhere in the state.

TP Reports Top Records

In its quarterly report to shareholders, Tecumseh Products Co. announced "sales and earnings for the first quarter of 1976 were all time records."

Consolidated net sales totaled $154,028,172, compared to $94,868,423 for the first quarter in 1975, and consolidated net earnings of $7,610,680. In the first quarter of 1975, net income was $2,813,849.

Officials expect the first six months of this year to be strong, despite a strike at its Somerset, Ky., plant and reduced schedules at the Lauson Engine Division.

Selling 'Tags' On May 7-8

Tecumseh Band Boosters will be stationed about town on May 7 and 8 again this year to sell tags for "Tag Days" and to ask your support for the school bands.

Proceeds will go into the David Day Scholarship Fund. In the past the fund has awarded band camp scholarships to several deserving young musicians.

Flanders Music Co. will be tag day headquarters.

Another Band Booster project is the lunch wagon to be located on Pearl St. between Gambles and Presbyterian Church on weekends of the designers' open house, "Promenade the Past." Hours are 10-7 Saturdays and Sundays 1-7.

Light snacks, hot dogs and pop will be served by band boosters with profits to support band programs.

Meet on Budget

Tecumseh City Council will meet May 10 at 7:30 p.m. in council chambers at city hall for a special budget hearing. Meeting is public.

Council is expected to adopt a record budget of $2,089,133 which would require raising city millage from 11 to 13 mills.

Delay Closing Cafeteria

A week's delay in steel has enabled school officials to extend food service at the high school cafeteria to Friday, May 14.

The cafeteria was scheduled for closing this Friday, May 7, for construction work that will provide a $1.5 million addition to the high plant.

Cafeteria will probably be re-opened at the beginning of the 1976-77 school year.

Boost Boosters

Tecumseh Band Boosters will wrap up their Tecumseh Herald subscripion drive by Friday.

Anyone who wishes to have a subscription credited to the Boosters may call Mrs. Wilma Silberhorn, 423-4843 by Friday.

AGENCY REMODELING — Hal Reid and Walter Beglinger have planned a summer remodeling project at their Chevrolet-Buick agency. A mansard roof will be added, as sketched by an architect above, and general offices will be enlarged. Some landscaping also is planned. Owners are now enlarging another building, previously occupied by Keith Bailey Olds and Schneider Chevrolet-Buick, for a body shop.

DESIGNERS OPEN HOUSE — Michele Worley of the Tecumseh Historical Society poses in the Summer Kitchen decorated by The Junque Shoppe, Kitchen and Fabric Centre and DuRo Wood Co. of Tecumseh. Careful planning has provided three activity areas: a sewing center, artist corner and gardener's spot. Below, Merkel Furniture and Carpet of Tecumseh has handsomely decorated the living room with an informal mix of period styles. The rich brown walls are trimmed with wallpaper border to simulate paneling. (Photo by Kent Downing)

Talking It Out

ROGER PROCTOR

The Condolence Call, some guidelines

When a close friend or relative dies, you may not even think twice about making a condolence call on the bereaved; you just do it. You do so simply to express your sympathy and console the bereaved, offering assistance however best you can.

There are some logical "do's and don'ts" of which you may or may not be aware. This check list may serve as a helpful guide.

1. If you're not really sure whether you should make the call or not, then do it. They're bound to appreciate it.

2. Remember, the purpose of the call is to express sympathy and offer assistance. Don't make it a long "social" event or a fashion showcase for your wardrobe.

3. Make the visit short. Fifteen minutes is enough, unless the bereaved wants you to stay longer.

4. Dress neatly, tastefully; not necessarily in somber shades or mourners' black.

5. If the bereaved wish to talk, fine. Be a good listener!

6. A simple "I'm sorry about (father, mother, etc.) is appropriate, accompanied by a firm handclasp or brief embrace.

7. Leave after offering to help or after performing whatever help you may have been asked to do.

8. Call back in a few days, again offering your aid. That's when the bereaved may especially appreciate your thoughtfulness.

This is one of a series of brief articles I hope will be helpful. We welcome questions in private or publicly through this column.

200 Years of Religious Freedom

THE ASSEMBLIES OF GOD

As a denomination The Assemblies of God, a Pentecostal group has grown until now, among the 260 denominations in the United States, it ranks:

First in the number of foreign Bible schools; and sixth in Sunday School enrollment; seventh in the number of churches; eighth in the number of missionaries serving in foreign countries; ninth in the number of ministers and Sunday Schools.

The Assemblies of God, largest of the Pentecostal groups, was born in revival spirit early in the 20th century. A small band of people, feeling a need to return to what the Apostles taught, began seeking God for an outpouring of the Holy Spirit as received on Pentecost.

The Pentecostals were reluctant to form a denomination. However, when it became apparent that some type of cooperative fellowship was needed, a council convened in Hot Springs, Ark., April, 1914.

More than 300 delegates met and agreed that any organization must be on a simple cooperative basis, free from the bonds which hindered spiritual power. Each congregation is sovereign in choice of pastor, owning property, and management of church business.

The Assemblies of God grew to over 735,000 today with adherents in the U.S. and overseas totaling nearly 5½ million.

The local Assembly began with a small independent group of people meeting in a downtown building early in the 1940's. No one remembers exactly who started this group but shortly afterwards, a couple of single ladies, Gladys Burger and Wilma Jackson of Toledo, Ohio, ministered to this congregation, meeting in an old lumber company building on Pearl St.

Opal Burger, later married to the Rev. H.E. Speer, was also a part of the church's first beginnings.

In 1946 the congregation became affiliated with the Assemblies of God. They continuted to meet on Pearl St.

The Rev. Jeno Checcini, commuted from Detroit on weekends for services and procurred the plans for the building now located on Bidwell St.

Ground was broken in 1949 and the new church, built under the leadership of the Rev. Albert Dimbat, who served for the next four years.

Succeeding pastors included the brothers, the Rev. Donald and the Rev. Lindsey MacPherson, who alternated pastoring with evangelistic work; the Rev. Harold Speer, who enlarged the parsonage (the former church building) on Pearl St.; and presently the Rev. Raymond Warnick, who is responsible for the new church building located on the corner of M-50 and Rogers Highway.

One year ago in April, the congregation moved to its present church, dedicated on May 11, 1975. Plans have already been made to break ground for a new parsonage near the church early this spring. This year, the 30th anniversary year will be marked by the Tecumseh Assembly of God.

CLASS TAKES TO THE AIR — Britton-Macon aviation class students, accustomed to the usual classroom fare, received a special treat Sunday when they experienced first hand the thrill of flight. Aviation instructor, John Evans, was at the controls at Calhoun's new air strip. Ground inspection was also given the students. Students are, front (l-r), David Lewis, Larry Hass, Don Reum, Hanne Skaarup, Julie Schultz and Mr. Evans. Back row, Ron Williams and Don Benham. (Photo by Mike Sunderland)

Aviation Class Is Available

BRITTON — An elective full semester course in Aviation is now available for junior and senior students at the Britton-Macon Area School, with John Evans, science teacher, instructing the class.

Evans is also employed at the Calhoun School of Aviation as a flight and ground instructor. He is a commercial pilot with instrument and multi-engine ratings; and has been a certified flight instructor for four years.

Presently 14 students are taking this course, which includes six girls and eight boys.

It is believed that this is the only course of its kind to be offered to high school students in our area.

Subjects covered in the class include: fundamental aerodynamics; aircraft instrumentation; weather; federal aviation regulations; weight and balance problems; use of the airman's information manual; using the flight computer; basic navigation; radio navigation; communications and air traffic control; medical factors of flight and simulation of a VFR cross-country trip.

Evans says "A student should be able to take and pass the Federal Aviation Administration (FAA) written examination covering the academic material a private pilot is required to know."

He continues, "At Britton we offer this course as part of our curriculum for various reasons: It is interesting subject area; it offers juniors and seniors a preview of some interesting career opportunities.

And finally, it shows students the practical application of the classroom subjects. There runs through the course a thread that joins geography, science, reading comprehension, verbal and written communication and mathematics."

The class was given actual ground inspection of an airplane and a short demonstration flight around the area last Sunday, out of Calhoun's newly developed airstrip, located off Rogers Hwy., and Pocklington Road.

Bi-centennial Journey

By Thelma Younglove

BRITTON — Many of the present generations are unfamiliar with articles used when their grandparents were active homemakers.

A few of the articles that were standard equipment in practically every household, are still to be found, but many are considered to be collectors items and valued as antiques.

Today's homemaker would have a difficult time using grandmother's cookware. Her tasty wholesome meals were prepared in heavy black iron kettles. Roasts, stews, boiled dinners, and soups were cooked in large kettles. Potatoes and some vegetables were cooked in smaller round bottom kettles.

When cooking in those kettles a lid was removed from the top of the range and the kettle set in the hole where the flames and the direct heat from the fire could strike the bottom of the utensil.

Numerous crocks and jugs of various sizes and shapes were found in those earlier homes. The crocks were used for butter, lard, meat, pickles, relishes, and sauerkraut. Jugs were containers for liquids, honey and syrup. Crocks and jugs are now collectors items.

Homes did not have running water. A water pail and dipper had a place in every kitchen. Water had to be pumped at the well and carried into the house for cooking, food preparation, dishwashing and drinking.

Going to the well for a fresh pail of water was one of the last of the daily chores. In the wintertime, ice often formed in the pail before morning. Kitchen fires were not always maintained during the night and by morning rooms were very cold.

Homes using coal for fuel had a coal scuttle or hod for carrying in coal. A scuttle was more convenient to use than an ordinary pail. Some modern homes use a coal scuttle for magazines.

Some homes, especially those not having a drainage system had swill pail (large pail to collect kitchen refuse and garbage). When the pail became full it was carried outside and emptied.

Some homes had spittons, a container usually found where someone chewed tobacco. Frequently the bottom of the spittoon was covered with a layer of ashes for sanitary purposes. Regardless of what was done, a spittoon was not the most sanitary thing to have around.

Sad irons, heavy flat irons used for pressing clothes, sometimes served for other purposes. One could be used for a door stop. On cold nights an iron could be heated quite hot, wrapped in newspapers, and tucked into ones bed to keep feet warm.

A soap stone, when heated, and wrapped in newspapers the same as a flat iron, was used to warm a cold bed or taken in a buggy or cutter when taking a trip to keep feet from getting numb with cold.

Kerosene lamps and lanterns provided the only artificial light, except candles. They weren't too safe or convenient. Most farm families went to bed early and got up at day break. Day light was much better than candles or lamps.

Some senior citizens refer to that era as the "good old days," but few would want to give up our modern conveniences and go back to that way of living.

Changes are constantly taking place. We have witnessed so many in the past 50 or 60 years.

Does anyone dare to guess what changes will take place in the next 50 years?

Clinton Day Draws 140

by Maxine Calhoun

CLINTON — Clinton Day Bicentennial dinner was attended by 140 Clinton residents in the historic Clinton Inn, at Greenfield Village, Dearborn, Saturday evening.

The event was arranged by the two-year-old Historical Society of Clinton, with much of the planning by a committee composed of Sally Scheer, Shirley Fraley and Sharon Scott.

Many other Clinton families had spent the day touring the museum grounds.

Diners were seated at candlelighted tables in the quaint old inn. Vases of wild violets centered the clustered tables and guests were served a beef dinner.

Sally Scheer welcomed the visitors and assisted Clinton's village president, Clayton Strolle in leading group singing of old time songs.

Shirley Fraley narrated a most informative slide presentation of dozens of Clinton's oldest homes.

The early photographs, many on old glass negatives, and the present day view of a house were shown side-by-side on dual screens.

Often the Historical Society members had been abie to discover the whereabouts of a certain house only after months of searching, as appearances, and even location of some houses had changed.

Stanley Gibbard, a member of the Society, spoke briefly to encourage more membership in the Society, which seeks to interest the community in preserving its heritage.

In conclusion Mrs. Scheer presented a commemorative handmade plaque to mark the occasion and in appreciation to Lawrence Bailey, who founded the Historical Society of Clinton two years ago and has recently been succeeded as its president by Mrs. Fraley.

The occasion was highlighted by an extensive exhibit of Clinton Inn and Ella Smith's memorabilia for perusal in the summer kitchen of the restored Inn.

Clinton Inn had stood on Clinton's main street on the site of the present post office since the mid 1800's and in 1927 was sold to Henry Ford and removed to Greenfield Village.

Many of those attending, and the committee in charge were attired in 18th century costumes, which added to the aura of nostalgia at the well-planned event.

Traffic Rerouted

CLINTON — State Police rerouted traffic on US-12 for more than five hours, Friday after a 3:30 p.m. accident at the intersection of US-12 and Tipton Hwy.

Tractor-trailer driver Allen J. Schmidt, 41, eastbound on US-12 was unable to slow enough behind a car driven by John Dew, Adrian, 48, to avoid hitting him in the rear.

Impact shifted load of tires on trailer, causing the rig to overturn on its side on the highway.

Tires had to be off-loaded.

Schmidt was cited for hazardous driving.

Dates Changed

CLINTON — Riverside Cemetery Board has changed meeting dates from the second Tuesday to the third Monday of each month, and the new time is 10:30 a.m. in the village office.

Next meeting is May 17.

Soybean Foods Fill a Need

CLINTON — Mrs. John Duede described how she became so interested in the book, "Diet for a Small Planet" that she began making the high-protein food for her children and they liked it.

She told members of the United Methodist Women of the need for protein in the world, and how many recipes can be made from soybean products, that can be used in place of meat and at less cost.

For refreshments food made of soybean flour, applesauce cake, ginger cookies, banana bread, soy joys and sunflower seeds were served.

Mrs. Carl Terry presented the Prayer and Self-Denial Week devotions.

Mrs. George Schroeder will have charge of the Mother-Daughter Banquet program at 6:30 p.m. May 8. Theme will be "Famous American Women." Harold Satterla will be in charge of the men who will prepare the dinner.

Dorcas Circle will meet May 19 with Sharon Scott at 1 p.m.

No Interest For Hall Use

Board explained that it is not interested in allowing the basement to be used for meetings.

Board opposed removal of the Michigan State Police Post from Clinton by sending letters to Gov. William Milliken and other officials involved in the decision.

Also the board went on record as opposing the closing of the bridge of US-12 at the west end of the village, while repairs are in progress. A temporary bridge would be preferred and officials will be advised of this by letter.

Board approved a listing on the Band Booster calendar for meeting dates.

Robert Winder reported for the Riverside Cemetery Board that a generator for the grass trimmer is to be purchased.

Charles Wilson reported one house permit at $60,160, which was approved.

More Care Is Sought

CLINTON — At a meeting of the Elementary Parent-Teachers Students organization, Monday evening, members of the school board and Superintendent Richard Wegner were presented with a petition from elementary parents concerning need for additional maintenance and sanitary standards at the school.

Wegner responded by suggesting that another custodian for the elementary building would be considered.

Wegner also explained the school district's need for renewed millage, to be placed on the school election ballot in June.

He also outlined the proposed track building program, explaining that funds for this are all to come from the Clinton Athletic Association funds, not from school tax money.

New PTS officers elected for the 1976-77 year are: president, Mrs. John Dekany, re-elected; vice-presicent, Mary Lou Hough; treasurer, Delores Harrison and secretary, Rosemary Relitz.

Rule Change Still Pondered

CLINTON — Representatives of the Clinton Area Jaycees and the Clinton Chamber of Commerce attended the April 29 meeting of the Smith-Kimball Community Center Board to request that they continue the discussion of changing the rules to allow alcoholic beverages on the premises.

The visitors stated that from time to time rules must be revised to keep them current and that they (the Jaycees) would prefer to put the monies that they have been spending for rent for a meeting place, back into the community.

The board again assured the Jaycees that they could use the building if the rules were followed and they they were further investigating this matter.

A committee was formed to contact other communities with community centers as to their rules for operation.

Also the committee is looking into the proper procedure for placing such an issue on a ballot for vote by the people.

Board voted to install an outside drinking fountain for the convenience of people using the tennis courts and center yard.

Due to the absence of Dr. Richard Gerson, matter was tabled concerning his request for giving tennis lessons at the center.

Board member Peg Rockwell was commissioned to investigate establishing a program of lessons and activities to more fully use the center building.

Next meeting will be at 7:30 p.m., Thursday, June 3 at the center.

Feted on 80th Birthday

CLINTON — Mrs. Daniel Goodman Sr., of Adrian, was feted at a luncheon Friday, honoring her 80th birthday anniversary, at the home of her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Daniel Goodman, Jr.

As the guests arrived they were pinned with a corsage of lilies of the valley and violets, and the guest of honor with a purple orchid.

Guests were Mrs. Floyd Halladay, Mrs. George McDermott, Mrs. Donald Cutler, Mrs. Don Campbell, Sharon-Hollow Rd., and Mrs. Goodman's daughter, Mrs. Robert Bowers, of Tecumseh, and grandson, Michael Goodman.

Eighty florets decorated the pink iced cake on a glass pedestal, centering the table, flanked by pink tapers in crystal holders.

The cake was made by Joan Goodman's sister, Mrs. John Saunders, of Adrian.

Pink lined lace placemats, and silver lettered name napkins marked each place.

The hostess played the organ for group singing after lunch.

The ladies were then taken for a tour of Hidden Lake Gardens to complete the afternoon.

Clinic Held

CLINTON — The Pre-School Vision and Hearing Clinic for the Clinton area will be held at Methodist United Church, 114 E. Church St., Clinton on May 10 and 11.

The hours will be 8:45 to 11:45 a.m. and 1 to 3 p.m.

All children 3½ through 5 years of age are eligible to participate in the free clinic conducted by the Lenawee County Health Department.

Any child who has not been registered and received an appointment may still participate by coming to the clinic on one of the above dates.

Michigan law requires a child to have a vision screening before he-she enters kindergarten.

Two Injured

CLINTON — Allen W. Kelley, 20, Water Wheel Estates, Clinton, was driver of an automobile which struck a injuring two passengers, Saturday.

Mishap occurred as Kelley was northbound on Murphy Hwy., one mile north of Kehoe Rd., when his automobile began fishtailing, swerved and struck a tree.

Officers said the driver had apparently fishtailed for some distance before the accident.

He was cited for reckless driving.

Passengers Clarence B. Patterson, 22, and Elaine Gilmore, 16, were treated for minor injuries at Herrick Hospital.

Another passenger, Robin Armstrong, was not injured.

Barbecue Is Planned

CLINTON — Clinton Area Jaycees, at a meeting Monday night, made plans to hold a chicken barbecue in the village, May 22 and 23.

Mark Schnizlein was appointed as the new secretary, succeeding Charles Finkbeiner, who was a temporary appointment.

Members voted to change the meeting date to the second Monday of the month.

A joint meeting of the Jaycees and the Jaycettes will be May 24 at 7:30 p.m. at the home of Hugh McGill.

Robert A. McOmber of Clinton was graduated from the University of Michigan Law School. McOmber received his bachelor of science in business administration in 1973 and was a magna cum laude graduate of Bowling Green State University. he anticipates a general law practice in southwestern Michigan or northwestern Ohio. His wife, Becky, is an art teacher at Clinton High School.

Accident

CLINTON — Teruko Trojanowski, 47, of Water Wheel Estates, sought her own treatment for minor injuries Sunday, when her vehicle struck another car ahead, which was making a right turn.

Other driver was Shirley Ann Paape, 42, of Detroit.

Ms. Trojanowski told officers she didn't see a brake light or turn signal on the car that was turning.

Mishap occurred at 1:30 p.m. on Tecumseh Clinton Rd. at Allen Rd.

Bridge Closing Concerns Council

CLINTON — Council members, at Monday's meeting, expressed concern for traffic problems which may result if the State Highway Department carries out plans to close the bridge at the west end of the village for repairs this summer.

Plans call for rerouting US-12 traffic along Tecumseh-Clinton, Staib and Matthews Rds.

A recent traffic count shows that Tecumseh-Clinton Rd. now carries some 7,000 cars daily, and US-12 traffic added would raise this to 17,000 cars daily, more weekends.

Noting the hazardous locations on the proposed detour and the fact of hampering emergency service on US-12, the village officials have notified the State Highway Department of their concern. They prefer that a temporary bridge be erected.

Acting on the suggestion of village attorney Melvin Smith, approval was given to direct the village police to issue all drunk driving summonses under the applicable state statute rather than a village ordinance.

This would require the county prosecutor to handle these cases in court instead of the village, resulting in a savings of attorney fees for the village.

Clinton Jaycees had requested permission to place a sign on the Clinton Fire Station wall adjacent to the main intersection. Art students have painted the sign as a welcome for the Bicentennial Wagon Train.

Councilmen voiced their opposition to the idea as setting an undesireable precedent, despite the importance of the occasion.

Council will work with the organizations involved to find a suitable alternative location for the sign.

Council voted to purchase 20 acres of land from Clinton Engines Corp. for $17,000 on which to build a sewer treatment plant.

Edwin Piatt, a new member of the council, who was not serving on the council while the purchase was being discussed at earlier executive sessions, abstained from voting.

A special council meeting will be held Thursday when Fred Shoemaker of Region II Planning Commission will explain the Land and Conservation Fund Act of 1965.

Two village wells were damaged by vandals in April, and council voted $2,200 to pay for repairs. Village will be reimbursed by insurance.

Vandals shot at the electrical transformers supplying power to the wells and damaged them.

Macon Dialog

by Linda Phillips
423-5213

Women have been searching for the perfect hair-do since time immemorial (well, at least since 1956...).

The perfect coiffure should be glamorous, but easy to maintain at the same time—sort of a cross between Princess Grace of Monoco and Cher Bono.

A few of the hair-dos that have had their haey days within the past 20 years include:

The Page Boy. This style was particularly suited to those who had their sights set on a career in ushering.

The Pony Tail. An okay style provided you could take an occasional tug at the back of your head, or someone imitating you by whinnying loudly.

The Beehive. This "updo" was only worn by those who didn't mind wearing yards and yards of netting to guard against swarming.

The Bouffant. Hair which was "teased" or "ratted" to enormous proportions and then sprayed with three cans of Aqua-Net was termed a bouffant(or bubble) style. This particular hair-do didn't last long once the news media got wind of a lady in Baltimore in whose bouffant a family of spiders took up residence.

The Sassoon. Named for its creator, Vidal Sassoon, hair for this coiff was cut extremely short. It was suited to women whose ears didn't protrude even the slightest and who had outstanding bone structure. (Reportedly, there were two women in the U.S. and one in Canada who fit the bill.)

The Poodle Cut. Divised for those with naturally curly hair. In addition to having naturally curly hair for this style, the wearer also needed a good sense of humor. Gravy Train (Alpo in better establishments) was often served to them in restaurants.

The Washerwoman. A copy of a Victorian period hair style worn by Barbra Streisand in "Funny Girl". This too was not popular with women in unemployment lines seeking executive-type positions.

The Shag. A good style for those who wanted to achieve the "little lost waif" look. But you couldn't wear a shag if you were overweight or over 30.

The Gypsy. A rather attractive hairdo, but worn by only those who could afford the necessary accessories (tambourine, leather boots, brocaded vests, and lots of necklaces and hoop earrings).

The Afro. A style that made its wearers strongly resemble chrysanthemums. Girls with afros never dared kneel in a garden.

Once a woman decides on the perfect style for her and makes an appointment with Mr. Michael of Fredrik's Ponce de Leon Plaza of Beauty, she can only hope for the best.

Rumor has it that a lady in Lower Sandusky wore a grocery bag over her head to the store for five weeks under the guise of recycling paper because her hairdresser went berserk with a pair of scissors.

Through My Window

by Marda Gene Duncan

SUPERB MAKE-UP ARTISTS

Oh, what a nice and co-operative couple they were. From the appearance they had carefully checked the bird-books and taken extra pains to apply their make-up in strick accordance to their pictures in both the "Audubon Water Bird Guide" and "Birds of North America." At least, after letting Mom have a long look at them through the binoculars, she immediately went to these books and, with no hesitation or problem at all, found the lake's new visitors on Plate 5 of the former book and page 48 of the latter.

Ducks are not always easy to identify but this pair of blue-wing teals were obliging. They stayed put and they looked the way they should.

No-one who has not spent time searching and worrying through bird-books trying to match pictures with a late sighting can fully appreciate what a joy these little teals were. They restored our faith. Mom spotted them fairly early in the day and truly, they just seemed bent on enjoying an unhurried visit to our small lake.

Never was the brightly-colored drake far from his lovely lady. (I rather object to using the word dull in describing females for often they are not – usually their colors are much less brilliant and flashy but there is true loveliness in their quieter, more subdued tones. And besides, their coloration is such a perfect camouflage and so well designed to keep them concealed and out of harms way that one must find beauty in this perfection.)

The blue-winged teals are smallish ducks, who are fond of fresh-water ponds, creeks, and marshes. One book calls them shy but another says they are inclined to become quite trusting when not distrubed or molested. They migrate early in the fall and late in the spring which, no doubt, could partially explain their post-Easter visit here.

Of course, some of the birds actually next here in Florida and along the Gulf Coast so possibly our pair were on a scouting mission. Perhaps the fact that they were by themselves and not with a large flock of ducks would indicate they were not interested in a long flight north.

All we know for sure is that the day they spent here was great fun. They paddled along with water's edge, drifted at the whim of the wind as it shifted from north to west to south, and even took off several times for short flights.

Back to their appearance. The male has a "white crescent" on his face and a "white flank patch"; both sexes have "pale blue inner-wing coverts and . . . iridescent green speculum".

What this means is that the male has a noticeable white, new-moon mark on his head, it is between his eye and bill and the area in back is quite bluish whereas the top of his head is almost black.

The forward edge of the wings is blue with a smallish patch, on the back of each wing next to the body, a pretty green. The male's back is dark brown with dark spotted stripes and his lightish tan breast is heavily marked with large dark freckles.

The hen lacks the bright head markings and, with the exception of the blue and green on the wings, she is a subtle blend of tans and dark browns.

A day or two later our small lake again hosted a newcomer. Unfortunately this gal was all by herself and her make-up was not nearly as skillfully applied. Had it not been for her very obvious head-crest and her distinctive bill we would have had trouble finding her name. She was a red-breasted merganser.

However, the line between her rusty head and whitish breast was almost clear cut enough to fit a common merganser, but this bird is not found so far south. Apparently the red-breasted had not learned the technique of blending colors.

These are fish eaters and my, their long thin bills would make short work of any scaly creature who happened to swim by. This bill, by the way, is even serrated along the edges – nothing is going to slip away from a merganser.

Looking back on these two adventures one thing about their identification is inescapable. Physical features are as good field marks as is color pattern.

The blue-winged teals were easy to know because they were superb make-up artists. The merganser's bill and head-crest gave her away. In this respect it could be said that she too was a superb make-up artist.

Old Glory Is Lit

Old Glory at Tecumseh city hall will be lighted at night, thanks to the effort of the Auxiliaries of the American Legion Underwood-Orr Post No. 34 and the VFW Hall Slater Post No. 4187.

The two auxiliaries are sharing the $100 cost to light the American flag.

However, present lighting is temporary because of the forthcoming city hall addition.

The flag will be lighted at a formal ceremony on July 4, when the Liberty Tree will be "replaced" by the flag pole, following American colonial history.

The auxiliaries took action after complaints that Tecumseh's flag was flying illegally at night since it was not lighted.

Hospital Week Starts May 9

Healthy Birthday, America!! Herrick Memorial Hospital joins the nation's 7,000 hospitals in observing National Hospital Week beginning May 9.

The theme for the celebration, "Healthy Birthday, America!" emphasizes the efforts hospitals are making to help and encourage individuals to stay healthy.

"While our hospital is dedicated to caring for the ill, we want the community to know that our interest in their well being extends beyond their treatment in our institution. Caring for the sick is our reason for being," said William Groover, hospital administrator.

"But more, teaching our patients how to stay well once they are released, and encouraging people in our community to stay healthy, are also important elements in our total care," he added.

National Hospital Week is an annual observance sponsored by the American Hospital Association and its members to give people an opportunity to learn more about community hospitals.

The Herrick Memorial Hospital Auxiliary will greet visitors to the hospital and co-chairmen Mary Egbert and Arlene Thoss will welcome you with refreshments.

The auxiliary suggests you take pride in the quality of health care services in the community and in the nation, and take a moment to think about your own health.

HISTORY OF AMERICA — Poster contest winners named by the VFW Post No. 4187 Auxiliary are first place winners Beth Comfort, Group B, 6-7 grades; Mark Heisler, Group A, 4-5 grades and Julie Sheldon, Group C, 8-9 grades. Prize winning posters emphasized the Bicentennial theme "History of America". (Photo by Frank Weir)

My Year In Sweden

By Valerie Egli
Exchange Student

"Helt Underbart"
by Valerie Egli

Those two words, as well as describing my stay here in Sweden, also describe the food I've found here, "completely wonderful.". In fact, too wonderful, considering the weight I've gained since I first came! I though you'd like to hear about the foods in Sweden.

First of all, there's the difference in the times they eat. My "eating schedule" on a regular school day looks like this. I start with breakfast with the family at around 7:40 a.m Around 10 a.m. there's a break at school when we usually just have a piece of fruit and-or a baked goodie. Lunch is usually at 11 a.m., Wednesay at 12 p.m., and consists of a free hot meal at a cafeteria downtown. After school there's coffee or tea and cakes waiting at home. Dinner is around 5 p.m. Most Swedish families have this meal around 3 p.m. About 7 p.m. we have coffee and cakes and maybe fruit.

That's a lot of eating, not counting the snacking throughout the day. In fact Mamma is preparing the afternoon coffee as I write this.

There are also differences in the foods that one can eat here. There are some things, like peanut butter, root beer and potato chips that I haven't had in eight months! Actually all of these things are available.

Peanut butter, for example, can be bought in 3-4 ounce jars for about $2! Now you see why I haven't had these things? — they're expensive. Root beer isn't even available in Sweden. Someone told me that in order for a company to sell it's food products in Sweden, the government has to see the recipe. I don't know of any root beer company that would be willing to show it's recipe to anyone. My Swedish sister, Susie, was in California last year as an exchange student and she said that the thing she missed the most was Frito corn chips. Just thinking about it makes my mouth water!

There are also many foods here that I'm going to miss when I get home. (I plan to send a package of the unperishable foods home of hard bread called Knackebrod and another kind that's a little smaller called kex. Kex are just like crackers, but knackebrod is a little different, and a lot better, I think. Another food they have is a dessert made out of rose hips called "nypponsoppa", rose hip soup. It's delicious when warmed up with small spicy cookies in it.

One food that I won't be able to send home is something called "filmjolk". It's just like buttermilk, but thicker. We have it every morning for breakfast with cereal and sugar, and sometimes drink it as a snack with just sugar. They've told me that most American who try it can't stand it, but I can't get enough of it!

Esch Selects 3 in County

Congressman Marvin L. Esch, Republican candidate for the U.S. Senate seat being vacated by Sen. Philip Hart, today named Ed Engle of Adrian, as "Esch In '76" County Chairman for Lenawee County.

Named to serve as co-chairmen with Engle were Dave Hickman and Dr. Donato Sarapo, both of Adrian.

Participants in the training session are to become leaders in Career Education by assisting with professional staff development.

A TRIBUTE TO TECUMSEH'S HISTORIANS is the subject of a pencil sketch by Norma Lapham for the February calendar for Bicentennial dates at the Tecumseh Public Library. Clara Waldron, present historian and Benjamin Baxter, historian past are the figures honored.

Banquet Has Bicentennial Theme

Decorations, songs, programs and awards were in the Bicentennial theme at the Mother and Daughter Banquet of the Emmanuel Lutheran Church, Britton on May 1 at the church.

Many of those attending wore Bicentennial costumes.

Mrs. Beverly Whelan gave a tribute to mother; her mother, Mrs. Lucille Scheffler, gave the tribute to a daughter.

Tammy Whelan gave tribute to a grandmother.

"Punkins and Flirty Gerty" the clowns, Mrs. Cindy Stutzman and daughter, Heather, entertained the group with antics and making balloon animals.

A fun play, "The British Are Coming, Mums the Word" by author "Elliott Rosewater", enabled one third of the group to participate at one time or another.

Awards and recognitions were presented to the following:

Mrs. Effie Gibson, Mrs. Vickie Bush, Renee Haines, Mrs. Eva Schwarts, Debbie Bush, Mrs. Elwood Bush, Mrs. Donna Conrad, Janelle Schultz, Mrs. Ernest Carothers, Tammy Whelan, Heather Stutzman and Mrs. Daisher. Small American flags were presented to many of the young ladies.

Mrs. Kathy Trapp acted as song leader and gave the invocation. Mrs. Dorothy Helm was pianist and Irene Miller gave the benediction.

The men of the congregation planned, cooked and served the meal under the guidance of Pastor Trapp.

Mrs. Ida Helms and Mrs. June Koob were co-chairmen of the event.

Whats Up At THS

by Vicki McDonald

Like the rest of the nation, THS has been having its own political elections. Last week elections for Student Assembly officers were held.

For three days the school was deluged with posters, banners, and leaflets telling the outstanding qualifications of each candidate.

On Thursday, an assembly was held, giving all the candidates a chance to convince the student body that they were the qualified candidate.

After all the votes were in on Friday, the new officers of the Student Assembly were announced:

Kevin Burchett, president, Katie Heglin, vice president, Laurie Hite, secretary, Sue Feight, treasurer, and Rod Turner and Marty Perkins, school board representatives.

Also, during the elections the changes to the Constitution of the Student Assembly were read and voted on by the student body.

Again this year the Industrial Education classes show will be held in the THS gym, on May 6 and 7.

The show will contain scale houses built by the drafting department, art and many other things by the art department, projects by the Industrial Education classes department, and clothing by the Home Economics department.

On May 8 the Modern Dance Club will present a ritual, "Here We are America", in the THS gym at 7:30 p.m.

LIBERTY TREE NEEDS A SIGN—Building a sign to identify Tecumseh's Liberty Tree at city hall is a perfect Bicentennial contribution from any aspiring woodworker. Legend says that Sons of Liberty rallied underneath huge elms in Bostom for secret meetings. Boys hung lanterns in them to celebrate freedom. In this tradition, Mayor Harold Easton lit Tecumseh's Liberty Tree April 5. Tree will remain lit until city flag pole will be lit at a simple ceremony, July 4. (Photo by Frank Weir)

Youth Contributes Labor

Tecumseh area youth have made a significant contribution to the completion of "Promenade the Past: A Designer's Renovation of an Historic Home."

Vo-Tech students volunteered their time to landscape the front and back yards. They thatched, raked and seeded the front lawn and moved existing plants to the backyard for preservation. They put in new plants in the front and laid railroad ties.

Indoors they painted all woodwork up and down stairs, staircase and shutters. They repaired the pointing on the porch and installed double railing on both sides of the back porch.

Paul Burns agriculture and environmental classes and Future Farmers Association from Tecumseh High School cleared the back yard of trash and sticks and planted the side and back yard plant material. They laid railroad ties and stepping stones.

Tecumseh marching band members will sponsor a concession during the time of the open house.

Students from Lenawee Institute did a good portion of the clean-up before the other two schools planted material. These students are available for hire for any yard work, as this is how they are learning to make a living.

The Rotary paid Lenawee Institute students for their time cleaning up at 309 W. Chicago Blvd., the "Promenade the Past" designer's home.

ASSISTING WITH LANDSCAPE DESIGN of the "Promenade the Past: A Designers' Renovation of an Historic House" in Girl Scout Troop 376. The troop dug up flower bulbs to prepare the yard for landscapers. Mother knows how to do everything. If you don't believe it, ask any child. A child's faith in his mother's ability is a wonderful thing. She can fix broken toys and mend broken hearts. Mother knows how to stop sores from hurting and how to make the greatest peanut butter sandwiches in town. She has the answers to a trillion questions.

Regardless of our age, we still have questions we would like to have answered. Some will never be answered to our satisfaction, unless God sees fit to impart His special wisdom. He often reveals Himself to us in a special way when we worship. The answers we seek may come as we meditate, pray, and listen to His Word. Church is a good place to find what we are seeking.

PANZA CHIROPRACTIC CENTER

PANZA CHIROPRACTIC CENTER Is Now Open!

I'm Dr. Ernie Panza, a Chiropractor. I am married and have five children. My wife's name is Mary. Children's names and ages are: Lisa 11, Tony 10, Ernie 9, Lorrie 7, and Timmy 4. Four older children attend St. John's School.

I was born and raised in Pittsburgh, Pa. where I attended school. Upon graduation from high school, I entered the U.S. Army where I was a dental lab technician. My plans were to follow the dental profession by attending Pitt University Dental School in Pittsburgh, Pa. However, as things happened my plans changed. Since the age of 10 I had suffered with migraine headaches. While in the army a friend persuaded me to go to a chiropractor. Since I had tried everything else for relief of the headaches, including shots and neurology tests, I decided I had nothing to lose. Not only did he get rid of my migraine headaches in a short time but also changed my entire life. It was then that I decided to become a chiropractor.

Instead of Pitt. University, I attended Logan College of Chiropractic in St. Louis, Missouri. I graduated in 1968. For the last 6 and one half years I have been in active practice in Monroe, Michigan. In December of 1975, we opened our new office located at 2890 N. M-52 here in Adrian, MI. Since then things have gone well, we have sold the Monroe Office and are now open full time at this office.

We would encourage anyone who has any questions regarding Chiropractic or health to feel free to call or stop by at their convenience. We realize many people do not really understand Chiropractic and may have many questions. It is our desire and hope that the contents of this paper will answer any of those questions you may have, and perhaps help you to make a decision that Chiropractic could be beneficial for you, your family, and friends. Feel free to call any of the people whose stories appear in this paper. They have written their story in the hope that it might help someone else, that more people would find out about the wonderful healing power of your body; and how chiropractic can help you achieve and/or maintain health in a natural way. I'd also like to thank those patients for allowing us to use their testimonials.

The other purpose for this paper is so that you may know what to expect when you go to a chiropractor. Chiropractic is the detection and removal of nerve interference (vertebral subluxation). Detection should be done by analytical instruments such as x-ray, neurocalograph, etc. Nerve interference is removed by a chiropractic adjustment done by hand only, with precise timing and accuracy. It is painless. There is no age limit as to who can receive adjustments. We adjust newborn babies as well as elderly people. The purpose of Chiropractic is to turn on life energy within the individual body so that it may function to his or her maximum innate potential.

Many people feel that chiropractic is just for the relief of backaches, whiplashes, etc. However the first Chiropractic patient was deaf, and had been so for seventeen years. After three Chiropractic adjustments by hand only, his hearing was restored. That event was the discovery of chiropractic by Dr. D.D. Palmer in 1895. And it was his son Dr. B.J. Palmer, who developed it into the philosophy, science, and art as we know it today.

In summary, Dr. B.J. Palmer's definition of Chiropractic, "Chiropractic is the philosophy, science and art of things natural. A system of adjusting the spinal segments of the spinal column by hand only for the correction of the cause of dis-ease."

AREA RESIDENTS SPEAK ABOUT PANZA CHIROPRACTIC CENTER!

"The best we've felt in years"

I am writing this in hopes that my story may help someone else.

Many people are sick and suffering needlessly because they do not know and understand about Chiropractic or may feel that it is for backaches. I had many health problems and Chiropractic helped me.

I had high blood pressure, pain in my stomach, pains that ran down my arms and burned like fire, my head hurt with burning in the eyes. I was always cold even if I was inside a building with the temperature set at 75 degrees. I also had gall bladder surgery in 1957. I was taking high blood pressure pills. It seemed that I was getting no better but instead steadily worse, and was unable to do my housework.

One day I heard Dr. Panza on the radio and both my husband and myself decided to see if Chiropractic could help me.

I could see and feel a difference after only one month of Specific Chiropractic Care. I feel much better, in fact better than I have in years.

Chiropractic has helped myself and my husband, we both now receive regular Chiropractic adjustments. What Dr. Panza and Chiropractic has done for us, it could do for you!

"Numbness and Pain in hand gone"

A short time ago, my right hand began to hurt quite severly. I took aspirin to try and relieve the pain but it did not help.

I decided to try Chiropractic, I went to the PANZA CHIROPRACTIC CENTER where I was X-rayed and Dr. Panza showed me the cause of my problem which was a pinched nerve in my neck. After a few weeks of SPECIFIC CHIROPRACTIC ADJUSTMENTS, I am completely free of pain and would recommend everyone to try CHIROPRACTIC to regain and MAINTAIN their health.

"Sciatica disappears after Specific Chiropractic Care"

I had been suffering with low back pain accompanied with leg pain for about 6 years.

I have taken muscle relaxers which did not help.

The pain stopped me from doing church work and working in my garden. The pain seemed to be there all the time with pain also in my shoulders.

I started under SPECIFIC CHIROPRACTIC CARE with Dr. Dan Elwart in Hudson, Michigan. Dr. Elwart then moved to Florida and I went to Dr. Panza who continued the SPECIFIC CHIROPRACTIC ADJUSTMENTS.

I am now feeling fine and do not have any pain at all now THANKS TO CHIROPRACTIC.

"Chiropractic eliminates Nervousness and Depression"

About 8 months ago, I became very nervous. My neck was stiff and hurt at the back of my skull. The lower part of my neck was swollen and very painful. I could not touch it because of the pain.

I had a very heavy feeling in my chest and tightness in my shoulders. The main problem was that I seemed to be in a deep depression which was affecting my family, friends and housework.

I was on a lot of medication such as Muscle Relaxers, Valium, Sodium, Amytal, Tranxene and Aspirin. I was taking as many as 3 nerve pills a day and 6 to 8 aspirins a day with all of the above mentioned medications.

I have been under SPECIFIC CHIROPRACTIC CARE now for almost 6 weeks at the Panza Chiropractic Center. I can honestly say that I'm feeling much better and that Chiropractic has helped me and has made a difference in my life and family. Occasionally I do take medication, but I feel with continued Chiropractic Care, I will be able to discontinue all medications.

My husband Bob and son David are also under Chiropractic Care and are doing well.

I would encourage everyone to try Chiropractic as you have nothing to lose and so much to gain in your health.

"Hoping This Will Help Someone"

We are happy to share with others the help and encouragement which we have received from the Panza Chiropractic Center.

The past few years I have experienced migrain headaches, a sinus condition, asthma, and frequent nervous tension. My first visit to Dr. Panza was in January, 1976. Since that time, resulting from Dr. Panza's chiropractic adjustments, my headaches are less severe and less frequent. I have noticed improvement in the sinus and asthmatic conditions. Also, a relaxing of nervous tensions.

My husband is a diabetic and has glaucoma. He is continuing on his daily medication. However, through chiropractic adjustments, we feel that given time Ray's body will heal itself.

Our six year old daughter, Amy, is a healthy, vibrant child. She, too, is having adjustments. The reason that she is having the adjustments is to keep her body healthy and functioning properly so that she will not grow up and have the problems that we are experiencing now.

We are hoping that this testimonial will encourage you to try Chiropractic.

Sincerely,
The Staups
(Ray, Diana and Amy)

"Arthritis, Pain & Swelling disapper after Chiropractic Care"

My legs were always aching and I would have cramps in them and pain in the knees. My left knee was very swollen and both knees often would go out of joint. When this would occur, it was very painful and difficult to walk. It was so worrisome that I felt must have cancer in my legs.

I had extensive x-rays taken which revealed arthritis in both knees, which was affecting the circulation to my legs and feet.

I was on several different medications including as many as 18 aspirins a day, and cortisone shots. This at times would give me temporary relief. I developed a highly acid stomach and a hiatal hernia as a result of the medications. All of this was affecting my work.

I then decided to see if Chiropractic could help me. After the second SPECIFIC Chiropractic Adjustment, my legs felt stronger and after three weeks of adjustments the swelling had gone down on the left knee and I no longer have pain in my legs or cramps. I am also able to walk much better now.

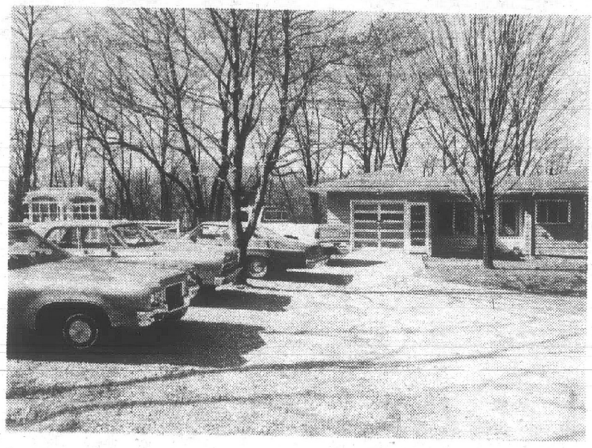
PANZA CHIROPRACTIC CENTER



As you approach the Panza Chiropractic Center, you will find plenty of parking space available.

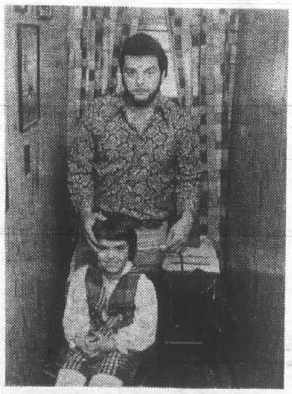
Reception Area. Patients have a comfortable waiting area in a very relaxed atmosphere.

WHAT IS CHIROPRACTIC?

X-Ray -- It is the usual policy at the office that most patients be spinographed (x-ray). This is to determine the area of verebral subluxation (vertebra out of place, putting pressure on a nerve). Almost all insurance companies cover chiropractic x-rays. The office utilizes the latest in radiographic equipment.

Patient being examined with Neurocalograph. The neurocalograph is an instrument that detects heat given off by a vertebral subluxation. It was invented by Dr. Dossa D. Evans and researched extensively by the man who developed Chiropractic, Dr. B.J. Palmer. With an instrument such as this, the chiropractor can check the spine and determine when an adjustment is necessary. This instrument is also used to monitor the nervous system. It was Dr. Palmer's opinion that the neurocalograph was invaluable because it enabled the chiropractor to know scientifically when or when not a patient needed an adjustment.

Dr. Panza explaining x-rays to patients, Mr. and Mrs. Glen Fox. It is the opinion of Dr. Panza that every patient receive a complete and private explanation, analysis and consultation. Also, each patient has the right to know exactly what is expected of them and what they can expect of Chiropractic. Every individual patient has peace of mind knowing what the problem is and what can be done to correct it. By viewing their x-ray, the patient has the opportunity to discuss them with Dr. Panza and know exactly the cause, degree of severity and possible solution to their problem.



Lorrie being checked with Chirometer. The Chirometer is an instrument that also detects heat given off by a vertebral subluxation. Children need to be checked by a chiropractor the same as adults, because they are susceptible to injuries. It is much better to prevent a problem, before symptoms appear, during adulthood. By starting children under Chiropractic care, it will lead them to a happier and healthier life.

The Adjustment Specific

Dr. Panza utilizes the Upper Cervical Specific HIO Chiropractic Adjustment, which is completely painless. Dr. B.J. Palmer, the developer of Chiropractic knew that specific upper cervical adjusting is Chiropractic. Why? The brain is the generator of life energy. This life energy must flow from the brain to all parts of the body by way of the nervous system. As long as there is no obstruction between the brain and the body, there is not a problem -- hence the body functions at 100%. However, if one of the bones in the upper cervical spine becomes displaced (subluxation) it will cause a decrease of the life energy into the body. Example: If 20 percent of life energy is being blocked by a hard bone on a soft nerve, the body will only receive 80 percent life energy and it will not and cannot function at 100 percent. It is the task of the chiropractor to locate and remove interference to the life energy.

And, it is this interference to the life energy that is the cause of dis-ease. Chiropractors do not cure anyone. The body ehals itslef. (The power that made the body heals the body). Chiropractors realize nature needs no help at all, just no interference. They locate and remove nerve interference and Nature does the healing.

CHIROPRACTIC

It is the duty of your Chiropractor to make it possible for Nature to get you well and happy again. It is within his power to permit life-giving impulses to flow normally to the afflicted or diseased organs of your body. It is his earnest desire to adjust the cause for your pain or suffering — no matter what your present condition nor its extent of development.

You, too, can be benefited by

READ THIS SENTENCE:

FINISHED FILES ARE THE RESULT OF YEARS OF SCIENTIFIC STUDY COMBINED WITH THE EXPERIENCE OF YEARS.

Now count aloud the F's in the sentence. Count them ONLY ONCE, don't go back and count them again. Turn this card around for the correct answer.

There are Six F's in this sentence. The ordinary person will find three of them. If you spotted four - you are above average.

Chiropractic has proven to be the most sane, safe and natural way to attain and maintain health. It is the most modern of all sciences.

Chiropractors put nothing into the body nor do they take anything away from it. They deal with causes – not symptoms.

They simply locate and correct interferences to normal nerve control in order that the Power that made the body can heal the body.

"DON'T QUIT"

When things go wrong, as they sometimes will,
When the road you're treading seems all uphill,
When the funds are low and the debts are high,
And you want to smile, but you have to sigh,
When care is pressing you down a bit,
Rest, if you must, but don't you quit.

Life is queer with its twists and turns,
As everyone of us sometimes learns,
And many a failure comes about
When he might have won had he stuck it out;
Don't give up, though the pace seems slow—
You might succeed with another blow.

Success is failure turned inside out—
The silver tint of the clouds of doubt—
And you never can tell how close you are,
It may be near when it seems afar;
So stick to the fight when you're hardest hit—
It's when things seem worst that you mustn't quit.

Tecumseh High School junior, Lynne Wikle, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Wikle, 801 River Acres Drive, has been awarded an Operation Bentley Fellowship to participate in a two-week workshop in local and state government.

Operation Bentley is held at Olivet College each spring to give Michigan of Michigan's political system.

At this year's workshop, Lynne will be taking part in a number of simulated units to give her experience in how Michigan's government functions at the local and state levels. The units allow the students to learn through experiencing the responsibilities and duties when public officials have in our state. She will also get an opportunity to meet and talk with a number of public office holders.

Lynne was one of sevral Tecumseh students considered for the fellowship and was chosen to participate by the staff of Professor Robert C. Fischer, Coordinator of Bentley Programs.

She will be one of only 110 students selected for this honor from the entire state.

The workshop will be held from May 16 to May 29.

Commission Drops Bike Route Plans

Planning Commission decided to abandon the plans for bicycle routes along city streets Tuesday night, until Tecumseh residents felt such routes were more important.

Jay Tressler, chairman of the bike route committee, explained that only eight of the questionaires that were distributed through The Herald's publication were returned.

He felt such general apathy showed that "not enough felt strongly enough to express positive opinion on the bicycle route."

All felt eight responses certainly could not be considered representative of the whole community.

Although the commission decided that the street routes did not deserve further consideration, they did decide to look into the idea of bicycling in the park and recreational areas. Such paths could be used for both walking and bicycling.

The Commission felt such action needed their consideration, as enough of the questionaires strongly urged the need for safety in bicycling.

OUTSTANDING PROJECTS — Three projects stood out as outstanding in Thursday and Firday's industrial, art, and home economics show at THS. Mike Koscho made an Early American coffee table, Dennis Goble made a Mahogany gun cabinet, and Brian Bird constructed a model "upside down" house.

Council Adds 2 Mills for Record City Budget

Tecumseh City Council adopted a record budget of $2,090,875 and raised city millage by two mills, from 11 to 13 mills, after a special public hearing on the budget Monday night.

Last year's budget was $1,504,461. The new budget is nearly $600,000 more. Monday's millage hike marked the first time in five years that city officials have increased local millage. In the past five-year period, council has either dropped or kept millage the same.

One major reason for the millage increase was to prevent an increase in utility rates. Millage was raised instead because most senior citizens would be eligible for complete refund from the state, the increased local tax effort provides the city with more revenue sharing funds, which are based on local tax support; and finally an increase in millage in local taxes is a deductible item for state and federal tax payers, whereas an increase in utilities is not tax deductible.

The $2 million plus budget includes some $300,000 in Federal highway funds for the planned Russell Rd. project. Over two-thirds of the monies needed to finance the proposed budget will come from federal and state collected taxes and federal grants. Local taxes pay less than a third.

Capital improvements totaling $33,000 are planned and will include: $7,000 for a wastewater plant study; $10,000 for Globe Dam repair; $5,000 for engineering reports and studies; $6,000 for downtown improvement (this revenue covered by donations by downtown merchants and others) and $5,000 for sidewalks.

Total amount to be spent on street construction is $684,650 with $663,650 for major streets: $2,650 for N. Evans from the bridge to Red Mill and $263,000 for Russell Rd. from Adrian to Mill and $398,000 for Russell Rd. from Mill to Rogers. Local street improvements include Hiawatha, Muscody and Pearl Streets for a total of $21,000.

City manager Cal Zorn pointed out that in 1970, local taxes paid for more than half the budget. This year it will pay less than one-fourth.

"Nobody likes to raise taxes. But sometimes you get to the point where you just have to," Councilwoman Mary Bowers explained. A handful of residents came to ask questions about the budget.

Last year council did not raise millage because of the Tecumseh Products Co. strike and economic problems in the county. This year, Council felt it had no alternative.

Break down of the city's expenditures for 1976-1977 fiscal year is as follows:

General Fund (general, police, fire) - $552,393 with 6.68 mills collecting $262,744 in local taxes.

Cemetery - $44,903 via .69 mills collecting $27,203 in local taxes.

Parks and Recreation - $136,356 via 2.7 mills collecting $106,046 locally.

Federal Revenue Sharing - $70,470, no local millage or taxes.

Major Streets - $798,538 via 2.42 mills collecting $95,066 locally.

Local Streets - $66,010, no local millage or taxes.

Highway Operation and Maintenance - $30,140, no local tax dollars.

Bonds - $32,100 with .51 mills providing $20,140.

Auto Parking - $12,595 with no local taxes.

Public Utilities - $270,120, no millage or local taxes.

Equipment Fund - $62,250, no millage or local tax dollars.

Special Assessment - $15,000, no millage or local taxes.

Saves Young Boy from Drowning

David Flores, 12-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Arnulfo Flores, 607 Center Drive, told The Tecumseh Herald Monday that he rescued a blond freckled faced boy about 4 years old from drowning in Evans Creek at the vicinity of Parkway Court about 1 p.m. on May 9.

Accompanied by two other companions, David said he was playing in the wooded area around the Creek when he heard a screaming child. David said he turned to see the boy splashing about helplessly in the water.

He dove in and pulled the boy out. David walked the child to the hilltop between 502 and 503 Parkway Court and asked the boy if he was all right.

The boy said "thank you" and he could find his way home. He disappeared without David ever finding out who he was.

After several calls in the neighborhood, no one could identify the young boy. However a babysitter at Parkway Court said she had seen a boy fitting the description at about 2 p.m. Sunday in the vicinity of the Creek.

David further described the boy as wearing a white T-shirt, cut-off blue jeans and green tennis shoes.

Anyone who can identify the youngster may call The Tecumseh Herald or Mrs. Flores.

Mrs. Flores told the Herald, "I'd like parents to know what happened because the area is dangerous, especially to little children. Even if there were "no trespassing" signs, a four-year-old wouldn't be able to read them."

She cautioned parents to warn children of the potential danger due to the swift current and water depths of 20 feet in some Raisin River areas frequented by youngsters in the Herrick Park area.

Talking It Out

LESTER D. PROCTOR

A Widow's Stages of Grief

The newly "widowed" each react differently to the death of a mate, to widowhood, to the possibility of an insecure or lonely future. The following observations may help, if only to indicate that certain feelings are not uncommon and will pass.

The widow progresses through several emotional stages during mourning and after the initial shock. If you and she recognize these as stages through which a widow may pass, it may enable friends and relatives to help the window work through her grieving more fully and effectively.

Sorrow is a basic emotional stage of mourning and very common, sometimes accompanied by expressions of self-pity and-or guilt. Another is anger and resentment against a "cruel world" or an "unkind" god who has taken one's mate prematurely. Fears of the unknown future "without him" as companion and breadwinner, husband and father, prime decision-maker and head of the house are not unusual to a new widow.

Anxiety/Uncertainty: "Who will provide for the family? How will I manage my finances alone?" As the widow's confidence in her own ability is strengthened, her re-entry into the world of reality may be more smoothly achieved. If you and the widow recognize these stages as natural and as fairly common to all persons in mourning, the social adjustments will come quicker and easier for her.

We welcome your questions—in private or publicly, through this column.

Clinton Village President Clayton Strolle and wife, Ruth, and village engineer Richard Sharpe and wife, Pat, will go to Gladwin on Sunday, for a Mayor Exchange Day tour monday.

A banquet for the visiting mayor will be held in conjunction with the Chamber of Commerce meeting at 6 p.m. that evening in the Clintonian Inn.

Council members and their spouses and representatives of local organizations are invited to attend the dinner.

Program will feature the historic homes of Clinton, a slide presentation prepared by the Historical Society of Clinton for the recent Clinton Day event.

Board members will continue to assist the Clinton Area Jaycees find a place for their meetings.

Board voted to actively protest the removal of the Clinton State Police Post, and to urge citizens to write personal letters to Governor Milliken and the other officials concerning the matter.

School Asks One New Mill

CLINTON — Board of Education voted at a meeting Monday to place a proposal for four mills renewal for operational funds on the June 14 school election ballot.

This will replace four mill levy which expires this year.

An additional one mill operational tax levy will be placed on the ballot in a separate proposal.

Need for the additional one-mill was explained by Superintendent Wegner because of the inflationary cost of several significant items such as gas, grease and oil, new buses, utilities, heating fuels and staff salaries.

Also, because the new state tax law has removed inventories from tax liability, school tax monies were reduced. For this reason the board considers that it will have to raise the debt retirement to 4.05, an increase of 2.17. This can be done by using options later this summer.

Mayor Day Is Monday

CLINTON — Gladwin's Mayor and Mrs. James Robertson and City Administrator Noel Bush will meet at Flint Sunday evening for dinner with the Clinton's village president, Clayton Strolle and Mrs. Strolle, and village engineer Richard Sharpe and wife, then both parties will continue on their way for the Mayor Exchange Day tours Monday.

Vote Half Mill for Fire Truck

CLINTON — Residents of Clinton Township (which includes all of the Clinton Village residents as well), will be asked to vote on a proposal to levy a one-half mill property tax for four years for the purpose of purchase of a new pumper-tanker for the Clinton Fire Department.

Proposal is on the ballot for the May 18 presidential primary election.

The one-half mill levy will not constitute an increase in property owner's tax, however, since the operating millage for the Clinton Township Library has been reduced by one-half mill, and probably will remain at the present level for several years to come.

The new fire truck will replace a 1946 pumper tanker that has a bad engine.

AARON COBB

Shoots His Way to First Place

CLINTON — Aaron Cobb, son of Clifford and Loretta Cobb of Clinton St. shot his way to a first place this year as a member of the Eastern Michigan University varsity rifle team.

Aaron, a junior majoring in business, is an ROTC cadet at EMU. He helped boost the team to an 8-1 record in this season, placing it first among eight schools in the Southern Michigan-Northern Ohio Rifle League.

A competitive shooting event usually allows 60 rounds per competitor in three different positions — prone (lying on one's stomach), kneeling and standing. He must aim at a target that is 50 feet away — a target with a bulls-eye about the size of a pin head.

To shoot on the EMU team, Coach Sgt. Maj. Spencer Gilliard requires about two hours of practice daily on the well-equipped EMU rifle range. According to the coach, practice makes perfect — almost, anyway.

During his two years as rifle coach, the EMU team has lost only two of 26 regular league matches. In national competition, the EMU shooters rank fourth in the nation.

Events will include a horse show Sunday, events for 4-H Horse Clubs, a "Market Place" with 500 or more booths of antiques, crafts, foods, Saturday and Sunday at Frontier City, M-50 Onsted Hwy.

Free entertainment will highlight the three days. Barn dances, country western and rock bands will entertain along with area marching bands. Clowns and leprechauns will provide comedy.

Muzzle loaders and Indian tribal dancers will also be featured. A Chicken-barbecue is planned.

Those interested in a horse clinic may contact Bob Cunningham, 467-7670.

The committee for the Irish Hills encampment of the Bicentennial Wagon Train is:

Patricia Mangrum, general chairperson; Harry Dodd, coordinator; Bob Cunningham, 4-H Horse program; Claude Walter, market place; Jane Henssler, entertainment; Carla Christman, food; Ron Walker, facilities; Fred Bahlau, Dennis Pelham, Ray Hamblin and Richard Egli, publicity; Richard Spadafora, treasurer; Sheriff Richard Germond, public security.

The committee emphasizes that revenue from the booth rentals, souvenir newspaper and personal donations will be used to finance the encampment of the wagon train while in the Irish Hills.

Remaining revenues will be donated to the official Michigan Wagon Train which is financed by private donations. Money earned by the booth renters is the profit of the renter.

Committee also stresses its books are open and a public financial statement will be made after the event.

Delva Jean Jones, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Jones of E. Valley Rd. will receive a $900 Michigan Business Schools Association Scholarship. Students are awarded the scholarship based on academic record, participation in student activities and recommendation from the high school counselor. Delva plans to attend Jackson Business University. Recently moved here with her family from Idaho, she is a senior at Tecumseh High School.

Reaffirm Your Beliefs

You can reaffirm your belief in the constitutional ideals of our nations' Founding Fathers by signing one of the scrolls at Tecumseh Public Library during regular hours.

These scrolls will be presented to the wagon master of the Bicentennial Wagon Train on May 24 when it encamps in Tecumseh.

The scrolls will be carried to Valley Forge for ceremonies on July 4.

This is one way to make a personal tribute to America's 200th Birthday, suggested Robert Glenn, local coordinator for the wagon trains visit.

Trees Labeled, More Sought for '77

Red, white and blue ribbons, tied by the three Tecumseh Garden Clubs on trees of unusual age and beauty will help you see the trees from the forest, so to speak, in the Tecumseh School District.

The Bicentennial project consisted of the selection of 25 trees this year for permanent labeling with botanical and common names. Labels were made by Maurice McIntosh, 4315 Dillingham Drive.

A card file is being started by the Tecumseh garden clubs and hopefully, more trees will be nominated so the project will continue on a county-wide basis next year.

To study the card file of trees designated this year, contact either the Little Garden Club, Town and Country Garden Club or Tecumseh Garden Club.

Jack Wilkie, naturalist at Hidden Lake Gardens in Tipton, was consultant for the project. He highlighted four locations in the Tecumseh area which feature mature, attractive trees:

The cottonwood at the Community Center, measuring about 17½ feet in circumference.

The Scotch Pines alligning the Stacy House, 710 W. Chicago Blvd.

Burr Oaks concentrated on Union and Brown Streets and on Occidental and Russell Roads.

White oaks and a number of attractive, mature trees along the Tecumseh Country Club property.

Other specimens for tree watchers noted by the garden club include:

A Blue Ash located near Evans Creek at the south edge of Brookside Cemetery on North Union St. This specimen is perhaps the largest in Michigan measuring 13 feet 4 inches in circumference. It can be recognized by its twigs which are almost square and have edges instead of being round.

An Austrian Pine, "a standout in the community" is located on Tecumseh-Macon Rd.

A red oak tree at the United Methodist Church on Bishop Reed Dr.

A nicely developed River Birch, known for its thin and peely, almost shaggy, reddish brown bark, is located at 1003 River Acres Drive. The River Birch is resistant to birch bore.

A Sour Gum tree is located at 900 Red Mill Drive and is distinguished by its fall color.

A Ginko tree is located at 205 E. Pottawatamie. Sometimes known as one of the living fossils, it is closely related to trees now extinct. It is one of the best trees for city planting since it appears to be immune to common tree diseases. However, the male tree started from a grafting of another male tree, should be planted, since the female fruit has a repulsive odor.

A Zelkova tree, distantly related to the elm tree, is located near 501 W. Pottawatamie and may be the only such specimen in Tecumseh.

Two Chinese Chestnuts are located at 208 W. Chicago Blvd.

Horsechestnuts are located at 103 W. Brown St. and 221 N. Evans St. The Chestnut tree is a vanishing breed in the United States because of disease.

A Japanese maple at 310 E. Logan St., has grown to the roof lines, an unusual height for this specimen.

The weeping elm, a dwarf elm tree related to the Scotch elm, is located at 303 W. Chicago Blvd.

Polygraph Examiner Reveals the Truth

Al Vanderpool, polygraph examiner for the city of Ann Arbor, explained the use of polygraph tests to the Business and Professional Woman's Club. The April meeting was held at the St. John's Episcopal Church, Clinton and the church women served dinner.

Vanderpool explained that persons taking the polygraph test must first give consent. The examiner goes over each question with the person and these may only be asked. A trained examiner can give an accurate reading of the results and these have an influence even though they can't be used as evidence in a trial.

Marion Nixon was awarded for her poem "Migration" at the Michigan Federation of Women's Clubs meeting.

Anyone who has changed her address or phone number should contact Charlotte Boyce who is updating the membership list.

Katherine Readman will be installed as president at the June meeting.

Other officers are first vice-president, Betty Cameron, second vice president, BArbara Johnson, recording secretary Claire Wise, corresponding secretary, Florence Fuller and treasurer Janice Creswell.

Naomi Sallows, Mabel Lockwood and Ethel Hammack were appointed to choose a Bicentennial Senior Citizen of the year.

Two boys will graduate from Mrs. John Pobuda's Orthopedic Room. Virginia Dixon, Julie Titley and Betty Flanders are the refreshment committee for the occasion.

Mrs. Pearson Shows Slides

Barbara Schrader is president elect of the Town and Country Garden Club for 1976-77.

Other officers are Mary Ferguson, vice-president; Toni Schneider, treasurer; and Carol Nelson, secretary; Donna Birdsell, membership chairman.

Mrs. Neil Pearson hosted the May meeting at her home. Mrs. Pearson, a member of the Tecumseh Garden Club, showed slides she accumulated over the many years of the perennials in her garden, known as one of the finest in Tecumseh.

Geranium and plant sales, two recent fund raising efforts, were both successful. Funds from the plant sale will be used to purchase supplies for the group's Hidden Lake Garden Rock Garden project.

An arrangement of lilacs entitled "An Old Fashioned Garden" was prepared by Mrs. Toni Schneider. Cohostesses for the meeting were Mrs. Barbara Feldman and Mrs. Louise Trainor.

Members exchanged perennial plants.

The June 2 meeting will be at the home of Mary Kansas.

Cook 'Melting Pot'

A taste of the world came to Siena Heights College Thursday evening when a group of students in an international cuisine class prepared their big dinner, "The Melting Pot."

Under the direction of Marilee Purse, director of the food service, lodging and institutional management program and Tecumseh resident, the class cooked for more than 50 people.

More than eight countries were represented through their native foods.

Two weeks of planning went into the dinner, Mrs. Purse said, adding that if the manhours were combined at least four days and nights of food preparation would have been required to prepare the elaborate and time-consuming dishes.

TECUMSEH EVANGELICAL FRIENDS CHURCH, 9390 Tecumseh-Clinton Rd., dedicated in 1969; the Rev. Dane Ruff.

200 Years of Religious Freedom

The Quakers of Tecumseh, the fourth group of the Society of Friends to be founded in Lenawee County, commenced to hold their meetings at the home of Aaron Comfort and Samuel Satterthwaite in the year 1842.

These two settlers were the founders of the local society. Their families, in which occurred three intermarriages constituted the entire membership of the original society.

At a still earlier date, Friends from Tecumseh and Macon worshipped at the Raisin Valley Friends Meeting, which was established in 1831 and which today stands about seven miles southwest of Tecumseh, at Birdsall, Valley Rd. and M-52.

In 1843 Tecumseh Friends purchased the old Presbyterian Session House and moved it into the southwest portion of the village; this served as the house of worship for nearly 50 years. This building, now used as a home is located on the corner of Adrian and W. Cummins St.

According to his life story, "David Lewis was called as pastor, to Raisin Valley, where he lived for one year, giving his sabbath mornings to that meeting and the evenings to Tecumseh, seven miles away. His heart seemed set upon this meeting, to build upon its vast places. As a revival progressed and interest and numbers increased, a plan was laid for a new and larger church in a more convenient location. This plan was developed and executed the following summer, and near the middle of November, 1891, the new church, carpeted and cushioned throughout, lighted and heated, was dedicated without a cent of debt."

Among the gifts of money from Eastern Friends, secured through the efforts of David Lewis, was the gift from John Greenleaf Whittier, one of America's best loved poets, also a Quaker.

Up to the time of David Lewis it was the custom of the Tecumseh Friends not to employ a regular pastor, but to permit any of the members of the meeting, be he layman or clergyman, to occupy the pulpit.

Under the faithful leadership of Edward Escolme through his 39 years from 1918 to 1957, a great many changes and additions to the church building were made.

The church not only made material progress but through the years there has been a steady increase in membership. Through the medium of radio, Edward Excolme, extended the spiritual influence of the church throughout Southeastern Michigan by means of the "Quaker Gospel Hour" on W.A.B.J.

In 1957 Edward Escolme left the meeting to join the Yearly Meeting Staff and Paul Brantingham became the new pastor. During the 13 years he ministered up to 1970, many things were accomplished both materially and spiritually.

In 1965 the pastor and some of the members envisioned a new location and larger facilities. Through the pastor's leadership and guidance property was purchased north of the city limits and extending to the Raisin River. In 1969 a church was built at a cost of $450,464. The property includes a parsonage and sheltered recreation area overlooking the Raisin River.

The old church property was sold to the Church of God. The Friends Church has continued to grow numerically and spiritually. There are 317 members.

In 1970, the Rev. Dane Ruff was engaged to be pastor and ministers today. Brooks Martin is the first assistant pastor who began his ministry in Tecumseh about two years ago. His family resides at the assistant's parsonage on Brown St.

Many of the young people of Tecumseh Friends Church are in Christian work, including the foreign missions, campus crusade and pastoral work.

Tecumseh Friends Church has a rich spiritual heritage and has maintained a steady growth these many years.

FLORIDA MEMORIES

What a wonderful, wonderful time we have had in Florida. I have tried to share many of our adventures; however, thinking back over the past months, there are so many nice things which never found their way into an article. Things such as---

Florida's incredibly blue skies. Picture the most beautiful June sky, so blue and with such pretty white clouds, and imagine seeing it not just once or twice but oh, so many, many times from Oct. 15. Unbelievable.

Then there was the time the little green heron stood on the edge of the island in exactly the right light to show off his surprisingly bright orange-red legs and feet. This little guy has big feet too — his colorful toes are long and slender. This heron's flying silhouette is strange. He has no tail to speak of which gives him a decidedly 'cut-off' look.

I have strong opinions about waking up in the morning. (Perhaps objections would be a better word than opinions.) Never-the-less one morning Mom and I enjoyed the most delightful 'alarm clock'. Dad heard not a thing but Mom and I were awakened by a mockingbird.

He was sitting on the corner of the porch roof and his song was beautifully loud and clear. His repertoire was large and, as he went through all of his imitations and their variations, we were thrilled. I could actually learn to like waking up to this kind of performance.

The actions in the herons' nests have been just great. The old dead tree held five bulky nests and all were successful. When heron chicks are first old enough and have gained the strength to stand up, what a sight they make.

As they stretch to catch a glimpse of this big wide world they — well, at least the ones we saw from our patio, resembled nothing except ping-pong balls on the top of skinny pipe-cleaners.

These same babies, in a surprisingly short time, began to resemble herons. Then they started spending parts of each day exercising. At first the work-outs were merely wing-flapping but soon jumping up and down was added. It was exactly like the scenes so beautifully captured on some of the nature films which are shown on choice TV programs.

It is interesting how the gull population over the lake changes. The herring-gulls and their friends are long gone. In their place, we have black-headed laughing gulls and really, to describe the noise they make it almost impossible. It is loud, harsh, and yes, it does sound like slightly demented laughter.

One afternoon as we turned into the drive, after having enjoyed a short outing, a laughing gull was standing on our neighbors' roof. It was in trouble. A longish minnow or some equally tasty tidbit dangled from its bill and a large bully of a boat-tail grackle was trying to act the role of a sneak-thief.

Suddenly another laughing gull appeared and placed himself protectively in front of the harassed gull. Being outnumbered, the boat-tail left.

Oh, what bliss and why do they only talk about doves billing and cooing!

The two gulls sat shoulder-to-shoulder, shared the food, rubbed bills, and I am sure whispered tender nothings to each other.

Also busy over our lake now are the least terns. Elegant, 8½ inches long, white birds with black head markings, they have long slender wings and slightly forked tails. They must also have hard heads — how they keep from 'batting their brains out' is a mystery.

Flying quite fast up and down the lake they will suddenly spot something, which must look like dinner, and simply quit flying. Plummeting like a dropped stone they go straight down and head first into the water. (Thump!)

There are so many more things we have enjoyed during this, our second season, in Florida. But now it is time to begin thinking about Michigan and I freely admit that we three Duncans are getting anxious to see our friends and Tecumseh again.

250 Attend Co-op Banquet

Ninth annual Lenawee County Employer-Employe Co-op banquet was held May 11 and 12 at 6:30 p.m. each evening.

Approximately 250 students attended the banquet with their employers.

This year 19 coordinators are working with the students. The banquets have come to be so successful that there are too many people to gather on one night. It has been necessary to divide the schools so that half could come on one night and half the next night.

Schools attending May 11 were Addison, Clinton, Hudson, Morenci, Onsted and Tecumseh.

On May 12 they were Adrian, Blissfield, Britton, Deerfield, Madison and Sand Creek.

Garden Visitors Welcome

by KATHY BROWN

As the florist industry says, "Flowers Do It!" And Tecumseh could offer no finer welcome to visitors during Promenade the Past than with a walk through tour of Mrs. Neil Pearson's garden at 501 W. Pottawatamie.

Located one block south and the second block west of the designer house, Mrs. Pearson's garden has been acclaimed by neighbors and gardeners as one of Tecumseh's finest.

The well-planned garden has prolific blooms all season long, from the early spring wildflowers to the later season perennials of many varieties.

The English style dooryard garden is surrounded by a white picket fence which has been open to many visitors for the almost 40 years the Pearsons have resided in the home.

Lilacs of several varieties are in full bloom this week. They add a welcoming and fragrant touch to the Federal style home.

During the tour, Mrs. Pearson also expects to have blooming dwarf iris, late season tulips, Virginia bluebells, Leopardsbane, Verbena, violas and a variety of rock garden plants and wild flowers.

"Tecumseh Gold" developed by the late Neil Pearson, is one of the special hybrid iris in the garden.

Period arrangements by members of the Little Garden Club will grace the inside of the home on May 16 and 17 for the special, two-day flower show, "Periods Make a Point."

Even at age 83, Mrs. Pearson manages to keep her garden a showplace. Her ability to touch the floor with her knuckles would put many young people to the test.

For many people, lawns and gardens mean drudgery. But Mrs. Pearson's philosophy is "Sure it takes work, but work ought to be pleasurable. To me gardening is a pleasure."

And what is the secret of her "green thumb?"

"Garden cleanliness is the first rule," Mrs. Pearson states. In addition to constant weeding, Mrs. Pearson carefully thins her plants. "I don't care how beautiful they are. After all the definition of a weed is a plant out of place," she stated firmly.

What does it take to be a gardener?

"A love of gardening and knowledge which is free for the reading," told Mrs. Pearson.

Mrs. Pearson has been a major influence to beautify Tecumseh. A graduate of Michigan State University with a botany degree, she is an active speaker for gardening. She is a charter member of the Tecumseh Garden Club and organized both the Little Garden Club and the Town and Country Garden Club.

Her other community service activities have included the Red Cross, Herrick Hospital Auxiliary, Lenawee County Historical Society, Daughters of the American Revolution and other civic and conservation efforts. She has four children.

Architecture enthusiasts might be interested in knowing the Pearson home was built in Federal style circa 1852 by Lewis B. Addis.

This style was popular on the East coast from 1780 to 1825. Developed by Thomas Jefferson, the style was inspired by ancient Roman architecture. It reached Tecumseh about the Same time as Greek Revival, of which there are several examples in the Tecumseh area.

Pilasters flank the front door of the Pearson home. The door knob has an intricate brass escuthcheon on both sides. On the door frame is a peculiar "signature" found only in one other house — that of Clara Waldron's at 601 W. Pottawatamie. This indicates that one man probably built both houses at the same time. The front windows still have the original glass.

The floor on which visitors will enter is built on black walnut joists, supported by hand-hewn oak beams. The frame of the house is made with interlocking joints.

The house is virtually unchanged since its construction, except for the removal of two stoops in 1940 and the addition of a small-paned bay window in 1949, and the closing of the back porch. The home has been excellently preserved.

Along the Potomac River . . . close to the Pennsylvania border . . . and near Washington, D.C., our nation's capital . . .

It's fun to look at the whole world, and then put your finger on the place where YOU live. It makes you realize how important you are!

During this Bicentennial year we know that EVERYBODY in our nation is important. People can own land and houses and tractors. They can read the truth. They can think for themselves, and say what they think. They can assemble together to celebrate, or plan — or protest.

And they can worship God . . . in the church they choose . . . and bring their children . . . and support their church . . . and volunteer their talents in its work.

Nobody can padlock God's House — or turn it into a museum!

Here's where I live, THANK GOD! We thank Him best by using ALL our freedoms . . .

You Told Us

If you haven't already gotten your tickets, you should plan on visiting Promenade the Past, the designer's open house at 309 W. Chicago Blvd. This Sunday you'll receive a bonus for your visit: the Promenade Trio will provide chamber music and the Little Garden Club flower show will display at the designers' home and at Mrs. Neil Pearson's home. Flower show continues on Monday.

Some people have mistaken the tour as part of the Bicentennial SELL-A-BRATION. Quite the contrary. Proceeds will be used by the three civic groups for community development projects. Furthermore, the designers are decorating the house out of their own pocketbooks.

Finally, this project would not have gotten off the ground without the literal cast of thousands, including "friends of friends," who have VOLUNTEERED their services to make the community project a fitting tribute to Tecumseh's pioneer spirit in 1976.

Greatest Debris of Road Clean-up Is Cans, Bottles

by KATHY BROWN

Tecumseh Band Boosters were surprised during the recent road side clean up to find that throwaway bottles and cans made up the greatest share of the debris. Statistics show that throwaways are 62 percent of the volume of highway litter.

Other residents in the Tecumseh area are equally concerned about throwaway litter and have asked the Tecumseh Herald what can be done to ban non-returnable bottles.

HB 4296, which requires deposits on bottles and cans has been in the House Appropriations Committee since last November.

However the Michigan United Conservation Club is spearheading a petition drive which can accomplish the same end as HB 4296.

MUCC needs 300,000 petition signatures by June 1 to place the bottle ban question on the November state ballot.

Locally, the petition is being circulated by the county League of Women Voters.

If any group or individual in the Tecumseh area wishes to sign a petition or circulate one, call Donna Crudder, 423-3331 or write the MUCC, P.O. Box 2235, Lansing, Michigan 48911.

The League of Women Voters has made the ban of throwaways one of its environmental quality priorities for 1976. The local league is an infant organization, having gotten off the ground this year. It serves the entire county and is now gathering information on county government, to be published later.

Other interestes of the League of Women Voters includes legislation, voters service, and Observers Corp.

If any one in the Tecumseh area is interested in the League, call Mrs. Crudder at 423-3331.

MEMORIAM

In loving memory of my sweet mother Mary P. Jones, who passed away 17 years ago May 12, 1959.
To know her was to love her.
Both for family and friend.
And the sweetness of her memory.
Time can neither dim nor end.
Still sadly missed by her loving daughter Lee Horton and family. 5-13p

Wagon Train Arriving Here Next Monday

Tecumseh will welcome the National Bicentennial Wagon Train with 40-50 wagons and perhaps as many as 400-600 riders on Monday, May 24. The train, enroute to Valley Forge on July 4th, is scheduled to arrive in Tecumseh at 3:30 p.m., approaching the city from Tecumseh-Clinton Rd.

At least two Tecumseh men, Harold Easton and Bill Feight Sr., will ride with the train as members of the Lenawee County Sherrif's Posse, joining the train on US-12 at the Lenawee-Hillsdale County line. Together with the state and local police they will help direct traffic in conjunction with the Michigan State Department of Highways and Transportation.

The wagon train will be directed west on Brown St., south on North Union Street, east on West Chicago Blvd. past the "Promenade the Past" designers' open house, and then north on North Ottawa to the athletic field, which will be the wagon train's encampment for Monday night.

At the encampment, the American Legion plans to serve a community dinner beginning at 5:30 p.m. Two hundred and fifty people of the official wagon train will be fed free of charge.

Public is welcome to the bean and frank dinner with corn bread and coffee for $1.50 charge. The Legion hopes the public charge will cover costs to feed the official visitors.

A concession stand and official souvenirs of the wagon train will be available on the field.

Tecumsh area residents may take this opportunity to rededicate themselves to the precepts of the founding fathers: ". . .We hold these thruths to be self evident, that all men are created equal, that they are endowed by their creator with certain unalienable rights, that among these are Life, Liberty and the pursuit of Happiness..."

Special scrolls with the Preamble of the Constitution are now available for anyone to sign at the Tecumseh Public Library until Monday night. Scrolls will then be presented to the wagon master at a special ceremony.

The Rev. B.O. Bashore is master of ceremonies for a combined local and wagon tain talent show, which begins at the athletic field at 7:30 p.m.

The Sally Covell dancers and the Tecumseh High School Stage Band will entertan. The wagon train will present a 40-minute show emphasizing the patriotic and pioneer spirit of America.

The wagon train will encamp Friday, Saturday and Sunday at Frontier City on M-50 in the Irish Hills.

The Rev. Allan Gray of the Tecumseh United Methodist Church will officiate at a wedding ceremony uniting two members of the wagon train in marriage at Frontier City Saturday evening, May 22.

Work Will Make Street over Twice Present Width

Detailed plans received from the State Highway Department specify the exact work to be done on Chicago Blvd. this summer.

The plans at city hall show:

•Maumee St. - E. Chicago Blvd. intersection - lengthen turning radius at the southwest corner for truck traffic turning right off E. Chicago into S. Maumee.

•Union St. - W. Chicago Blvd. intersection - widen east side of S. Union by four feet to a point about 150 feet south of intersection for a turning lane.

•Sunset Dr. westward to city limits - widen present W. Chicago Blvd. from its present 22 feet by adding seven feet of bituminous concrete on both the north and south sides, making the street width 36 feet for a middle or turning lane. An additional eight-foot paved shoulder on both sides will actually make the total street's hard surface area 52 feet wide, about two and a half times its present width.

•W. Chicago Blvd. at city limits - street will be tapered from three lanes to two lanes, and M-50 will have new three-foot, paved shoulders west to M-52.

•Miscellaneous work - all culverts and drives west of Sunset will be moved or changed, and at least 10 trees will be removed.

Also included in the work program will be new paving for Chicago Blvd. from Wyandotte to the west city limits.

ROGER PROCTOR

More on Widowhood: "The Fifth-Wheel Syndrome"

As a happy, energetic couple, Sally and Tom bowled, sang in a choir, were members of a bridge club and entertained often. After Tom died, Sally was encouraged to continue in the choir, attend bridge games and "come out and bowl" as before.

But it wasn't AS BEFORE. Choir was okay, because there weren't couples. Bridge and bowling was another matter. When filling-in as a fourth at bridge--or on her old bowling team, she felt like an unneeded fifth wheel," out of place with couples, out of favor in her (and Tom's) old crowd.

Recommended social activities a widow (or widower) might pursue would be those not requiring couples, those in which the widow has an individual interest.

Often during the course of a fine and happy marriage, one mate may enjoy a specific activity that the other does not enjoy. As a widow, she may now pursue that activity freely. Sometimes people don't, though, because they feel guilty...as if enjoying the activity now would be unfair to the deceased mate.

This should not be a consideration. Rather, it is an opportunity to express a part of one's own self, something not expressed before, during married life.

Realizing one's own individuality and capabilities helps build up courage, and makes a widow's social re-entry less difficult.

Consumers Power Company's EQUAL MONTHLY PAYMENT PLAN
It can help you, too!

Balancing the budget is not easy, but it certainly helps when I know that my utility bill will be the same amount each month—and budget for it. You can enjoy this convenience, too, if you enroll in Consumers Power's "Equal Monthly Payment Plan." Under this Plan, the total cost of the energy you use is averaged over a period of a year. Then this cost is divided into twelve equal payments. You pay that amount each month. May is the final month of the "Equal Payment Year," and at that time your account is adjusted for any overpayment or underpayment. There's no extra charge for this extra service. You can sign up at any time, but your monthly payments will be lowest if you start the Plan in June.

A quick phone call to our Customer Service department can answer your questions about the "Equal Monthly Payment Plan." Brochures also are available at all Company offices.

You Told Us

by Kathy Brown

The Kennedy House, which had been located at 123 N. Ottawa, met its fate with the bulldozer last year despite efforts by local historians and preservationists to restore it. Fortunately from the brick pile a corner site has emerged, instead of a parking lot, at least for the time being. And the purple wisteria, clinging to an evergreen for support is now in full bloom, as of this writing.

Showing its grape-like clusters of flowers, it is like a Phoenix, a fitting tribute to the Kennedy House.

Perhaps few readers would agree with the sentimental description, but after all, this is the "Rubber Neck Season" for those who relish good architecture and interesting plants.

And as one Tecumseh friend said, "If you ever read my name in the accidents listed weekly in the Tecumseh Herald, it will probably be because I was looking at an interesting flower or building."

By the way, congratulations to all you who have been participating in the "Look Up Tecumseh" contest. Newcomers to "Rubber Neck Club" are always welcome.

HERE AND THERE

I find myself in a most strange and confusing time scramble. I am dictating here in Florida but, when these words are seen in print, we Duncans will be in Tecumseh or at least within a few days of it.

So we all find ourselves enjoying these last few beautiful days in Florida, trying to remember the million and four things to be done before we leave and all of a sudden, wondering how friends and things are in Michigan.

Just adding to the confusion is the fact that we are without wheels. Yes, the station-wagon is in Tecumseh. And how strange it seems not to have a car parked in the carport ready for a quick run to the post-office or supermarket.

Here, just as in Michigan, we are blessed with fine and thoughtful friends. Were it not for the Rogers and our Sun Valley neighbors (as well as the refrigerator and frozen foods) this couple of carless weeks would be impossible.

As it is, we are rather enjoying this short time. I won't say that our existence is stripped down to the bare essentials but it is surprising how some of the pressure is off our daily lives.

We packed much of it in the station-wagon and sent it to Tecumseh. With the typewriter gone those long over-due letters are not haunting us; with no cameras there is no worry about all of the pictures we intended to take but didn't; with the bookkeeping drawers cleaned out another headache is gone; with no binoculars or bird books any newcomer or exciting happening will simply be enjoyed with no "conscience-pricking" for working it into a future article.

At times even the things we enjoy can become so demanding that a short vacation from them is enjoyable.

Gertie T's last letter spoke about such beautiful springtime things as nesting robins and blossoming apple trees.

This caused us to wonder about our dogwood tree. How is this for the height of irony—for eight to twelve years we babied this tree along, gave it all the TLC we could, and impatiently waited for it to bloom.

I was a mere 3 ft. high transplant from Maryland when we planted it, and although it grew well, seemed to thrive in fact, no blossoms.

Finally we read that these trees are finicky bloomers and, at best, do not have many of those lovely white flowers until they are well established and quite a few years old.

Just when we began visiting Florida the tree decided to bloom. Sometimes we see it in full glory, sometimes not.

We keep wondering what other trees and shrubs and flowers will and will not be at their peak. So much depends upon the weather and we keep hearing reports that Michigan is enjoying (?) unprecedented cold, unseasonable hot, too much rain, not enough moisture and a few dreadfully late snowflakes.

We do not know what to expect but are anxious to find out.

Florida has had far more than its share of cold weather. There was damage to its citrus crop and a great loss of ornamental plantings suffered.

So infrequent is this killing cold that many people take the gamble and plant the tender non-cold hearties. This year many lost the bet and their plants.

Even the trees and shrubs not killed suffered cold weather shock and were late in blooming.

Dunbar's allamandas are just now full of those big waxy, yellow blossoms. This should have happened some weeks ago.

And thinking of things being on schedule, spirea, iris and peonies should make Tecumseh look nice for Memorial Day. Will they?

Yes, this is a mind-boggling time for the Duncans. My articles title is "HERE AND THERE" and that indeed is where our minds are, but right now, I am not sure to what the words refer. Is Tecumseh here, Tarpon Springs there or vice-versa?

200 Years of Religious Freedom

The congregation of the Gloria Dei Lutheran Evangelical Church has witnessed a salient growth since its organization on the first Sunday in Lent, 1957.

Originally services with 54 charter members were conducted in the local high school. Later that year, the first councilmen, namely, Don Buell, Herman Dick, Harry Farwell, Dean Hamilton, Thomas Kampmueller, Edward Mengerink, Stan Rentschler, William Rohweder and James Tonneberger purchased Brownville School, renovated by Henry Ford during the 1930's and the two acres of the adjoining land.

After renovation by the churchmen, worship services were begun in the centurial structure in late 1957.

Since its organization, the congregation has been served by three pastors. The Rev. Robert Bergman was installed in June, 1958. Until 1959, the Rev. Victor Gruhn served as interim pastor.

Dr. Laszlo Gero, present pastor from Cleveland, Ohio, delivered his first sermon on Nov. 22, 1959, and accepted the call from the congregation and was installed as pastor of Gloria Dei on Jan. 17, 1960.

Groundbreaking ceremonies for the present church were held on Palm Sunday, April 7, 1963.

The church was built at a cost of $90,000-$60,000 donated by an anonymous donor, $10,000 was to be pledged by the congregation. The church was the first step in a church development project.

Dedication services were held on Reformation Sunday, Oct. 27, 1963 for the church. Seating capacity is 225 persons. In December, 1968, the historic Brownville school, now Luther Hall was dedicated.

The building's history was demonstrated in slides, pictures and articles. Once again after a face lifting, the old school became a place of learning. This time boys and girls studied the word of God.

During the church's brief history the congregation has grown from 54 charter members to its present membership of 429 with 326 confirmed adult members. Sunday School attendance numbers 28 children.

Other organizations in the congregation include the Lutheran Church Women, Luther League, three choirs, which include the Junior Choir, Youth Choir and the Chancel Choir. The choirs are directed by Mrs. Earl Mason, now in her 10th year as director of the choirs and organist.

BOOK MARK
News from the Tecumseh Library

Quite a few new non-fiction books for children have been added at the Tecumseh Public Library. One special book, AND NOW WE ARE A FAMILY, was written by Judith C. Meredith to help explain adoption to children, and is based upon her own family's experience.

One of the best books on the subject of mythical creatures and monsters is THE BEASTS OF NEVER. The author, Georgess McHargue already has written many successful books of children's fantasy. This is both entertaining and thorough.

Brian Alderson selected many children's nursery rhymes for CAKES AND CUSTARD but Halen Oxenbury's illustrations add a large portion of fun. (They look as if she were raised by Kate Greenaway, the old-fashioned 19th century illustrator, and Charles Addams of Addams Family fame.)

Today's newspapers and movies create built-in interest in Franklyn Branley's SHAKES, QUAKE, AND SHIFTS. THE DESERT IS THEIRS by Byrd Baylor, however is more unusual with its nearly poetic look at the people, land, and animals of the desert.

GORILLA, GORILLA by Carol Fenner is a beautifully told and illustrated story of a male gorilla from his jungle birth to youth in a zoo. A haunting book that you're sure to remember.

An award-winning B.B.C. Program and subsequent national primary school usage are the origins of Margaret Sheffield's WHERE DO BABIES COME FROM?

Another useful book for parents is MY DENTIST by Harlow Rockwell, a simple, attractive explanation of what to expect on that first visit to the dentist's chair.

For recreation try Shirley Glubok's historical look at DOLLS, DOLLS, DOLLS or THE FIRESIDE BOOK OF FUN AND GAME SONGS collected and edited by Marie Winn.

Catch points by reading BE A WINNER IN BASKETBALL by Charles Coombs. For the youngest, a book is available on JUDO; A GENTLE BEGINNING by Jeannette Bruce.

Armchair drivers should like QUARTER - MILE COMBAT: THE EXPLOSIVE WORLD OF DRAG RACING by Robert B. Jackson. Gentler enjoyment for beginning readers includes puns and riddles in John Ciardi's delightful poetry book, I MET A MAN.

THE ARCTIC AND THE ANTRACTIC; WHAT LIVES THERE is Lee Pennock Huntington's look at Earth's last frontier.

An early American explorer, ROBERT CAVELIER de LASALLE is interestingly studied by W.J. Jacobs using prints, documents, and maps of the 1680's.

For light-hearted history, don't miss WHO'S THAT STEPPING ON PLYMOUTH ROCK? by Jean Fritz — quite a lot has happened to it.

When Elizabeth Fernea, her anthropologist husband and three children moved into the Moroccan section of Marrakech, she hoped to learn about their culture and make some interesting friends.

After three months of living among the veiled, hooded people she was as much a stranger as before. However she faces unexpected ironic tests of her own as she tells us in A STREET IN MARRAKECH.

Each of the short stories in THE SNOW WALKER by Farley Mowat describes, not only the cruelty and hardships of life in the Arctic but also tells of the beauty of the north and the courage with which the Eskimos face life.

Would you like to break off a friendship or maybe you would like to make and keep friends? If so HEART OF FRIENDSHIP by Muriel James is the book for you.

For a picture of life as it was at the turn of the century, when the R.F.D. was new and the telephone and automobile were just coming into existance, come in and borrow SMALL WORLD LONG GONE by Avis Carlson.

What is malpractice? What is negligence? What are a patient's rights? What are the doctor's? Ronald E. Gots, M.D., Ph.D., presents both sides of the problems in THE TRUTH ABOUT MEDICAL MALPRACTICE.

One of the nation's top reporters, Helen Thomas, writes in DATELINE: WHITEHOUSE of the human side of the Presidency as she has seen it from the inside, during the 15 years she has covered the White House.

Steven Weed's story of MY SEARCH FOR PATTY HEARST is also new non-fiction.

TEACHING YOUR CHILD TO COPE WITH CRISIS by Suzanne Ramos. How to help your child deal with death, divorce, surgery, adoption and other major worries.

OTHER SENSES, OTHER WORLDS by Doris and David Jonas. Scientific evidence now substantiates science fiction fantasies that we will someday find life on other planets. The authors speculates what kind of life we'll find there.

ALL GOD'S CHILDREN is the story of the Gauchets and their devotion to the many handicapped children that they have helped. It is written by Dorothy Gauchet, who has carried on the work since the death of her husband in early 1975.

THE ROCKEFELLERS: AN AMERICAN DYNASTY is the story of the father who built the fortune; of the son who cleansed the name; of the brothers who manipulated both the name and the fortune to their own ends; and of the cousins who often wish they had inherited neither. This is the fourth generation and the dynasty is beginning to crumble, so author Peter Collier tells us.

PROJECT DONATION — Delta Kappa Gamma, the women's honorary educational society of Lenawee, recently made a $200 donation to the Bicentennial Woods project of ECOL. Donating the money are, Miss Emma Sihler (left), president, and Mrs. Blanche I. Davis, (right), treasurer of KDG. Pictured center is Mrs. Gordon Comfort receiving the check for ECOL. Display explaining the project will be set up in the First Presbyterian Church during the Promenade the Past tour.

Seek Last of Virgin Forest

ECOL's contribution to the Bicentennial year will be the purchase and preservation of the last tract of upland virgin forest in Lenawee County. The 20-acre tract, located in Adrian Township, is a climax beech-maple forest containing many trees believed to have been alive while Washington was at Valley Forge.

The Lenawee County Bicentennial Committee has officially designated the ECOL Bicentennial Woods Fund as a Bicentennial Horizon Project. ECOL will raise the purchase price of $8,000. Woods will be held in the public trust and will be available for study and observation by interested groups.

Groups interested in preserving this natural heritage for future generations, can send tax-deductible donations to ECOL Bicentennial Woods Fund, in care of the Jipson Carter State Bank, (attn: Mr. Lowell Reed) 130 S. Lane, Blissfield, Michigan, 49228.

The Little Garden Club plans to donate their share of the proceeds from the Promenade the Past tour to the project.

Geraniums Given to Mothers

Awards of geraniums were made to Mrs. Wilfred Waldron, for being the oldest grandmother, age 87 and Mrs. Robert L. Wood, for being the youngest grandmother, present at the Tecumseh United Methodist Mother and Daughter banquet.

Two Members Are Initiated

The Michigan State University chapter of Phi Kappa Phi recently initiated two new members from the Tecumseh area, Michael J. Gunn of Clinton and Cynthia Freeman of Tipton.

Phi Kappa Phi is a national honor society which recognizes and encourages superior scholarship in all fields of study. To be eligible for membership in Phi Kappa Phi, juniors must be within the top 1.5 percent of their class and seniors must be within the top seven percent.

One hundred and fifty enjoyed a meal served by the men's club.

Others who received geraniums were Mrs. Larry Jenkins, with the youngest daughter present age three weeks; Mrs. Calleen O'Brien, youngest mother, Mrs. Ruth Rypstra of Charlotte came the longest distance and Mrs. Charles Wagner is a mother-to-be expecting in June.

The Edna B. Wilcox and Cecile Harper families both had four generations present.

Flip the clown and her dog, BeBop, from Blissfield entertained and explained about her life in the circus.

For Mother's Day, the men's chorus sang two special anthems at the Worship service. Scott Michael Bracey was baptized. He is the son of Robert and Kathleen Bracey of Adrian.

Twelve will be confirmed Sunday, May 16: Sandra Adams, Karen Bartenslager, David Cubberly, Chris Dornan, Cheryl Erb, Scott Gilpin, Jeanne Johnstone, Cindy Paterson, Jeffrey VanOrsdol, Peter Vavrinek, Timothy Walsh and Anna Williams.

Macon Dialog

by Linda Phillips 423-5213

"Macon Speaks Out" is a new feature of this column. Macon residents will be polled monthly on a variety of questions concerning their community, state and country.

This month's question: Although Tecumseh's proposed ordinance to license garage sales won't affect Macon, what do you think of it?

Mary Foster — "I think it's very unfair."

Wilma Clark — "I don't like it. It's like telling people what they can and cannot do in their own homes."

Frances Collins — "I don't think much of it. Many people have small children who outgrow their clothes before they outwear them, and garage sales help these people save money."

Nancy Ross — "I'm all for garage sales, provided proprietors aren't selling brand new merchandise."

Ron Morden — "I think garage sales are good. It's a good way for people to get together. And you can pick some things up for a good price."

Dorothy Helm — "I don't think garages sales should be licensed because they do more good than harm."

Linda Phillips — "I agree people who run perpetual garage sales – businesses, in essence – should be licensed. But it seems a shame to make those who only hold annual or bi-annual sale suffer for these few."

Next month's question: Has our Bicentennial become too commercial, or will the real meaning shine through?

# #

What could be more fun that a kitchen band, complete with pot lid cymbals, a garbage can drum and a wash tub bass?

Not much, according to Wilma Clark speaking about Adrian's Senior Kitchen Band, who recently provided entertainment at Macon United Methodist Church's Mother-Daughter Banquet.

"It was on of the best programs we've ever had," said Wilma adding, "and it was a record attendance – 168."

In addition to violin, piano and banjo players, the band also included members playing kazoos, bells on a coat hanger, a harmonica and a jug. Some hummed into tea pots.

The menfolk of the church, as is tradition, served the dinner. Irene Mehler acted as toastmistress; Lois Hover toasted the daughters, and her daughters Vicki and Sherri, in turn, toasted the mothers.

Gifts were given to Agatha Camburn (oldest mother), Renee Haines (youngest daughter), Geraldine Osburn (most daughters and daughters-in-law present,) and Mrs. Jacob of California (for traveling the furthest.).

Evelyn Hawkins, accompanied by her daughter and granddaughter, Judy and Kelli Crittenden, provided special music.

The invocation and benediction were given by Mrs. Albert Raloff.

A new practice has been instituted at Macon United Methodist Church.

The congregation has begun recognizing its senior citizens' wedding anniversaries with baskets of fruit, corsages and salutations from Bob Osborne.

On April 29, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Gorton marked their 54th anniversary. This Sunday, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Mehler will celebrate 53 years together.

Congratulations all!

Most people in Macon remember long-time resident Bessie Travis.

Bessie lives in Anna, Ohio now (14235 Pasco-Montra Rd. 45302), but she still reads The Tecumseh Herald. And being a former Maconite, of course Bessie turns to Macon Dialog first when her paper arrives each week.

Emogean Morden, Marilyn Bagby, Luella Rhoades and Wilma Clark visited Bessie last week, and Bessie told them how disheartened she was that there hasn't been much news lately in the column about her old friends.

If you want to let Bessie in on what's new with you, give me a call!

Paul Briggs Makes It 100

Paul Briggs, who made his first parachute jump last year on his 16th birthday, marked his 17th birthday, Sunday, by completing three more jumps to reach his 100th.

Paul is employed as a junior rigger by Harold Lang, owner of Tecumseh Parachuting Service, Meyers Airport.

There will be another marathon swim in August and the three Tecumseh girls plan to participate swim again, looking for more sponsors.

Two Nominated

Nancy Shire of Iota Epsilon chapter and Sally Whelan, Xi Delta Gamma chapter, both of Tecumseh, were nominated for the "Girls of the year" honor presented by the chapters of Beta Sigma Phi.

At the recent meeting of the county's eight chapters, Judy Spagnoli was presented with the Order of the Rose for 15 year membership. Mrs. Orville Cook of Britton was chairman of the Founder's Day observance.

Girl Scouts Plan Membership Drive

May 15, 1976 the Irish Hills Girl Scout Council will kick off its first Annual Sustaining Membership Drive.

The goal for this year is $6,000 which will balance the Councils operating budget for 1976.

The Irish Hills Girl Scout Council services Jackson, Hillsdale and Lenawee Counties plus the City of Albion. The Sustaining Membership Drive will be run between May 15 to 31.

Individuals in the Communities Tri-County area and the City of Albion will be contacted for a donation of $10.00 or more.

A Sustaining Membership Drive is necessary to offset the deficit left after the Councils normal sources of income were established.

Through Sustaining Membership already established services to Scouting communities may continue.

Miniatures Big in Her Life

Tecumseh will be treated to another event in the Bicentennial mood next week, during the Wagon Train visit.

Judee Williamson of Macon, who has gained nationwide recognition for her original handcrafted miniature and Early American room scenes, will present her first one-woman showing in Tecumseh at Pat's Craft Studio from Sunday through Wednesday.

Judee is associated with Miniature Makers Workshop in Birmingham, and Bonnie Thomas, of Tecumseh, a teacher for Pat's Craft Studio, is among her students.

The collection to be shown here will include about a dozen of the American room scenes, featuring the authentically sytled furniture handmade by Mrs. Williamson.

She's busy completing a Victorian sitting room-bedroom scene, remarkably similar to the Rita Black Designer's Promenade the Past house, even to the mansard roof.

Judee's rooms are electrified and her attention to the smallest detail is truly amazing.

She has recently begun fashioning a line of purses, styled like small houses and shops, a practical extension of the miniaturist's craft.

According to the nation's craft publications, miniatures are fast becoming the most valuable collectible for the future.

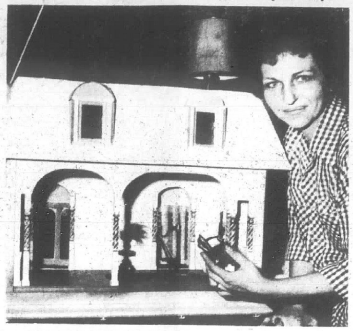
She is soon to attend a Chicago retailer's show, where her own handcrafted, Early American miniature furniture line, numbered and dated, will be offered as individual pieces on a national market.

Judee is developing a cottage industry of some six skilled craft people to produce these minatures from the Williamson designs.

This summer she'll attend a collector's seminar in Henry Macon College, W. Va., and also a miniature collector's convention in San Francisco.

Next week her husband, Trevor, will go to England to visit his parents in Darby, and he expects to bring back some miniature "goodies" from the land where miniatures began as salesmen's small "samples" when factory-made furniture was first offered to retailers during the Victorian era.

Be sure to stop in to see Judee's collection and the artist while at Pat's Craft Studio, Sunday, May 23 1 to 5, and Monday through Wednesday 10-5:30 p.m. daily.



MINIATURE VERSION - Judee Williamson has completed the handcrafted furnishings of Tecumseh's Promenade the Past Home to be shown here with her collection of Americana scenes.

In the Airport contest, 12 of 15 players got hits led by Greg Corley with four and Jeff Hans, Butch Harvey and Dale Allen each with three.

Jeff Hans and Dale Allen combined to throw a one hitter.

In the Grosse Ile game, the Indians were down 2-0 in the bottom of the sixth but rallied for three runs and held on.

Tories Held Scoreless

Britton-Macon's baseball squad played in only one game in the past week, a 7-0 defeat to Ann Arbor St. Thomas last Wednesday.

A scheduled contest with Whitmore Lake Monday was cancelled.

The Tories had only one hit against St. Thomas, a single by Jim Cardit. Cradit opened the game on the mound but was relieved by Greg Sears in the first inning. Randy Smith came and pitched the last inning.

Britton is 6-6 in the Tri-County league and 6-7 overall.

They host Madison Wednesday, and travel to Faithway Baptist Monday.

The Skins gave up five runs in the first inning against the Aggies.

Two Clinton players were on base in the seventh inning against Hudson with the score 8-5. Tom Richter came to the plate and hit the ball up to the fence where it was caught. A few inches longer and Clinton would have tied the game up.

Tecumseh enters regional competition this Saturday at New Boston Huron facing off against 18 other teams.

Tecumseh won eight events Tuesday to take a slim victory over C.C. The Indians had to win at least one of the final two relay events to win. The mile relay squad of Cantrell, Dennis Cook, Tony Voldez and Tim Scheff did exactly that with a 3:34.5 time. The 440 relay squad, the final event in the meet, was disqualified because they went out of the exchange zone.

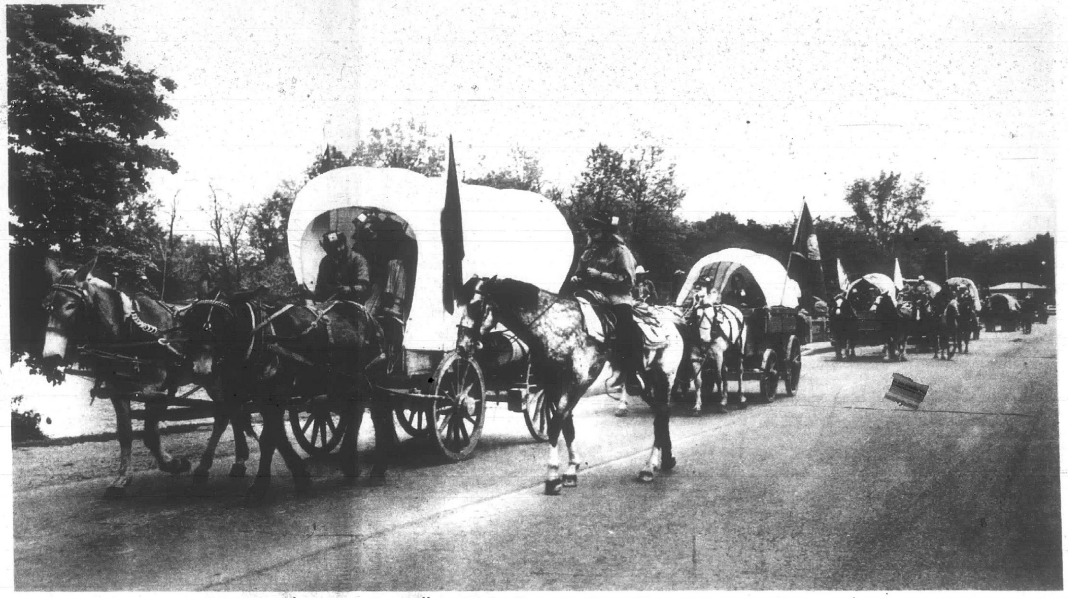
State Police Clinton Post Staying Open

Michigan State Rep. John Mowat, Jr., R-Dist. 40, told the Tecumseh Herald May 21 that he and Col. George Halverson of the Michigan State Polcie have reached an agreement that the Clinton State Police Post will become the administrative office for both the Blissfield and Clinton Post.

Thus, closing of the two posts and relocation to a central administrative office supposedly in Adrian, will not be necessary.

Mowat said that numbers of troopers at both the Clinton and Blissfield posts will remain "basically the same."

"Col. Halverson further agreed that he will enter into dialogue with officials," regarding any changes at either posts, stated Mowat.



Historic Pilgrimage To Valley Forge Crosses Over River Raisin Into Tecumseh

Thousands Line Streets To Welcome Wagon Train

by Kathy Brown

The visit of the National Bicentennial Wagon Train to Tecumseh Monday drew the largest viewing audience of any parade in town since the Sesquicentennial two years ago — and it may have been even larger.

Local officials estimate the crowd to have swelled to 10,000 for the late afternoon promenade of the train down Brown, Union, Chicago and Ottawa Sts. and the later evening festivities at the athletic field, where the bleachers were packed. About 40 wagons visited.

Visitors came from Ohio, Chelsea, Ypsilanti, Ann Arbor and the greater Detroit area.

One retired couple "from down south" followed the wagon train into Tecumseh in an automobile caravan of its own.

The American Legion and Auxiliary Underwood-Orr Post No. 34 welcomed the 320 wagon train pilgrims and police escort to Tecumseh with a complimentary meal. They reported feeding 700 visitors total. The public was charged an admission.

Bill Kovacs, "Mr. Bean Man" cooked 80 lbs. of beans in an iron kettle. Fifteen hundred hot dogs were served; and 750 pieces of corn bread, baked by Auxiliarians Yvonne Houghtby and Charlotte Write, were consumed.

"If it had been 10 degrees warmer, we could have served more," remarked Mrs. LaMar Rufner Sr., wife of the Legion commander.

The chilly May evening did not inhibit the Tecumseh crowd, which was anxious to examine the authentic Conestoga wagons, hear yarns about the adventure and mingle with the weary pilgrims.

See Wagon Train Pictorial Section

Rededication scrolls, signed by Tecumseh area residents, were presented to the wagonmaster in ceremonies emceed by Dr. B.O. Bashore.

The wagonmaster thanked Tecumseh for providing facilities of the high school athletic field, showers at the city pool and campgrounds behind it.

After a hectic weekend at Cambridge Junction with over 150,000 visitors, many of the wagon train pilgrims expressed relief for the rest they were allowed in Tecumseh.

The six members entertainment group traveling with the train captured its audience with 40 minutes of original song and dance prepared for them by the Department of Theater Arts at Pennsylvania State University. Tecumseh Stage Band also entertained.

Regretably the weather discouraged local officials from setting up the stage for the Sally Covell dancers who did not perform.

School officials were pleased Tuesday with the clean-up by a combination of volunteers, city and school grounds employees, supervised by Robert Glenn, Tecumseh coordinator for the wagon train visit.

Police chief Merlin Mowery was appreciative of the way that folks cooperated in the traffic congestion because of the parade.

The Great Lakes segment of the wagon train which Tecumseh hosted originated in Blaine, Wash. and will join four other wagon trains traveling historic train routes to Valley Forge, Pa. on July 3. After July 4 ceremonies, the wagons will be displayed there all summer.

The 60 official wagons, one from each state, a Pennsylvania Conestoga wagon to lead each of the five main caravans and a chuck wagon for each caravan, were paid for by the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and the American Revolution Bicentennial Administration.

Sixteen other national companies and organizations contributed to both funds and services. Horses were provided by owners in each state.

A national van line has offered the pilgrims free travel home. Pennsylvania rancher have offered to board horses and most pilgrims have campers to travel home. But undoubtedly some will have meager funds when they do return.

George Miller and family of Belleville is driving the official Michigan Conestoga wagon to Valley Forge, Pa.

Kerby To Run for New Court

Judge Yale Leland Kerby, formerly of Tecumseh, has announced his candidacy for the new additional Circuit Court judge for Lenawee County.

The county's second Circuit Court was created last week when Gov. William Milliken signed the bill into law.

Judge Kerby, senior judge of the county's District Court, first elected in 1968 and re-elected in 1972, says, "I'm in my eighth year as a trial judge, and I believe my experience in helping to formulate court programs and the District Court itself, along with the background of fairness, will be beneficial as a truly non-partisian circuit judge."

JUDGE YALE KIRBY

Prior to being elected a District Court judge, he practiced law for 17 years at Morenci. Since, he has become quite active in numerous law and community organizations: one of the founders of the Court Volunteers in Probation, traffic safety school, alcohol treatment and referral at Bixby Hospital and Care, Inc.

He also serves on the boards of these organizations.

Judge Kerby also is on the finance and shepherd committee of the First United Methodist Church of Adrian, board member of the Wolverine Council of the Boy Scouts, a past president of Kiwanis, past state vice president of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, a board member of the Latin American Service Center, and a past post and county commander of the American Legion. He's a member of the VFW.

He attended Addison High School in 1939 and graduated from Tecumseh High School in 1943. He then served overseas as a Marine in World War II.

Judge Kerby attended Michigan State University and graduated from Ohio Northern University with a Juris Doctor and LLB Degree in 1952.

Married, he resides with his wife, Grace, and their three children - Marla, Paula and Kevin - at 1241 Westwood Dr., Adrian.

Band Cancels Field Trip

Tecumseh's School Board heard a report Monday night from Jimmie Rice concerning a band trip to Traverse City for field competition.

Rice handed out a statement saying, "The style and concepts of field competition are completely different from any marching style used before in Tecumseh .The transition into this new style is going to take some time and even more effort."

Rice went on to say that he had decided to cancel the Traverse City trip. He said, "In no way should this be interpreted as a defeat, or that the group is inferior."

Rice also presented a check for $3,000 to Asst. Supt.Eugene Cooley to help pay back expenses for new uniforms. Money is being raised by band boosters and members.

He said that hopefully the remaining $1,400 would be paid in six weeks.

To The Editor

To the Editor:

American Legion Post No. 34 of Tecumseh and Commandor L.W. Rufner Sr. wish to thank the following men for help in putting out our beancornbread and franks dinner for the wagon train people and police officers in the area:

Mr. "Bean" Bill Kovacs, Milo "Hot Dog" Studenicka, Bob "Coffee" Creager, Tom "Money" Hamilton, Peter "Fire" Zarnock, Duke Esterline, Bob Baker, Henry Hart and Charles "Tear Down" Houghtby and crew for a fine job of closing up and putting things back.

And a very special thank you to Charlotte Wright and Yvonne Houghtby for making the old fashioned corn bread. Fantastic girls! Also thanks to city officials for their fine cooperation.

I thank everyone who bought a dinner so we could feed the train people FREE. We fed 320 train and police crews, served approximately 700 dinners and gave everything left to the wagon train. Coffee was served until 9:30 p.m. in keeping with the Legion's motto of serving community, state and nation.

The wagon train people we talked to thought Tecumseh was a great place for their overnight stop. They were well pleased with the set up and camp sites.

Also many wanted an edition of the Tecumseh Herald and we promised them as soon as they come out. All and all, Tecumseh can be proud of themselves in the way they received the wagon train and all.

Very Truly Yours,
Commander L.W. Rufner Sr.

(Editor's note: At least 100 issues of this edition of the Herald are enroute to the wagon train.)

On Retirement Planning

How well we enjoy retirement may be related directly to how well we plan for it. Here are a few thoughts to assist you in your planning.

1. Determine how much annual income you'll need is a good start. Be realistic.
2. Project current assets and income sources now. Calculate your today's net worth.
3. Decide whether or not you'll have an "income gap" at your expected retirement age . . . whether your required income is more than your estimate you'll actually have.
4. If there is a "gap", plan how to close it before retirement age.
5. Think about what you want to do at retirement. Your 40 hours a week on a job will be past history. With what will you fill these new-found hours?
6. Determine where you will live. In your home town? House or apartment? Warm or cold climate?

Careful, thoughtful planning is required for the best possible enjoyment of your retirement years. Some general advice: be useful, make new friends, help others and stay mentally and physically alert.

If you'd like more information about retirement, stop in or phone us.

We welcome your questions --in private or publicly, through this column. (A good reference book is: The New Guide to Happy Retirement by G. W. Ware.)

There's a lot that goes into planning a day of festivities that will prove enjoyable for everyone from 8 to 80. Members of Macon Historical Socity are busy attending to all the special details to insure such a day on Sunday, June 27, when they will hold Macon's second pie social at the old mill.

Complete details of the celebration will be announced in two weeks.

The regular monthly meeting of Macon Historical Society has been rescheduled from June 5, to Monday, June 7. Members are asked to come to the school any time after 6 p.m. for – you guessed it – another workbee! The business meeting will be in the Bush home.

Friday I will say farewell to my Super Max, convert my radio from electric to battery, and take one last look at civilization -- it's off to the "boon docks" for the Phillipses! Will let you know how we survive our first camping trip . . . Have a safe and happy holiday

Serve 572 at Fly-in

With deepest respect, we pause and pay tribute to the memory of all who are cherished.

Noon Nuptials at St. Mary's

Janet Young and Aaron Cobb were married April 24 in a double-ring ceremony at St. Mary's Catholic Church, Alma, with the Rev. Donald J. Eppenbrock officiating at a noon nuptial Mass.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Donald Young of Alma and Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Cobb of Clinton.

Charles Mende of Clinton played the guitar and sang several selections and Mrs. Louise Lanshaw of St. Louis was organist.

Escorted by her father, the bride approached the altar wearing an empire waist gown of white satin with sheer white flocked nylon over the long sleeved bodice which she fashioned herself. The veil headpiece she designed of white satin was trimmed with yellow rosebuds and baby's breath.

She carried a bouquet of yellow roses and green carnations. She wore a gold pendant watch, made from her maternal grandmother's wrist watch.

Preceding the bride down the aisle was her sister, Mrs. Phillip Reiser of Clinton, matron of honor. Bonnie and Lynette Cobb of Clinton, the groom's sisters were bridemaids.

All wore empire waisted gowns with long sleeves made of light green, pin-dotted polyester. Green ribbon trimmed at the waistlines. They wore light green, wide brimmed hats, trimmed with matching ribbon, and carried a single yellow rose with green and white ribbon streamers.

Gerry Beyer of Ypsilanti was best man. Jeffrey Young of Alma and Roger Young of Tecumseh, the bride's brothers were groomsmen. Michael Young of Alma, the bride's brother and Phillip Reiser of Clinton, were ushers.

Gregory Young of Alma, the bride's brother, was altar boy along with Matthew Barrett of Tecumseh.

A luncheon-reception was held immediately following in St. Mary's gym hosted by Mr. and Mrs. Allan Barrett of Tecumseh.

Kathy Dufrene of Alma registered the guests; Mary Jo Barrett and Sharon Pieh, both of Tecumseh, poured the punch.

The wedding cake trimmed with yellow rosebuds, had a green fountain in the base and was made by Mrs. Clair Reiser of Clinton. Beside Mrs. Reiser, Cheryl Chapman of Alma and Mrs. George Letts of Burr Oak, served cake.

Rehearsal dinner was held April 23 at St. Mary's gym.

The bride is a 1974 graduate of Clinton High School. They are both attending Eastern Michigan University and working part-time.

Since their wedding trip to Lundington, the couple are living in Westview married housing apartments in Ypsilanti.

My Year In Sweden

"Helt Underbart"
Continued
by Valerie Egli

The meals here are a little different as well. At home I ate a larger quantity, as well as variety of meat, than I eat here.

Down here in Skane, the main meat dishes are fish, sausage or meatballs. We usually have each of these two times for dinner. With every meal, except breakfast, we have potatoes, baked, mashed, fried, or french fried, but usually boiled.

Another food that is always present at a meal is cheese. It's eaten on bread as often as butter. Most of the time it's too strong for me, but once in a while Mamma will buy a new cheese that everybody else will think doesn't have any taste at all, and I'll love it and end up eating the whole thing.

Everybody has probably heard of a "smorgasbord." It's Swedish meaning "sandwich table." Swedish sandwiches aren't like typical American sandwiches, instead they consist of only one piece of bread, like an open-face sandwich.

A smorgasbord is a table on which one can find everything imaginable, from margarine to caviar, to put on a piece of bread to make a smorgas.

It's really fun. Just using the ol' imagination, one can come up with all sorts of combinations.

My favorite "meal" is coffee-time. Actually I hate coffee, but I love the pastries that come with it! The recipe below is for a delicious bun that's a favorite among all Swedes. They are called, "Fastslags Bullar," which means "buns made for the fast."

They are traditionally to be eaten during Lent before Easter while fasting, but they are so delicious that lately Swedes have begun eating them right after Christmas. Some of the measurements are a little odd because they are converted from the metric system to the standard system.

Fastslags Bullar

1-3 c. cream
1-3 c. water
2.6 oz. butter or margarine
1 egg
2 Tbsp. sugar
1¼ oz. yeast
1 tsp. sugar
17.6 oz. of flour

Melt together cream, water, and butter, not letting it get too hot so as to burn a finger. Stir together yeast and 1 tsp. sugar. Whip egg and 1 Tbsp. sugar together in a larger bowl. Add all other ingredients to the egg and sugar mixture. Mix to make a smooth dough. Let dough rise to double its size. Knead well on a floured surface. Form into 8-12 buns. Let buns rise to double their size, covered with a cloth or towel.

Bake in oven set at 440-480 F. for 4-6 minutes. Let cool. When buns have cooled, cut off a bit from the top leaving a small hole. Save the tops. Put a teaspoonful of almond paste in the hole. Almond paste can be bought ready-made, or made in the following recipe:

Almond Paste

1/3 - 2/3 c. whipped cream
1-2 Tbsp. sugar
12-14 almonds ground to a powder.

Mix all ingredients together well.

Put a big spoonful of whipped cream on top of the almond paste, then lightly lay the top on. Sprinkle with powdered sugar. These can be eaten as is or in a bowl of warm or cold milk.

Helt underbart!

THE LAST ONE

Yes, this is the last article I shall file from Florida — until October, I mean. I realize that the past few articles have sounded as though we were winding up our stay down here, which of course we are. In fact, if all plans work as expected we should have arrived in Tecumseh last Thursday. This column is an insurance policy — just in case there is a last minute change in plans or we arrive home too 'beat' to dictate for a few days or, and heaven forbid, we find that where Logan Street meets Evans Creek is completely bereft of birds.

And, strange as it may seem, the birds who have been putting on an extra good show for us here in Sun Valley are the same kind we hope will whistle us a cheery "welcome home" when we reach Tecumseh.

Cardinals! After being rather 'hit and miss' visitors most of the time a pair of these red beauties finally decided that this was a rather good spot. I am sure it will not be a permanent arrangement but hopefully they are staking out the territory for a possible site for their second family rearing.

This is pure guess work as I have no idea where the nest might be. However, seeing the pair so often makes me think it could be not too far away.

Our park has a lawn irrigation system. Technically every yard is watered about 20 minutes every other day, I say technically because there are frequent 'dry spells' — there has been a great deal of trouble with broken pipes, burned out motors etc. and the system is fast becoming the joke of Sun Valley.

But, when things are in working order, it is nice. Each nozzle gives a fine mist. Beautiful rainbows. Also great shower baths. Not for people, birds.

It was just out of my sight but Mom played Peeping Tom one day and watched Papa Cardinal take his shower. As she described what was happening I 'watched' too.

The sun shining on the wet green grass made it seem brighter than real and the perfect spot for a male cardinal to show-off.

After walking into the shower he ruffled up and shook his feathers, he twisted and turned, he dipped his head down and stretched it up.

He spread his wings and fluttered them, he fanned out his tail and shook it. Oh, it felt so good!

Once thoroughly wet, he flew to the top of a short post. He was out of the water but still in the bright sunshine. More feather shaking, a great deal of twisting, some serious feather-preening with his bill and he was ready for a return trip to the shower.

This bathing and preening routine was repeated several times and, once his 'fun in the water' was finished, guess what he did? Just like people after a good session of swimming Papa Cardinal was hungry.

He flew to our neighbors' little tree, the one which has the tiny berries or seeds he likes so very, very much.

Several days later it was my turn to spy on a bathing Cardinal. It was the female and she was taking her shower under the boxwood bush right by the porch door.

No brazen bathing out in the open for this shy lady. The boxwood is a dense little shrub and the ground beneath it is in dark shadows.

Had it not been for the Cardinal's loud and excited cheeping and her brith, red bill, we would never have known she was there.

The nozzle of the watering system is set so as to give these boxwood bushes good wet drinks. The bird was thoroughly enjoying her bath — but instead of a direct shower such as the male took she was 'splashing' in the drops dripping from the leaves.

Finally she began working her way, branch by branch, to the top of the bush. Now she was getting the direct spray. Her actions were the same as his — how good to shake those feathers around and let the cool mist tickle the skin.

At least, so their actions seem to say.

When finally the gal reached the top of the shrub it was another beautiful sight. The leaves of the boxwood are a dark, glossy green and its flowers are pretty white, five-petalled stars. The Cardinal perched herself in the middle of a clump of blossoms. Another sight we will long remember.

Thus ends our last article in Florida — with such a nice send-off from the Florida Cardinals. I only hope. that the Tecumseh branch of the clan is planning an equally nice welcome.

Temporary Bridge Urged

Discussion concerned plans to detour traffic around the village while W. Michigan bridge is repaired. Project had been planned to begin in June.

No indication was given when announcement could be expected for the decision. Indications are that the bridge construction will not begin soon.

Readers Write

To the Editor:

We would like to thank Lucille Blumhardt and the Middle School cafeteria staff, Richard Wegner, Mark Schnizlein, Becky McOmber, Pat Sharpe and Anna Lou LaSovage for their cooperation and help in welcoming the wagon train to our community.

A special thanks must be given to Sharon Kanous for securing the beverage from McDonald's which was given free to the people on the wagon train.

Also, the people who were scheduled to perform during the lunch, we regret the confusion, as well as the disappointment, because the program had to be shortened, then eventually dropped. This move, and the lack of communication, was not intentional on our part.

To Dave Arnold and his students, your enthusiasm was terrific!

DOWNTOWN TECUMSEH

200 Years of Religious Freedom

The roots of Lutheranism in Tecumseh can be traced back to Jan. 6, 1938, when Pastor A.G. Wacker, assisted by members of the Salem Lutheran Congregation of Ann Arbor, came to Tecumseh and conducted a house to house canvass.

Following the survey, in which a great degree of interest in Lutheran Services was shown, a petition, signed by approximately 60 souls, was directed to the Michigan District Mission Board of the Wisconsin Synod, requesting that a missionary start services in Tecumseh.

On Aug. 14, 1938 the first Lutheran service ever held in Tecumseh took place in the old Braun Building, 206 E. Chicago Blvd. (now the Camera Shop).

This service was the installation of the congregation's first Pastor, R.W. Scheele, and 185 people attended this service.

Grace English Evangelical Lutheran Church became an official organization when it adopted its constitution on Jan. 23, 1939. At that time the soul membership was 53 and the communicant count was 33.

In the fall of 1939 it became evident that the building in which services were held would not be suitable for long. Property was therefore purchased at Maumee and Shawnee Sts.

This property was part of the farm of the founder of Tecumseh, Musgrove Evans.

Until arrangements for building a church could be made, services were still conducted in the former location.

However, things drastically changed when on March 23, 1940, a fire destroyed, to a great extent, the building as well as its contents. Then for a few weeks services and Sunday School were conducted in the basement of one of its members.

Then the Episcopal Church building in Clinton was offered to the congregation for its use. Services were held there until Grace dedicated its church building on Dec. 1, 1940.

Since that time Grace congregation has grown physically and spiritually. There have been two building additions to the original church structure. In the spring of 1955 an addition was dedicated which more than doubled the size of the church sanctuary. In January of 1958 an educational auditorium was added as a wing to the church. The old parsonage was razed, and on June 4, 1961 a new parsonage was dedicated.

Grace Lutheran has been served by five pastors. The Rev. R.W. Scheele served from 1938-1943; The Rev. J.A. DeRuiter from 1943-1949; the Rev. A. Jeschke from 1950-1958; the Rev. K.F. Koeplin from 1958-1968; and the Rev. K.W. Strack from Aug. 4, 1968 till the present time.

From its modest beginnings the congregation has grown in 37 years to number 644 souls and 474 communicants in January 1976.

Grace Lutheran is affiliated with the Wisconsin Evangelical Lutheran Synod, which is one of the four major Lutheran Church bodies in America. Initially the founders of this group were of German descent, who left their homeland primarily to escape religious and economic persecution.

Through the years however many nationalities have become represented in the church body. It is interesting to note that in this Bicentennial Year the Wisconsin Synod is also observing an anniversary, its 125th.

In terms of its theology the Synod represents conservative Lutheranism.

In recent years the church body has expanded so that it has about 400,000 members in 1050 congregations in the United States plus missions in many foreign countries.

Fluoride Offered

Topical applications of sodium fluoride will be offered again this summer to Lenawee County children. Application blanks were sent home with children but response has been slow. It is not too late to enroll three or four-year-olds, kindergarteners, second, 5th or 8th graders in this program.

Procedure consists of four visits to the fluoride clinic held at various county schools. The childs teech are cleaned and fluoride solution applied directly to the teeth on the first visit. Only fluoride is applied during the next 3 visits.

Send your name and address, child's name, age and school attended, along with $5.00 for each child to Mrs. Jerry Bolhm, 818 Michigan Ave., Adrian, 49221, or call 265-2473.

AHMED AND THE OLD LADY is another book about an elderly woman. This one embarks on her great adventure at eighty years of age - a trip to India accompanied by a young Indian servant. Jon Godden has written a satisfactory story using warmth, a touch of suspense, and a bit of humor.

Fresh from their last adventure, Prince Zarkon and his Omega team are summoned halfway around the world to stalk the forces of evil in the Southern Seas.

THE VOLCANO OGRE is the third in a series by Lin Carter.

Eva Canada, a woman with no man and no money has to live in the streets and there, men treat you like a street woman. Even as a child Eva had trouble with men as Gayl Jones tells you in her new book EVA'S MAN.

DUBAI by Robin Moore. Lt. Colonel James Lodd is a modern-day soldier of fortune whose Arab leanings have forced him to resign his career. With the help of his Arab friends he parlays his money into dangerous channels and almost loses the girl he loves.

He walked across the street to whisper a proposition in her ear and she seemed to smile at him in encouragement but when he reached her side there was one drawback - she was dead. Heywood Gould's ONE DEAD DEBUTANTE is a fast paced modern thriller.

In BIG ENOUGH WREATH, Henry Harper appeared on a TV program and allowed himself to be goaded into making the remark that he would leave his mark on posterity; but he almost signed his own death warrant for he had dangerous knowledge that could change the world. Borrow William Garner's book and find out why the agents of the three world powers made him their target.

THE MANLY-HEARTED WOMAN by Frederick Manfred is a love story between two Indians but is also a tale of two warring tribes.

Antonia Van-Loon tells us of the nobility and the brutality that made up America during the years of the Civil War in FOR US THE LIVING. It is the story of Beth Shepherd and the people she loved - mainly Kent, a rugged battlefield surgeon and Gregory, a wealthy officer. We see the poverty and feel the rage of many of the Northerners.

FIVES WILD, is a fast paced superthriller of international suspense by Walter Winward. It involves three million dollars of CIA money and three master criminals trying to divert the money for their own needs. Readers could not possibly want to stop before the end.

Harper Lee is a survivor - he has endured many kinds of things during his imprisonment and now because of this, he has been chosen to endure the ultimate test: to fly a spaceship to the stars. Brian M. Stableford has written this chilling science fiction novel entitled MAN IN A CAGE.

The ZHUKOV BRIEFING is a naval spy story by Anthony Troy. All of the components for a successful book are here - a trio of CIA agents, a girl, two Cantonese "tourists" and a couple of Britishers.

Earns 4-point And Degree

Robert Taylor of Tecumseh is no relation to the late movie actor, but he is a star in his own right.

Taylor, of 603 Outer Dr., was awarded a bachelor of arts degree in business administration from Siena Heights College.

During his time at Siena he earned a 4-point average and his classes were the "toughest" he ever had.

Yet, for him, it was no major problem, he said, because he had the Lord on his side.

He had previously studied at Adrian College and Eastern Michigan University. But at that time he said he was undergoing spiritual difficulties.

After some counseling, he reset his priorities, placing the Lord first, his family second, work third, and education fourth.

And through the Lord's help, his life-long goal — a bachelors degree — became a reality.

For his family, he admits, there was some sacrifice. Taylor was a full-time student in addition to being a methods and systems analyst for the Ford Motor Co. in Ypsilanti.

"The kids went to bed at nine and then I studied," he said, "they 'suffered' with me."

ROBERT TAYLOR

One of the other motivations for completing his goal was the fact that he had earned credit for his life experience through a program at Siena Heights.

Through his work and a stint in the Air Force, he was given credit for knowledge he had attained while in the two positions.

"I had to justify my left tooth for credit," he said. But nonetheless, after working through the system, the life experience hours, totaling 24, put him only 51 hours away from his goal.

And then, the added bonus of being able to work out a cooperative work experience program with his employers even put him further towards his mark.

That was not easy either, he contends, but after all his work, he made it.

The future? "The Lord will take care of me," he said.

Then, he cited the Bible, Ephesians, Chapter 2, versus 8 and 9.

"For by the grace of God are ye saved through faith, and that not of yourselves; it is the gift of God. Not of works, lest any man should boast."

Eight educators from area schools including five Tecumseh area residents, will be among the 350 delegates at the Michigan Alpha Delta Kappa's biennial state convention May 21-23 in the Kalamazoo Center Inn.

Representing Lenawee Beta chapter are Mrs. Bertha Morrow, Tipton, Mrs. Juanita Becker, Tipton, chapter president elect, Mrs. Janet Robinson, Tecumseh, chapter president, Mrs. Lorene Edelbrock, Ridgeway; Mrs. Lilah Cadmus, Britton.

Alpha Delta Kappa is an international honorary professional sorority of women educators recommended for membership based on excellent performance.

There are some 40,000 members in the 50 states and six other countries. Michigan has almost 1,800 members and 69 active chapters.

During the three-day convention participants will attend business sessions, take part in workshop-training meetings, determine future activities of the state organization and elect and install officers for 1976-1978.

To The Editor

To the Editor:

I would like to thank all the residents of Tecumseh who renewed or subscribed to the Herald during the subscription drive that the Band Boosters just completed.

I would also like to thank the many who gave individual donations, to the mothers who drove, the United Savings Bank, who donated cash envelopes, the Herald, who gave us paper and pens, and to the students who worked so hard to make this project a great success.

James Lincoln and his staff especially Almina Hunt, band director Jimmie Rice and Robert Schoof were helpful in every way making it all easier for me.

Wilma Silberhorn
Chairman of the Herald Subscritpion Drive for Band Boosters.

To the people of Tecumseh:

Have you any idea how our American Flag appears on the downtown streets of our city on special days, weeks or other fitting occasions?

Well for many years, without fanfare or recognitions, the flags are raised and taken down daily by Don Maves and Dick Caughey.

They do this on their own time, without thought of recognition and, of course, without pay. These men who would probably be embarrassed just to see themselves recognized in print.

We should be proud and honored to have men like these as fellow citizens. I, for one, am just proud to know them.

DAR Holds Music Tea

Daughters of the American Revlution, Abi Evans Chapter of Tecumseh held its May meeting at St. Peters Episcopal Church on May 14. The Lucy Walcott Barnun chapter of Adrian were special guests.

The Adrian High School String Ensemble entertained, directed by Mrs. R. I. Bleecher. Patriotic, classical and modern music were presented. A short business meeting was conducted by Regent Mrs. Frank Vanderlinden. The Club voted to place a wreath on the grave of Tecumseh's first housewife, Abi Evans, for whom the club is named. The remainder of the afternoon was a Show of Antiques, each member told facts of each article shown. Mrs. Donald Smith offered a poem she wrote. Many of the members were in colonial costumes and these too were featured in the discussion.

The meeting ended with refreshments served from a Tea Table with Mrs. Frank Vanderlinden and Irene Wisner pouring. Mrs. Donald Smith assisted in serving.

by Kathy Brown

If you plan to drive anywhere this Memorial Day weekend, even a short distance from home, remember to drive with extra caution. Drive defensively, watching out for the other driver who may be overly-exhausted, or be too much in a hurry, or be preoccupied with matters which divert his attention from driving. Don't you become the occupant of a grave to be decorated with flowers next year on Memorial Day.

Finish Up Season, Tories Win Two

Britton's baseball squad finished up its regular season Monday with a 3-1 victory over Faithway Baptist. The Tories scored a big win over Whitmore Lake Friday 10-5 but lost to Madison 8-4 last Wednesday.

Britton ended with an 8-8 overall record and were 7-7 in the Tri-County league. They tied for the fourth spot in the league with Whiteford. Summerfield won the title.

Overall, the Tories are 1-10 and 0-7 in the Tri-County league.

The team participated in the Class D regional meet Saturday at Whitmore Lake. Dave Wielfaert was third in the high hurdles with a time of :15.5 That time sets a school record and qualifies him for the state meet June 5.

Jon Hintz set a school record in the pole vault at 11 feet but that doesn't qualify him for state competition.

The score in the game was tied 1-1 in the sixth inning when Smith and Craig Wagenschutz got on to third and second respectively. Jim Cradit bunted and was thrown out at first but both Britton players scored. The 3-1 tally stuck.

The Tories romped over Whitmore Lake Friday grabbing 15 hits. Jeff Barringer had four singles to lead Britton batters. Jim Cradit relieved Greg Sears in the second inning. Cradit struck out four allowed just three hits, gave up no walks or runs.

Coach Jim Sweigart said of the squad, "I'm especially proud of this group. We were 1-6 early in the season but won seven of our last nine games and turned it around. They could have given up but they battled back."

Wagon Train Winds Its Way Through the Irish Hills

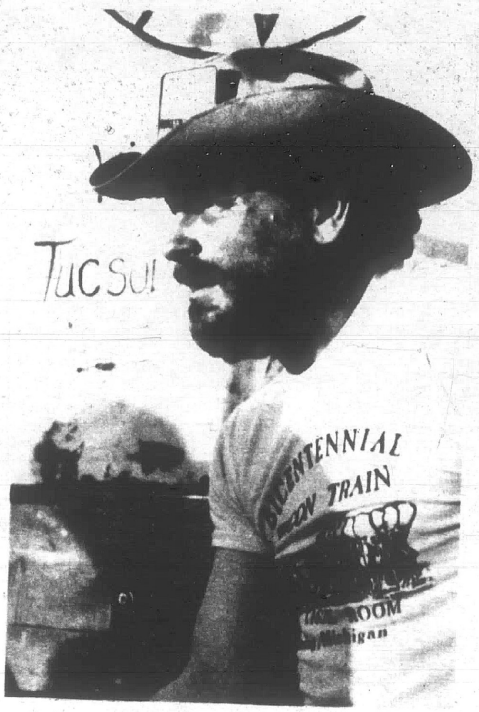
After spending Friday, Saturday and Sunday in the Irish Hills, the Bicentennial Wagon Train rolled into Tecumseh Monday afternoon to greet the young and old alike.

Public viewed 40 different wagons and as many as 400 riders paraded down N. Evans St. to Brown, N. Union, east on W. Chicago Blvd., and then on N. Ottawa to the athletic field, where they set up camp for the night.

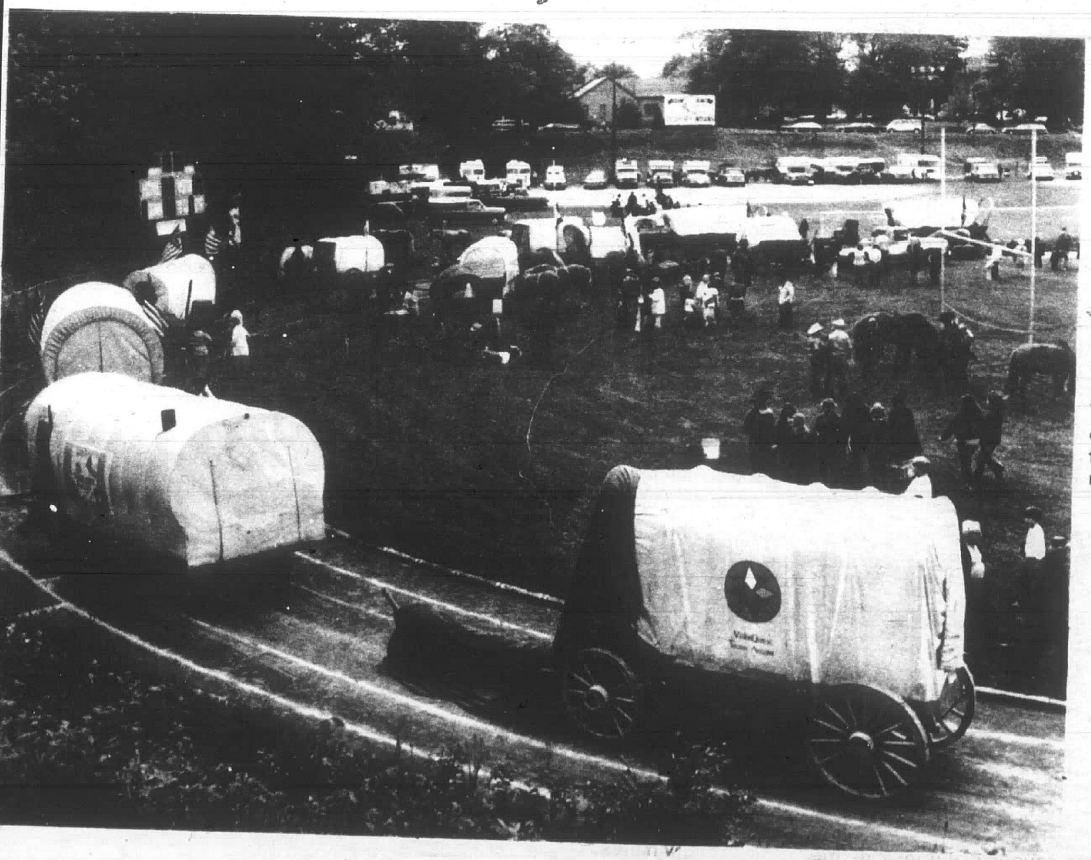
At the encampment, the American Legion served a community dinner of beans and franks to the travelers.

Wagon Train was presented with Tecumseh's rededication scrolls with the Declaration of Independence, signed by local residents, to be taken to Valley Forge with the train.

PERFECT REPAST — Dick Kvasnicka of the Minnesota wagon happily accepts a ladle of beans from Bill Kovacs. The dinner was put on by Underwood Orr Post No. 34.



TUSCON MAN — Jack Enochs, an Arizona man, joined the trip for enjoyment. At the same time, he brought joy into the heart of several underprivileged children he took with him.



FORM A CIRCLE — The Indians aren't attacking even though it is their territory. The Wagon Train camped along the outside of the football field here Monday night.

JUST JAWING — Two Wagon Train travelers enjoy a newspaper together after unhitching their team for the night.

TECUMSEH PILGRIM — Edwin Randolph, 9764 Mathews Rd., is among the train pilgrims headed for Valley Forge. He joined the train at Bellevue.

Herald Photos by Cortland Hunt, Frank Weir, and Kent Downing

COMIN' AROUND THE BEND — Wagon Train wound around the corner on N. Evans when Tecumseh residents first caught a glimpse of the huge following. The forty wagons included one pulled by four ponies and one pulled by eleven tiny mules.

UNHITCHING THE TEAM — Kent Erickson, of Badger, Minnesota unhitches his team and leads them out to graze.

FIDDLIN' AWAY — A young, unidentified youth joins right in and fiddles to his heart's content to help provide entertainment for the train.

SETTLING DOWN FOR THE EVENING — Mr. and Mrs. Andy Erickson, who joined the train in Minnesota, put everything in its place after a day's trip, and like to just sit around and watch the other travelers and the tourists.

Complaints Running High

Tecumseh police investigated 21 complaints this past week with five complaints involving drunk and disorderly charges.

Thomas E. Kelley, 19, of Macon, was arrested for being drunk and disorderly at 3:50 a.m. Saturday after police found him lying in the backseat of a parked auto, apparently asleep. A prowler had been reported at 305 W. Pottawatamie and police were advised that the suspect had locked himself in a parked car there.

Ray E. Martin, 41, of Adrian, was arrested for being drunk and disorderly Saturday when he was found walking down the center of Shawnee St.

Also Saturday, Gwen E. Valentine, 23, of Adrian, was arrested for driving under the influence of liquor after she was found driving erratically on Occidental Hwy.

She was transported to Lenawee County jail after she reportedly attempted to escape out the rear door at the Tecumseh city jail.

At 4:30 a.m., Memorial Day, Daniel Emnach, 23, of Tipton, was arrested for driving under the influence. He was headed west on W. Chicago in the 600 block without tail lights and went off the left side of the road.

5 Traffic Accidents Investigated

Five car accidents were reported to Tecumseh Police this past week. Only one accident involved two cars.

May 26 — Carolyn J. Moore, 25, of Onsted and Milford E. Sellers, 44, 1652 Robbins Rd. were both heading east on Chicago when Sellers stopped for traffic to turn into the Clark Station. Moore struck Sellers in the rear and she was cited for failure to stop in time.

May 27 — Debora S. Davenport, 21, of Tipton was entering a parking lot at 805 S. Maumee when a pedestrian walked out in front of her car. Sherry L. Elliott, 27, Adrian was the hit pedestrian. She was only shaken.

Kendra K. Goldmann, 16, 5800 Allen Rd. was eastbound on Willow at about 25 mph when she reached down in the car to pick up something that had fallen on the car floor. She pulled the car to the right and hit a tree at 1200 Willow St.

May 31 — Lance G. Hillebrand, 22, of 705 Russell Rd. was traveling south on Adrian when he swerved his car to miss a dog. The car jumped the curb and hit a utility pole across the road near the intersection of Adrian and Pottawatamie.

John MacBrown, 21, of Clinton was cited for failure to have his car under control. His car jumped a curb, and hit a telephone pole on the right hand side of the road. He tried to drive on, but the damage to the car caused the car to swerve left of center and the car jumped another curb to his left. Accident occurred while he was traveling on N. City Opens Sewer Bids for Burt Street Project

A sewer project, one that eventually could lead to the development of northeast Tecumseh, was furthered Tuesday afternoon when bids for a Burt St. sewer system and lift station were opened at city hall.

Officials reviewed seven bids with an almost unbelieveable spread of nearly $100,000 between the low and high bids.

Selders Excavating of Tecumseh was low bidder at $53,218.94 for a sewer system that will include both gravity and forced lines plus a lift station. Brady Sand & Gravel was second low bidder at $75,720.18, and Bales Trucking of Adrian, third, $80,364.20.

Bids were received from Jackson, Ann Arbor, Manchester and Taylor firms with the latter submitting a bid of $144,480.00.

Cal Zorn, city manager, will present the bids to Council Monday night and has hopes that a public hearing for a special assessment district can be scheduled for later this month.

Work project is expected to take approximately a month. Officials say it may be necessary to close Burt St. part of the time, especially during daytime working hours but hopefully the street will be opened at night.

Selders low bid was 14 cents per front foot more than estimated, coming in at $6.84 per lineal foot rather than $6.70. However, costs of leads to properties was less than expected.

First benefactor of the sewer system will be the apartment complex now under construction at the Tecumseh Country Club.

Annual MSU Outing Monday at Lenawee

Annual Michigan State golf outing and party will be held next Monday at the Lenawee Country Club, Jim Hughes, president of the Lenawee County MSU Alumni Association, announces.

University officials expected for the festivities include Dr. Clifton R. Wharton, Jr., MSU president Dr. Joseph L. Kearny, athletic director: Darryl Rodgers, head football coach; Jud Heathcote and others.

For reservations and complete details call Mr. Hughes, 423-8478; Charles O. Butler, 423-3202, or Cal Zorn, 423-2107.

Program following dinner will be presented by officials from the University.

Registration Saturday at Community Center for 'Jobs for Teens'

Registrations for "Jobs for Teens" will be held Saturday in the Glass Room at the Tecumseh Community Center between the hours of 10 a.m. and 2 p.m.

The Jaycee Auxiliary sponsored program, funded by United Way, will run from Monday, June 7th to Aug. 31, for teenagers 13 through age 19.

When teenagers register Saturday, they must be accompanied by a parent to sign a work waiver.

Additional information may be obtained by calling Donna Gifford, 423-2078, or Barb Myers, 423-2762. Answering service number is 423-3708.

Discuss Ordinance

Tecumseh City Council will informallly discuss the proposed historic district ordinance June 7 during the 7:30 p.m. public meeting.

Mrs. Carlton Cook, chairman of the historic district study committee, will be present to answer questions of council or residents.

Frank Wilhelme, state director of the Michigan Historical Society, will also be available for questioning. He is a resident of the West Side Historic District in Ann Arbor and helped develop that city's ordinance.

LES CALHOUN AT HIS AIRPORT ON ROGERS HIGHWAY

BOASTS 2,640-FOOT RUNWAY

'International' Airport, No Less

by Frank Weir

Next time you want to go one-up on your boastful big city brother-in-law, just tell him Tecumseh now has its own "international" airport and watch his eyes bulge enviously.

And you won't be an April Fool's Day fibber because Calhoun's International Airport actually opened April 1 at 5447 Rogers Hwy.

A life-long area resident, Leslie Calhoun is the owner. He began building the 2,640 foot dirt runway three years ago on land he previously used for farming.

He offers flight instruction, including instrument flying, charter flights and rides.

Previously, Calhoun had his flight school at Meyers Airport for seven years. Since opening his own airport four individuals have received their private flight license and one has earned his instructors license. Currently, 50 students are receiving instruction.

By the end of summer, Calhoun hopes to extend the runway to 4,000 feet making it the longest public runway in the county. He has no present plans to add a cross runway and sees this as no hindrance. His students simply learn to land in a cross-wind.

Calhoun received his flight training through the military. He was an instructor in World War II and the Korean conflict. In 1968 he went to Ohio State earning his flight instructors revalidation and began his flight school at Meyers.

Calhoun and five other instructors at the airport like to stress instrument flying. Calhoun sums up his teaching philosophy succinctly, "I tell my students that flying is dangerous. The dangerous part is driving to the airport. Five-hundred feet is as close as two planes should ever be. That's a lot safer than the couple of feet you have on a road."

To the Editor:

Monday, I sponsored 25 boys from St. Louis School for Exceptional Boys, Chelsea, to visit our city. They all had a wonderful time and really enjoyed the wagon train and all activities. Now we would like to thank the people that helped to feed these boys and show them such a great time.

First of all the VFW Auxiliary cooked and served dinner. The food was donated by Bondo's Restaurant, Jerry's Bar and Grill, Tecumseh News Stand, Bob's Market, Al's Market, Green's Clothing, Eggleston's Jewelry and Rene's Donut Shop.

All of these people generously contributed food, money or much needed help to our boys. Also thanks to our mayor and chief of police for helping to get the boys located with no traffic or parking problem.

We all had a great time and we have memories we'll never forget.

Thank You
Cathy Handy

SO GOOD TO BE HOME

Yes indeed, it is wonderful to be home! Our window pictures are lovely, a multitude of greens. The grass is past that first brightness but it still has a new look about it, the leaves of the maple tree are a darker shade of green, the late leafing-out mulberry trees are a delicate lacy yellowish green, the just slightly faster walnut tree is about halfway between the maples and the mulberries. Everything is lush and pretty.

Perhaps before going any deeper into Tecumseh things I should briefly mention our trip home. It was a fabulous airplane ride. The wheelchair transport van took us to the airport two hours before flight time but oh, how fast the time went because of all the interesting people to watch.

Our flight left at 5:30 and almost before gaining full altitude the stewardesses were busy with dinner preparations.

By the time the meal was served and the last trays removed, the pilot announced that we were over Cincinnati, Ohio. That is covering a great many miles in mighty short order.

Although cloudy much of the time it did clear as we crossed the Smokies and I am sure the tall mountains I saw to the left was Clingman's Dome. The way it towered above everything else, it just had to be.

There were whipped cream puff clouds over Kentucky but much of Ohio was clear and the flat farmlands looked exactly li¹e patchwork quilts. Detroit and Toledo with so many houses parked so close together made us grateful that Tecumseh was home.

In view of last week's article about the cardinals in Florida it would be nice to say that the first birds to greet us Friday morning were cardinals. Nice but not true. The first bird color we saw was black. Grackles and starlings. Ugh.

Even before I was sitting up I saw grackles flying and once I was in position to have a good look at the yard, it was no thrill to spot four young starlings tagging behind their mother. In a way I was glad the windows weren't open and I did not have to listen to their loud unpleasant screaming.

Finally the cardinals came to my rescue. It was a sunny morning and as the male flew across the front yard he was the most brilliant flash of scarlet imaginable. He must have flown around the house because Mom and Dad reported that Papa Cardinal was on the highest most branch of the back yard walnut tree. He was singing his heart out. Even with the doors and windows closed his cheery whistle of a serenade came through loud and clear. Beautiful.

The next birds to show up were the bluejays. Two of them landed in the nearby maple tree. I have no idea what the problem was but they had a screaming good argument. It did not last long nor did it seem serious — just loud.

Then came the robins. Fat, red-breasted, and yellow-billed. How good they looked. Some people who winter in Florida see lots and lots of robins but in our particular park they are very few.

In fact the one or two that did investigate caused quite a stir. Perhaps when the shrubbery is older and larger there will be more berries and the robins will find Sun Valley more to their liking.

Here, of course, they are more interested in worms and apparently our front yard is a good source of supply. Just a minute ago Gerti T. and I laughed at a robin running across the yard — a long and limp worm was dangling from his bill, his spindly legs were chugging along as fast as they could, and an evil yellow eyed grackle was chasing. How sad to pull up lunch and not have a chance to eat it.

This is but a bit of the bird fun we are enjoying and just a brief glimpse at the pretty scenery the window pictures are showing us. As for the joy of seeing and talking of all of our friends, I have not the words. Suffice to say that we three Duncans are wearing big grins these days, muttering to ourselves and to each other, "So good to be home."

Revolutionary Happenings

The eighth grade history classes of Tecumseh Junior High School sponsored a Bicentennial Fair May 27 and 28 in the junior high upstairs gymnasium.

Featured were four historical plays presented throughout the two days, displays, models, pictures, drawings and collages based on students' ideas of America's past.

The classes wrote Bicentennial newspapers — one from the colonists point of view and one from the British point of view — with stories from 1776 written as current news.

The classes are also designing a Bicentennial quilt

Bill May Change Aid Qualifications

Quitters never win—except in Michigan. Michigan State Senator Jack Welborn, Republican from Kalamazoo says "Unemployment compensation was intended to help people who, through no fault of their own, are out of work. It was never intended to reward quitters."

He introduced Senate Bill 1490 that would disqualify for benefits people who voluntarily quit or are fired for intoxication, insubordination, drug use or other misconduct, until they obtain and hold other employment, for a minimum period of time and demonstrate that they are willing to work.

A recent survey cited by the Senate Republican Information Office in Lansing, second highest in costs of unemployment compensation.

In 1975 people who voluntarily quit their jobs numbered 184,423. People who were fired for misconduct and drew benefits almost tripled to 70,804 in 1975.

Furthermore, according to Welborn, Michigan's system owes the federal government $571 million—a debt incurred since March 1975. Employers must pay that back. Welborn said that passage of SB 1490 could save Michigan's Job providers a minimum of $100 million per year.

Two Wounded in Dispute

A shooting incident Saturday at Evans Lake resulted in injury to two men and a felonious assault charge for Cornelius Wilson, owner of the Evans Court Motel, Evans Lake, near Tipton.

Disagreement arose when three Monroe men attempted to visit a resident at the motel, and were told by Wilson that they would not be able to do so.

Wilson pulled a 38 revolver and shot Larry Geckle, 18 in the leg. He was treated at Monroe Mercy Hospital.

Duane Venable, 22, received a grazed arm wound and sought his own treatment.

Third man, Robert Price, 24, was uninjured.

Clinton State Polcce investigated, charged Wilson with felonious assault. He was arraigned Sunday, and after posting $250 bond, he was released from Lenawee County Jail.

200 Years of Religious Freedom

As the nation celebrates its Bicentennial, the United Methodist Church of Tecumseh is preparing to observe its sesquicentennial.

Scarcely 42 years after John Wesley had authorized the establishment of an autonomous Methodist Church in America, the Rev. John Baughman, a circuit rider from Monroe, came to Tecumseh in Oct. 1826 and conducted the first Methodist service.

In Jan. 1828, the Rev. George Walker organized the church with 11 members. The struggling church was served by circuit riders until 1851 when ministers began to be stationed; the first pastor was assigned to the church.

Previously the congregation purchased lots on the northwest corner of Chicago and Pearl Streets. On Aug. 11, 1864, the new church was dedicated. Built in the style prevelant in those days with the sanctuary on the second floor and the fellowship rooms below, it served for over 100 years.

By 1965, the congregation had outgrown several remodelings and expansions. Coupled with the difficulty of parking, they decided to relocate in the northwest section of the city.

This decision not only gave the congregation a more adequate and modern building, but allowed the Presbyterian Church to purchase the old property and expand its facilities and parking.

On May 22, 1966, the corner stone for the new building was laid by Bishop Marshall R. Reed, in whose honor the street on which the church is located was named.

Methodism suffered several schisms and enjoyed several mergers since the Christmas Conference held in Baltimore in 1784. Divided over a more democratic church government and slavery, the Methodist Protestant Church and the Methodist Episcopal South and North came together in 1939.

The Evangelical and United Brethern churches, which had been Methodist in government all along but originally divided over a language barrier, came together to form the present United Methodist Church in 1968.

The United Methodist church has always emphasized "experience" more than "doctrine."

Following the words of its founder, John Wesley, "If your heart is as my heart is, then give me your hand."

In this spirit the congregation in Tecumseh has tried to serve the people of the community and glorify God and preach about Jesus Christ.

Receives Written Report

Tecumseh School Board members received a written report Monday night from Dr. Delmont K. Byrn from the University of Michigan concerning Tecumseh's High School guidance program.

Byrn visited the department for three days in April to evaluate the program.

Among his recommendations:

--A better understanding of the function of the guidance program within the school system and in the community.

--Career education should be implemented by all the high school staff and the K-12 staff.

--Faculty orientation.

--Small group counseling should be expanded.

--Follow-up on graduates should be reported regularly.

--Guidance staff responsibilities should be carefully defined.

Board members agreed that they would like to have a monthly report on how the recommendation's are being implemented.

Elder Protests Treatment

Ronald Sobota, an elder from the Tecumseh congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses, attended a special meeting at Crisler Arena in Ann Arbor.

Timothy Galfas, new coordinator of the Watchtower Society and Teresa Graves of California spoke about the persecution of Jehovah's Witnesses in Malawi, Central Africa.

They told of atrocities similar to those of Nazi concentration camps during World War II, all because of the Malawi Jehovah's Witnesses refusal to join the one political party in Malawi.

Galfas and Graves have completed a week of television and radio appearances in the Detroit, Toledo and Cleveland areas to publicize the persecution. They appealed to people to write to Life President, Mr. H.K. Banda, Malawi, Central Africa, in an effort to end the persecution there.

A convention will be at Tiger Stadium on June 23-26 for Jehovah's Witnesses of Southeastern Michigan.

Chorus Debuts at Services

CLINTON — Clinton's Bicentennial Chorus performed three times over the weekend, its first performances since it began rehearsals in February.

Directed by Peg Geiger and accompanied by Carolyn Dicks, the all-community group sang during Sunday Services in the United Methodist Church and the United Church of Christ.

Memorial Day the chorus sang "Battle Hymn of the Republic" at Riverside Cemetery during the Memorial services conducted by the Frederick E. Pieper Post American Legion. Women of the chorus wore old-fashioned costumes.

Highschool band marched in the parade and played "America" at the service.

The Rev. Roy Wagner spoke at the ceremony and recalled the country's debt of gratitude to those who gave their lives to maintain its freedom. He suggested that rather than have us proclaim our right to do as we please, we should please to do what is right.

Since Clinton's trumpeter, Darcy Ford, was recuperating from surgery, the traditional taps ceremony was dispensed with.

Instead, Clinton's historic old bell was tolled symbolically by Joe O'Donnell, to signal the closing of the memorial service.

Darcy Ford Is Awarded

CLINTON — Annual awards were presented at the graduation concert in Clinton Middle School, Friday evening.

Darcy Ford, graduating senior, was named for the John P. Sousa award as the best all-around musician. Band director Mark Schnizlein called her the "best trumpet player in Lenawee County." She choreographed the entire band Follies for the past three years. She plans to attend Western Michigan University at Kalamazoo to major in dance, and minor in music.

Participating in the concert were the fifth and sixth grade band, junior high band and senior high bands and choir.

Honorary certificates were presented to Kay Curtis and Scott Aiuto, choir members. Scott was accompanist.

Other seniors in the choir honored were Karen Curtis, Debbie Hilton, Debbie Baldwin and Linda Lawson.

Desk pen sets were given to senior members of the band, Robin Holcomb, Ellen Wegner, Steffanie Satterla, Darcy Ford, Tammy Whiteman, Bill Stout, Kay Curtis, and John Ingersoll.

John Ingersoll was given the award for making the most contribution to the band. He was student director of the Band Follies.

Three Babies at Lewis'

Then, Thursday, a baby daughter, Melody Jane, was born to Sam and Terry Lewis at Bixby Hospital. The baby weighed 8 lbs., and the colts — just a bit more!

Neighbors are wondering if the little girl will be wearing diapers or Hang 9 briefs.

Bi-centennial Journey

Food Preparations Change

BRITTON — If today's modern homemaker could trade places with a homemaker of her age back 50 years ago, both of the women would have many difficulties preparing meals for their families. Why?

Fifty years ago many of our so called quick foods were unheard of. Flour was not presifted. There were no cake mixes, prepared biscuit or pancake mixes, instant puddings, prepared pie fillings, pie crust sticks, pie shells, minute rice, powdered milk, instant potatoes, instant tea or coffee, frozen bread dough, frozen dinners, pizzas, or other frozen products.

Grandmother never heard of prepared salad dressings, cooking oils, or vegetable shortenings, and many, many other items for sale today. Yet she served delicious wholesome meals.

In spite of the abundance of convenience foods on the market, grandmother would have trouble cooking for her family today. Grandmother had been accustomed to using farm fresh eggs, lots of whole milk (milk without the cream removed), thick sweet cream, rich sour cream, (different from the commercial type sold in the stores now), dairy butter, buttermilk with flakes of butter in it, and home rendered lard.

Even the recipes of grandmother's time were worded differently. Directions often called for a pinch of salt, a bit of some other ingredient or enough flour to make a stiff dough.

To an inexperienced cook that meant guess work. Temperatures for baking were not given. Stoves were not equipped with thermometers.

Today's homemakers would be at a loss to cook and bake using the equipment and ingredients grandmother had.

How many wives had heard the statement "I wish you'd make a pumpkin pie that would taste like mother's, or I wish you'd make some sugar cookies like grandmother made"?

Tastes seem to change. Cooks didn't use canned pumpkin. They stewed their own and spices vary in quality.

To make those big tender sugar cookies, grandmother used dairy butter, buttermilk, and rich sour cream. Sometimes she grated the nutmeg. The cookies were baked in a hot wood or coal range oven. (Many women noted for those delicious cookies say that an electric oven doesn't bake sugar cookies so well as the range oven).

How many remember the whipped cream cakes that mother made? A light tender layer cake was thickly frosted with sweet cream beaten until very stiff, sweetened and flavored with vanilla.

Nut cakes, either walnut or hickory nut, were other favorites. The boiled nut frosting was made with cream and locally grown nuts. Some cooks preferred sweet cream while others insisted that sour cream made the better frosting.

Even the homemake bread seemed to taste differently. Most housewives made potato bread using either mashed potatoes or the water drained from boiled potatoes and yeast foam or starter.

Yeast foam was a hard, dry cake that felt like coarse corn meal. It was slower in action than our granular or moist yeast, and bread had a different taste. When using yeast foam or starter (about a pint of yeast saved from the last baking) the bread was started one day and wasn't ready to bake until the following day. What a delightful aroma the freshly baked bread had.

Possibly many will remember getting home from school just as mother was taking the golden loaves of bread (usually six or seven large loaves) from the oven. Didn't that tanalizing smell make your mouth water?

Mother knew how hungry school children got walking home from school and let each have a thick slice of warm bread spread with plenty of butter and a glass of milk.

BRITTON — Debbie Maschino was honored at a miscellaneous bridal shower Sunday afternoon in the basement of the Immanuel Lutheran Church on N. Blissfield Hwy.

The refreshment table was centered with a three-tiered cake, decorated in the wedding colors of navy blue, white and accents of red.

Games and bingo were played by the many friends and relatives of the bride-elect, followed by a buffet luncheon.

The shower was hosted by Debbie's grandmother, Mrs. Edna Tiede and aunts, Mrs. Carl Tiede, Mrs. Wesley Tiede, Mrs. Paul Griffin and great aunt and godmother, Mrs. Ethel Maloney.

Debbie will become the bride of Charles Schmidt of Ypsilanti, on June 26.

Chairman Is Named

BRITTON — Mrs. Vivian Brown was named chairman of the local 1976 Breath of Life Campaign to fight children's lung diseases..

The newly-appointed chairman is a Britton resident and will lead local volunteers in raising funds to support programs of research and care for children suffering from Cystic Fibrosis, severe asthma, chronic bronchitis and related lung-damaging diseases.

Cystic Fibrosis, the number one genetic killer of children, affects one out of every 1,500 babies born each year, and occurs when a child inherits two genes for the disease, one from each parent.

Some 10 million Americans and over 400,000 Michigan residents are carriers of the CF gene.

Although incurable, Cystic Fibrosis can be treated. Because of advances in treatment, more than one-half of all CF victims are now living past age 18.

Just 15 years ago, most children with Cystic Fibrosis didn't reach school age.

The Campaign will be conducted during the month of September which is CF month nationwide.

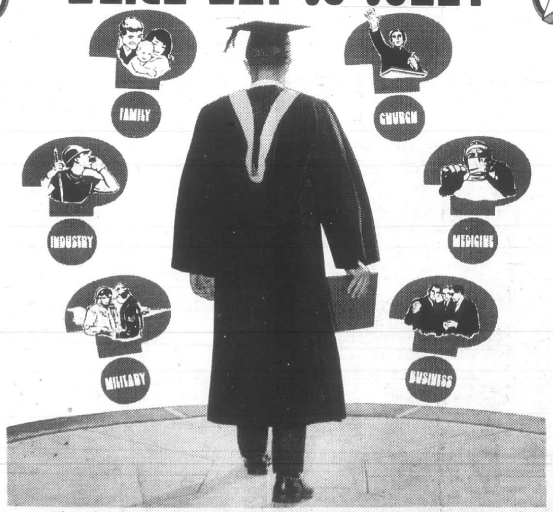
WHICH WAY TO TURN?



There he goes, walking into the future. But what direction will he take?

Whatever his choice, he will have to face problems and obstacles before his chosen goals can be reached.

One thing is sure, the years ahead hold much promise. One day he may be landing a jet on a carrier at sea, building a bridge in a foreign country, closing a big sale, or perhaps covering a fast-breaking news story. But to successfully reach his goal he will have to find the strength and wisdom to rise above the knotty problems of life.

Fortunately, he need not make his decisions alone. With the help of the Church, he can determine a course for successfully living his life in the world of tomorrow.

MEMORIAM

In loving memory of Brian Robert Dicks. You wished no one a last farewell, or even said goodbye.
You were gone before we knew it and only God knows why.
Our hearts still ache with loneliness,
Our hearts shed many tears,
God knows how much we miss you,
At the end of one sad year.
Sadly missed by Daddy, Mommy and Heather 6-3c

In loving memory of Doug Lane
Sunlight from God takes us back to 72.
When God reached down to earth and placed His hand on you.
At first it seemed life ended but time has healed our wounds.
We still feel pangs of pain wishing you were around.
But the love of family and friends carry us on each day.
This love, strengthened by God reminds us you're not dead,
Just gone away.
Missed by Mom, George, Cheri, Mark, Gary, Louise and the Froehlichs 6-3p

CARD OF THANKS

I wish to thank the nurses, nurses aides, dietitian and Dr. Carlton Cook for their fine care while I was in the hospital.
George VanCamp Sr. 6-3p

HOME AGAIN. Since February 12, 1976, I have been in two hospitals in Florida. Leesburg and Orlando, for 73 days.
During this time I have had 5 open heart operations, and consumed 90 pints of blood.
I was stricken with phlebitus which was the cause of several operations.
While in the hospitals and at home I received over 400 pieces of mail, including mail from several churches and other organizations.
I wish to thank each and every one who remembered me. It sure was a big help, and every one was greatly appreciated.
May God bless you all.
Dow Bilby 6-3p

I wish to thank the girls from the VFW for the nice dinner, flowers and friends for flowers and words of comfort in the last days of my husband Gale's life.
Rhoda Snyder 6-3p

The family of Sylvia Chandler wishes to thank all those who sent cards, memorials or helped in any way, during her illness and at her death. 6-3c

The family of Bert Filter would like to thank the friends and relatives for their kindness at time of his death. A special thanks to Dr. Cook, Dr. Buenaflor, the nurses at Herrick Hospital, and the kind assistance of Proctor's Funeral Home. Also Pastor Kenneth Strack and Rev. Russell Cooper for their comforting words. 6-3c

A "thank you" to all my relatives, friends, pastors Rev. Kenneth Boyd, Rev. Allan Gray and the Methodist Prayer Group for their prayers, visits and cards, while I was a patient in Saline Hospital. Also a thank you for the flowers and gifts received at the hospital and since I am home. All were appreciated more than one can say.
Floyd Barrett 6-3c

Reports Senior Housing Needs

Bob Bonner, recent architecture school graduate from the University of Michigan and former Tecumsehite reported to Council Monday night on his survey of the need and suitability of Senior Citizen Housing in Tecumseh.

His report indicated the 4.14 acre site of the old foundry near St. Peter's Episcopal Church on N. Evans and W. Shawnee Sts. would be the closest (only two blocks from downtown) shopping facilities, a location characteristic much desired by a large percentage of the 43 senior citizens interviewed.

Although 46 percent of those seniors surveyed named property across from the A&P store at Herrick Park as ideal, this property has only half the building space because of the topography.

Bonner suggested other sites including vacant properties adjoining the United Methodist and Grace Lutheran Church and building site at Occidental Rd. and W. Chicago. But the others did not appear as suitable according to his criteria: accessibility, topography, compatibility of land use, availability of utilities, expansion potential, land use economy.

Housing Commission Steps Are Taken

Tecumseh City Council approved the first reading of an ordinance to create a Housing Commission for the City of Tecumseh.

The move was made to qualify Tecumseh for money for senior citizen housing funds Council learned is now available through the Department of Housing and Urban Development.

Tecumseh's Rotary Club has been working on senior citizen housing for several months and has been recently in contact with a private developer in Adrian.

Members for the Housing Commission are expected to be recommended at the June 21 council meeting.

'Welcome' Pact Is Approved

Tecumseh City Council accepted the offer of the Kiwanis and Rotary clubs to maintain the "Welcome to Tecumseh's signs at the city's east and west entrances.

The clubs will supply volunteer labor and have their signs repainted.

Council also gave them permission to contact other clubs and request they participate or remove their signs.

The two clubs proposed the maintenance would last another three or four years and a Kiwanian, Pete Clark suggested a regular club committee might be established for annual maintenance.

Council previously refused an offer from the Chamber of Commerce for complete new signs, because the offer though generous, did not include plans for yearly maintenance.

Build Walks, Approaches

General Telephone not only continues installing duct work for underground cable in the N. Evans St. area but also is replacing sidewalks and approaches.

Cal Zorn, city manager, says the company will eventually construct over 8,000 square feet of new sidewalk. GT's project will cost $417,000 with completion scheduled by June 20.

State Highway Department is responsible for new sidewalk approaches in the W. Chicago Blvd. area.

Zorn says the new approaches conform with Federal law, requiring a sloping approach from the street to the sidewalk.

Hearing Set for June 21

Tecumseh City Council set a public hearing date, June 21 at 8 p.m. for the Burt Street sanitary sewer and lift station.

Bids for the project range from $53,218.94 from Selders Excavating Co. and to $144,480 from Pancentro Construction Co. Council will accept a bid after the outcome of the public hearing.

Property owners in the proposed special assessment district will be notified of the public hearing by first class mail.

Garage Sale Law Passed

Tecumseh City Council approved adoption of a garage sale ordinance Monday night.

The ordinance requires anyone having a garage sale to apply for a license issued by the city manager. The first or second license costs $1 and each enables anyone to have a garage sale for a period of five days.

However the second license costs $50 and the third costs $100.

This rate is meant to discourage people from operating a business through a garage sale. Council received complaints from residents about "summer long" garage sales last year.

Ordinance is effective upon publication.

A complete copy of the ordinance is in today's Tecumseh Herald.

Rest of Park To Be Fenced

Remainder of the Tecumseh Park known as "The Pit" will be fenced at the south and west sides at a cost of $4,617, Tecumseh City Council decided Monday night after again hearing complaints from Mr. and Mrs. Edward Dumbach of 903 Shady Lane.

The couple have repeatedly complained to Council that minibikers and people were using their back yard as an entrance and exit to the park.

During the ensuing debate at the last few Council meetings several Council members agreed the residents had a legitimate complaint and the city had a responsibility to fence the park. They felt this would curb vandalism and provide public safety.

Mayor Harold Easton and Councilman Carlton Cook disagreed the city should bear the total cost of the fence. Motion passed 4-2.

Praise Sitter in Saving 3

By a formal resolution Tecumseh City Council commended the life-saving efforts of Mary Shiels and Harry Snyder in the April 24 fire at the Wayne Sisty residence at 111 Burt St.

Mary Shiels was babysitting with the three Sisty children, all under age five, when the fire was discovered. Harry Snyder, a neighbor, assisted Mary when his daughter, Patty heard the cries for help.

Mary Shiels was also honored by the Jaycees with a plaque and savings bond, also sponsored by the Sisty family.

New Bank Officers, Promotions and Cash Dividend Declared

Personal promotions and changes plus declaring a cash dividend of 35 cents per share were approved by directors of the United Savings Bank Wednesday morning.

The cash dividend, payable July 1, will be to stockholders of record on June 15. The bank's net income and average total assets have increased substantially over last year's first five-month period, management reports.

Elevated to officer status by being elected assistant cashiers were John W. Pratt and W. Stewart Niblack. Mrs. Barbara Young, assistant cashier since July 1974, was promoted to assistant vice-president.

Mr. Pratt will replace Mrs. Young as manager of the Sutton Road Office, intersection of Sutton and S. Occidental Hwy. A native of Manchester, he joined the bank here in August 1972. He is currently taking evening classes at Eastern Michigan University for a degree in business administration.

Mr. Niblack will succeed Arnold D. Sayler, vice-president, as manager of the Britton Office. He joined the bank last September and is well known in the Britton area.

Mr. Sayler is returning to the main office and will handle large farm loans as well as commercial loans. He managed the Britton Office since it was opened in October 1972.

Mrs. Young is the new manager of the West Chicago Office, replacing Earl Mason, senior vice-president, who will now devote all of his time to the bank's mortgage loan portfolio of over $20 million. Mrs. Young, as time permits, will assist him in the mortgage loan area.

Douglas Dillon is new management trainee at United Savings Bank.

Douglas Dillon, a 1972 Tecumseh High School graduate and a recent graduate of Western Michigan University, has joined the staff as a management trainee.

He has past banking experience, working for the local bank while in high school and at a Kalamazoo bank while at WMU, where he earned a bachelors degree in business administration.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Dillon, 751 Seneca St.

Kenneth C. McElroy, bank president, reports no new developments in the bank's application for trust powers. Applicants for the position of trust officer are being interviewed.

Sale Day Set

Tecumseh's annual Sidewalk Sale will be held Friday and Saturday, July 16-17.

Bill Feight of Baldwin Hardware is general chairman.

OK Utility Drawings for Industrial Park

Tecumseh Planning Commission approved the preliminary drawings for sewage and water Tuesday night for Tecumseh's 58 acre Industrial park.

Park is located north of Russell Rd., and between Evans and Maumee Streets.

In addition, the commission agreed to contact the Office of Economic Expansion in Lansing in connection with a review of the proposed park.

A rating could be obtained in the future for the park, as then the park would be in competition with other cities looking for industry.

Park presently is set up for 20 lots, each two to seven acres. Businesses could buy one or more of the lots. Price is undetermined at this time, but is expected to be less than most industrial acreage in this area.

A 10 member committee has been recommended to assist in the development and to help existing industrial needs in the area. Their ultimate goal is employment opportunity.

"Committee of 10" members will include commission members Jay Tressler and Tim Tietsema, councilman Jim Palmer, and city manager Cal Zorn, who will recommend other members. They will be appointed by City Council.

Most of construction is on the east side of the building and around the old cafeteria. (Photo by Kent Downing)

THREE AND FOUR-YEAR TERMS ON BALLOT

Reports on 11 School Board Candidates

Maynard H. Harris

Maynard H. Harris, 46, of 59 S. Crestview Dr., has lived in Tecumseh since 1971 and has been an elementary teacher for the Riverview Community School district in Riverview for the past seven years.

He was an elementary teacher for the Greenfield Village Schools in Dearborn for three years and was an elementary teacher for 12 years in the Farmington Public School District.

He holds a B.S. degree from EMU and an M.A. in administration and supervision from Eastern Michigan University. He has a permanent teaching certificate from the State of Michigan.

Harris has completed 21 graduate semester hours beyond the MA degree in Remedial Reading from Marygrove College.

He is director of Christian Education at Hope Lutheran Church in Adrian and was awarded the National Valley Forge Classroom Teacher's Medal in 1964 from the Freedoms Foundation at Valley Forge, Pa., for fostering American heritage, patriotism, citizenship and individual responsibility in the classroom.

Harris and his wife, Yvonne, have three children, Christine 8, David 6 and Stephen 2.

"I feel that every parent, citizen, and taxpayer has the duty and obligation to serve their schools in some capacity, either as a board member, as an officer on the local PTO, as a volunteer and even as a lunchroom supervisor. I also feel that every responsible citizen has the right and duty to present his or her ideas regarding the education of their children to the board of education, even if those ideas differ from the present board of education. The best way for me to do that is to become a school board member.

The board of education represents you. Courtesy must be extended to all citizens attending school board meetings. All citizens should be encouraged to express their personal opinions at school board meetings without being put down or ridiculed for their efforts."

He is running for the three-year term.

Richard T. Heglin

Richard T. Heglin, 39, of 1103 N. River Court, has lived here for seven years. He is the general sales manager of the refrigeration division of Tecumseh Products.

He and his wife, Mary, have two children, Kate, 15, and Andrew,11.

He is a member of Gloria Dei Lutheran Church and has served as the senior high school Sunday school teacher.

Along with his wife, he is a co-sponsor of the Luther League youth group. He has been a little league coach with Tecumseh recreation for the last three years and is the past member of the board of governors for the University of Michigan Club of Detroit.

Heglin is also the past chairman of the high school counselors of the U of M Club. He belongs to the Indian Fan Club and is a past president of a PTA group, not in Tecumseh.

He is a graduate of Grosse Pointe High School and received a B.S. in mechanical engineering from the University of Michigan in 1959. He is a registered professional engineer with the state and has been an instructor at Oakland County Community College.

"As one who is both a product and supporter of the public school system, a taxpayer and parent, I have admired both the great tradition and spirit of the public school program in Tecumseh. I feel, as a concerned citizen and parent, that I could offer skills which could contribute to this fine tradition and spirit.

"As one who deals in communications, I would hope that through understanding the appropriate roles of the board, administration, faculty and students, and taxpayers, we could reduce the frustration of all citizens.

"Because of many forces abroad today in the state, both financial and political, public schools are faced with difficult decisions in the years ahead. I feel that I could work with present board members to resolve the many problems that will be coming upon us and still maintain our excellent program."

Heglin is running for the three-year term.

Gerald U. Johnstone

Gerald U. Johnstone, 34, has lived most of his life in this area. He graduated in 1960 from Adrian High School, then served four years active duty with the U.S.C.G., during which time he was selected for the honor Guard at the Inauguration of President Lyndon B. Johnson.

Following military service he became a Deputy Sheriff, working for Lenawee County until 1966. He then took a position with Ford Motor Co., where he is a supervisor at the Saline Plant.

He is an active layman in the United Methodist Church and at one time was the church school superintendent. He is a former B.S.A. Cubmaster, a past President of the Tecumseh Scout Cabin Association, and was a 1972 recipient of the Ford Motor Co. Community Service Award.

He lives at 1203 Willow St. with wife, Kathi, and their three children, Skip, a student at Tecumseh High School; Jeanie, in Junior High and Jackie, who attends Tecumseh Acres.

He is running for the three-year term on the Board. "I feel I can most effectively represent the interests and desires of the average people in the Tecumseh School District."

Dean W. Jones

Dean W. Jones, 54, of 6643 Pennington Rd., Clinton Township, was born in this area.

He is a graduate of Tecumseh High School and Michigan Technological University with a B.S. in metallurgical engineering. He also did graduate work at Stevens Institute of Technology in Hoboken, New Jersey.

Jones operates a farm and is manager of engineering liaison at the international division of Tecumseh Products.

Jones served in the Navy during World War II and the Korean War.

He is a past president of the Central Michigan Chapter of the American Society of Refrigeration and Air Conditioning Engineers, a leader of the Britton-Macon 4-H, has been on the parish board of St. Elizabeth's Church for three years and is a member of Lenawee County Sheep Producers Association.

He and his wife, Josephine, have four children, Stewart 15, Julie 14, Mathew 11, and Marc 8. Jones has another daughter, Monica, 18.

"The future is no less challenging than the past. Without any criticism of the present or past boards and in support of Tecumseh educational programs, I have offered my candidacy in the coming school board election. In recognition of the changing needs in any educational program, it is important to consider opinions and facts from all available sources in order to make a mature judgement on any issue. My understanding of various school programs would be beneficial in working on the school board. I really feel you must return to a community a service of this type as partial recognition of what I have received in any educational form."

Jones is running for one of the four year terms.

James L. Records

James L. Records, 110 N. Union, is an incumbent, having served on the board for the past four years.

He has been a Tecumseh resident and insurance agent for the past 15 years. He was a fighter pilot in World War II, and is a graduate of the University of Iowa.

His wife, Barbara, is a substitute teacher. Daughter Mary is graduating from Northern Michigan University, and Sally is a junior at Siena Heights College.

"Having been a member of the board for the past four years, I feel that I am in a position to be of greater value to the Tecumseh Public Schools, and intend, if elected, to use the knowledge and understanding to help provide our students, in particular and our system in general, the best we can possibly offer."

Records is seeking a four-year term.

Carl D. Schmidt

Carl D. Schmidt, 35, of 126 S. Ottawa is a life long resident of this area. He graduated from Tecumseh High School in 1959 and spent the next four years in the Naval Air Force as an airborne radar operator.

He is presently employed at Fisher Body.

Last month, Schmidt graduated from Siena Heights with a Bachelors of Social Work. He has applied to the University of Michigan for graduate study in social work.

Schmidt is not married.

He is on the board of directors of the Community Action Center and was chairman of the board at one time.

"I am a candidate because I feel we graduate students from our school system with less than a high school education. Indeed, I think that it would not be too difficult to find in this year's graduating class, students who barely have the ability to read and write.

"It should be a responsibility of the parents to see to it that such a tragedy does not occur. In some cases, however, the parents are not concerned enough or lack the education themselves to be able to see that their child is being short changed in his or her education.

"This is where I feel it is the duty of the school system to become aggressive in its efforts to perform its assigned task of educating.

"No child should be written off due to the lack of concern by the parents or the parents inability to read the travesty of our "educational system."

"I know it is difficult to do for people what they will not or can not do for themselves. Even so we still owe it to the students to make the proper effort to see that they get their education."

Schmidt is a candidate for the three-year term.

James R. Van Buren

James R. Van Buren, 45, of 407 Seminole, has been a resident of Tecumseh for the past two years.

He and his wife, Patricia, are the parents of five children, four of whom are students in the Tecumseh Public Schools.

Van Buren is the administrative officer of the Adrian Training School, a position he has held for the past three years. Previously he was the business manager and treasurer of Lumen Christi High School in Jackson.

In addition to his administrative duties at Lumen Christi he also taught in the business education department of the school.

Born and raised in Jackson, he graduated from St. John High School and Albion College. He has also done graduate work in education at Michigan State.

Active in both civic and church affairs, he has participated in several United Way campaigns, was Jackson County chairman of the Cystic Fibrosis Foundation for two years, and for the past two years has been a member of the State Mental Health Committee for children.

Youth activities have always played a predominant part of his outside activities. He has served as a junior achievement advisor, chairman of a Boy Scout Troop, and active in Little League baseball for over ten years.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Van Buren have been active in church affairs. For 13 years they published weekly church bulletins for several churches in the Jackson area. Since becoming a resident of Tecumseh, Van Buren has been active in St. Elizabeth's parish as a member of the Parish Education Board, and as a teacher in the Religious Education Department.

He is currently the chairman of the Parish's Diocesan Services Appeal, and is beginning his second year in the Tecumseh Parks and Recreation Departments Little League baseball program.

"I feel that my experience as an administrator and teacher in education qualify me with the background necessary to be a member of the Tecumseh Board of Education."

Van Buren is running for one of the four-year terms.

Marten R. Vegter

Martin R. Vegter, 29, of 308 S. Maumee, is a certified public accountant and has lived here for two years.

He and his wife, Marilynn, have two daughters, Nanette, 9 and Janice 2½.

Vegter is a graduate of Grand Rapids Central High School and Walsh College of Accountancy and Business Administration, receiving a Bachelor of Accountancy in December of 1972.

He served in the Army between 1965-68 and is a Vietnam veteran.

Vegter is secretary of the Tecumseh Kiwanis Club, is on the board of trustees and is treasurer of the Tecumseh Community Fund. He is also treasurer of the Tecumseh Acres PTO and of the Adrian Community Christian Reform Church.

"My feeling is that every professional man who has the capability and knowledge to serve in a public office has a duty and obligation to do so. The professional man should not only draw from the community but should contribute to the community. I'm not running because of any grudges, but because I have a background needed to serve on the school board. My nine-year-old will be starting the fourth grade and my 2½ year-old will be attending Tecumseh schools in the future, so I have a genuine concern about the education they'll receive and that the community receives its money's worth."

Vegter is running for the three-year term.

Stephen D. Walsh

Stephen D. Walsh, 52, of 6988 Green Hwy., has lived in Tecumseh off and on for seven years. He is a pharmacist in Milan.

Walsh is a graduate of Grandville High School, near Grand Rapids, and Ferris State College, receiving a B.S. degree in pharmacy in 1950. He was a member of the Marine Corps for three years and served overseas during World War II.

Walsh and his wife, the former Rosemary Murphy, have four children, Kathleen, 16, Tim 13, Margaret 10 and Tom 6.

He is a member of the United Methodist Church, has served on the executive committee and was speaker of the house of delegates of the Michigan Pharmaceutical Society. Presently he is secretary of the Lenawee Pharmaceutical Society.

"I'm interested in education. I would like to see the facilities expanded so the schools could offer a wider variety of classes."

He is running for one of the four-year terms.

Edward (Ted) G. Webber

Edward (Ted) G. Webber, 39, of 212 N. Oneida, has lived here for five years. He is an associate professor of economics at Monroe County Community College.

He is a graduate of Joliet (Ill.) High School and received a B.S. and M.A. in economics from Northern Illinois University. He has also done two years additional graduate work at MSU in economics, government, and labor relations.

He served in the Navy from 1956-58 and is a lieutenant commander in the reserves.

Webber and his wife, Marlene, have three children Elizabeth 18, Larry 16, and Kathy 12.

He is the secretary of the economics Society of Michigan and belongs to the American Economic Association. He is past president of the Michigan Association of Higher Education and is on the executive committee. He served on the advisory committee of the State Plan for Higher Education from 1967-68. He is also a member of Omicron Delta Epsilon, economics honorary society.

"I have no particular ax to grind. The primary reason I want to serve is because I feel I can understand the problems better than others due to my background in education. I've taught at junior high, high school and college levels for over 15 years. I know the impact on students and teachers in the classroom of various policy decisions. Given the severe economic problems facing the states, and consequently the schools, I think I'm well qualified to deal with the public finance aspects of these economic difficulties."

Webber is running for one of the four-year terms.

Dr. Paul A. Fackler

Dr. Paul A. Fackler, 63, of 807 Red Mill Dr., is a Detroit chiropractor who has lived here for the past two years. He attended Michigan State University for five years and Palmer College of Chiropractic.

He was a captain in the Army Medical Service Corps and served overseas in World War II.

Fackler and his wife, Geraldine, have four children, Mark 28, David 27, Nancy 24 and Gloria 13. He is a member of the Tecumseh Rotary Club and is affiliated with the local Community Fund effort. The Facklers are members of the Lutheran Church.

"My purpose for running for the board is two-fold. We have lived in Detroit practically all our lives, and we saw Detroit schools deteriorate. We don't want this to happen in Tecumseh, we want to be sure this doesn't happen. I want to help, to make a contribution. I also want to get more involved with this community of which I'm very fond."

Fackler is running for one of the four-year terms.

LOOK UP TECUMSEH

Even Adrian folks are getting into the "Look Up Tecumseh" contest. Harriet Gallant of Adrian found last week's mystery picture located at 201 N. Ottawa, on a shutter. She said she comes to Tecumseh to visit her daughter, Emma Howard on N. Evans St. and said they had been looking around, when she called Tuesday about 4 p.m. To identify this week's photo, call at 1 p.m. Friday.

LAST WEEK'S

Your question will be answered here

This is the first in a series of what we hope will be helpful messages to all our friends.

We're going to be "talking it out" with you on many situations which you face in your daily associations with family and friends.

Especially, we'll be talking on various aspects of death-and-bereavement . . . coping with loss of loved ones . . . how do you explain death to a child . . . proper behaviors towards the bereaved and something of what you say to them . . . setting up one's life anew . . . the importance of pre-planning one's funeral arrangements.

Most of these topics involve situations which we, as funeral directors, encounter personally and daily in our life's work. We try so hard to handle these preciously personal matters in your best interests. We've studied the latest philosophical and psychological thinking on the subject. We have discussed the problems with the clergymen, the scholars and the doctors.

If you're reading these columns and remembering a single suggestion which will help you through a trying time, this will have all been worth it to us.

Your questions invited

Send us your questions, especially those of you from the religious leaders of our city. They are so deeply involved with our life-and-death process. There are really only four great moments in our personal life-span process. All four moments are affected deeply by the force of religion.

First moment is your own birth, attended by prayers, baptism or christening by pastor, priest or rabbi. Then there's your marriage ceremony, performed with church rituals and blessings. Next usually comes the delightful moments when your own children are born, again ceremonialized by your clergyman. Finally comes death with its prayers for the deceased, and, most importantly, for the living who must carry on.

Your questions and comments on these subjects and others are most welcome — in private or publicly through this column.

Dam Report Is Given

Tecumseh City Council was pleased Monday night that the engineering report on Standish Dam by the Ann Arbor firm of Ayers, Lewis, Norris and May shows no drastic structural defects.

The firm had several recommendations for what appear to be minor repairs.

Council decided repair to the wing walls and a safety rail were the most important repairs to be made.

The engineering study was made by the request of Herrick Park residents who complained about fluctuating water levels and algae which had become an unbearable nuisance.

Before changes in water levels, a structural analysis was recommended to see if the Standish Dam is capable of holding a higher water table.

Mr. and Mrs. John Krzyzaniak, 114 S. Ottawa St., announce the engagement of their daughter, Helen to David Frayer. Mr. Frayer is a 1974 graduate of Tecumseh High School and is presently serving in the United States Army. He is the son of Walter N. Vaudeville, Lost Art, Is Revived

The nearly lost art of old-time vaudeville is scheduled to be revived in Tecumseh on June 29 when the touring Bicentennial Vaudeville show wagon stops here for an p.m. performance at the Tecumseh High School Athletic Field.

Sponsored locally by the Tecumseh Choral Boosters, for the purpose of obtaining new Choir Robes, the Vaudeville Show Wagon is presented by Western Michigan University's Department of Theatre and made possible as a Bicentennial activity through the support of Michigan's Council and Foundation for the Arts and the National Endowment for the Arts with scenery transportation via Ryder Truck.

The Show Wagon touring company is comprised of 12 actors, singers, instrumentalists, and dancers who perform what is billed as "live entertainment, songs, dances, skits, music, magic and other amazing acts and feats" modeled after the old family vaudeville of our nations Centennial era.

The troupe travels with its own transportable stage, sound and lighting equipment, "period" costumes, properties, scenery and rigging, and even patriotic bunting all of which is adapted to "work" at each of the varying performance sites on its tour.

During their day in Tecumseh, the company's itinerary, in addition to the 90-minute long show, will include "mini-entertainment" at different locations (in possibly nursing homes, on street corners, etc.).

Further information may be obtained by contacting Mr. and Mrs. Charles Cook, 423-7211 or Mrs. Dorothy Gooding, 431-2355.

TROUBLE-FREE DOGHOUSE—Scott Welker, left, crouches beside his trouble-free "dogloo," while Jiffy representative Ray Oliver shows off the removable, but unspillable dog dish.

New Dog House by Jiffy

How would you like a doghouse with a dump-proof food and water dish, a monorail that keeps the dog's chain noiseless and untangled, and a door that allows entry, but also keeps bad weather out?

Jiffy Plastics, Maumee St., is manufacturing the shell and floor for one for inventor Scott Welker, of Toledo.

Scott thought of the idea when he saw a puppy tangled up in his chain, out in the rain. Immediately the gears began turning in his head, as they always did when he began to think of marketable products.

He came up with a lightweight plastic "dogloo." A monorail allows the dog to travel about without tangling up and features a nylon coated clamp so the chain is noiselss. The dog dishes are located in a built-in compartment so they cannot be flipped upside-down, but they can be removed. A hinged door allows the animal to enter and leave, but keeps the elements out. The floor is designed to drain off moisture and keep the dog insulated from the dampness.

Presently, the doghouse is showing only at Anderson's in Maumee, Oh., but Scott plans to expand as soon as the public catches onto his idea.

Scott now has seven or eight of the houses in production, but plans on producing many more soon, when he finds the few perfect parts he seeks.

Scott can be contacted at 1359 Winette Dr., Toledo 43614.

Summer Search Program Offered

Are you wondering about your child's development?

Does your child understand you when you talk to him, do other people have trouble understanding his speech? Does he have trouble hearing or seeing? Does he seem clumsy when he plays? Even if he's only an infant, is his rate of development slower than other babies you know?

If you've had any of these concerns about your child, the Lenawee Intermediate School District is sponsoring a free Summer Search Program for children birth to five years of age so you can have these areas checked free.

The purpose of the program is to identify a child's problems at the earliest possible age. Two teams of professionals, including speech pathologist, psychologist, social worker, and physical or occupational therapist will screen infants.

The dates and locations for screening tests in the Tecumseh area are: Herrick Park Elementary School, Herrick Park Dr., Tecumseh, June 21 and 24 and Vo-Tech Center, 2345 N. Adrian Hwy., Adrian on June 21, 22 and 23.

For more information, contact the Lenawee Intermediate School Services, Summer Search Program, 263-8931, between 8:30-3, Monday through Friday.

200 Years of Religious Freedom

In 1935, the Rev. Cyrenus McDonnell and his brother, Kenneth, rented a building in downtown Tecumseh, (the present Watkins Shop). With a band of believers, they started the first Lower Light Mission in Tecumseh.

After approximately one year there, they rented a building on N. Pearl St. (a former office of the Lumber Co.)

In 1937, the believers were able to purchase the present lot at the corner of Kilbuck and Maumee Streets.

The founder of the Lower Light Missions association, the Rev. Pearl McDonnell, brother of the first pastor of the Tecumseh Church had a small Christian school in Petersburg. The young people of that school and lay members, pre-constructed a church building in Petersburg to be placed on a lot in Monroe. This building was later taken apart and reconstructed here in Tecumseh on the present lot, shortly after the purchase of the lot in 1937.

The first pastor of their own church was the Rev. William Kneal of Dundee. He is now the district superintendent and once every quarter of the year he ministers to the present congregation.

The present building was constructed by the Rev. Arthur Shaw and sons between 1950 and 1952; members of the congregation assisted.

Building supplies were brought in to Tecumseh by the Rev. Shaw and sons after they had torn down another building, cleaned, and made ready the materials for the block structure.

After much hard labor with prayer and faith, the church was completed and the Rev. Shaw was the first pastor in this newly constructed church.

The Rev. Cyrenus McDonnell again became pastor around the year 1954.

In 1957, the Rev. Elliott Pamp, a full-blooded Potawatamie Indian, was pastoring. In the closing of his years he still believes America is the "land of the free and the brave."

The Rev. Harlan Sannes, pastor for the past 8½ years, resigned as of Aug. 1975, due to health and his many duties for the Lower Light organization including the starting of our Holiness Christian Day School at Petersburg in 1974. He is the principal.

The Rev. Elmer Johnson of Ida, has taken over the pastorate. He is also treasurer of the Holiness Christian Day School.

Many others have had their share in the building of this church, both physically and spirtually.

Mrs. Pearl Anspach and Mrs. Gladys Kint are members of long standing, Mrs. Anspach being one of the first members in 1935, and Mrs. Kint in 1940. Mrs. Kint was the treasurer for almost 36 years, retiring due to health.

$1,000 Is Collected

Over $1,000 has been collected toward purchase of the Bicentennial Woods project for the Environmental Council of Lenawee (ECOL). Total of $9,000 is needed.

Tecumseh Little Garden Club plans to donate half of its proceeds from the designer's open house toward the forest project.

In other matters at the May 24 meeting, Mr. and Mrs. Carlton Kissner of Cambridge Township were accepted as the first individual members. They collected several hundred signatures on petitions to ban throwaway cans and bottles.

The trash pickup by the Lenawee County Road Commission was a success in Cambridge Township.

The loss of Natural Beauty Road signs from several sites in the county was discussed as well as the Circuit Court hearing on a $75 fee to citizens who petition for the establishment of Natural Beauty Roads.

Candidates Resume

CLINTON — Annual School election will be held at Clinton Middle School Monday, June 14 from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m.

All school electors who are registered with the city or township clerk of the city or township in which they reside are eligible to vote at this election.

The following propositions will be on the ballot:

1. Millage Renewal proposition

Shall the limitation on the amount of taxes which may be assessed against all property in Clinton Community School, Lenawee and Washtenaw Counties, Michigan, be increased by four mills ($4 on each $1,000 of state equalized valuation) for a period of three years, 1976, 1977, and 1978, for the purpose of providing additional funds for operating purposes which expired with the 1975 tax levy)?

2. Additional Millage Proposition

Shall the limitation on the amount of taxes which may be assessed against all property in Clinton Community School, Lenawee and Washtenaw Counties, Michigan, be increased by one mill ($1 on each $1,000 of state equalized valuation) for a period of three years, 1976, 1977, and 1978, for the purpose of providing additional funds for operating purposes (this being a separate proposal in addition to the increase submitted in Proposition I at this same election)?

Two positions on the school board are to be filled for four year terms. Three candidates who have filed for the position have submitted resumes of their background and reasons for wishing to serve.

PATRICIA ANNE SHARPE

Patricia Anne Sharpe resides at 108 Burton St. with her husband, Richard, and son, Timothy. There are three other children, Joanne and James, married and Thomas, a sophomore at MSU. Timothy is a junior at Clinton High School.

The family moved to Clinton in 1958.

She is a graduate of St. Joseph High School, Huntington, W. Va. and St. Lawrence School of Nursing, Lansing.

She has worked at Mercy Hospital, Jackson; Herrick Memorial Hospital, as staff nurse, and industrial nursing at Tecumseh Products, Budd Co. and Fruehauf.

She has served the community as a room mother, in the PTA, Band Boosters, Redskins Fan Club, Clinton United Fund and Michigan United Fund. While she was president of the band boosters, the band uniform project was completed.

She headed the drive for funds to bring Mike Moon home; worked on blood banks, canvassed for various fund drives, ran refreshment stands for athletic and band day events, and managed many school banquets.

She is a member of St. Dominic's Church and Altar Society, and is a past church council member.

Mrs. Sharpe said, "I am running for school board because I believe each and every child in our school district is entitled to the best education we can give him or her to meet his needs to make it here in this adult world. I feel the education of our students should be the top priority for all of us.

"I am concerned about the curriculum offered at Clinton and the communication between the school and the community.

"We here in the Clinton School District have always supported our schools and we will continue to do so, providing the 'communication gap' is overcome. We the people want to be heard, we want to feel we belong, and we want to know we are needed."

WILLIAM H. ZIMMERMAN

William Zimmerman has been a resident for two years, and resides with his wife and three children at 11924 Matthews Hwy.

He is a 1959 graduate of Davison High School and attended Flint Junior College and Lansing Community College.

He has been with the Michigan State Police for 10 years, the last two years as sergeant at the Clinton post.

He is a member of Clinton United Methodist Church and a Little League coach.

Sgt. Zimmerman said he would seek the school board position because he feels that, "Since continuity in education is very important, I am in favor of the four mill extension so that we may continue the current programs.

"I also approve of one mill increase. This is necessary to keep up the inflationary costs which have taken place during the past years and it appears this trend will continue. This increase also will allow the district extra state aid per child.

"Becoming a candidate for Clinton School Board was prompted by the concern for a good education for the children of Clinton area. Further, I want to be involved in the operation of the school system.

"Top priority to me is that the students get the best education possible with the tax dollars that are spent.

"I would like to see the school board become more involved in the operation of the school system. More involvement in communication between board members, teachers, parents, and students, in that the doors of communication are always open, particularly so if a major problem develops, the board can be aware and take positive action."

STEVEN J. BOWMAN

Steven Bowman, a seven year resident of Clinton, resides at 208 W. Michigan Ave. with his wife, Mary and four daughters.

He is a former mathematics teacher at Clinton Middle School and is presently employed at Comshare, Inc., Ann Arbor as an administrative systems analyst.

He is a past president of Clinton Area Jaycees and is a member of Clinton United Church of Christ.

He said he is "running for a position on the board to help insure that his progressive attitude toward education in our community continues. I feel I can make a significant contribution in dealing with the programs and problems of modern education.

"I think the most important task facing any board member is to become informed on what is happening in the schools. If elected, I plan to make decisions based on personal analysis and not just administration recommendations.

"I strongly urge the passage of the four-mill renewal. I also feel cost of living increases and benefits to be derived in the primary and early secondary reading area make passage or an additional mill advisable.

Fire Truck Is Finally Ordered

CLINTON — Voters approved a millage vote recently to purchase a fire truck for the Clinton Fire Department, and at a meeting of the Clinton Township Board, Monday, Fire Chief Harlon Ruhl reported that 10 percent could be saved by placing an order for the truck before July 1.

Delivery on the truck would be about 18 months, Ruhl explained.

Because the tax monies will not be available for some time, the board plans to make arrangements to borrow one-half the cost of the truck to facilitate the purchase, and authorized Ruhl to order now.

Charles Wilson, building inspector, reported on $113,400 in building permits, which were approved. This is a definite improvement in building in the township.

Don Everett complained about noise from the Massey-Furguson equipment testing facility on Billmeyer Rd. Noise is mainly at night, and board will investigate the complaint.

Clyde Burleson and Martha Newman will be advised they have failed to renew a trailer permit. Clerk will send letter notifying them that the permit has expired and is not renewable. Trailer must be removed within 30 days.

Harlon Ruhl reported that the fire escape on the Clinton Township Hall need repairs. Supervisor Harry Comstock appointed Robert Winder of the fire committee to see that the repairs are made.

County Road Commission reports that all road work scheduled by Clinton Township will be compeeted this year.

Next meeting will be July 12 to avoid the July 5 legal holiday.

BLUEJAYS IN THE CEDAR

In the first place the tree should never have been planted where it was. A cedar, it came down from north many years ago as a 6" high reminder of the lovely wilderness around Douglas Lake. Everyone said it wouldn't grow so we planted it without much thought of the future. In the little area between the back yard of the house and the porch ramp was a wildflower garden and for many years the little cedar was a nice accent to the trillium, adder's-tongue and blood-root.

Suddenly the tree shot up and like so many adolescents it became all gangly. It tried to overwhelm the flowers and while it grew tall it was not too strong. The weight of wet snow was a threat and last spring we came home to find the tree draped over and bent almost to the ground.

Instead of calling a lumberjack we decided to try stakes and ropes. It worked.

The tree is still not a prize speciman and one of these years it will have to be cut down but until then it is a nice reminder of the north woods.

And, in addition to stirring memories of some happy times up north, the tree affords some exciting present-day entertainment. Last year it held a robin's nest and this year the bluejays have taken over.

Mom spotted it first and was puzzled. What attracted her attention was the plastic top of a six or eight pack of Coke cans. What in the world was it doing in the cedar tree and who had carried it there? It could not have been an easy job.

After much looking Mom finally decided that the plastic was incorporated into a bird's nest. Several pieces of Kleenex were hanging from the other side of it.

As this tree is out of my vision but easily watched through the picture window in the livingroom Mom, Dad, and Gertie T. have been my eyes. It was soon established that the messy nest belonged to a pair of bluejays.

Since both the male and female look alike it was pure guesswork as to which jay was doing what.

However, it seems logical to assume that the female was incubating on the nest and the male was the one who frequently came to feed her.

My, how these birds do change character during the family rearing season. Usually loud and bold and aggressive, they are not a bit bashful about letting the whole world know that they are around.

Not at this time of the year though, now they are suddenly quiet and almost secretive. Mom especially has watched them slyly slip into the cedar tree. In fact, if things are not exactly to their liking as they approach the tree, there is an abrupt change of plans and the bird goes the other way.

The usual procedure is this. After several stops in the backdoor elm tree the jay flies to the porch roof, then down to the railing of the ramp and finally into the tree. At each stop there is a seemingly casual, but actually a good, check of the area.

Only when super-sure that all is safe does either bird go to the nest. More than once Mom has stood statue-still and back from the window only to have a bluejay land on the railing and fly away.

On Sunday of the Memorial Day weekend there were three baby-jay heads — well, Mom's description of what happened was like this. When an adult bluejay lit on the side of then nest, the nest cup itself was suddenly full of wide-open baby bird's mouths — there were at least three.

Thus the adventure has started. Barring unforseen tragedies there should be many more interesting days because baby-jays are 'at home' for about 17 days.

1776 BENNINGTON FLAG — Kim Dick stands proudly beside the 5'x9' 1776 Bennington Flag she and brother Doug, not shown, painted on their garage door over the Memorial Day weekend. The Elmer Dick family, 5121 S. Britton Hwy., thought it would be one way of participating in the Bicentennial. The New England flag flew in the Battle of Bennington 1776, and is similar to our national flag except for the 13 stars, and also, the stripes which begin with white instead of red, as does our 50-state flag. GIRLS' STATE DELEGATES — Lori Monagin, left, and Mary Schroeder, are the two young women from Britton-Macon Area School, who will attend the American Legion Auxiliary Girls' State program on the Olivet College campus from June 12-19. Voters Asked To Approve Millage Increase

BRITTON — The Annual election of the Britton-Macon Area School District is Monday, June 14. The election will be held in the High School Study Hall, from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m.

Voters will be asked to approve an increase of one mill for additional operating expenses plus the renewal of 15.5 mills that expires this school year.

This brings to 16.5 the total number of mills to be voted upon for operating expenses.

The one mill increase is for one year and is needed to meet the additional expenses to operate the school for the next fiscal year.

The drop in enrollment from 648 students to 618 this past year has resulted in less state aid received from Lansing.

The district also lost an additional $14,274 when the Governor reduced the state aid to schools so that the legislature could meet their budget for the fiscal year.

The rising cost of utilities, supplies, equipment and wages has made it necessary for the board to ask for the additional mill.

In the School Board election Richard Dulinski, Kermit Pickell, Jim Shiels and Incumbents Donald Bush and Dale Monagin are running for two vacancies for a four year term on the Board of Education.

Selected as members of the queen's court were Sharon Fritz and Kathy Rundell, Sharon, a senior at Tecumseh High School and a member of the Roundtop 4-H Club, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Rundell.

The girls were judged on beauty, poise, school and community activities, and knowledge of and experience in sheep activities.

Macon Dialog

by Linda Phillips 423-5213

"Where do we plug in the television?" our five-year-old daughter asked when we reached our campsite last weekend.

"You don't watch TV on a camping trip," explained her father as he put up an umbrella (the one we "wouldn't need"). "We're here to observe nature."

"Is rain nature, Dad?" asked our son. "Yes," he affirmed, "Rain is definitely nature."

"Then I'm observing lots of nature," he answered.

"And I'm feeling lots of nature," I added, ducking the swing of my husband's umbrella.

He was determined to make veteran campers out of his less than enthusiastic crew. We set about "making camp."

Unfortunately, the instructions on raising the tent showed pictures of a tent-pitcher using two hands. It was somewhat awkward trying to drive stakes into the ground with one hand while the other clutched desperately to an inflated lifeboat, but we managed to get it up before the typhoon hit.

The next morning found the two of us with naturally curly hair with bad cases of "the frizzies," while the other two with straight hair definitely had the "wet head" look the hair spray companies always degrade.

At breakfast my son informed me that I should have packed the brand of cereal that never gets soggy. "That is the brand," I told him. "But it applies only to milk — not rain."

Later on in the day we found our tastes ill-suited also to water-logged steaks, limp potato chips and mushy garlic bread.

"Come on gang," encouraged our fearless leader. "We aren't going to let a little rain dampen our spirits, are we?"

Non-plussed by his sick pun, we huddled under a tarp that several mice had dined on during the winter.

The dyed-in-the-wool camper decided to build a bonfire to cheer us up. "These matches are wet!" he exclaimed. "Rub two sticks together then," answered I, again dodging the swipe of his umbrella.

Somehow he got a fire going, though it was touch and go for awhile. It was a pitiful sight — watching the splish-splosh of raindrops fall into the struggling flames.

Instead of the hoped-for cheering effect, we became even more depressed. "I'd rather be watching television," announced our daughter.

"So would I," I admitted. "But we'd probably get electrocuted plugging one in in this weather."

River Fever Hits Five

By KATHY BROWN

Whether you call it a Bicentennial expedition, a Tom Sawyer adventure or a sentimental journey, its just plain river fever.

Four Tecumseh men and their English buddy, alias "River Rats," have river water in their veins. Their cure for river fever this summer is an 870-mile boat trip down the Mississippi River to New Orleans.

The International crew of Charles Purley of Bognor Regis, Sussex England, Hugh Walters of Freemont, Martin Halley of Clinton and Hebert Dillon and Robert H. Moore, both of Tecumseh, left town June 6.

Their cruise began June 7 at Cairo, Ill., at the confluence of the Mississippi and Ohio Rivers. They plan to tackle the bends of the mighty Mississippi River, 870 miles all the way to New Orleans, La., where on June 13, they will rendezvous with other Rotarians, who perhaps have arrived by more conventional means, to the Rotary International Convention June 13-17.

As incredible as the trip sounds, so is their craft—a 16-foot fiberglass boat, owned by Moore. When they dock at the Southern Yacht Club on Lake Pontchartrain, Moore expects some hoots and hollers, but it won't be anything new to the experienced pilot.

("You crossed Lake Erin in that thing?")

Other pleasure craft owners have snooted at him before. "Misi Sipi", spelled as the Indians named it, has logged "a mere 27,000 miles." Moore and son-in-law Richard Fielder made a Mississippi trip in the same boat 18 years ago.

The other men are not landlubbers, either. They've accompanied Moore in turn on various junts.

This trip the crew will use a new 70 h.p. Johnson motor. The men expect to travel 150 miles a day at a rate of 25 mph. They will kitty hop—an alternate crew will follow in a car, crews change every 100-150 miles at designated points along the route. Pilot Moore stays with the boat for the whole trip. All will stay in a motel each night.

It won't be all work. The crew plans short leaves for sight-seeing, the battlegrounds of Vicksburg and Natchez, Miss., to mention a few of the highlights.

Guiding them will be the bicentennial navigation maps issued by the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers of Vicksburg. In addition to channels, mileage and harbor charts, the map offers pertinent historical data.

Is it a treat to beat your feet on the Mississippi mud?

"I'll tell you. We had our experience with Mississippi mud. You've got to respect it," said Moore. On the trip 18 years ago, he and son-in-law decided not to go night cruising after going aground near Greensville, Miss.

On that trip 2,200 miles were logged. The duo began at the headwaters of the Raisin River near Bundy Hill to Monroe, across Lake Erie to Toledo, up the Maumee River and by other water courses to the Little Wabash River.

The route was completed earlier in trial spins which took them to Shawneetown, Ill. There they took the 16-foot boat and a 35 hp outboard for the cruise down the Mississippi River.

They averaged 150 miles a day and traveled 257 miles one day.

Moore estimates he has logged 30,000 miles on navigable waters from east to west and from home to the Gulf of Mexico.

R.H. Moore celebrates his birthday on the water—his 75th this year—on June 10.

Happy Boating, River Rats!

MEMORIAM

A year has come and gone today
the sunlight isn't quite as bright as before.
This year has passed so quickly
since you knocked on Heaven's door.

Behind, you left a practice patients by the score.
But by going to God's Kingdom you left behind much more.

You left behind your loving wife and seven loving children
A life of giving of yourself earned you your place in Heaven.

But most of all, the memories the memories of you being you
All we do is open,
our minds and hearts,
and God reunites us with you.

In memory of Dr. Geo. C. Wilson, left us on June 3, 1975. Missed by wife, Ruby; children, Janice, Danny, Lana, Raymond, Andrew, Jared & Rachel. Your family and friends. 6-10p

The team participated in the state meet Saturday at Okemos High School but did not place.

Tecumseh finished the league meet with 56, the same as C.C., Flat Rock was next with 45 points followed by hosts New Boston Huron with 41, Airport 33½, Grosse Ile 29½, Jefferson 10 and Carlson, 0.

Finishing second for Tecumseh: Mike Martin, shot put; Mike McKinney, high jump; 880 relay team; Tim Scheff 880 run; Mike Eaton, high hurdles and Kim Cantrell, 440.

Eliminated from Districts By Saline

Tecumseh's baseball squad finished up its season last week beating Airport 5-0 last Wednesday and losing to Saline 6-3 in the district semi-finals on Saturday.

The Indians led Saline 2-1 at the end of the third inning, but the Hornets came up with five runs in the fourth while Tecumseh had one. Saline added another in the seventh.

Tecumseh had six hits on four errors while Saline had seven hits on two errors. Doug Bunch and Dave Spillman each had two hits and Brad Sisson and Bill Warner each had a hit for Tecumseh.

Spillman was the losing pitcher. Tecumseh ended the season with a 14-9 record, 9-5 in the Huron League. The Indians ended in the third spot in the league after Flat Rock and Monroe Catholic Central respectively.

"We hung in tough to the end. The last inning we loaded the bases," commented head coach Robert Ondrovick. "I'm looking forward to next year with our juniors from this year. I want to thank our seniors for their never-say-die attitude. I also want to thank the fans and community for their support both at home and on the road."

Lose In Districts

Britton-Macon's baseball squad was eliminated from further district participation after an 11-1 loss to Morenci in district semi-final play Friday.

The Tories had three hits on two errors in the contest compared to 10 hits on one error for Morenci. Jim Cradit had a double, a single and crossed home plate in the first inning for Britton's lone run.

Jeff Barringer had a single for Britton's other hit.

Randy Smith, Greg Sears and Jim Cradit all saw pitching duty with Smith taking the loss.

Named To All-League

Six Tecumseh baseball players received all-league honors recently including Dave Spillman who was a double winner.

Spillman was named to the first team All Huron League for pitching while Doug Bunch received that honor as an infielder.

Brad Sisson, outfield, was named to the second team.

Bill Smith, catcher, Dave Bohannon infield and Spillman, outfield received honorable mention.

Bunch and Spillman, both seniors, accumulated some impressive statistics this season.

Bunch, along with Brad Sisson, tied the school record for runs scored held by Spillman with 17 runs. Bunch broke the old record of four home runs with six and the old runs-batted-in record of 19 with 21. Bunch and Spillman tied with a record-breaking batting average of .383. The old record, .373, was held by Darrell Bozeman.

Spillman struck out just five times in 79 trips to the plate. He struck out just twice against Huron League pitchers.

Softballers Win Title

Indian softballers continued their trek towards a shot at the state championship taking the district title Saturday at Monroe Jefferson.

Tecumseh beat St. Mary's 8-3 in the first game and Ypsilanti-Lincoln 10-2 in the finals.

The squad had seven hits on two errors against Ypsi with Gloria Fosbender and Karen Bunch each with two singles and Peg Upell coming up with three singles. Ypsi had four hits on two errors.

Sue Frazier took the win on the mound striking out one and walking three.

Julie Anderson was the winning pitcher against St. Mary's striking out six of the first eight batters she met. Tecumseh again had seven hits against St. Mary's six. Anderson hit a single and triple, Tori Ifland came up with two singles to lead Indian batters.

Tecumseh ended up second in the Huron League behind Grosse Ile, the only team to beat them. The Indians final league record was 12-2.

Grosse Ile also won their district and have yet to taste defeat posting a 22-0 record. The Red Devils won the Huron League and Coach Nancy Fisher is hopeful that the Indians will have another shot at Grosse Ile. . .in the state finals.

She said of the Ypsi-Lincoln contest, "The game was closer than the score might show since we were behind 2-1 up to the fourth inning. It was a real team effort. We had three double plays in the two games and we haven't had a double play all year."

Tecumseh enters regional competition this Saturday at Dickerson Field in Comstock near Kalamazoo. Semi-Final is at 10 a.m. and finals are at 2:30.

Golfers Qualify

Jones, Records, Heglin Win in Election; Only 11% Vote

An incumbent and two newcomers were elected to the School Board in what may have been the lightest vote, percentage wise, ever recorded here.

James Records, present member of the board, and Dean Jones were elected to fill two four-year term seats. They won rather easily over four other candidates, also seeking terms for four years.

Richard Heglin defeated four other candidates for a three-year term. He likewise polled a sizeable number of votes over his nearest challenger.

Turnout was expected to be light - but 11 percent!

Gene Cooley, assistant superintendent, says there are approximately 7,800 registered voters in the district, and the next tabulation could show it near 8,000 as the district continues to grow.

However, only 814 voted here Monday, slightly less than 11 percent. Nearly 7,000 voters stayed home or away from polls. A light vote was predicted as no millage was on the ballot.

Last year, though, the ballot included millage but still just 883 voted.

Breakdown of the voting is:

4-Year Term		3-Year Terms
Dean Jones	439	Richard Heglin	266
James Records	424	Carl Schmidt	170
Stephen Walsh	216	Gerald Johnstone	141
Edward Webber	193	Maynard Harris	114
James Van Buren	160	Marten Vegter	100
Paul Fackler	83

Mishaps Hike to 13

Tecumseh Police investigated 13 accident reports this week. Two sent motorcycle drivers to Herrick Hospital.

June 9 - David A. King, 17, 800 River Acres was stopped in traffic on N. Maumee when Jeffrey G. Ives, 16, 1106 Ives Rd., turned the corner from Logan and struck the King auto. Ives reportedly hit the gas instead of the brake. He was cited for failure to stop within the clear distance ahead.

Howard Baughey, 48, 221 E. Cummins was taken to Herrick after he was driving left of center on Shady Lane and struck a parked car owned by Howard R. Wilson, 34, 1105 Murray. Baughey reportedly jumped from his bike before the impact.

Mary F. Daly, 212 S. Maple, 28, was northbound on Maple when she took her eyes off the road to adjust her seat. She swerved to the right, jumping the curb and hitting a utility pole near the Sunset St. intersection.

June 10 - Bradley R. Meade, 16, 6048 Occidental was cited for failure to stop in an assured distance after he left 91 foot skid marks at the S. Union and Cummins St. intersection. He struck an auto driven by Merry C. Huber, 17, 515 S. Pearl.

June 11 - Viola B. Jacobs, 44, 9388 Tonneberger, was cited for making an improper left turn. She was eastbound on Chicago, turning onto Union, when she struck a westbound car driven by Alan E. Lenz, 24 of Saline.

Cynthia S. Wright, 17, 2879 Burwyn Hills, was cited for making an improper right turn when she turned from E. Chicago right the wrong way onto Ottawa. She struck an auto stopped for the light. Auto was driven by Michael F. Bartenslager, 30, 408 W. Kilbuck.

June 12 - David A. Phillips, 211 W. Cummins, pulled from a parking place on Chicago and struck an auto driven by Larry T. Burch, 610 W. Pottawatamie.

Michael J. VanBuren, 17, of 407 Seminole backed out of a parking spot from behind Gambles and struck a vehicle in the lot driven by Gerald Gordon, 61, of 1004 Red Mill.

Glenn B. Lewis Jr., 28, of 9103 N. Union was taken to Herrick and later to St. Joseph Hospital after he lost control of his motorcycle. He was northbound on N. Evans when a car reportedly pulled out of Red Mill, partially in his lane. Lewis swerved to miss the auto when he lost control.

June 13 - Christine C. Wilkins, 24, of 302 W. Cummins was parked in the Kroger parking lot when Clayton R. Causino, 20, of Staib Rd. backed out of a space and hit the Wilkins auto.

June 14 - Terry L. Tennyson, 22, of Clinton was stopped for the construction on M-50 when an auto driven by William J. Eddinger, 4222 Dillingham, struck the rear end of his vehicle.

Alvah R. Meyers, 87, of 207 Bidwell and Debra A. Gray, 23, of Blissfield collided in the parking lot at A&P.

June 15 - Mark D. Strahle, 18, of 410 W. Chicago was heading east on Russell when his steering went out and he struck a railroad warning pole along the road.

Victim Is Recovering after 2-Car Accident

Accident victim Lora Lee Durkee, 20, of Lee Villa Trailer Court, was reported in fair condition at St. Joseph's Hospital in Ann Arbor by her husband Wednesday morning.

Mrs. Durkee, the former Lora Lee Baldwin, was seriously injured early last Thursday evening in a two-car collision on W. Russell Rd. Six others suffered injuries but none nearly as serious.

She underwent surgery Thursday evening, when her spleen was removed. She also suffered a fractured pelvis, collapsed lung and numerous bruises.

Mrs. Durkee, alone in her automobile, was headed east on Russell when she apparently lost control of her car and was struck by an oncoming auto, driven by Gerald Tubbs of Deerfield.

With Tubbs was his wife and four children, all of Deerfield. They were taken to Herrick Hospital for treatment.

According to Mr. Durkee, release of his wife from the hospital has yet to be determined. She was first listed in critical condition and was in intensive care for several days following the accident.

Clinton State Police cited her for reckless driving. Russell Rd., bumpy, crowned and often with numerous holes in it, has long been considered somewhat hazardous, especially for the amount of traffic it carries.

At one time the county had plans to improve it, but protests over possible increased traffic apparently have thwarted such plans.

Rain Snaps Dry Spell

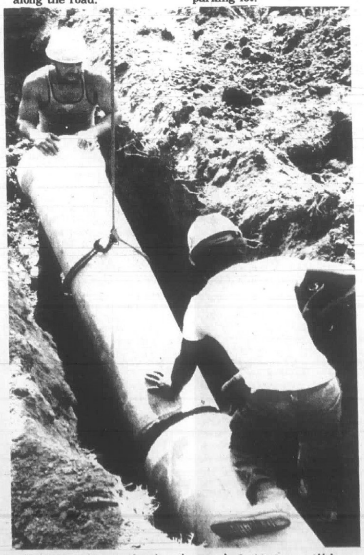
First appreciable amount of rain to fall in over two weeks resulted Tuesday night when the city recorded .55 of an inch of water.

Area has suffered through a dry, hot spell since May 31 when the city recorded just over an inch of rain.

Rain had been predicted over the weekend but none fell. Strong winds, thunder and lightning occurred before Tuesday night's fall, and at one time it appeared that the rain would pass over the area.

Southeastern Michigan was under a tornado watch at the time and local firemen spent nearly three hours west of Tecumseh to watch for funnels.

Although strong winds whipped the city, there was little damage to trees and buildings reported.



YEAR OF CONSTRUCTION — 1976 may be our Bicentennial, but in Tecumseh it has started out as the year to tear up the city. General Telephone has installed considerable cable but also did a remarkable job in replacing sidewalk and lawns. Now, Chicago Blvd. is being torn up, especially in the western section where traffic is often single lane. Picture at left shows construction underway for widening S. Union St. at the boulevard. S. Union will be three lanes at the traffic light. Other photo shows installation of 12-inch storm sewer on W. Chicago. GT expects to be finished with its work in a few weeks, and construction on the boulevard, including blacktopping from Wyandotte to the west city limits, should end in early August.

Arrest Leads to Marijuana

Police investigated nine minor complaints this week. One incident involved the arresting of a 17-year-old and two minors for trespassing. That incident led to the arrest of the same 17-year-old for possession of marijuana.

On Thursday, police were summoned to Tecumseh Park (Pit) for a possible B&E in progress. They observed three boys leaving the area through the fence on Park St. The three were arrested for trespassing, but the building had no evidence of breaking and entering.

Then while conducting the search which led to arrest, officers found that the 17-year-old, Michael J. Keyes, had five baggies of marijuana in a brown paper bag on him.

In other police business:

June 10 — Mike Phenicie, of Lee Villa Trailer Ct., reported the theft of a 10-speed bike from Tecumseh Library. The locked bicycle was later recovered by police.

Vernon Bennett, of Adrian, reported the larceny of auto parts from his vehicle parked in front of Jerry's Bar on Chicago Blvd. A transmission shaft, estimated between $80 and $100 was taken.

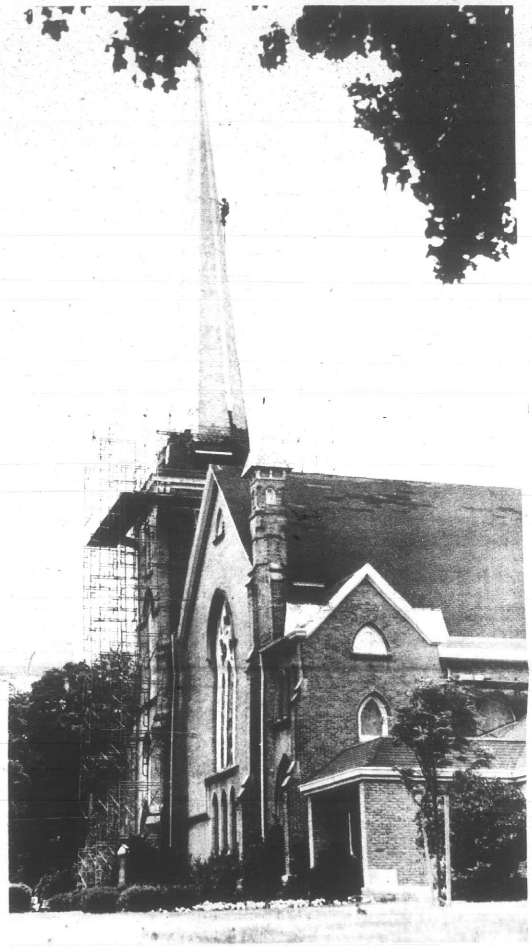
June 11 — Janet Jamison, 212 W. Kilbuck, reported the larceny of 8-track tapes from her van parked in her driveway. Estimated lose was $75.

Tim Paulette, 1202 W. Pottawatamie, reported the theft of a bicycle in the area of THS. Bike was estimated at $83.

June 13 — Dan Schnidt, 100 Marlboro Ct., reported malicious destruction of property and the theft of a CB unit from the parking lot at his residence. The left front door window on his car was broken out and the unit estimated at $225 was taken out with wire cutters.

June 14 — Gerald Price, 10860 Ridge Rd., reported a stolen CB from his car parked at the N. Evans St. fields. He left his locked auto only ½ hour when the $200 unit was taken.

June 15 — Mrs. Paul Johnson, of Milan reported private property damage to her auto. She received a small scratch on the door while parked in the high school parking lot.



WHO ELSE — There's only one man in this area that will do high roofing work. His name is John Socha and he works for Fred Christon, in Toledo. The 62-year-old has been in the roofing business since 1927. John is presently working on the Presbyterian Church, tearing old shingles off and replacing them with copper sheet metal roofing. To accomplish the task, he had to crawl up into the steeple and drop lines from the peak down to work from. Working at a little over 120 feet up, there are understandably few who would want his job. ROGER PROCTOR

How Do You Tell A Child About Death?

"Why did Grandpa die?"

Do you explain it away with a fairy tale? Do you tell him that God called him away? Or do you answer truthfully, but simply, so that the child relates his Grandpa's death to, perhaps, flowers which live, grow, wither and ultimately die?

If the child is offered a fairy tale, he'll accept it -- for now. But, like all fairy tales, they have a way of remaining make-believe for but a short while. And then how do you face the child? Can you keep his trust after that? Perhaps. Perhaps not.

If you tell the child that God has called Grandpa away, you may be sincere, but philosophy and theology are not usually within a youngster's understanding. And what is there to dispel the notion that "God may again call" - taking away his mother, his father?

Relate to flowers

It might be better to explain how flowers grow and bloom, then wither and die. This concept is understandable to the child because it's a fact he can grasp. One he has witnessed. "Flowers," you may explain, "don't live a long time. But we like them and we remember them. Grandpa lived a long time. Remember the good times you had with Grandpa. But like flowers, he, too, died. We loved him -- and we'll remember him with love, won't we?"

You can expect many questions. Answer them simply. The young child needs to understand that what has happened is a natural course of events, like the seasons and the sun's rising and setting . . . that he is part of the family, sharing and understanding . . . that his own sadness is shared and understood.

(This is one of a series of short articles I hope will be helpful. We welcome your questions -- in private or publicly through this column.

MR. and MRS. GARY HENRY

Marianne Saren, Gary Henry Wed

BRITTON — St. Joseph's Catholic Church in Adrian was the setting for the June 4 marriage of Marianne Saren, of Lima, Ohio, to Gary George Henry, of Britton. Bishop Joseph Green presided at the 6:15 p.m. marriage ceremony.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Saren of Lima, wore a bouffant gown of Chantilly lace. It was styled with a Sabrina neckline, long sleeves and a skirt of tiered lace. She wore a cathedral train, and a band of lace held a two-tiered veil, edged with lace.

Mrs. Denise Seal, of Riverview, was the matron of honor. The bridal attendants were Nancy Saren, of Trenton; Barbara Saren, bride's sister; Judy Faust, Ottawa Lake, groom's sister and Russie Kendall. Jill Anne Seal, of Riverview, was the flower girl.

The attendants wore red dresses with white picture hats and white acessories and carried red and white roses.

Bruce Sommers of Britton was best man. Groomsmen were Ken Saren of Trenton, bride's brother; Ken Faust, Ottawa Lake; Ken Kendall, groom's half-brother; and Jim Henry, cousin of the groom.

The ushers were Mark Cline, Britton; and Robert Kendall, Blissfield; with Matthew Kendall, ring bearer.

A reception was held in LaSalle with 300 guests present. The rehearsal dinner was held at the Blissfield Sportsmen's Club.

Mrs. Henry is a graduate of Lima High School, and was employed at the Memorial Hospital at Lima. The groom is the son of Mrs. Mildred Henry and the late George Henry Jr. of Britton. He is graduated from Britton-Macon High School and is a meat cutter at Manchester Locker Plant, in Manchester.

Plan Unique Bicentennial Celebration

by KATHY BROWN

Tecumseh's July 4 Bicentennial celebration promises to be one of the most unique celebrations in the city's history if not in the entire state.

Tecumseh will have four promenades of the people instead of one July 4 parade with floats and contingents in review.

Each promenade will be led by a color guard with flags and contingent of the Tecumseh Schools Marching Band with Scouts, Camp Fire Girls and residents.

All four promenades will begin at 8 p.m. and converge at the baseball diamonds for a special program. The four contingents of the band will unite into one chorus.

The special program begins at 8:30 p.m. and consists of prayer, a community sing-a-long of patriotic old favorites and guest speaker George Romney.

The Rev. David Fox, chairman of the Tecumseh Bicentennial Committee explained the concept. "July 4 is everybody's day. We wanted everyone to have a chance to participate equally, instead of competing for attention."

The four locations of the promenades and leaders are: A&P store, led by Dane Ruff from Brown St. to Evans and the baseball diamonds; from city hall, led by Don Berkley, to Maumee, Logan and Ottawa Sts.; Kilbuck St., led by George Romney and Mayor Harold Easton to Ottawa; Maiden Lane, led by Roger Proctor to Logan and Ottawa Sts.

Participants are invited to carry along a cushion or blanket with them in the promenade so they may select a good spot for the fireworks which follow immediately at 9:30 p.m. Those coming just for fireworks may continue to fill the lawn, as in previous years.

July 5 is the rain date for the fireworks.

Six thousand copies of the day's program are being printed and will be distributed in advance. Program will include lyrics for the songs and a map with the locations of the Tecumseh parks and day's events.

Complete schedule of events will also be printed in the July 1 edition of The Tecumseh Herald.

Other events planned for the weekend include:

+A vaudeville production by Western Michigan University students, June 29 at 8 p.m. on the athletic field, sponsored by the Tecumseh Choral Booster. Proceeds for new choir robes.

+A barbecue served by the American Legion at the Community Center on July 3 and a band concert at 7:30 p.m. by the Manistee Music Camp at the Tecumseh athletic field. Public is invited. The camp's concert and stage band will perform. Camp is located on M-50.

+The Tecumseh Parks and Recreation Department's third annual canoe race is July 3. Entry deadline is noon, July 1.

All rules and registration may be picked up at the Recreation Department, Monday through Friday. Registration is $5 per canoe and classes are unlimited, challenger, amateur and novice.

Other events July 4 include a 7 a.m. interdenominational sunrise service with the Rev. Ray Warnick, Assembly of God; morning worship at the church of your choice; 12:30 p.m. family picnics in the parks. Every family is invited to bring own food, and service and join their neighbors for fellowship; 2 p.m. National Bell Ringing for two minutes to commemorate the signing of the Declaration of Independence and the first ringing of the Liberty Bell; 2-6 p.m. Cake and ice cream social at the Presbyterian Church; 2:30-10 p.m. the 4th O-Rama Square Dancing by the Shawnee Squares open for public viewing at the Community Center.

200 Years of Religious Freedom

In Oct. 1895, a number of persons under the leadership of the Rev. Phineas F. Bresee, D.D., and J.P. Widney, M.D., formed the First Church of the Nazarene at Los Angeles, Calif. with 135 charter members. They adopted statements of belief, and agreed to general rules as seemed proper and needful for immediate guidance. A number of churches sprang into existence, reaching as far east as Chicago.

As the group from the East and the group from the West became acquainted, they decided to unite. The Church of the Nazarene has grown rapidly since then.

The Church of the Nazarene is now an international church with well over 500 missionaries and nearly 3,000 national workers. The Church also has 12 colleges throughout the world.

On March 19, 1955, a small group of people met with Dr. W.M. McGuire, the district superintendent, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Snedecor, to establish the Tecumseh Church of the Nazarene.

Regular prayer meetings were held on Tuesday nights until the church was organized. John Anibal led the meetings.

Easter Sunday afternoon the first church service was held with Dr. McGuire in charge. Eighty-three people from surrounding churches and Tecumsehites met at the Central School Auditorium.

The Sunday School was organized April 17, 1955. After five weeks in Central Auditorium the church rented the Williamson Machine Shop until May 6, 1956 when the church moved into a new building at 807 Sunset Dr.

Several pastors supplied the pulpit until the first pastor, the Rev. Bernard Gill arrived. They were: Dr. W.M. McGuire, the Rev. Robert Milner, Adrian East; the Rev. Al Raloff, Adrian First; the Rev. U.B. Godman, Detroit First; the Rev. D.K. King, Eureka; and the Rev. Fred T. Fuge, Fostoria, Ohio.

The missionary society organized Jan. 8, 1956 by Mrs W.M. McGuire. Mrs. Ford Bushroe was first president.

The Nazarene Young People's Society organized July 10, 1956 by Raymond Williams, the District N.Y.P.S. President. Lillian Shirley was the first president of the local young people's society.

Pastors following the Rev. Gill were, the Rev. Dale Harvey, and the Rev. Betty Wagner.

The Rev. Herbert Nation came as pastor the first Sunday in April, 1962, and is the present pastor. Under his leadership, and the Holy Spirit's divine guidance, a building fund was started for a new sanctuary. The church members gave liberally, donations came in, the new building was erected.

The first service in the new sanctuary, at 808 W. Chicago Blvd., was held on Easter Sunday, April 14, 1968. Through gifts and donations the indebtedness was paid in October, 1969.

Through the entire building program, and even after, all church budgets were paid in full and the church was over 10 percent in giving to missions.

"To God ALONE be the glory. The church is pressing forward in His wonderful name." commented the Rev. Nation.

The Church of the Nazarene is biblical in nature and urges its members to follow the characteristics of Christian living, Christian service, personal witnessing and fellowship.

CHURCH DEDICATED 1969, REV. NATION, PASTOR

Our Readers Write

To the Editor:

I am writing this letter to inform people that there is a drive to limit the spending of our Michigan State Government. There is a non-partisan petition circulating which, if enough signatures are obtained, will put a proposed constitutional amendment on the November ballot. The amendment would restrict state government taxing and spending powers to no more than its current level of 8.3 percent of the total personal income in Michigan.

This would include personal income taxes, business taxes, sales taxes, and any other types of taxes or revenues generated by the state. The amendment provides for a tax refund if the state tax revenue exceeds this limit. It also prohibits the state from shifting its responsibilities to the local government. If the state should require a program of the local government, it will have to foot the bill.

This proposed amendment does not concern itself with who shall pay the taxes, but rather, with how much the total revenue should be.

For instance, if there is an increase in personal income taxes, then there will be a corresponding decrease in another type of tax.

Our state budget won't be balanced unless we demand that it be balanced. Special interest groups in Lansing will continue to force our taxes higher and higher unless we limit them.

More than 300,000 signatures are needed to put this proposed amendment on the November ballot.

The quota for Lenawee County is 9,000. As of Monday, June 8, only 1,200 signatures had been returned to Lansing. We need many more.

If you are interested, please stop in at the Tecumseh Camera Shop and sign one, or pick up one to circulate yourself. Every signature of a registered voter will help.

Hopefully,
Susan Beardsley

Historical Society Hosts Second Pie Social

BY LINDA PHILLIPS

If you are one who didn't make the pie social of 1974, take heart! You will get a second chance on Sunday, June 27, when members of Macon Historical Society give a repeat performance of the event as part of their community's Bicentennial celebration.

Again, tours through the mill will be the focal point of the pie social. Many who made the nostalgic trip two years ago are planning a second visit because they found it so enjoyable.

History surrounding Macon's mill abounds. Although it wasn't built until 1945, it was constructed specifically to grind wheat into flour, employing the same method that was used in grist mills that picturesquely dotted the landscape during the 18th and 19th centuries.

Originally named the Dynamic Kernels Mill, Henry Ford had it built in honor of the sixth and final harvest of the famous wheat tithing project undertaken by Perry Hayden.

Hayden's endeavors had held great interest for Ford, but during the fifth year of the experiment Ford decided to discontinue his assistance with the project. There is speculation yet regarding the reasons Ford made this decision.

Thus, the mill built with the sole intention of commemorating the final harvest was never used to grind Hayden's wheat. During the pie social of 1974, flour was ground for the first time in the old mill.

A $1 donation (children under 12, 50c) will entitle those who attend June 27, from 11 a.m. to 7 p.m., to admission onto the grounds and a tour through the mill.

Wheat will be ground into flour periodically that day. Those who have never watched a huge wheel turn the waters of a millrace into power are in for a real treat!

Another treat is in store for those who sample the homemade pie that will be baked and sold by the ladies of Macon United Methodist Church.

In addition, they will sell ice cream, barbecue sandwiches, hot dogs and coffee. There will also be cold drinks, popcorn and cupcakes for the "kids."

For the car buffs, many vintage beauties will be on display. The crafted-minded will delight to displays of old-fashioned pastimes, such as quilting, which are currently enjoying a revival.

There will even be a sheep-shearing demonstration - sure to hold interest for both country folk and city slickers!

The harmony of a barbershop quartet, which will stroll the grounds June 27, will add the finishing touch to the charming recreation of a day out of the past.

Don your Bicentennial duds - or come as you are - and bring the whole family. It will be a day sure to please all!

Macon is about eight miles northwest of Tecumseh. The mill is located three-quarters of a mile off Clinton-Macon Rd., on Mills-Macon Rd. Follow the signs in Macon!

On July 7, 1974, an old-fashioned pie social was staged at the grist mill in Macon in conjunction with Tecumseh's Sesquicentennial celebration.

The "Macon Belles," aided by the "Brothers of the Brush," who planned the affair hoped that somewhere between 200 and 500 people would turn out to enjoy a tour through the mill, a stroll around the grounds, and the all-American fare.

The attendance that hot summer afternoon surpassed the group's wildest expectations — approximately 2,500 people overwhelmed the 40 or so Maconites who staffed the event.

Needless to say, the crowd depleted the 1,500 pieces of homemade pie before everyone got a sampling.

The spirits of those who didn't get a piece of pie that day remained undaunted, however. "We just came to tour the mill!" commented one couple who had driven to Macon from Detroit.

Perry Hayden, a Quaker miller of Tecumseh with great religious zeal, was inspired by a sermon he heard given on planting, harvesting and giving a 10 percent portion to the church.

In 1940, Hayden planted one cubic inch of wheat (360 kernels) on a four by eight foot plot on Ford's 9,600 acre farm in Macon. The first harvest netted 18,000 kernels, or 50 cubic inches of wheat. Ten percent of this was given to the church and the rest replanted.

Successive plantings and harvestings continued with yearly tithings made. The sixth harvest produced a total of 72,150 bushels of wheat which had been grown on 2,666 acres -- all from one cubic inch originally sown.

In 1958, the Pepperidge Farm Bakery bought all the milling equipment, and it was taken to Chicago with the intention of using it as an advertising attraction.

The plan never reached fruition, however, and in 1970 the Eldredge family, owners of the mill since 1967, located the equipment near Norwalk, Conn., headquarters of Pepperidge Farms.

The equipment was purchased and brought back to Macon. After the Eldredges spent a year reassembling the equipment, Dynamic Kernels Mill stands exactly as it did in 1945 when Ford built it.

Committee Meets To Plan Festival

The Raisin Bicentennial Festival planning committee will meet again June 18 at 7:30 p.m. Signs, posters, programs and handbills are expected to be ready at that time.

The 4-H clubs will deliver the program handbills to all Raisin Township homes and seeking small articles to be contributed for the country auction.

Several of the older citizens of the township will be recognized in the opening ceremonies at 11 a.m. on July 3 at the Occidental fire station.

Several persons will be honored for outstanding public service in the community.

A recently purchased tract of land will be dedicated as a township park.

A small country auction of contributed articles is planned to generate some program activity and raise funds for expenses of the one day mini-festival.

Other activities of the day include re-enactment of an old Quaker wedding, old-time games, musical numbers, antique exhibits, and a birthday cake.

Nearly 100 former township residents have been invited to return for this homecoming.

Merle Kerr has compiled a thorough history of Raisin Township and the pioneer families who settled here. It is all being published in a book to be ready for sale on festival day, July 3, 1976.

Don Mitchell is general chairman of the festival day program, assisted by a committee and volunteers.

God changes things

An empty spider web hangs suspended in a dry bush, a mere pattern of gray trembling in the breeze.

On a Sunday morning, people from many walks of life, carrying a myriad of joys and burdens, enter churches to worship.

Dew falls and the sun rises. God moves in the lives of His people.

Clothed now in dew, the once drab spider web becomes a chandelier of crystal rainbows --royal purples, velvet violets, fiery reds, some flecked with brightest gold.

People emerge from our churches, apparently unchanged, yet — different. What is the new meaning in their lives? What the deeper understanding? How has peace and confidence been renewed? A mystery? Perhaps! But not beyond experience.

Won't you join us in church this Sunday? Together, we will learn from the God who changes things.

WATCHING AND WAITING

It was an absolutely incredible day! A non-bird person could not begin to understand and I must admit that, as involved as we Duncans are, there is some head-shaking when we think back on the events of that day. It was the day the kid bluejays left home.

The look on Mom's face told a story. She had just made her first check of the bluejays' nest and something was wrong. One of the youngsters was gone — what had happened?

There was no indication of trouble, the nest was still intact and the two remaining birds were okay. There was no sign on the ground of a fallen kid nor were the adult jays distraught or agitated.

We could only hope he had taken off early that morning and was somewhere nearby waiting for his nest-mates.

Actually for several days we had expected something to happen. The youngsters grew so fast that there simply was not room in the nest. And they were so active too. We just knew that something was bound to happen soon.

Someone would be crowded out if they did not leave of their own free will. Hopefully it was the latter that happened.

But back to the day of departure. Breakfast was barely over when Mom took another look through the livingroom window and and exclaimed that the two kids were standing on the edge of the nest. They were beating their wings furiously — it would not be long now.

Thus started the vigil that lasted well into the afternoon. As the folks took turns and the one watching reported to the other what was going on, I could picture exactly what was taking place.

And what was taking place was not the quick departure we had anticipated. After standing on the edge of the nest and doing their exercises the kids hopped down to one of the supporting branches.

Surely they would be away soon. Wrong, all wrong. It was as if the kids suddenly realized what an enormous step they were taking — and they weren't ready. In fact, as they huddled together and crouched on the limb they were a dejected, bewildered, and frightened pair.

Clearly there was need for some coaxing and encouragement from the parent birds. One or the other would fly to the corner of the porch roof, then down to the railing of the ramp, and finally into the tree.

Sometimes the youngsters were fed, sometimes not. The elm tree by the back porch and the trees and bushes by the back fence were also well visited. The yard was full of flying bluejays as the two old birds tried so patiently to convince their offsprings that it was indeed time to 'fly the coup'.

The kids wanted to leave, Mom and Dad could see them trying to build up their courage and summon the necessary nerve. But oh, what a big world they were facing and what a tremendous thing it was to leave the safety of that nest.

Little by little they worked further and further away from it. Branch by branch they moved but there were frequent stops and frequent returns to the safety of the already explored limbs.

Of course some of the stops were for resting too. So much excitement and all that exertion were tiring. If one of the kids ventured out near the end of a small branch it bobbed up and down and oh, how frightening.

A scary time for the youngsters. Meanwhile the big jays kept flying back and forth, coaxing and encouraging.

In the meanwhile the hands on the clock kept flying. We had other things to do but any minute the kids were going to go — hour after hour we kept repeating this.

Finally the telephone rang, it was a long distance call Mom had been expecting. Need I say more?

What she had been watching for and wanting so much to see, happened while she was in the hall at the telephone. Fortunately Dad was watching and saw the first kid fly to the roof of the porch and the second to the railing of the ramp.

Then they both took off across the creek after their parents. It was the irony of all ironies that Mom missed the great event.

However, there is satisfaction for us all in knowing that the youngsters made it out of the nest in good shape. Now we are anxious for them to be brought to the near-my-window feeder.

Food Booth Is Planned

CLINTON — Prudential committee of United Church of Christ met in special session Monday night to discuss plans for the Fall Festival participation and a Christmas bazaar.

Members decided to reserve a booth at the Fall Festival for the sale of food items, such as sloppy joes and ice tea, and for handmade items if they are donated.

Jenny Davis and Clayton Strolle were named to plan the menu for the Friday night Fish dinner at the Fall Festival. An "all you can eat" family style meal is planned.

An all-church campout is being planned for a weekend in August at the Chelsea campsite. Wes Maki will make the arrangements.

Eileen Pratt was appointed deaconess to fill the vacancy created by the resignation of Betty Patterson.

Christmas Bazaar will be held on the traditional date of Saturday, Dec. 4 with Gae Miller in charge.

Plans are to specialize in good used toys, baked goods and handmade items.

Bazaar dinner will be an old-fashioned Christmas dinner featuring turkey and fixings served family style.

In order to enlist the help of more of the congregation, a coffee hour sign-up sheet will be placed in the dining room for volunteers.

Fence Bid Accepted

CLINTON — School board voted to accept low bid from Tecumseh Fence Co. for all structural steel and labor, and to purchase the chain link fabric from Page Fence Co., for the athletic field.

James Wilson, CCADP representative was present to give an analysis as to the progress of the bingo games, and the much needed support. A lighted bingo board has been purchased, which seems to save time and with adequate help everything, is running smoothly, he reported.

Athletic development project, including the track and drainage system on the football field has been approved, the contracts let, and the drainage system has now been installed as per blueprints and specifications submitted by the Humphries-Hansen Co.

Rough grading is now being done and asphalt is to be poured in the next week or so.

Board voted to uphold the action on an elementary grievance on the recommendation of the administration, and this will become a part of the 1975-76 master contract.

Resignation of Shelly Barnett was accepted.

A GED diploma will be issued to Debra Ackley Walker.

Board voted to table a request to join the Tri-County League composed of Adrian-Madison, Ann Arbor-St. Thomas, Britton, Deerfield, Sand Creek, Summerfield and Whitmore Lake.

Priorities Sought by Chamber

CLINTON — Clinton Chamber of Commerce members at Monday's meeting were asked by president, Kathy Thomas, to consider what the priorities of the Chamber are at this time, and decide what the Chamber should do for the community.

In 1960 when a study was made by the University of Michigan of the Clinton area, the priorities then were for increased industry and housing, both since achieved.

Suggested were better youth control in the village, and the need for a friendlier attitude of business.

Suggested also was that Dick Halliday of the State Chamber of Commerce be invited on to speak to the Chamber of the State's view of village priorities.

Chamber will give its support and financial aid to Jaycees in their efforts to promote a park for the area.

Reports were made of the sidewalk sale and the Wagon Train reception.

Charlie Peart reported on the plans for the July 4 Bicentennial celebration, which will include fireworks at the high school grounds.

Donations toward the fireworks have already been received from Rotary Club, Jaycees, Jaycee Auxiliary, American Legion, and Chamber voted to donate also.

Next meeting on July 19 will feature a speaker from Lenawee Vo-Tech, who will speak on the placement of youth in the co-op program in local businesses.

An all-community picnic will be held on the lawn at the Smith-Kimball Community Center, at 2 p.m.

Families are invited to bring all their own food.

Dinner will be followed by an ice cream social, which is being arranged by Clinton Camp Fire Girls, Mrs. Lyle Harrison, leader.

A pie eating contest will be conducted by the St. Dominic's Altar Society, and a sack race directed by Bob King.

At 4 p.m. Clinton Firemen will put on a water ball fight and-or a tug of war battle.

Although it was previously announced that there would be fireworks to conclude the day, it has been learned that fireworks and equipment is not available now. Program will conclude at 8:30 p.m. at the high school in time for folks to view the fireworks at Tecumseh.

7 Fire Calls In Tecumseh

After answering only two fire alarm calls in May, one of those being a false alarm, Tecumseh Firemen responded to seven calls this week.

On Thursday, June 10, firemen were called to the James W. Brown residence at 424 N. Evans to put out a pickup fire. Cause of the afternoon fire was an electrical short resulting in $50 damage.

Less than two hours later, firemen were called to a second car fire call at 11 Cairnes. Auto belonged to Larry D. Mitchell and the fire was in the back seat. Damage was $150.

Just three hours later, at 6:50 p.m., the fire department answered a call to wash gasoline off a section of Russell Rd., following a personal injury accident.

Friday, an Allied Van Line semi-tractor caught fire at the Jack Pine Motel. Smoke, first reported at 12:14 a.m., was caused by a rag on fire.

In the first of two alarms turned in Sunday, Tecumseh Firemen put out a car fire at 412½ W. Chicago. Cause of the $100 damage is unknown.

At 10:15 that same night, firemen responded to a house fire call at 303 E. Logan, occupied by Charlene Wyatt. House is owned by Memimell Sackner, 301 E. Logan. Origin of the fire is believed to be a shorted switch in the bathroom and damage is undetermined.

Firemen went out for a 15 minute run Tuesday on a call to 601 N. Evans when a power wire began to burn.

BLOOD ROAD BRIDGE — This painting of historic "Blood Road Bridge" was presented by Judge Yale Kerby, right to the Lenawee County Historical Museum, represented by Elwood Little, left, president of the Lenawee County Historicial Society. Kerby acquired the painting from an Ann Arbor art gallery in 1948 after his uncle recognized the scene. Artist William Wheeler painted it circa 1860. Sylvia Merrill represented the Tecumseh Area Historical Society at the presentation. (Photo by Mike Sunderland)

Al Meyers Honored

Two more honors were recently bestowed on the late Allen H. Meyers in memory of his aeronautic accomplishments.

The Michigan Aeronautics Commission recently presented Mrs. Meyers with an illuminated scroll bearing a resolution in esteem for Mr. Meyers' contributions to Michigan aviation. Completely hand lettered and drawn, the scroll is an unusual award because it was awarded to an individual from a government agency.

Mr. Meyers was also included in a memorial ceremony during the induction of the 1976 nominees of the OX5 Aviation Pioneers Hall of Fame in Latrobe, Pa., just outside Pittsburgh.

Dr. Nydia Meyers, represented her late husband at the June 5 ceremonies.

Allen H. Meyer was inducted into the Aviation Hall of Fame in 1974. The organization was formed in 1959, "dedicated to the men and women who risked their life and fortune to establish the great aviation industry."

Included in the day's program was an exhibition flight of the 1905 Curtiss Pusher, a reinactment of the way Glenn Curtiss did it. He developed the OX5 engine, the first successful general aviation engine. The Glenn Curtiss Museum at Hammondsport, N.Y. is dedicated to his aviation inovations. The Aviation Hall of Fame is now moved to Latrobe, Pa.

While in the area, Mrs. Meyers was able to tour the Latrobe-Ligonier Valley, a milestone in transportation history. It is the scene of old stage coach turnpike and Indian Trails before that. Now airlines pass over it. The aviation hall of fame is now approximately in this hub of travel and early history of aviation. The Bicentennial Wagon Train is scheduled to arrive in the Pittsburgh area on June 15 and Ligonier Valley June 17.

Latrobe Airport is on Lincoln Highway, just north of the Pittsburgh-Philadelphia, Pa. Turnpike.

PRESENTED TO AL MEYERS — In memory of the late Allen H. Meyers, the Michigan Aeronautics Commission presented this hand lettered and drawn scroll held by Mrs. Meyers. The scroll details his contributions to Michigan aviation. Mrs. Meyers represented her late husband at the 1976 OX5 Aviation Pioneers Hall of Fame induction at Latrobe, Pa. on June 5. Mr. Meyers was inducted in 1974. (Photo by Kent Downing)

BICENTENNIAL TREE PLANTING - Mrs. Maurice MacIntosh, of the Tecumseh Garden Club right and husband give some tender loving care to the sugar maple tree seedling planted in Eliott Park June 10 in a Bicentennial ceremony. Scouts Laurie Murphy and Barb Wilt of Troop 304 and Tim Deming of Troop 272 will look after the trees as a special project. The seedlings were grown from 100-year-old maple trees in Niles, Mich. which were planted by a patriotic farm hand for the nation's centennial. Various groups in Michigan planted 500 seedlings June 10-11. (Photo by Kent Downing)

Bicentennial Planting Is Done

Sugar maple seedlings, grown from seeds taken from 100-year-old sugar maples planted for the Centennial in Niles, Michigan, were planted in a special ceremony June 10 at Tecumseh's Elliot Park at Kilbuck and Ottawa Sts.

The tree planting was a project of the Tecumseh Garden Club and the Tecumseh Bicentennial Committee.

Participating in the ceremony were Mrs. Maurice McIntosh, president of the club and her husband, who assisted in planting and securing the seedlings; Lauri Murphy and Barbara Wilt, Girl Scout Troop No. 304, and Tim Deming Scout Troop No. 272, who will keep the seedlings watered, and Mrs. Neil Pearson of the Tecumseh Garden Club.

Governor William G. Milliken, has proclaimed June 11 as "Centennial-Bicentennial Tree Planting Day in Michigan" noting that the Niles maples were planted in a similar observance of the nation's 100th birthday in 1876—by a farmhand with strong feelings of patriotism.

Some 500 seedlings are expected to be planted by local Bicentennial groups throughout Michigan on the same day.

Lt. Governor James J. Damman, chairman of the Michigan Bicentennial Commission highlighted the statewide project June 11 by planting seedling on the State Capitol lawn.

The project was accomplished with the cooperation of the DNR, the School of Forestry at Michigan State University.

Ternak Shoots For Olympics

The Olympic Games.

What athlete has never wished for a chance, just a chance, to compete?

If Armand Ternak, son of Mrs. Julia Ternak, 112 E. Logan has anything to say about it, he will have that chance.

ARMAND TERNAK

Ternak, 21, a physical education major — and wrestler — at Cedarville College in Ohio was invited by the wrestling committee of the Amateur Athletic Union to attend an Olympic Training Camp June 20 - July 21 at Brockport,New York to try out for the Olympic team.

According to Ternak the team will take the top three wrestlers in each weight class to Montreal in August. Even if not selected this year, Ternak would have an opportunity to try out for the 1980 and '84 teams.

Ternak won the Mid-Ohio All Conference championship at 134 pounds this year. Competing nationally, he drew the top seeded wrestler for his first match and lost.

Ternak graduated from Tecumseh High School in 1973 after winning the state championship at 119 pounds in his senior year. That season, Ternak compiled a 31-1 record.

He is active in Campus Crusade for Christ and Athletes In Action, a Christian group composed of athletes.

Chris Kimerer was the winning pitcher going four innings and striking out five. Jeff Maska, Jeff Judkins, Ken Stotler and Ken Handley were the leading hitters for Britton.

Bruce, Handley and Dan Harriott all made good plays in the outfield.

Training will be held at the Sheriff's Department, located at 405 North Winter Street, Adrian.

Time for the first class will be June 16th at 7 p.m., where the students may register and receive their material. They must return June 23rd at 7 p.m. and finish the course.

Second scheduled class will be July 7th at 7 p.m. and will finish July 14th at 7 p.m.

The Bears beat the Wildcats 9-2 in Britton Little League action on Tuesday of last week.

Brian Fanslau was the winning pitcher allowing just four hits and striking out eight Wildcats. Dennis Shock also saw pitching action.

Shock hit a double and single, Mike Harriott had a double and two home runs and Doug Henry had a single to lead Bear hitters.

Chris Reau made a good catch in the outfield for the first out of the game.

Programs Listed

As summer draws near, so do many of the Tecumseh Parks and Recreations' programs and activities. One of the programs sponsored by the department is playgrounds.

Playgrounds are going to be run a little differently this year. Locations will be Tecumseh Acres, Herrick Park, Patterson Park (behind Patterson School), and, added to this year's program, is the Scout Cabin, on Kilbuck.

Hours will be from 10 a.m. to 12 noon and from 1 p.m. to 3 p.m. These are only tentative times and may be changed upon demand.

An arts and crafts program has been added. Arts and crafts will be held at least once a week, featuring decoupage plaques, leather bracelets, and puppets. Each leader has a schedule of the arts and crafts activities.

Many special activities are planned for this year including a trip to a farm, putt-putt golf, canoeing, a field day, a hotdog roast, and many, many more. In addition, we will have games, sporting activities and events.

Enter State Tourney Saturday

Tecumseh's girls softball squad won the regional championship Saturday defeating River Valley 7-1 in the preliminaries and Gull Lake in the finals 2-0.

Those two victories set the stage for the Indians' state title try this Saturday at Coldwater. Their overall record for the season is 23-2 having lost only to Grosse Ile 5-2 and 6-1 during Huron League play.

Tecumseh will meet Grosse Ile at 12:30 p.m. in the state semi-finals. A win over the Red Devils would send the Indians into the finals against the winner of the Holland-Christian Regional champion-Saginaw regional champion contest.

Grosse Ile ended their regular season boasting an undefeated record taking the league title. Tecumseh ended in second place behind them.

The Indians had little problem with River Valley. The Mustangs scored their only run in the seventh inning.

Tecumseh had 10 hits on four errors to nine hits on six errors for the opposition. Sue Frazier was the winning pitcher.

Julie Anderson had two triples and a single, Vickie Smith had two singles and Jane Faulkner had a double to lead Indian batters.

Tecumseh had four hits in their second game against Gull Lake which had just two hits.

Julie Anderson was the winning pitcher striking out two, allowing just three walks.

Smith had a single which drove in the two hits, Peg Upell had a double and single and Faulkner had a single.

City Approves Assessment

Conscious of objections but convinced the time for development was right, four members of Tecumseh City Council unanimously approved the special assessment district for installation of a sanitary sewer main for Burt Street at Monday night's Council meeting.

Council also awarded the project contract to Selders Excavating of Tecumseh for $53,218.

Only four councilmen, Mayor Harold Easton, Carlton Cook, Aden Mead and Ray Puffer voted on the assessment district. Vacationing Council members Mary Bowers, Len DeMoss and Jim Palmer were excused.

Monday night a public hearing was held. Although not all property owners attending objected to the project in concept, at least five property owners vocally opposed the assessments.

One property owner, Dr. Merwin Blanden, 5140 E. Monroe St. challenged Council's authority to seek bids on the project without a mandate from the people.

"How can you authorize bids on this? We turned it down, flat. (Three years ago.)"

Blanden called Council's action "out of order" because the bids were sought "with no education of the people."

Blanden was assessed $3,677. Special assessment district is set up for five years.

However, Tecumseh City Charter empowers Council to determine special assessments and details the procedure, which includes a public hearing.

Council explained to Blanden: 1) The public hearing was being held to acquaint the property owners of the costs and reason for the special assessment. 2) Council sought the bids prior to the hearing, (but did not select a bid), to get a firm price from a contractor to protect the parties involved from inflationary costs. 3) Three years ago when the question of a santiary sewer was proposed, there was no pending development. Now however, Bill Powell, local developer and realtor, has already started building an apartment complex on Burt St. 4) The local developer is willing to foot the bill for a force main and lift station, which three years ago were costs spread over the other property owners. In most cases, this has cut the assessments.

Kenneth Hunter, 4836 Milwaukee Rd., largest property owner in the area was assessed $6,528. He was not against the project but did not agree the time was right for development.

Grange Master, Walt Wonderly, representing the Tecumseh Grange property, which was assessed $1,053, and Robert Sterling, 5000 Burt St., a retiree, assessed $563 for the smallest parcel of land, both said they could not afford the assessments.

Powell who was silent for most of the hearing told the group he needed the sewer to develop his property. He said he would have paid for the entire installation, and then let others reimburse him when they hooked up.

But because the sewer would be run on city property, Powell couldn't make an agreement without the city's involvement, said Tecumseh city attorney, Greg Forsthoefel.

When it appeared no one had anything further to say, Council closed the hearing. Some in the audience were disgusted with the procedure and asked why a hand vote wasn't taken. Council replied it had heard the public comment and would decide.

The low bids received by Council clenched it's decision later that night. Bids opened June 1 ranged from $53,218 to $144,480.

Later in the meeting, City Manager Cal Zorn reminded Council the bids were good for only 30 days after opening. If Council did not decide Monday — a special meeting would have to be held or the bids lost.

Councilman Aden Mead questioned the wisdom of voting with three members absent on vacation. Councilman Ray Puffer agreed the decision was tough especially with only four members present but said there was no guarantee of being 100 percent right in any decision. He felt the project would benefit the area concerned.

"What difference does it make if we all vote the same?" asked Councilman Carlton Cook.

"I just hate to be criticized for railroading something," Mead explained. Turning to the other councilmen Mead concluded, "My feeling is we've got a good bid. . .it (the sewer) is going to have to come."

The special assessment district and low bid were then unanimously approved in two separate motions.

FIRST FEDERAL IS NOW OPEN IN CLINTON— First Federal Savings and Loan opened for business May 24 in Clinton after 5 months of construction. Cost was $150,000 for the savings and loan full service institution featuring a drive-up window. Bonnie Brooks, left, Donna Sanborn and manager Robert Camburn operates the facility.

Accept Fire Contract

Tecumseh City Council and Tecumseh Township officials agreed on a one year fire and rescue service contract for the township at $6,000. New contract expires July 1, 1977.

If the township were paying 1¼ mills on the assessed valuation, as in the city, it would actually pay $11,000 for the some 20 calls made in the township last year. However because of the townships size and unique situation, City Council accepted the townships offer of $6,000, a 50 percent increase over last year.

At one point, the township and city discussed the cutting of rescue service to lower the bill. It was determined that most of the rescue calls were unnecessary or inappropriate. But the township officials did not want to deprive its residents of the service. The township is considering an education campaign to inform people to call either private ambulance service or the sheriff's department for personal emergencies.

Next year Tecumseh Council and township officials will meet in March to renegotiate the contract before the township sets its budget.

Request Postponed

Monday night, City Council again postponed the request from Al Meyers Airport, Inc. for additional maintenance funds.

City now assists in airport maintenance with $900 annually.

Request was postponed because the city attorney thinks the city would have liability because of its arrangement with the airport.

Attorneys are trying to determine if the city can be placed as a rider on the airport's insurance.

Tennis Court Funds Sought

Tecumseh City Council approved Monday night an application for 1977 matching federal funds from the Bureau of Outdoor Recreation for the construction of four tennis courts. The location of the courts has not been determined.

The city had hoped it could make a long term leasing arrangement with the Lenawee County Road Commission for another portion of its property on Russell Rd., where the city now leases land for baseball diamonds.

However because the road commission is uncertain about its relocation possibilities, it could not agree to lease the property to the city for more than five years. Investment costs for the city courts would not make this arrangement worthwhile.

Region II planners are meeting with the city to find a new location.

Meetings Changed

Tecumseh's Board of Education will hold its reorganizational meeting on Monday, July 5, 7 p.m.

Tecumseh City Council will meet July 6 at 7:30 p.m. instead of July 5 because of the legal holiday.

Implement Improvements

School Supt. Robert Duhan told board members Monday night about the implementation of high school guidance and counseling improvements as suggested by a U of M researcher recently.

Duhan said that physical facilities will be expanded with the addition, and that a portion of inservice day Sept. 3 will be devoted to explaining services offered by the guidance office to elementary and secondary teachers.

A conference room will be provided for increased small group counseling and the responsibilities of guidance supportive staff will be rewritten.

Swap Two

Tecumsen City Council determined Monday night that it will give the Retail Division of the Chamber of Commerce two days of free off street parking for Sidewalk Sale Days July 15 and 16 if the Chamber is willing to have two less days of free parking during the Christmas shopping season.

TEARS OF VICTORY. . . AND DEFEAT — Gloria Fosbender runs into the arms of pitcher Julie Anderson after Tecumseh's girls defeated Grosse Ile 5-2 in Class B state softball semi-final action Saturday. But the Indians' title hopes were resoundingly crushed with a 7-2 loss to Holland Christian in the finals. Anderson, tearfully clutching the runners-up trophy, applauds while Holland accepts the title trophy. Cheryl Long, Sue Frazier, and Vickie Smith gloomily watch the proceedings. For story and more pictures, see page 12.

THS Addition Report Given

At a meeting of the Tecumseh School Board Monday night, members heard a report on the high school addition from Asst. Supt. Eugene Cooley.

All of the steel is in position, Cooley said, and the roof will hopefully be erected by July 1. Block and brick layers are on the job, and construction officials don't anticipate any labor problems.

All student occupied areas are expected to be ready for the opening of school in the fall.

Hear Fence Objections

Tecumseh City Council heard objections from two residents whose property abutts Tecumseh Park, about the fence Council decided to install for $4,600 at the June 14 Council meeting.

Fence will be installed because a majority of the Council was convinced it would solve vandalism problems and spare residents from annoyance by mini-bike riders. One couple, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Dumbach of 903 Shady Lane made the original complaints at successive Council meetings.

However Monday night, Councilman Ray Puffer who made the motion in favor of the fence was still convinced it was a good idea.

Council members told the two men they should have come to earlier meetings.

Curb, Gutter Hearing Set

Monday night City Council set up a public hearing for July 19 at 8 p.m. for the purpose of hearing objections to installation of curb and gutter on N. Maumee and Water Streets.

At the last Council meeting, residents petitoned for curb and gutter.

Appoint Teacher

Tecumseh school board members approved the appointment of Mrs. Janis Marsh as a type A resource teacher at Tecumseh Acres Monday night.

She replaces Carrie Betzoldt, who retired recently.

Marsh is a 1966 Tecumseh High School graduate and holds a bacheiors degree in special education from Eastern Michigan University.

She taught for five years in the Summerfield School District.

Should Children Attend Funerals?

As members of a home in mourning, children must be allowed to express their own grief just as fully as adult members. We violate their rights if we forbid them this natural, emotional outlet. Mourning is a part of growing-up, of maturing. To deny the child this emotional experience is to stifle his natural development.

Generally, a child can deal with a loss far better than one might expect. After giving full vent to his feelings, a child can become a bit more mature. He has seen, grieved, and recovered. A child's emotional resiliency is remarkable. With adequate preparation, a child may be permitted to attend the funeral, and be all the better for it. The child, as a family member, shares the grief, feels the loss. He or she gives support and receives it in return from his family at the time of mourning.

Sense of belonging

The child sees and feels with all those who are around him. He has a sense of belonging which only the common bond of grieving together can provide.

But the child must be told what to expect at the funeral. The child who understands what he is soon to experience is that much more likely to be at ease, or, at least, somewhat less disturbed.

Under no circumstances should a child be forced to attend the funeral. In fact, if you can anticipate that the child might be given to hysterical outbursts, it might be good judgement to keep the overly-sensitive child at home. After the funeral, the child might be asked to join with the family and share their grief, thus enabling him to express his own feelings. (This is one of a series of short articles I hope will be helpful. We welcome your questions -- in privacy or publicly through this column.)

Hoping for 5% Aid Increase

During the school board's monthly meeting Monday night, Asst. Supt. Eugene Cooley told the board that the district is hoping for a five percent increase in state aid revenue for the next fiscal year due to a change in the formula by which state aid is allotted to the districts.

Supt. Duhan emphasized that the state aid situation is still indefinite.

100 Members, Guests Attend Celebration

One hundred members and guests attended the 20th anniversary celebration of the Kiwanis Club of Tecumseh, held June 15, at the Elks' Club of Adrian.

Kenneth Boyd, and, following dinner the current active past presidents reviewed the highlights of the clubs history and gave an overview of the major service and fund raising projects conducted by the organization with regard to its service to youth, elderly, community and the nation over the past 20 years, with recognition of officers of their respective administrative year.

Group singing was led by club songleader Kenneth Boyd, with piano accompaniment by Mrs. Edwin Walters.

Clement Foundation, which provides funding and services for the recreational and educational programs at the C.S. Mott Childrens Hospital, Ann Arbor, and, Mary Free Bed Rehabilitation Hospital in Grand Rapids.

A memorial tribute by J. Douglas Alexander, district secretary was paid to those club members who had died since the chartering of the club.

Marten Vegter, secretary, presented perfect attendance tabs to Carl Lamb, charter member and past president (20 years), Donald Partridge 13 years) and Russell Scott (11 years).

200 Years of Religious Freedom

In the early 1800's Fr. Gabriel Richard of Detroit, territorial delegate to Congress, helped open up the country to settlers by lobbying for a road to be built to the old St. Joseph Mission to service the Indians living in the western fringe of the Great Sauk Trail.

On that road traveled the first Catholic priest to the interior United States.

St. Elizabeth Catholic Church of Tecumseh was at first a Catholic mission at the small stone church at 302 E. Chicago Blvd. It was built by Fr. Edwin ("One Horse") Fisher, who built a number of similar churches in the area, including one in Brooklyn which is nearly identical.

The congregation was served by the church in Manchester for all but two of the next 25 years.

Building the church brought out an anti-Catholic sentiment harbored by some in the community. At this time the Ku Klux Klan was gaining a following. Local history records the first fiery cross burned in Michigan was burned in front of the small Catholic Church.

Charles and Mary Deery bought the property (house and lot) on which the first St. Elizabeth Church now stands. The village would not sell a lot to the Diocese of Detroit for the purpose of building a Catholic Church.

Prior to this time, Masses were held in private homes or in the old Sage Building, now owned by realtor Glenn Kohler. These opportunities for worship also offered a social life. Families gathered once a month for Saturday confessions and Sunday Mass.

St. Elizabeth became a parish in 1947 when the present church was built on a nine acre site across from Brookside Cemetery on N. Union St.

Fr. Mike Collins was the first pastor. The church at 508 N. Union was built under his guidance and the building committee's: Charles F. (Bill) Sage, chairman; Dean V. Briggs, Paul Clauda, W.B. Whiting and Walter Mueller. Many non-Catholics joined in the drive.

In 1953, Fr. Thomas J. Collins became pastor and that year ground was broken for the school and convent for the Dominican Sisters, who were to teach. The annual roast beef dinner was inaugurated in 1954.

At one time the elementary school had an enrollment of 400 students. However in 1971, with the defeat of Parochiaid and the financial problems of the church and diocese, St. Elizabeth was forced to close. Today it is rented by the Tecumseh School District for classrooms for the ninth grade to relieve overcrowding in the high school.

In the 1960's the Catholic Church entered a new era with the second vatican Council called by Pope John XXIII. In the spirit of renewal the Mass in English was introduced to St. Elizabeth in 1964. Centuries old Latin and the Gregorian chant were practically abandoned. St. Elizabeth also participated in the Detroit Diocese Synods, discussions held to determine how the church can serve the modern needs of its people.

In 1967 a new parish organization and constitution were adopted. Now in 1976, St. Elizabeth parish is seeking to minister to the needs of its people through a new constitution which offers greater representation to the elderly, youth and Latinos of the parish.

In 1968, Fr. Robert Handley became pastor and developed a strong program of CCD (Confraternity of Christian Doctrine) — religious education classes — youth and adult education programs to fill the void left by the closing of the Catholic school. In 1972 St. Elizabeth celebrated its silver anniversary.

The same year, St. Elizabeth parish was included in the Lansing Diocese, thus ending the long association with Detroit, which helped the local church grow.

Msgr. Vincent Howard became pastor of St. Elizabeth's parish in 1972. Active groups include the revitalized ushers' club, Our Lady of Guadalupe Society, Sacred Heart Society, Altar Society, Adult and Youth Choirs.

The adult education programs and CCD classes continue under the direction of Sr. Beth Hemminger.

St. Elizabeth School complex continues to be a place for parish and community activity. In addition to the public schools, Girl and Boy Scouts, Camp Fire Girls and Herrick Hospital Auxiliary have used the facility. The parish convent is now the home of the Nguyen family, Vietnamese refugees "adopted" by the parish.

Macon Dialog

by LINDA PHILLIPS

"MACON SPEAKS OUT" — This month's question for Macon's opinion poll is: Do you think the Bicentennial has become too commercial?

ROGER ROSS — Yes, I think it's too commercial. Everyone is using the Bicentennial to make a buck. There should be more respect for our country's 200th birthday. The commercialism at the wagon train recently is a prime example.

SUE KOSKY — I don't think so. I think some companies have taken advantage of it, but on the whole I think people just aren't letting what commercialism there is get to them. Anyway, the real celebration of the Bicentennial is done within ourselves.

LOIS JORDAN — I'm enjoying it! I suppose people who go into stores and shop a lot might get disgusted, but I'm not. I have especially enjoyed the Bicentennial minutes on radio and TV and collecting the special commemorative stamps. I am learning a lot of our nation's history.

JIM CONRAD — Yes, I do. It seems to me everywhere you go someone is trying to make money using the Bicentennial. So much these days is commercialized. I think the true meaning of the Bicentennial is being lost.

HAZEL BUSH — Some people care about the real meaning of the Bicentennial, and some don't. There is a lot of commercialism, and a lot of people are making money from it. When the wagon train passed through Britton, the riders said how nice it was there wasn't the commercialism there that they had seen in other places.

MARILYN BAGBY — You can find fault with anything if you try hard enough. Everyone should celebrate the Bicentennial in his or her own special way and forget those people who are commercializing.

PAT CONNORS — The Bicentennial is more commercial than I would like to see it, but it's not as bad locally as it could be. I think on the national scene it's worse. I spoke recently with Charlie Burkhart of Saline who traveled with the wagon train. He left it because many of the towns in states southeast of us that the train passed through were "circuses."

SANDRA GILREATH — The Bicentennial is just like Christmas. Christmas is too commercial, but it's fun — it brings people together. And the Bicentennial has brought people together.

LINDA PHILLIPS — Many people are bemoaning commercialism. But isn't commercialism, after all, a by-product of free enterprise? And isn't free enterprise one of the premises on which our country was founded? I do not defend commercialism; I do defend the rights of "life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness." If selling a souvenir Bicentennial momento makes you happy, sell it. If buying one makes you happy, buy it. If neither makes you happy, then do neither. It's as simple as that.

Worried about possible commercialism at Macon's Pie Social June 27 at the old grist mill? Let me put your minds at ease — commercialism that day will not run rampant!

Members of Macon Historical Society have worked hard and planned well for a day that will celebrate our country's 200th birthday in a style reminiscent of long ago.

Come out to Macon this Sunday between the hours of 11 a.m. and 7 p.m. You will not be disappointed!

Jobs Needed For Teens

Summertime would sure be more enjoyable if it weren't for the watering, weeding, car washing, dishwashing, etc. that keeps you from enjoying yourself in the great outdoors.

But why let these little jobs get you down when you can hire a teen through Tecumseh Jobs for Teens? All you have to do is call 423-3708 between 9-4 Monday through Friday to hire a teen between the age of 13 and 19. Call one day in advance to assure a worker.

The Tecumseh Jobs for Teens originated three years ago by parents in the Tecumseh Drop-In Center. Since that time it has been operating through the volunteer coordination of a few mothers. This year the program needed help and so the Tecumseh Jaycee Auxiliary relieved the dedicated coordinators.

Donna Gifford, and Barb Myers are co-chairmen and Janet Adams has been working on publicity.

About 60 students are registered for the summer, most are 14-15. No job is too big or small for them to do.

Some of the work they have experience in or can do are yardwork, regular babysitting, window washing, light housekeeping, dish washing, car washing, garage cleaning, tutoring, typing, pet and plant sitting while you're on vacation.

To try to manage the jobs fairly, the ledger keeper for the week calls the least called teens first and selects a teen interested or experienced in the job offered. The Auxiliary hopes that the employer will pay a fair wage for the job offered. The Auxiliary does not mediate complaints.

Tecumseh Answering Service, (paid for by United Way), will take calls for Jobs for Teens at 423-3708.

If you have summer work for a teen, call now through Aug. 28. The experience can provide Tecumseh teens with a profitable and busy summer.

"A Little Bit of Yesterday"

Franklin Township presents more than "A Little Bit of Yesterday" in its recently published history, a volunteer Bicentennial project. It even surprised the committee that started the project.

The 52-page commemorative booklet is chock full of history, including old pictures that recall the golden age in Franklin Township's development. Some 600 copies have been printed and are on sale now. Contact editor Vicki Cook.

Franklin Township also has a big homecoming celebration in store July 10 at the Tipton Elementary School. Everyone in the area is invited to attend the free activities.

"There are still a lot of people that don't even know its going on," said Vicki Cook.

Anyone who wishes to send invitations to members of the family, friends or former residents of Franklin Township for the Bicentennial celebration July 10 may contact Mrs. Howard Evans, 431-2341.

Morning events will be highlighted by a waterball contest between two area fire departments, games for the whole family from 100-years ago, bingo for adults with homemade jams and jellies as prizes.

In the afternoon a father and son baseball game will entertain. Family style picnics are encouraged (Bring own food and service. Fellowship is free). A special 26-piece school band has been recruited from grades five to 12 and will be directed by Mr. and Mrs. William Vollmer.

Antique cars, old engines and tractors, Woodrow Hunt's extensive license plate collection and Clifford Tripp's antique collection will be displayed. Sand Lake Fire Department Auxiliary will give out Tot Finder Decals, enlist members and a fire truck will be displayed. Anyone else with a display may call Kent Mesara, 431-2092.

Tim Rinehart is working on a sign to display at the Township Hall on M-50.

The publishing of the township's history was a Township Bicentennial Heritage project completed through a real effort by the township people.

"A lot of people are surprised at what (the history) has turned out to be," said editor Vicki Cook.

The Bicentennial committee in Franklin started the project 3½ months ago. Township residents were asked for all information; almost all was used. The first entry was written 50 years ago by Addie Kemp, one of Franklin's historians, for a church women's fellowship.

Franklin was settled by R.N. McCullom who erected the first cabin in 1828 and Joseph Camburn who resettled his family from New Jersey in 1831.

The Rev. Henry Tripp, who settled at Sand Lake in 1831, is credited with naming the township after Benjamin Franklin. Musgrove Evans and General Brown explored the source of Evans Creek to Evans Lake in Franklin Township. A local family was involved in the underground railroad. Agricultural wealth of the wheat fields during the 1850's-60's prompted the area to be nicknamed "Wall Street".

At the turn of the century, the Toledo-Milwaukee Railroad was another symbol of the prosperity of the township. Tipton became a boom town with a number of small businesses and shops. Decoration Day and July 4 were big events. Tipton had a state police post from 1927-1931 when the M-50 trunkline was used by bootleggers from Monroe. During the depression, the Tipton bank collapsed. Road taxes were a hardship. Business declined.

Changes in government, education and agriculture are recorded. Centennial Farm, church, fire department, social and cultural histories are all recorded. Included is a segment on the Palm Sunday tornado, historic Bauer Manor, and Hidden Lake Gardens, "Fee's Folly," to highlight a few historical happenings.

Personalities are as colorful and curious. Anecdotes add spice.

WOODCHUCK HAPPENINGS

Fortunately, the day that Mom and Dad spent most of the time watching baby bluejays getting ready to take their first flight into this big wide world, there were other things going on in the back-yard also.

Of course, the bluejays were most entertaining but I am sure the folks appreciated a break now and then. I know I was glad to hear of other happenings.

Woodchuck happenings for example. Yes, we still have a Murphy or two 'in residence'. The one the folks watched was not particularly large nor did he appear to be a youngster newly out on his own.

He was just an ordinary woodchuck going about his own woodchuck business without showing much curiosity about anything else.

His task of this particular day had to do with either late spring housecleaning or early summer redecorating. When not watching bluejays, often the folks could watch Murphy as he went back and forth along the fence in the back-yard.

He was busily engaged in collecting dry dead leaves from under the bushes and lugging them over the bank. I suppose that somewhere near by there is a woodchuck's hole all snug and newly re-leafed.

What a sight he made. With their short legs and rather long round bodies these characters are humorous just to look at and usually their actions reinforce the humor.

As this Murphy picked up the leaves with his front feet he stuffed them into his mouth — Mom said it was unbelievable how many he tucked away and only when they were sticking out and giving him a Gene Shalit mustache was it full.

Then it was a quick waddle over the creek-bank. Sometimes he was back immediately for another 'helping' but again the arranging and positioning took quite a while.

My woodchuck is a big guy. A bit grizzled around his under-slug mouth even. From his actions I suspect he is last year's Murphy for it appears that he remembers where some of the goodies are.

More often than we think safe, but again he obviously knows much better than we do, he ventures far from the safety of the weeds in back of the white end-of-the-street barrier.

Whether it is grass, clover or weeds whatever he finds is tasty enough to tempt him into what is a comparatively open area.

Perhaps he just likes a bit of excitement now and then — this is dining on the alert and, at the slightest hint of trouble, he streaks for safety. And believe me, a fat roly-poly woodchuck can move surprisingly fast when necessary.

Our woodchuck watching is not 100 percent pure fun, I must admit to having a few reservations and doubts. These creatures can become nuisances and very destructive.

In fact, I suppose it is really not the best thing for the creekbank to have Murphy burrowing into it. I know this and yet, I still chuckle at the antics. The other day there was pain and pleasure at watching this creek-bank dweller lunching at the clump of bergamot.

This spot has gotten away from us this year and I am afraid there are far more weeds than flowers but Murphy was sitting up straight on his haunches and having a royal feast.

Oh no, he was not eating weeds — he was carefully and methodically reaching for the bergamot and munching on its top leaves. The hummingbirds may go hungry but one woodchuck is well fed.

We know of people who see red at the mention or even thought of a woodchuck and truly, I can't blame them. To visit your beautiful and well-tended garden one day and find that all of the peas, which were just nicely coming up, had been nipped off would be more than upsetting.

And then to have an eye-witness report that the culprit was a woodchuck — well, that is not how to win friends and influence people.

Another friend has a sun-deck under which a family of woodchucks like to live. These animals have several entrances or tunnels to their burrows and one of the doors just happened to be directly under a pick-up board on the deck.

Several times smoke bombs were tossed into the tunnel but the last time this tactic was tried conditions had changed. No, the animals had not moved, they had simply filled in the tunnel entrance.

Even though I will admit to a growing suspicion about woodchucks they are still interesting and fun to watch. I ask them please do not eat all the plants which will hopefully produce blossoms that the humming-birds will visit. I also ask them to please not cave in the creek-bank.

I also offer sympathy to friends who are pestered. As for the animals themselves and whether they are friends or foes — well, it is all a matter of one's point of view.

GLIMPSE INTO THE PAST — A visit to the Bicentennial Country Store, in downtown Britton, will indeed, take you back to the 1800's. Sylvia Hemphill, chairman of the store and member of the Ridgeway Township Bicentennial Committee, displays a wedding dress worn by her grandmother in 1907 and later by her mother. Other dresses cover a time period from 1700-1931. The foot-operated treadle sewing machine shown was found in the store's basement. Many antique items of interest are on display at the store which is open every day Monday through Saturday 10 a.m.-3 p.m. until July 4. (Photo by Frank Weir)

Store History Is Revealed

(Editors Note: Sue Aylward, Ridgeway Township Bicentennial Committee's reporter shares with us her findings on the history of the building which is now used as the Country Store in the village for the duration of the Bicentennial celebration).

BRITTON— Penny candy and an old-fashioned cracker barrel would be enough to interest the average person in a bargain, but when you add lots of antiques with interesting stories attached, you'll have to agree – its good enough to add to the 'Places of interest' to see during Bicentennial Week.

The Country Store located in downtown Britton is sponsored by the Ridgeway Township Bicentennial Committee for the purpose of displaying antiques and to show the handicraft skills of local residents.

Committee members Sylvia Hemphill and Mary Swain are largely responsible for setting up the store and getting it ready for the next two weeks, when it will be open from 10 a.m.-3 p.m. every day except Sunday.

The history behind this one shop in a block of stores spurs interest itself.

In 1880 it was a furniture store owned and operated by John Beasley. It burned in 1888 and was restored in 1895 and reopened.

Around 1908, Ernest Dubois took over the furniture store and added an undertaking parlor. His sign read "Piano's, Furniture and Undertaking".

Dubois sold his business to C.B. Iford in 1930 and at this time, along with furniture and undertaking, he printed the weekly newspaper which sold for 3 cents a copy.

A copy of the "Britton Observer", dated Dec. 5, 1930 is displayed in the Country Store.

In April, 1931, William S. Niblack bought the business and operated it until 1935 when they moved to the present location of the Niblack-Spencer Funeral Home.

A needle case used to sell sewing machine needles at the time Niblack bought the Dubois business is now on display.

The years between 1935-45 seem to draw a blank to Britton residents. It would be interesting to know what happened during this 10 year span. If any of you can remember, please drop by the Country Store and share your thoughts with the proprietor.

In 1945, after returning from the service, Elwood Fairbanks and Frank Shay operated a restaurant called the "Red-Shay". The business was sold to Lee Keeling in '46 and the name was changed to the "Eight Ball".

Merle and Millie Spence purchased the business from Keeling in Sept., 1947 and the restaurant was soon known for its excellent food. People came from miles around to enjoy her chicken and bisquits. She also served the Britton Kiwanis Club their dinners for five years.

The business was sold in 1959 and since then has been under different ownership for short periods of time and was finally discontinued as a restaurant.

Various businesses since have included a ceramic shop, flower shop and a recreation center.

The building had been empty for about a year until the Bicentennial Committee opened the "Country Store". It has been open two weeks and will keep hours of 10-3 until after the Bicentennial celebration.

Special attractions include dresses that cover a time period from 1700 - 1931. There is a turn of the century wedding dress, which was one of the first white wedding dresses worn. Most dresses of this time were made for practicality and were usually a dark color so they could be worn for more than one occasion.

There is also a display of black buttons from a wedding dress dated 1860.

A Sheaffers Fountain Pen Case is used to display various jewelry, purses, hair combs and a hand fan which is over 100 years old.

The case was obtained from Glen Gripton who used the case for its original purpose - selling Sheaffer pens.

There is a special section of tools from a 75 year old ice cream freezer, to a wooden plane and pulleys.

Along with the above mentioned items, there are old bottles, a wooden washtub, a Bible dated 1847, a fiddle back chair and a candlestick telephone.

The new is side by side the old, including three handmade quilts, one from Miss Anna Creger's third grade class, Miss Sandy Shannon's fifth grade class and the Ridgeway Blinker Belles quilt which is being raffled off.

Ridgeway Township Bicentennial T-shirts are on sale along with official buttons and replicas of a $20 gold piece of key chain or necklace.

For a little relief from modern day activities and a chance to relieve a little of the past, visit the Country Store.

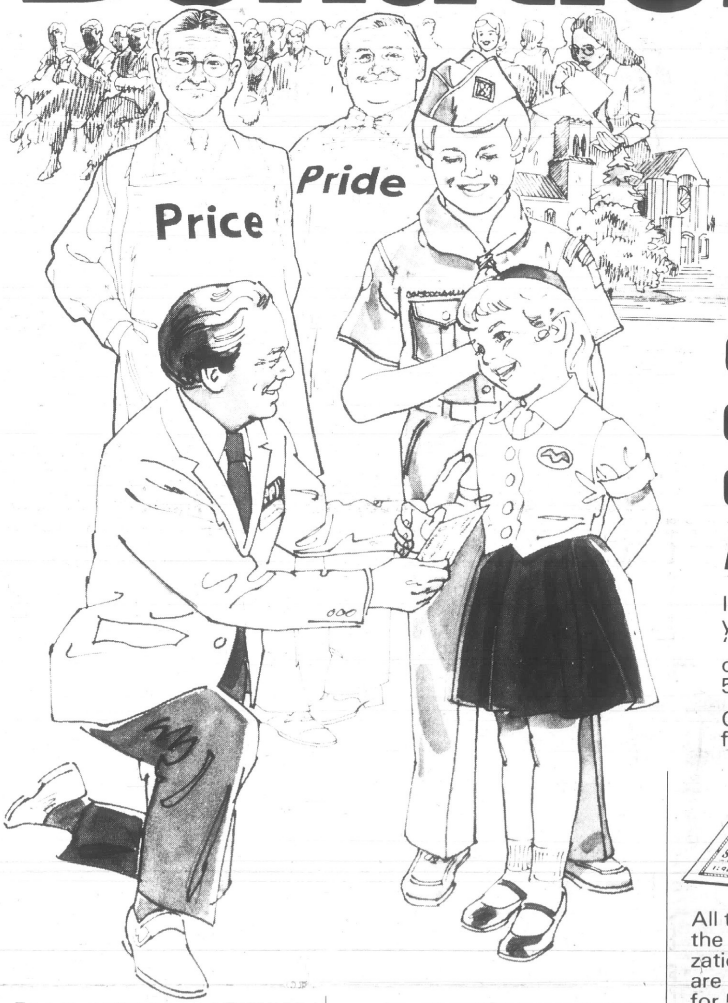
A&P Donation Days



Now, your church, temple group, P.T.A., women's club, society, boy or girl scout troop...in fact any established nonprofit organization can earn a cash contribution from A&P with your help!

It's one of the most successful ways to raise money for your organization. And it's so easy! Your group sets up a "Donation Day" with A&P . . . your members shop A&P on that day . . . and we contribute to your organization 5% of the amount your members spend!

Get together with A&P now to set up a Donation Day for your group!

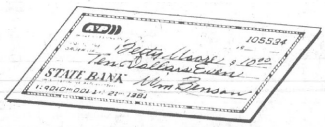
Everyone has to shop for food. And shopping at A&P is always a good idea. But with the Donation Days program, you actually earn a 5% cash contribution from A&P to go to your favorite charity—without you spending a penny extra.

Who is eligible to participate

Any established organization, such as a Church or Temple group, P.T.A., Women's Club, Social Circle, Girl or Boy Scout Troop—in fact, any nonprofit organization wanting to raise funds for charity or other worthwhile purposes.

It's easy when you follow the instructions. Choose a fund-raising person from your organization to set up the program with A&P. This person will distribute special I.D. cards to their members* and, with A&P, schedule a certain date for Donation Day shopping.

*A&P RESERVES THE RIGHT TO LIMIT THE NUMBER OF ID CARDS ISSUED TO ANY GIVEN ORGANIZATION



All the purchases made by all the members of your organization on that specified date are then added up. A check for 5% of the total sales (less sales tax, liquor and tobacco purchases) is sent to your organization as a gift from A&P.

Obviously, the more members that shop on Donation Day, the higher the total purchases will be, and in turn, the bigger the contribution check will be from A&P. There is really no limit to what your organization can earn.

How to get started

All A&P Donation Days must be scheduled at least one month in advance. They take place on Mondays, Tuesdays and Wednesdays.

So choose a fund-raising representative in your organization to get all the details. Stop in to see the manager at your local store or call toll free — Michigan residence 800-572-1010; Ohio residence 800-521-5470 and ask for A&P Customer Relations.

It really Works

An A&P Donation Day is a wonderful way for a community organization to raise funds for worthwhile purposes. When you set up your Donation Day program, A&P believes you will discover that the gift of cash will be the most helpful and successful fund-raising method you've ever tried.

A&P

If we can't do it, nobody can.

We reserve the right to discontinue Donation Days at any time.

MEMORIAM

In loving memory of my husband George Henry Jr. who died five years ago June 24, 1971
God took you away so sudden,
The shock was hard to stand,
But he wanted you in His garden
In a much more beautiful land.
God did not give me a warning
He was taking you awby.
For he knew I loved you dearly and would beg Him to let you stay.
Sadly missed by his wife, children and grandchildren 6-24p

In memory of Bernie Pate, who passed away 4 years ago June 29, 1972.
We loved him, oh, no tongue can tell
How much we loved him and how well.
God loved him, too and thought it best
To take him home with his rest.
Missed by his wife, children and grandchildren 6-24p

Following this trend this year on the state basis, Mike Keller took first place with a score of 84, winning a $50 bond from the Michigan Chapter AATSP.

Tom Sell took a third- place with a score of 75, close behind the second-place score of 76. Mike and Tom have been offered $100 scholarships to a five week study program in Spain.

Three Thank You's

To the Editor:

To the Citizens and Parents of Tecumseh:

My congratulations to the 814 concerned citizens who thought enough of their schools to vote last June 14. My sincere thanks to the 114 people who voted for me for the three year term on the School Board. My regrets for the nearly 7,000 persons who did not exercise their right to vote.

Every parent should be concerned with the need for a new junior high school to replace the nearly 60-year-old inadequate structure that our children now attend.

In the past, bond issues have failed because the public was not adequately made aware of the need for a new school.

An on-going campaign in the form of letters and questionnaires sent to parents, articles and pictures in the Herald, board members attending PTO meetings during the school year, etc., should be initiated by the new School Board as soon as possible. Sooner or later, this issue will have to be placed before the public, again.

The best investment for us as parents, today, is in our children's future. The dividends are unlimited. Attend your School Board meetings the third Monday of every month. Ask what is being done to replace the present junior high school. Better yet, go over and take a good close look at it. You'll be greatly disappointed at what you see.

But then, when less than 11 percent of the registered voters cared enough to vote in the last school election. . .

Concerned Parent and Educator

(Editors Note: Next month only school board will meet on Monday, July 5 for its reorganizational meeting.)

To the Editor:

I would like to make use of this column to congratulate the recent winners in the school board election. Dean Jones, Richard Heglin and James Records will all serve the board well I am sure.

Thank yous are also in order to Dr. Harold Ocamb and Mr. Hugh Des Ermia as they leave, for their service to the community by serving on the board.

My fellow candidates who ran and were not elected should also be congratulated for their concern for the welfare of the students of our community. It also makes for a more interesting election

For The Record

June 9, Jeffrey G. Ives, 16, 1106 Ives Rd. was stopped in traffic on N. Maumee when David A. King, 800 River Acres came around the corner and struck the Ives vehicle in the rear. King, 17, was cited by police.

The Herald mistakenly switched the auto drivers in last week's accident report.

with so many candidates in the race.

In closing I want to thank all my family and friends for their help in my campaign and those who supported me with their votes. All the voters who made the effort to express their wishes by voting in the election are to be congratulated also.

To those who chose not to vote for what ever reason, I would ask what would their reaction be if they were told they could not vote because someone decided it was an unimportant election anyway?

Carl David Schmidt

To the Editor:

Fall to Holland In Finals

By FRANK WEIR

Tecumseh's girls softball squad came off a convincing 5-2 victory over Grosse Ile in the state semi-finals Saturday only to lose in the finals to Holland Christian 7-2.

The action began at 12:30 in Coldwater at Waterworks Park.

The Indians wanted badly to liek the Grosse Ile Red Devils, the only team to beat Tecumseh during the regular season.

Grosse Ile was first on the scoreboard after Julie Anderson walked a batter with the bases loaded. But the Indians picked up two runs in the fourth inning, adding another in the sixth and two more in the seventh. Grosse Ile could manage just one more run in the seventh.

Anderson had a triple, double, single; Vickie Smith had a double; Peg Upell and Gloria Fosbender each had a single to comprise Tecumseh's six hits.

The Indians committed four errors compared to just two for Grosse Ile. The Red Devils had seven hits.

The win sent Tecumseh into the finals against Holland Christian which had beaten previously undefeated Mason earlier in the day.

Sue Frazier took the mound for Tecumseh and walked the first two batters she met. The next three Holland Christian batters hit singles. Coach Nancy Fisher made the decision to pull Frazier. Anderson again took the mound but at the end of the first inning, the Indians were facing a 4-0 deficit.

Holland Christian picked up three more runs in the third inning compounding Tecumseh's difficulties. The Indians didn't score until the sixth inning when Anderson hit a single. An error sent her into second and she came home on two bunts.

Vickie Smith added another run in the seventh when she hit a triple and came in when Jane Faulkner hit a fielders choice to the pitcher.

Tecumseh had five hits on four errors while Holland had four hits on one error.

Coach Nancy Fisher confided that Holland was not that strong defensively but pitcher Kathy Arendsen was especially tough striking out seven and walking three.

Fisher went on, "Getting behind in the beginning hurt the most. In retrospect I wonder whether we played our final game the first game against Grosse Ile. I think we were better balanced than Holland. We're not a big hitting club and its just too hard to play catch up ball."

Fisher's club finished the season with a 24-3 record. She is losing a core of players to graduation including, Julie Anderson Sue Frazier, Peg Upell, Amy Montague, Jane Faulkner, and Connie Younglove.

For two years now, there have been post-season girls softball tournaments and Tecumseh has played in the finals of both. That is a record any team could be proud of.

Eccleston, Stotler, Shock, Harriot, Don Pennington, Doug Henry and Chris Reau all had hits for the Bears in their 25-6 victory over the Hawks.

GEORGE ROMNEY

George Romney Here for Bicentennial Events

George Romney will be guest speaker at the July 4 program to begin at 8:30 p.m. at the high school baseball diamonds.

Romney, who was former Secretary of Housing and Urban Development, well-known businessman and advocate for volunterism, is probably best remembered by Michiganders for his accomplishments as governor of Michigan, from January 1963 to January 1969.

As governor, Romney brought a business acumen to solve the state's problems. During his six years as governor, his administration saw accomplishment of a new state constitution, civil rights action, tax reform and a healthy state economy.

Continuing as an advocate of the approach to use of private resources in solution of public problems, he is now Board Chairman of the National Center for Voluntary Action.

Copper Rolls Stolen from Sewage Plant

Seven rolls of copper tubing, valued at $595, was stolen from Tecumseh's sewage plant Saturday night.

Plant employee Dick Weirich reported the theft to police on Sunday of seven rolls of ¾-inch copper tubing with 60 feet to a roll.

The police report stated that apparently the thief or thieves attempted to enter the building from a side vent but failed. They then went to a door, knocked off the knob and pried the lock until the door could be opened.

A Far Road resident later found empty boxes near his home which police believe contained the tubing. The utility's address was on the boxes.

In other complaints, Vicky Ely, [illegible] Russell Road reported the theft of her auto on Saturday.

According to the police report, Ely stopped at 610 W. Chicago to pick up a small child at a baby sitter's. She left the car running and unlocked. When she came out of the house, the car was gone.

An employee of ConRail called later to report a car found by the tracks just off Raisin Center Hwy. The car turned out to be the Ely vehicle.

Cindy Stevens, 513 Occidental, told police Tuesday that a 10-speed Hiawatha boys bike had been stolen from her residence Monday night or Tuesday morning.

Cite Reasons for Picking Promenades

Tecumseh's Bicentennial Committee opted for the idea of promenades to begin our 4th of July evening program instead of a parade with displays and floats.

The special appeal of the promenades is that everyone is involved equally. No one is on the sidelines while others provide the thrill and the entertainment. Everyone is involved equally in a promenade which is a reminder that something is to be done.

We are the ones who must do it — no sideliners or gawkers but the people doing, being and working together. That's what America has to be all about. If democracy is to work. Americans must be participants, not spectators.

The promenade routes are not long. You may assemble at the starting point nearest your ho... Park your car along the street or in a city lot. Wear sesquicentennial outfits if you like. Bring a blanket to sit on at the ball field for the evening's program.

Gov. Romney will be walking with us. Color guards and marching bands will provide appropriate pagentry.

Tears: Our Natural Safety Valve

At the loss of a loved one, the most natural release for one's emotions is an expression of grief: crying.

Tears are therapeutic in more ways than many of us may realize. They give us an emotional outlet and provide us with an immediate and natural physical action we can perform; one that occupies our being completely.

An emotional outlet

Getting it all out -- letting all of the building and pent-up feelings of grief explode in a burst of tears -- may be one of the most effective ways of coming to grips with the immediate situation following the death of a loved one. At the realization that the loved one is gone, tears may come easily for both adult and child. And this is good. Children may even be encouraged to let out their feelings of grief by crying. Most do not need the extra encouragement since it is so natural to weep in sorrow. Yet society has somehow built up barriers and taboos against expressing grief through crying.

Men can cry too!

There are no laws that restrict men from using this means of expressing their grief. It is not unmasculine to cry at the death of a loved one or a dear friend. Giving expression to the grief and sorrow in no way diminishes or compromises an individual's manliness.

It is a misconception that "big boys" shouldn't cry . . . a carry-over from childhood chidings of "Don't cry. It doesn't hurt that much." Recent generations have been raised in the old school of "the stiff upper lip" and "grin and bear it." But if there is a hurt, then the pain should be recognized and duly noted -- in this case, through tears. After all, that's what tears are all about!

Your questions and comments on these subjects and others to follow are most welcome -- in private or publicly through this column.

To the Editor:

After attending the Public Hearing at the City Council meeting last week (6-21), I feel an obligation to expose the attitude and conduct of the Council members present.

When residents meet with elected peers to discuss the financial burdens a special assessment will impose on them and their families, I feel full courtesy and empathy should be extended to them on behalf of the Council.

However, at this hearing some residents were the brunt of laughter and wisecracks. An example was a discussion between one resident, who felt the six percent interest rate was beyond his financial means, and the four councilmen. When the resident stated he could not afford the interest rate, Councilman Cook responded, "it's cheaper than at the bank."

This remark was followed by much laughter on the part of the council members, including the mayor.

I find this type of conduct deplorable and totally unbefitting on the part of persons who were elected to represent and govern the residents of this community.

In addition, the Council exhibited weak character in voting on the assessment after the objecting residents departed as the Council was asked when they would take action. The residents were told at a later time.

Moreover, from reading the Herald, may I suggest that the three absent Council members resign, as their opinions are apparently not necessary according to Councilman Cook.

Barbara B. Blanden

To the Editor:

Thanks to so many Tecumsehites 'Promenade the Past' has been a financial as well as Historical and artistic success. The three sponsoring organizations have earned at least $1000.00 each for their respective local charitable services.

This was a 'First' for Tecumseh. Projects of this size are usually held only in cities the size of Toledo and Detroit. Lacking the money and population of these cities Tecumseh succeeded thanks to its chief asset, people who care enough about each other and their community. Fortunately this concern does not stop at the City Limits.

For this reason we are especially indebted to the Tecumseh Herald whose news does not stop at the city limits either. The excellent journalism and photograpny really told the story for today and posterity.

We are greatful to Mary Bowers who gave her talents as United Savings Branch Bank manager to keep our finances in perfect order from start to finish.

Thank you again for your dedication to keeping our part of Michigan informed about our past, present and future.

Sincerely,
Lynn Cook

Bicentennial Cookbook

by KATHY BROWN

Great recipes for good food like your great-grandmother used to make have been compiled by the Around the Block Extension Club in its Bicentennial Cookbook, "Recipes of the 19th Century."

The book has 115 recipes which were used by the homemakers' ancestors and early settlers of the community. Each recipe is authentic; they were used in the year 1800 or before. One recipe, Friday Soup has been made every Friday for the last 600 years in Vesili, Czecholslovakia. The book also has a couple of recipes of Rebecca Boone, wife of Daniel Boone.

The beauty of the cookbook is its simplicity. As Mrs. Sarah Lowery, a club member, explained: "Today's recipes have a whole column long of things you've got to get and once you use that little bit, you're stuck with the rest." In this cookbook the recipes are brief and list common ingredients.

The attractive red, white and blue cookbook will be available at the Raisin Township Bicentennial Festival which will be at the Fire Hall on Occidental Rd., July 3 from 11 a.m. to 7 p.m. or call 423-4755 or 423-5106.

The book is a collector's item and at about 2½ cents per recipe, you can't go wrong.

But one word of caution to the new bride or beginner: some of the recipes take for granted basic instructions. For example, how to fry donuts or set oven temperature for a moderate oven (350 degrees) and for a hot oven 375-400 degrees), and pie plant pie is rhubarb pie.

Some of the oldies but goodies included in the book are sourdough, flannel cakes, hickory nut cake and frosting, chili sauce, Indian pudding, pork and sauerkraut with dumplings, scrapple, corn fritters, home made marshmellows, everything from soups to sweets.

Members of the Around the Block Extension Club contributed the recipes; names are given. Screening committee for the project was Ruth Calhoun, Sarah Lowery and Alma Mumaw.

Stories behind some of the flavorful fares are just as delightful. For example do you know how they tested an oven in the White House in 1887? Do you know how Hush Puppies got their name? And did you know they had ice cream in America in 1825? Back then it was called snow ice. Ice cream didn't make the American scene until much later.

Would you believe that the pioneers had cooking oil too? This story is not in the collection but Mrs. Lowery, a cookbook collector researched the matter and found out that when the early farmers' hogs fatted on chestnuts, the fat was oil, but when they fatted on corns, the fat was actually lard.

You may notice that some of recipes contain wine or bourbon, Reason why is because grain was not as easily transported in pioneer days, many families had stills and the liquid was easier to transport.

Here are a few of the recipes:

GRANDMOTHER'S HARVEST DRINK

(Grandmother's version of Gatorade to quench a field worker's thirst)

One quart of water, one tablespoon sifted ginger, three heaping tablespoons sugar, ½ pint vinegar.

REBECCA BOONE'S MINCEMEAT PIE

3 cups mince meat, 3 ounces of Wine or Bourbon, 1 unbaked pie shell, 1 cup diced cooking apples. Cook diced apples till tender in a little water. Then sweeten to taste. Add to the mince meat, then mix in the Wine or Bourbon. Pour into pie shell and cover with top crust. Bake in moderate oven until crust is brown. In making the mince meat you can use beef, venison or bear meat.

GRANDMOTHER'S HASH (by guess)

This was never measured, just put in what is on hand. Leftover roast or boiled beef, raw potatoes, raw onions to taste, leftover gravy (not too much), salt and pepper to taste and hot water. Grind meat, potatoes and onion on medium grinder. Mix all ingredients well, adding salt and pepper as you mix. Stir in gravy, put in heavy iron skillet. Add enough hot water, until you see it on top of mixture. Put in moderate oven until done and a brown crust on top.

FOR A LUCKY FRIEND — Mrs. Helen Lowry, 9341 Murphy Rd. crocheted this 24"x34" 13-star flag in 50 hours and decided to give her bicentennial project as a gift to a friend. She designed the pattern which is inspired by the recent telephone book cover.

You Told Us

July 4 at 2 p.m. is the National Bell Ringing to commemorate the signing of the Declaration of Independence and the ringing of the Liberty Bell. But why is the Liberty Bell cracked?

According to one source, the Bell cracked at the first ringing when it pealed the news of the signing of the Declaration of Independence. It was recast in 1753 and cracked again tolling the funeral day of Chief Justice John Marshall July 8, 1835.

The bell was cast in England in 1752 and bears the following inscription "Proclaim liberty throughout all the land unto all the inhabitants thereof." Lev. 25:10. July 4 is a day of celebration to proclaim liberty. Happy Birthday America!

132 Pints Collected

A total of 132 pints of blood were donated at the Tecumseh Products Co. Bloodmobile June 16. Nineteen people were rejected and one person was an unsuccessful donor for a total of 152 people seeking to donate.

One gallon donors employed at the Tecumseh Products Co. were Paul R. Frost, Tecumseh and Roy W. Taylor of Petersburg; two gallon donors were Ronald E. Purple of Ridgeway and George C. Rinehart, Tecumseh; three gallon donors were Lee H. Phibbs, Tecumseh and Leonard A. Harsh of Adrian.

There were 23 volunteers that worked.

Margot Stuart, 9235 Murphy Hwy. just returned from three weeks touring West Germany including West and East Berlin. While there she was the guest of her brother and sister-in-law and niece and family in West Berlin. It was her first return trip to her native country and city in 24 years.

"After 25 years they have built a tremendous city with new apartments beautiful roads and modern buildings and conveniences. I was amazed how they could rebuild Berlin in 25 years. But it is like living inside a wall. It is circles and divides the city and everywhere you go you end up at the wall. It is a strange feeling."

Although she enjoyed West Berlin, she found East Berlin an unfriendly police state. "It is like two German nations. It is amazing how they have two different attitudes."

Food is three times what Americans pay and quantities are sold in metrics. Equivalent of a pound of beef would be $8, a pound of pork, $5. There is no rationing.

Maxine Calhoun, Clinton page editor of The Tecumseh Herald was the hostess with the mostest June 17 when the staff enjoyed a potluck salad luncheon at her home. Pressman Marv Leismer's salad creation was given first prize as the most creative and delicious.

CHURCH BUILT 1954, MR. CONNIE MACDEW MINISTER

200 Years of Religious Freedom

Jehovah's Witnesses are not a recent group of people on the world scene as some people would have you believe. Their history goes back to Abel, the second son born to Adam and Eve.

Abel witnessed to his brother Cain. Paul says so at Hebrews 11:4, "By faith Abel offered God a sacrifice of greater worth than Cain, through which (faith) he had witness borne to him that he was righteous, God bearing witness respecting his gifts; and through it he, although he died, yet speaks." (New World Translation.)

Another witness of Jehovah was Noah. He witnessed to the people that a flood was coming. He built an ark and saved his family and the animal kingdom.

Abraham and Sarah were two more of Jehovah's Witnesses. They obeyed Jehovah God and left a flourishing city life and lived in tents for the rest of their lives.

Moses was a famous Witness for Jehovah to the house of the Pharoahs of Egypt. He witnessed to the king of Egypt many, many times to let the Israelites go out of Egypt to worship Jehovah.

King David and King Solomon were Witnesses of Jehovah. They made God's name stand out in their reigning as kings.

The greatest witness to Jehovah of all times was Jesus Christ. Rev. 1:5 tells us he was a witness. "Jesus Christ, the faithful witness, the first born from the dead, and the ruler of the kings of earth."

The Apostles and disciples of Jesus were all witness to Jehovah God. They were persecuted because they witnessed to the people.

Coming to our day, in the 1870's Pastor Russel formed a Bible study group in Pittsburg, Pa. They were known as Bible Students.

Later as branches were established in England and other countries they became known as International Bible Students. They were known by that title until 1931 when they took on the rightful Bible name that all those faithful ones of old had, Jehovah's Witnesses. Isa. 43:10-12.

Just 12 years later the Tecumseh Congregation was started in a little shoe shop on Chicago Boulevard, Lampson's Shoe Shop. This building is now gone. One of the first ministers was Robert Corkle, followed by Harlie Lampson, and in 1949 Kenneth Ball came as the presiding minister.

The Hall was moved from the shoe shop to the cleaners on Maumee St. It remained there until 1954 and then moved to a little white school north of Clinton. It was in this year, 1954, that plans were made to build a Kingdom Hall in Tecumseh. The lot was donated by Mr. Goodwin of North Evans St., Tecumseh.

Kenneth Ball was the presiding minister. He organized Tecumseh brothers into a work force that put up the present Kingdom Hall in 1955. The members did the work themselves.

Mr. Connie MacDew, presiding minister, came to the first meeting at the Maumee St. Kingdom Hall in 1953. He helped build the present Kingdom Hall. At that time there were about 30 witnesses in Tecumseh.

In 1975, there were 100 witnesses plus some 75 children. In 1975 the group realized its present Kingdom Hall was getting small. The elders began planning a 40'x60' addition. They bought the next door lot from Carrol Conklin and ground was broke this spring for the footing. The floor is now poured and the building should be completed by cold weather.

For the past 20 years, Consumers Power Co. has furnished the group with natural gas, but the Co. has said there isn't enough gas for the new addition. Another means of heating the addition will have to be found.

Skilled help from Tecumseh brothers will be used in building the new addition.

The new addition will be used for Bible meetings held Monday and Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. Theocratic School and service meetings Thursday at 7:30 p.m. and Bible presentation Sundays at 9:30 a.m. with Watchtower Study at 10:30 a.m.

No collections are ever taken at the meetings.

Need Volunteers

Teen Volunteers are asked to attend a meeting July 1 at 1 p.m. at Herrick Hospital.

This is the first session of the first orientation for the Teen Volunteers. All must be present to participate in the program.

For information call Kay Walper 423-2240.

Girl Born

A girl, Robin Lynn, was born June 23rd to Mr. and Mrs. Paul Stoner of Jackson.

Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Journey Stoner, of 739 N. Union and Mr. and Mrs. John Housman, of New York.

The Paul Stoners moved to Jackson following their 1974 marriage.

Raisin Township Festival Planned

By Kathy Brown

A family reunion of township residents is the theme of the Raisin Township Bicentennial Festival July 3 from 11 a.m. to 7 p.m. at the Raisin Township Fire Station on Occidental Hwy.

Volunteers will man a number of exhibits, give demonstrations and offer entertainment in the theme of pioneer family life.

Nearly 100 former Raisin Township residents of many years ago have been invited to return of the one day homecoming.

Mr. and Mrs. Allan Blouch, who operated the Holloway Store for many years are among those who have confirmed attendance.

Local 4-H groups have joined in the effort by distributing flyers to every home in the Township.

Day's activities will begin at 11 a.m. with a formal assembly, Township officials will offer welcome. Jim Mitchell, Raisin Township Supervisor, Bill Mackey, county commissioner, Merle Kerr, township historian, and Don Mitchell, festival day committee chairman will have brief remarks followed by dedication of the township park site at Gady and Green Hwy.

Other Bicentennial committee members are Mrs. Jay Fisher, secretary, Barbara Young, treasurer and Richard Allen, festival.

Raisin Center Friends Church is planning a reenactment of an old-fashioned Quaker wedding in the morning and again at about 5 p.m.

Informal activities will begin at noon with time to visit. Some of Raisin's senior citizens will be honored. Some of the pioneer exhibits will be an old kitchen scene reconstructed by the Around the Block Extension Club. The club will also sell its recently compiled cookbook, "Recipes of the 19th Century."

Other exhibits will feature a collection of drain tile, old farm and home tools, photographs documents, maps, clocks and handicraft.

Folks are encouraged to wear Bicentennial costumes and contest will be held with selection by popular vote.

Demonstrations of quilting will be given by the Raisin Sewing Circle.

To give families a chance to see how they did it in the old days, other primitive home arts and tools will be demonstrated such as rug weaving, chair caning, butter churning, saw milling and flail threshing.

Planned activities will include an auction at 2 p.m. of miscellaneous articles collected from the community. Some may be antiques and collectors. Auction is being held to help meet expenses of the program. Ken Mitchell, professional auctioneer will be on hand to add humor and excitement and Bill Mackey and Clark Wilson will assist.

Games for young and old are scheduled to begin at 3 p.m. Events will include pole climbing and eating contest for kids.

For young and old there will be croquet games, horseshoe pitching, tug 'war, to mention a few. For card sharks, there will be euchre.

The Bush Family will provide live entertainment at 4 and 5:30 p.m.

"The History of Banking" is a film to be shown at 1 p.m. and 4:30 p.m.

Right in step with the family day theme, copies of the history of Raisin Township, edited by Merle Kerr are planned to be sold on festival day only.

Kerr's background in teaching, history and sociology is evidenced by the through and concise geneologies of many prominent pioneer families of the township including the families of James McIntyre, Stephen Gallaway, Alvin Doty, Woolston Comfort, Laura Haviland and Elizabeth Chandler, William Calhoun, Nathan and Jonathan Green, Edmund Hall, Peleg C. Haviland, Obadiah Rogers, Daniel Raymond, and Dr. James N. Nixon, to mention a few.

History of Raisin's railroads, cemeteries, churches, schools, East Raisin Literary Society and little towns including Raisin Center, Little Hope, Birdsall, Holloway and Sutton, are also featured.

The township history is an ongoing hobby for Kerr; the text took him eight months to amass.

Raisin Township's Bicentennial promises to be one of the best community celebrations in the county.

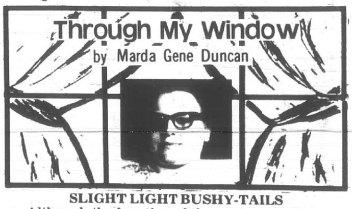
Through My Window

by Marda Gene Duncan



SLIGHT LIGHT BUSHY-TAILS

Although the location of the nest was unknown we could tell immediately that the trio had not been out on their own for long. Young squirrels are easy to spot and always great fun.

Our first indication that we had some good looking in store was the antics of two squirrels in the nearby maple tree. As they ran up and down, back and forth, and around and around we knew they were youngsters exploring a big and exciting new world.

This particular tree grows on the creek bank and is easily seen through my west-facing window.

The squirrels were playing a game of follow-the-leader, primarily spiraling up and down the trunk. They climbed well but were rather careful, stayed close together, and moved much slower than we knew they would in a day or two.

On the limbs of the tree they were more sure footed. There the only problem was when the leader ran along a branch and reached a point where it began bending or swaying -- what to do now?

Occasionally the follow-up squirrel turned around and became the leader but most of the time the first squirrel simply turned around and climbed over the second one.

The first real problem occured when the leader decided the game needed to be expanded. He tore down the tree trunk and stopped. Stopped dead still, we could see him wondering how to get to the ground. Suddenly the idea of an enlarged play area was not so good, he circled and went back up the tree.

But curiosity and sense of adventure were not easily satisfied, and it was not long until the great discovery was made that to get from tree trunk to ground was not all that difficult. It was simply a case of treating the ground as if it were a limb.

Soon this was too tame and the kids began jumping from trunk to bank with the 'take off' spot becoming progressively higher on the trunk.

At this point the third youngster joined the group. And as the days went by, we chuckled to see that it was the same with squirrels as children -- whereas two can play together well, three often do not.

There was some wrestling and rough house play-fighting on the ground, but when the kids finally mastered the climb up to the near-my-window feeders the trouble really began.

There was more than ample room for all three to eat, but they did not believe it. Two did fine, but as soon as that third little nose poked over the side of the tray there was a mad scramble and somebody had to leave.

For days the leaving was easier than getting up -- one frantic leap from the tray and the loser would land halfway to the creek bank but oh my, the trick of getting from the feeder post to the flat tray of the feeder itself was the hardest job in the world.

I am sure it is merely prejudice on my part but this trio of squirrels does seem more handsome than ever.

I am sure that color-wise they are lighter than usual, the soft looking fur on their throats and tummies is such a pale tan or buff as to be almost creamy white. Like all young squirrels their tails are big and bushy and luxurious.

And the kids seem so proud of them. They are flipped, swished, and waved with great verve.

Not so well managed are their big feet. It takes some time for young squirrels to 'catch up' with their glorious tails and their huge sprawly feet and, until they do, their bodies seem disproportionately skinny.

No need to worry though, for from past experience, we know that a summer of sunflower eating and the aquisition of a thick heavy fur coat will find the youngsters big and fat when cold weather arrives.

Possibly the worst day of one of the bushy tail's still very young life was spent in the back yard.

Unfortunately the day he picked for exploring and adventuring on his own was also the day the young bluejays worked so hard at leaving the nest. The adult jays were not about to tolerate any 'outside interference'.

Whenever the squirrel even looked as though he might get too close, they chased him away. Their dive bombing attacks were relentless. They pestered the squirrel well over the creek bank.

I can only wonder what kind of tales he carried home that night.

In the middle of the giant city, the lake is an oasis, removed from the bustle and din, just a stone's throw beyond. It is strangely quiet, peaceful, giving the visitor a moment's pause, a time to think.

All of us need that moment to pause, that time to think.

We need, now and again, to stop and ask ourselves the questions about the deeper things in life which we gloss over in the pace of everyday living. We need to dwell on spiritual things, to assess our sense of values and to wonder if we are truly living in accord with God's wishes.

Sometimes it is much easier to keep on rushing than it is to stop for a moment and take stock. Sometimes it is easier to keep on going (in what may well be the wrong way) than it is to stop and change directions. The greatest opportunity for contemplation and meditation is in your church. Here you will find spiritual resources to help you reassess and strengthen your life.

Clinton Bell Is Refurbished for Celebration

CLINTON — Joe O'Donnell, whose historic old bell from the Court House in Adrian has become a treasured community symbol, now known as the Clinton Bell, reports that the bell frame has recently undergone some extensive repairs.

The supporting beam was broken during the ringing at the recent Memorial Day service.

A new beam, one foot thick, six feet long and weighing 300 lbs., was cut from a green and white oak tree by Dick Service of Tri-County Logging.

A new steel frame was designed and built by Herb Sackett and son Herbie, of Sackett Welding. Tipton Tool Co. drilled the necessary 2½" hole through the new supporting beam.

Then Larry Blaisdell spent some three hours removing the 100 year old bell and setting it into the new framework, which has been newly painted.

Clinton Bell will toll at 2 p.m. July 4 in celebration of the Bicentennial, along with bells throughout the nation, and all the local church bells.

Joe has painted a new sign on the bell, which promises to be a puzzler for all who see it.

Board Plans Year's Programs

CLINTON — Programs for the 1976-77 season and for the Fall Festival were discussed at a meeting of the board of directors of the Clinton Woman's Club, June 23.

Mrs. Richard Broniman, president, presided with eight members present.

Committee chairmen were named.

Discussion also included next spring's luncheon.

Another board meeting will be held July 7 at 1 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Broniman.

Shed Damage

CLINTON — Elmer Burleson reported some malicious destruction to a building on his property on Tecumseh-Clinton Road, which occurred during the night of June 26.

A door, which had been nailed shut was lying on the ground, and grease had been squirted on a garden tractor.

Clinton State Police questioned three juveniles, runaways from Starr Commonwealth, concerning the incident.

Arts Exhibit

The Dundee Arts and Crafts Club is sponsoring its fourteenth annual Arts and Crafts exhibit July 11, from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. on the grounds of the Old Ford Mill (Wolverine Park) Dundee.

It is located at the Junction of US 23 and M-50. In the event of inclement weather, the show will be held one week later, July 18, at the same location and time.

Exhibits will involve artists from many states, displaying hundred of fine art and craft items.

Cans Covered; Case Is Closed

Mrs. Robert Brady, 2826 Russell Rd. received all but four of the missing dozen can lids that were lost in the Detroit post office this spring while en route to Tecumseh from Mrs. Brady's niece in Colorado.

In April 29, The Tecumseh Herald reported Mrs. Brady's surprise package of a size 24½ ladies pantsuit, obviously worn, instead of the canning jar lids.

"I was really surprised," she said when the lids showed up recently. "I really thought they'd send it on to someone else and I'd never get it back."

Although four boxes are still missing, Mrs. Brady said the others were sent well wrapped and carried a letter of explanation from the Detroit postmaster. The others will be forwarded if found, said the letter. The returned lid boxes were crushed, evidently smashed in new automated mail handling machines, remarked Mrs. Brady.

She thinks the mail service is improving. The return of her package has restored her faith.

"I still say thank God (that the first box) wasn't ashes."

Read the Herald

And the pantsuit? Hopefully it too was returned to the proper address.

New Police System for State Police

CLINTON — New team system for the Clinton and Blissfield State Police posts was begun, Monday.

New system calls for Clinton post to be the central headquarters for the county's state police, with all calls from Blissfield area coming into Clinton post for dispatch.

There is also a new direct toll-free line to Clinton Post from Adrian by calling 263-0033.

Blissfield Police and Fire Department telephone numbers will ring directly into the Lenawee Sheriff Department for dispatch.

Clinton's post will now have a post commander, a lieutenant to be named shortly; four sergeants, one detective and ten troopers.

There is also two female post dispatcher secretaries who are CETA employes.

Blissfield post will no longer have a commander, but will consist of one sergeant and eight troopers, plus one CETA dispatcher, all directed by the Clinton post commander.

State had previously considered closing the Clinton and Blissfield posts and making a headquarters for the county in Adrian. Public protest by Clinton officials and residents may have influenced the change which has now been instituted. Clinton's post serves a wide area of northern and eastern Lenawee County from Cambridge Junction to Saline, and a good portion of southeastern Washtenaw County, including one of the state's busiest and most dangerous highways, US-12.

Laura Hintz Is Honored

CLINTON — Bride-elect Laura Hintz was honored at a bridal shower, given by her aunts Mrs. Ronald LaPearl and Mrs. William Baird, in the home of Mrs. LaPearl in Adrian, Sunday afternoon.

Bridal games were played and prizes awarded to Glinda Noory, Nancy Cuthbert and Mrs. Larry Cuthbert.

Refreshment tables were decorated in the bridal colors yellow, blue and pink, with each setting marked by a decorated heart-shaped ornament containing miniature roses.
